One-Man Medical System

A bill recently introduced in the Senate to radically broaden social security legislation would, among other things, set up a specialized medical system that would ultimately destroy the independence of medical men, the present high standards of the medical profession; together with a medical system which has added more in a few decades to the health of the human race than centuries of medical development in Europe.

The new system that is proposed would place in the hands of one man, the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, the responsibility of administering free of charge to the medical needs of more than one hundred and ten million people. He would have at his disposal, to be used as his judgment dictated, approximately $3,000,000,000 to be collected annually from the taxpayers.

It is estimated that, at the present time, there are in the United States, available for civilian practice, 120,000 effective physicians. With $3,000,000,000 the Surgeon General could, after allocating 20 per cent for administration costs, hire every physician in the United States at an average salary of $5,000 a year; buy every available bed in every non-government-owned hospital 365 days each year at $5 per day; pay $2.50 per day for each and every government-owned hospital bed 365 days in the year, and still have left for drugs and medicines, $168,565,887.50.

It does not seem possible that free American citizens want a one-man medical system any more than they want a one-man government.

CANINE COMMANDOS

The Canadian Army's newest recruits are four dogs of mixed breed who are learning to use their fangs for guard duty. The dogs will grab an intruder and pin him down until help arrives. Inset shows Lou Abfalter, a well-known dog trainer, who is teaching the canines commands tactics.

FOUR of the newest recruits in Canada's Army are youngsters of 15 to 18 months, averaging about 65 pounds in weight and from two feet to 18 inches in height, answering to the names of Privates Buster, Ping, Rex and Postum. Altogether they form a sort of canine United Nations. Rex is an even mixture of husky and collie; Buster is half Labrador retriever and half airdale; Ping is 50 per cent collie and 50 per cent chow. Postum, who looks like an albatross, claims that his place in Dogdom's nationality is a military secret.

Training for guard duty with the Army, the four dogs are undergoing a four-weeks' course in canine commando tactics. They are learning to be suspicious of everyone except their keepers, four members of the R.C.O.C. Pte. E. M. Brennan of Ottawa has teamed up with Rex; Pte. A. Dennis of New Brunswick with Buster; Pte. T. W. Jones of Winnipeg with Ping; and Pte. J. G. McIntyre of New Brunswick with Postum.

The dogs are learning to attack an intruder by seizing his arm and pulling him down. An instructor wears a heavy two-inch-thick pad from his shoulder to his finger tips for the job. When he approaches, the dogs are supposed to leap upon him and get a good hold on the padding. They all respond in the approved manner except Buster, who fakes a bite at the padding and then tries to sink his teeth into the instructor's ankles. According to the trainer it's a neat trick that Buster himself developed—but it's a little tough on the instructor.

Meals for the dogs consist of 3 pounds of cooked meat for every 25 pounds they weigh. They are given one serving a day. They are fed, groomed and taken on their patrols by only one man. The presence of a second person anywhere within their sight will meet with a hot reception. The dogs are trained to respond to verbal commands and gestures. They are never struck nor whipped even though in the early days of their training they disobey orders.

Nature has given them thick heavy coats, ideal equipment for duty during cold weather.

We believe the thousands of men and women who are serving on local rationing boards throughout the country are entitled to more than passing recognition. They are serving at considerable sacrifice with no pay and little thanks. With the majority of people who are willing to cooperate with the rationing program they have no difficulty. It is a pleasure to serve them. The trouble comes from the unreasonable non-co-operative minority. Those who are going to have all the tires, or all the gasoline, or all the fuel oil they want, regardless. These are the ones who go out and berate the rationing boards and accuse them of unfairness, partiality, and unwillingness to accommodate. It is because of this class of people that rationing is necessary. They are the ones, who, if unrestrained, would rush in and grab the available supply whether there was anything left for anyone else or not. They are the ones who attempt to influence tire inspectors to make untrue examinations of their tires that they may get a better tire, or more tires than their share. They are the ones who plan and scheme to beat the tire rationing program by bludgeoning the board members behind their back. Fortunately for the rationing program and the fair and just and honest people of the country this class is in the great minority. There is only a few of such in each community.

HISTORY

Petroleum Day—August 27: Because of the large part that petroleum and petroleum products are playing in American life today, and especially in the war effort, a brief sketch regarding its discovery, and development, and growth, might prove interesting. In 1855 Professor Benjamin Stillman Jr., of Yale College, published the results of his study and scientific findings regarding petroleum. His first report stated that in the event petroleum could be found in sufficient commercial quantities that an illuminant could be made from it that would be better and more economical than any then in use. It was also pointed out that candles could be made from paraffine derived from petroleum, and a lubricating oil which would not gum could also be obtained. A company of men in Hartford, Connecticut, was formed for the purpose of developing the production of petroleum in 1858. This company sent Colonel Drake into northwestern Pennsylvania to prospect for oil and to endeavor to find it in commercial quantities. Colonel Drake after considerable search located his first test well near Titusville, Pennsylvania. He hired the village blacksmith and his two sons to help him and started digging. The prospect was thoroughly ridiculed by the people of that section of the state. Oil was encountered August 27, 1859, at a depth of 69 feet. The result was that people from all sections of the country flocked to Titusville. The first year after the discovery well 2,000 barrels of oil were produced. In 1860 production reached 500,000 barrels. In 1910, 200,000,000 barrels was produced and in 1929 a billion barrels was produced. Following the discovery well at Titusville wells were put down in other parts of the country. While oil has created many millionaires Colonel Drake who dug the first well died a poor man dependent upon a small pension from the state. It has been estimated that since the drilling of the discovery well over 15,000,000,000 barrels of oil have been produced in this country.

Labor leaders have already begun on a campaign to retire all Congressmen and Senators who voted in favor of the antistrike legislation. Though the vote by Congress represented the sentiment of three-fourths of the people of the country some of the Senators and Congressmen will be defeated if those who favor their stand on antistrike legislation fail to vote. Under the democratic form of government a reasonably active minority can defeat an inactive majority.

I have lived almost long enough, an old timer said yesterday, to change every opinion I ever had.

OLD MOTHER HUBBARD

Throw Them Out!

Lou R. Maxon, high official of the OPA, has resigned with the declaration that: "There is a strong clique in OPA who believe that the government should manufacture and distribute all commodities. They are using the war as a means of furthering their reform ideas and will continue to use honest men in OPA as a front for their efforts."

"If this group isn't curbed, we are going to lose a good slice of the very freedom we are fighting for."

Mr. Maxon's charges are similar to those of leading retail distributors, who have reiterated many times that the distribution industry faces total disruption unless the pet theories of extremists are relegated to a back seat.

With inflation gaining inexorably, the spectacle of one of the principal agencies established to combat rising prices experimenting with the doctrines of socialism, while the destinies of a hundred and thirty million people hang in the balance, is intolerable.

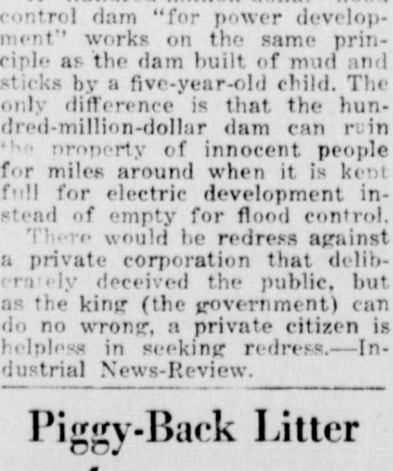

The production and distribution system in this country has been developed to a state of perfection never before attained in history. The result has been evident in every American home. Why, in the worst floods in years—some of the worst on record—through Midwest states. Some of the very worst floods were in territories served by government-owned dams, the excuse for building which was given as flood control, when in reality the primary purpose of the dam was for government-owned hydro-electric plants.

Any child who has built a dam in a roadside drainage ditch knows that it will hold back water until it is full. After that, the amount of water flowing below the dam is exactly the same as the amount flowing into it.

A hundred-million-dollar flood control dam "for power development" works on the same principle as the dam built of mud and sticks by a five-year-old child. The only difference is that the hundred-million-dollar dam can ruin the property of innocent people for miles around when it is kept full for electric development instead of empty for flood control.

There would be redress against a private corporation that deliberately deceived the public, but as the king (the government) can do no wrong, a private citizen is helpless in seeking redress.—Industrial News-Review.

An Alarming Situation

That some labor leaders are looking to the future, is indicated in the statement of Dell E. Nickerson, executive secretary of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, when he told the 41st annual convention of that organization that the increase in governmental control of labor, as well as business, "is an alarming situation."

"Governmental interference," said Mr. Nickerson, "even when apparently intended to protect the power could hope to accomplish this. The problem belongs to the individuals of this nation. They individually have got to realize that we are at war and that war means every one must sacrifice. They have got to give up the idea of making a profit and get the vision of sacrifice. They should not expect the President to do what is everyone's plain, patriotic duty to do. If they fail to meet the duty or the challenge they are going to pay and pay dearly. In the light of the history of the late twenties and early thirties there can be no alibi.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

The most important problem facing this country at the moment at home is the one of price control and prevention of inflation. It is important for the reason that nothing can happen to us here in any way that will be more disastrous and more devastating than wild inflation.

It is conceded that it is difficult to head off inflation, that the ways and means by which it may be accomplished are no means easy or simple, but difficult as its control is, the problem that it presents, once it gets under way, is infinitely more perplexing and difficult than is the problem of handling it after it has once gained headway.

In my opinion inflation is the most dangerous foe we face at the present moment. It is dangerous because it is invisible and because people are unwittingly led into it, and once in, they are led on and on to disaster.

It should also be remembered that the period of inflation that followed World War One came when the National debt was but a fraction of what it is now. If inflation comes now it will be vastly more destructive and devastating than it was in the late twenties. It created ruin and bankruptcy then. It would create greater ruin and more bankruptcy now.

The danger of inflation lies in the fact that its approach is invisible and insidious. It doesn't come labeled as a higher price for his products. It has the appearance of prosperity and of better times. It offers an opportunity to build a new barn, a new home, to buy another eighty or to pay off a mortgage or a note at the bank. It comes to the worker disguised as an increase in wages that will permit him to buy more food, more clothing, a better house, a better car or more war bonds. It comes to the merchant as an opportunity to make a larger profit, to expand his business and to get upon a more solid financial foundation.

In reality it will do none of these things. For each added dollar of income that inflation brings a dollar and a half expense. Soon every one becomes involved and like a drowning man finds that he must give up everything, discard everything, in the final effort to save himself.

I have heard farmers and business men and labor complain that their income is not enough, that they have got to have more. It is this demand, if persisted in, that is going to bring about inflation.

Farmers, business men and labor should realize, that difficult as times may be, they are vastly less difficult than they will be once the prairie fire of inflation sweeps the country. Then they will be truly difficult.

It is not alone the problem of the President to head off inflation. No one man, regardless of

HERMAN KINCHELOE

Do you know a fellow like Joe?

JOE'S my kid brother. We've always stuck together and I've sort of watched out for him these last few years.

Well, Joe's in Africa now. His wife gets her allotment from him, and I guess when that's taken out of his check he doesn't have much left. Privates don't get paid much you know.

I figure this way. Here I am, making more money than I ever did before. You bet I work for it! I work hard. But Joe's working hard too... and not just from 7 to 5, either.

We've been taking 10 percent out of my check every week for War Bonds... they're going to come in mighty handy when the War's over, we figure. But I got to thinking about Joe. What's he going to have after the War?

So we talked it over, my wife and I. We think Joe should get a cut of the bigger money, too. So now I'm buying an extra bond every month—in Joe's name.

Maybe you've got somebody in the War, too. If you have, couldn't you squeeze out an extra bond now and then, for your "Joe"?

Statistics Don't Tell All

It is irritating to farmers to be informed by statisticians that agriculture is making a financial killing out of the war. If the statisticians would leave the city long enough to take a look at the way a farmer must try to operate under present conditions, they would go back and toss their statistics out of the window.

For example, a lot of ballyhoo has been published about the "flood" of men going back to the farms. One dairy farm was recently subjected to the flood—at seventy-five cents an hour per man. Two men, one a civil engineer, professing to help the farmer in a pinch during harvest time, the other an ex-stevadore looking for easy money, went into the field to load hay. At the day's end they had arrived at the barn with one load. Two other loads had been dumped by the wayside, one through the front door of a grocery store. They were paid off. Net result: Twelve dollars in labor costs for a couple of tons of hay.

This is merely a sample. But it shows why the country is going to go hungry if the pencil pushers that make the rules don't quit writing fairy tales.—Industrial News-Review.

United War Chest Campaign in Texas to Start Soon

Every community in Texas soon will be working in the kind of giving campaign these war-troubled days demand, the kind of campaign that President Roosevelt himself has called for. The years when we were solicited a dozen times for a dozen different organizations are behind us. Each Texas community and each Texas county under its local leadership soon will be determining its individual role in the National War Fund drive. Local groups will take full responsibility for their contributions to the three fronts: The Military Front, the United Nations Front, and the Home Front.

War Chest Giving Means Support for the far-flung USO—the home away from home for our own fighting men; comforts for the "barbed wire legion" of prisoners of war; food for starving Greece; medical supplies for gallant Russia; aid for the scorched earth of stricken China; assistance for hundreds of thousands of homeless refugees; timely help for our own armed forces and our Allies overseas. Sixteen different appeals wrapped into one.

President Roosevelt Says "All Americans and All American institutions are united in their determination to win this war. They are showing to our allies and to our enemies a generous devotion and sacrifice that promises victory."

"That unity and devotion are shown in the National War Fund. In October it presents to our people an appeal for service to our fighting forces, for service to the Home Front in the United States.

"With the strength of union, the economy of federation, and the backing of traditionally generous America, the National War Fund—like all essential parts of our effort—must be given abundant and prompt support toward its goal."

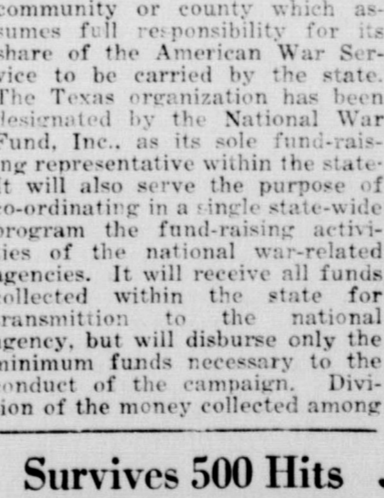

Where Help Goes The sixteen agencies which have met the approval of the President's War Relief Control Board for participation in the National War Fund are:

1. USO (United Service Organizations).
2. United Seamen's Service.
3. War Prisoners Aid.
4. United Nations Relief. This includes Belgian War Relief Society, British War Relief Society, French Relief Fund, Greek War Relief Association, Norwegian Relief, Polish War Relief, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Russian War Relief, United China Relief, United Czechoslovak Relief Fund, United Yugoslav Relief Fund.
5. Refugee Relief. This includes Refugee Relief Trustees and the United States Committee for the Care of European Children.

How War Chest Originated The United War Chest of Texas is the medium which this state has set up through its own leaders to assume full responsibility on a state level for the participation of Texas in the National War Fund campaign. The organization was born of a state-wide meeting at Austin, April 27, 1943, when representative citizens from every part of the state asked Governor Coke R. Stevenson to serve as honorary chairman and named George A. Butler, Houston attorney, to serve as active chairman. Following the meeting of the board of directors in Dallas, July 7, organization plans will be completed.

By Way of Explanation The exact role of the United War Chest of Texas is to serve as the link between the National War Fund with its goal of $125,000,000 and the individual Texas community or county which assumes full responsibility for its share of the American War Service to be carried by the state. The Texas organization has been designated by the National War Fund, Inc., as its sole fund-raising representative within the state. It will also serve the purpose of co-ordinating in a single state-wide program the fund-raising activities of the national war-related agencies. It will receive all funds collected within the state for transmission to the national agency, but will disburse only the minimum funds necessary to the conduct of the campaign. Division of the money collected among

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express the thanks and appreciation we feel to the many friends who ministered to us with helpful words and deeds in the sadness which came to us in the sudden passing of our loved one. For each act of friendship, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

Mrs. Everett Meason, Joan, Tommie and Sue, Frank Meason, Beadie Meason and Family, Mrs. Jack Lyons and Family, Que and Goodlow Meason.

The participating agencies will be determined by the Board of Directors of the National War Fund with the aid of the President's War Relief Control Board.

Organization Plans Texas is to be divided into 21 big regions to raise the quota of approximately $5,000,000 which the state has accepted as its portion of the National War Fund. A regional chairman is to be named to direct the program in each of these big areas, and in addition a competent, full-time regional supervisor will be assigned to aid in carrying out the details of the program. From this basis county and community organizations will be set up. The basic organization is so planned that counties or communities so desiring can include budgets for the carrying out of their own local welfare programs, a step which further suggests the full autonomy of the small unit in the National War Fund campaign.

Officers of United War Chest of Texas: Governor Coke R. Stevenson, honorary chairman; George A. Butler, Houston, active chairman; Wayland D. Towner, manager. (Board of Directors to be named).

This Is Why With Wartime Conditions Prevailing We Are Opening Later and Closing Earlier

Drug Store hours have always been long—too long for the welfare of the employees—and today every merchant is carrying on business under difficulties, merchandise is hard to get, women are doing their loyal best to fill the places of men who are now in the U. S. Army.

We have always taken great pride in the efficient service rendered our customers and it is our sincere desire to continue to give you the service to which you are entitled and accustomed—we believe this can be accomplished by giving our employees the relief and convenience of shorter hours.

Drug Store personnel needs free time in the same manner as all humanity, and that's the reason we offer no lame excuses for not staying open longer hours.

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

True politeness is perfect ease and freedom. It simply consists in treating others just as you love to be treated yourself.

Good manners are the blossom of good sense and good feeling. —Samuel Johnson.

True politeness requires humility, good sense, and benevolence. To think more highly of ourselves than we ought to think, destroys its quickening principle.
