Basketball Team Wins One Game; Loses One Game

The Crowell High School basketball team broke even in its two games the past week. The Wildcats won by a 27 to 13 score at Seymour last Friday night and lost to the Vernon Lions at Crowell on Tuesday night by a 36 to 23 count.

The game at Seymour was not nearly so rough as the Crowell-Seymour game was here a week before. The Wildcats showed some excellent team play and their scoring was fairly well evened up, with three of them making seven points a piece and all of the boys sharing in the point making. Shaver, center for Seymour, did not exhibit his temper in this game as he did here and he led his team in scoring with eight points. Hatter was second in this department for Seymour with six points.

The Wildcats were outclassed here on Tuesday night against the Vernon Lions. However, Vernon was using three boys, Bailey, Gaddy and Messick, who will not be eligible after next week. All three of these boys will be inducted into the army on the 28th of this month. Bailey, center for Vernon, was high-point man for the night, with fourteen points. Delmar Paul McBeath, forward for Crowell, and Pierce, forward for Vernon, scored twelve points each in this game. These teams will play another again at Vernon on Friday night.

The Crowell "B" team also won one game and lost one with these same two schools. The Wildkittens defeated the little Seymour Panthers by a 13 to 4 score, and lost to the Vernon "B" team by a 21 to 10 count. Carlos McBeath, John Carter, J. L. Brock, Joe Mason, Edgar Messick, Kendrick Joy and Howard B. Smith service for Crowell in these games.

The Wildcats will be playing another class A team, the Wellington Skyrocks, here next Tuesday night. The "B" team will engage the Medicine Mound team in a game immediately preceding the Wellington game. The Mound team is coached by Henry Clifford Teague.

Report Made of Camp and Hospital Committee Work

Mrs. L. A. Andrews and Mrs. N. J. Roberts, County chairman and co-chairman of Foard County's Camp and Hospital Unit attended the regular County Council at Sheppard Field, Thursday, Jan. 12. They were accompanied by Mrs. S. S. Bell, chairman of War Production for the county.

Reports of the work done by the different committees are always given at these meetings and the Hospital Red Cross representatives submit to the committee any needs which the Council may be able to provide.

Foard County's report for the preceding month included the 116 Christmas boxes prepared by the schools, churches, clubs and numerous individuals. There were also 175 pop corn balls prepared by the Thalia Service Club and the Crowell Business and Professional Women's Club. The Junior Red Cross and Thalia Service Club made 25 Christmas wreaths to be used for hospital ward decorations.

The County Red Cross chapter donated 33 decks of playing cards and 31 pencils. There was also a collection of books and magazines for the hospital library.

Short programs were provided for the sick wards every afternoon during Christmas week, the entertainers going from the different counties. When Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Mack Edens of Thalia, took the gifts from the Foard County chapter on Thursday before Christmas, she took her Thalia's well-known accordianists, Billy Dean Brown and Jimmie Johnson. They played for five different wards. She also took refreshments which were served during the program. The cookies were furnished by the Thalia ladies and the punch by H. E. Ferguson.

An itemized list of the hospital needs was presented at the meeting. Those particularly stressed were such articles as radios, musical instruments, phonograph records, small pieces of luggage, globes, metal waste baskets and easy chairs.

Appreciation was expressed to the Council and each of the nine counties for the outstanding response at the Christmas season. On a smaller scale, similar observance of other holidays are being planned, outstanding ones of which will be Lincoln's birthday and Valentine Day. Prizes to be awarded patients during these parties will be needed.

Anyone who wishes to prepare a package, bring it to Self Motor Co. not later than Wed. Feb. 9, and it will be delivered to the hospital by the committee.

No greater service of love can be rendered to the sick and hospitalized soldiers than this done by the women through the channels provided by the Red Cross Camp and Hospital Council.

To the People of this Community

KILL OR BE KILLED
United States Marines paid the steepest price in human life per square yard for the capture of Tarawa, vital Pacific outpost. It was kill or be killed. Your boys did not flinch when they ran into the deadliest fire power along the beaches of this important Gilbert Island stronghold.

This assault, bloody and costly, is one of the many which must be made before Tokyo and Berlin are pounded into dust and ashes.

What are you doing to back up the boys? Remember these are boys from this very community, perhaps from your very home. Any home in your neighborhood which today does not display the Treasury's red, white and blue 4th War Loan Shield proclaiming "We bought Extra War Bonds" is not backing the attack. Every Extra War Bond you buy becomes a direct fighter against Japan and Germany. If you could but see one man die on the battlefield, you would not count the cost of your slight sacrifice to buy Extra War Bonds to make each succeeding assault less costly in the lives of our boys.

You can't afford NOT to buy Extra Bonds in the 4th War Loan if you would help these boys.

Food, Home Notes

(By Miss Elizabeth Elliott, County Home Demonstration Agent.)

Use and Conservation of Oranges While oranges are plentiful again, homemakers should guard against wasting them—from the time they are selected until the last peel has been used.

There are a couple of things to remember in buying oranges. If you want oranges to make juice for tomorrow morning's breakfast, the thin-skinned heavy oranges will furnish the most juice, or if you want some oranges to use in a fruit salad or in segments for other purposes, the heavy-skinned light-weight fruit will be the best buy.

A smooth skin free from rough or thick spots is an indication of good orange quality, but, strangely enough, the color of the skin has nothing to do with its quality or flavor. Some oranges bear a stamp "Color Added." This is because some oranges from Texas and Florida frequently reach maturity while the skin is still green in color.

The waste of orange peel is truly tragic. Most people peel an orange and automatically throw away the outside, forgetting that the rind can be used for food. Candied orange peel is a delicacy and ground orange peel in a cranberry relish will be especially good with meats.

Marching Through Mud on Bougainville

Heavily laden marine infantrymen wade through deep mud of a jungle trail as they near the battle front. Continued American attacks on Japanese positions in the Pacific are steadily lengthening our striking power from the air. As the battle continued on Bougainville, American troops battled toward Rabaul which is considered a vital Japanese base.

And orange peel is always delicious in muffins, cookies and cake. It gives a new and tasty flavor.

Oranges which are sound are "individual banks" of Vitamin C, and every person needs a constant daily supply of this vitamin.

Protect Home Cured Meats

Home cured meat is so delicious and valuable... that farm and ranch families will be wise to protect it carefully from insects.

There are several pests that attack your hams and sausages and cheese. Mites, larder beetles, and cheese mites are some. Here are some prevention methods recommended:

First, eliminate breeding places. Remember these insects can be harbored in crumbs of meat and cheese lodged in cracks of shelves or in the floor of the smokehouse. Brush and scrub thoroughly all places where meat has been stored.

Keep all scraps of meat in tight containers until they've been rendered. Use 20-mesh screen or finer to keep flying insects out of store-rooms. Fit all the doors and windows tightly, too.

Cure and wrap your meat in cold weather... before insects start to work in the spring. Wrap each piece separately in waxed or other grease-proof paper. Be sure that the meat is sound and free from insects when you wrap it.

Keep your store house clean, tight, well ventilated, but dark.

You can get some directions for wrapping and hanging meat in storage from your county extension agents. It's particularly important that the meat be hung so that the pieces don't touch. And it's also a good idea to give your cured meat the once-over frequently to make sure insects or rats haven't penetrated the wrappings.

Watch the Child's Diet

While rationing and shortages increase a mother's problems in feeding her children, in most vicinities it's still possible to obtain and prepare an adequate diet for the youngsters.

Especially in war-time, though, it's a good idea to be careful. It's primarily important not to overload a child's diet with cereals or legumes. Too much bulky food may dull a child's appetite for fruits, vegetables and protein.

Cereals, of course, are inexpensive and easy to prepare. And a child should have those which are whole grain or enriched. As for fruit... it should be ripe and free from spoilage.

The pre-school youngster needs a quart of good, clean milk every day. He should have an egg a day, too, and small amounts of fish, cheese, poultry and beef.

Glandular meats are good, too. Young children also have some difficulty in digesting legumes, so this phase of their diet needs watching. Nuts, for instance, should be ground and used in cooking.

And here's a final caution: Never feed a pre-school child highly seasoned foods sometimes eaten by adults. If a child gets enough nutritious, simply-prepared foods, there'll not be so much room for pop, candy, pickles, and chili.

Oskaloosa, Ia.—The Mahaska County Red Cross Chapter's new water safety chairman can use his name as a slogan for his service. He is W. E. Swim.

Save green and wax snap beans by cutting ends rather than breaking with fingers. Overcooking reduces vitamins and flavor and results in waste.

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.—Matthew 5:16.

A member of the local ration board was discussing the attitude of different people toward the ration program. "It is an interesting study of human nature," he said, "some people seem to understand the theory of rationing and are willing to co-operate in the program. Others use every effort to maneuver around so that they can chisel and defeat the purpose of the program. I can't help but feel that while we may be all Americans in this country that some are a lot better Americans than others."

There is no danger of a dictatorship in this country as long as elections are to be held. No matter what sort of an administration the people of this country have, or what it does for them, after so long a time they are ready for a change. They are ready to believe that some other kind of an administration will do more for them or do better what is already being done for them.

HISTORY

Lincoln's Birth Day—February 12: The first formal celebration of Abraham Lincoln's birth day was held in Washington, D. C., in 1866. The celebration was held in the Capitol building and was attended by members of Congress, the Cabinet, Justices of the Supreme Court, the Diplomatic Corps, the Governors of several states, military and naval officers and by a large number of citizens who crowded the galleries. Flags were displayed at half mast on all Federal buildings and a funeral atmosphere pervaded all of Washington. At the same time in Jersey City, N. J., the Lincoln Association composed of a number of private citizens held its first observance. The club membership grew to over 300 and each year observed the day with a dinner and addresses by notables of the day. In 1887 the Republican party club of New York City announced it would observe Lincoln's birthday. About 300 persons attended its first meeting. The observance of the day grew as time went on until it reached all parts of the country. At the meeting of the Lincoln club of New York in 1891 Hannibal Hamlin of Maine, who was vice president during Lincoln's first term as President proposed that the anniversary be made a national holiday. The next year the legislature of the state of Illinois, the state in which Lincoln spent most of his mature years and in which he was buried, made the anniversary a legal holiday. This action was followed rapidly by other states. The one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birthday was widely observed with appropriate ceremonies. In New York alone it is estimated that over 100,000,000 persons took part in the various exercises. In Chicago fifty public meetings were held by as many different organizations. Considerable notice of the celebration was taken abroad. On May 30, 1922, the Lincoln Memorial in Potomac Park, Washington, was dedicated. The anniversary of Lincoln's birthday is today observed in every school in the country and by hundreds of Lincoln Memorial Associations. In twenty-seven states the anniversary is observed as a legal holiday.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

The attitude of a great many people in this country as regards the war ranges from complete indifference to smug complacency, and, in many instances, to complete lack of co-operation. I would not attempt to say what per cent of the people are so indifferent to the fight this country is making to save its own liberty and the liberty of most of the world, but I am ready to say, and I do not believe it can be contradicted, that millions in this country are wholly indifferent to the war effort. To date they have not made a single sacrifice because of the war. They have not given up a single thing for the war or their country. With a great many so-called Americans patriotism is at a pretty low ebb. This is the charge. Now as to the evidence to support the

Miss Alice was thrown over the dash board and run over by the buggy, sustaining a number of painful bruises. Mildred made a successful leap while "Grandma" remained in the buggy and escaped without injury.

To date producers of synthetic rubber have not been able to make a product that will compete with natural rubber for automobile and truck tires. There are a few uses in which synthetic rubber is superior to natural rubber. The problem for the future of synthetic rubber manufacturers is to find the fields in which the synthetic product will best serve.

Miss Frances Woods of Marfa is making an extended visit here in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Woods, and family.

Forrest Ragland of Roaring Springs, his daughter, Mrs. Bruce Thornton of Sherman, and his son, Gilbert Ragland, who is in the Navy Air Corps at San Diego, Calif., spent a few hours Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thompson. Mr. Ragland is a cousin of Mrs. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Ashbey of Vernon, former Crowell residents for many years, were here Tuesday visiting old-time friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ashbey moved to Vernon 19 years ago. While living in Crowell Mr. Ashbey was employed as a tinner for J. D. Pinkerton, T. L. Hayes and M. S. Henry & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Groomer, residents of this county for several years, left Sunday for Valley Mills, Texas, where they will make their home. Mr. Groomer will enter the grocery business. Mr. and Mrs. Groomer lived in the Foard City community during most of the time they lived in this county until last year when they moved to a farm on Route 2, northeast of Crowell, and the community lost two good citizens when Mr. and Mrs. Groomer decided to make their home in another part of the state.

Wreck of the Atlantic Coast Lines' two streamlined trains which killed 72 and injured approximately 100. Workers using torches are shown attempting to reach victims. Winter Flock Depends on Management for Egg Production

Egg production during winter is not difficult if poultrymen keep the layers comfortable and well fed.

According to D. F. Eaton, county agent, consumption of water and feeding mash, and ventilation of poultry houses are the important factors. During cold weather, fresh warm water must be provided each morning in order to maintain production. If higher production is to be sustained, the water consumption of the layers also must be maintained.

Equally important is the consumption of mash. Plenty of good laying mash should be kept before the birds, and stirring it occasionally will increase consumption. Where possible, feeding of a moist mash at noon will stimulate production. In preparing this, about three pounds of mash, dry weight, mixed with just enough water to make it crumbly will be sufficient for 100 hens. During extreme cold an extra feeding of grain just before the birds go to roost will help to keep them warm and also aid in maintaining better winter production.

Providing a good green range for laying hens is an important part of good poultry management. Tender, green feed furnishes protein, minerals and the health-producing vitamin A. A small patch of green feed planted adjacent to the poultry yard where the birds can run in the late afternoon will give excellent grazing and aid materially in maintaining winter production.

Poultry houses should be well ventilated, but at the same time free of drafts and moisture, and warm enough to keep the hens comfortable. If metal roofs of houses are insulated with heavy cardboard or other insulating material, sweating with consequent damp floors will be eliminated. Moisture condensing on the inside of a metal roof otherwise drips upon the floor and often causes colds among hens.

Control of Mesquite Problem in Southwest

While mesquite trees offer a few advantages, their spread in the Southwest is causing great concern among ranchers. Sometimes the root of a mesquite may reach down 25 feet, and sometimes they'll spread as far as 75 feet. That way, the tree draws off large quantities of moisture which otherwise might support more valuable forage plants.

In general, on grass land where mesquite is on the increase, there is nearly always an unprofitable reduction in grazing capacity. This is the ranchman's number one problem and the solution is not yet definite. However, progress is being made and some definite results are being obtained, according to County Agent Eaton.

He says further that where there's a good cover of perennial grasses, spread of mesquite often is retarded, according to pasture specialists.

A new U. S. Department of Agriculture bulletin, available here in the office, describes several control methods. It is entitled "Control of Mesquite on Southwestern Ranges." Grubbing is recommended for small seedlings and shrubs with a one-inch stem or less. Clearing with power machinery also is discussed in the leaflet. If bulldozers, tree dozers and other equipment tear out the main roots near the surface, the job may be satisfactory. But if the trees are sheared off at the surface, they may be considerable resprouting. This type of control often is so costly as to be prohibitive.

Spraying trunks of the trees with kerosene or Diesel oil has been practiced in Texas for several years with variable results. More promising methods are those involving poisoning with a solution of sodium arsenate. However, neither kerosene or poison is supposed to be available for shrub control at present. Whether mesquite control by these methods will pay is a question for the individual range owner to decide.

Selective Service Changes

Occupational deferments generally will be denied 18 to 22-year old registrants, other than those in agriculture, fathers and non-fathers alike, unless they are engaged in activities in which deferment is specifically authorized, according to Selective Service. Furthermore, all registrants will be given pre-induction physical examination at least 21 days before being inducted. Therefore, the period of three weeks in the enlisted reserve now granted by the army and the one-week period granted by the navy will be eliminated. These changes become effective February 1.

Social Security For Farmers

Social insurance for farm operators, farm workers, business and professional men, household workers, and employees of governmental and non-profit organizations was recommended by the Social Security Board in its eighth annual report. The Board urged inclusion of these groups in an expanded social security program which would include insurance against costs of medical and hospital care without disturbing the present principle of free choice in selection of physicians or hospitals. The Board recommended that a comprehensive social insurance system should be set up now while earnings are "at record levels" in order to have it in full operation for the post-war period.

To Stabilize Rationing Power

Under the new rationing token plan effective February 27, the housewife will be able to buy about the same amount of rationed processed foods and meats-fats as she can now. Point values will be adjusted so the individual's allotment of 60 points for buying meats and fats will buy the same amount as the present allotment of approximately 64 points. Similarly, under the token plan the 50-point allotment for processed foods will buy an amount equal to the present 48-point allotment.

Pre-War Baby Carriages Back

Pre-war model baby carriages, strollers, walkers, and pushchairs will re-appear on the market in about six weeks, according to WPB. Greater availability of steel makes possible the production of these pre-war models.

Asks Farmers' Help in Woods

To mobilize farmers on farm woodlands and for work in forest industries, the War Production Board, War Food Administration, and War Manpower Commission have combined forces. Farmers and farm workers are asked to devote their spare time, particularly during the slack winter-spring period, to work in the woods and wood industries. Production of 14 million cords of domestic pulpwood will be necessary in 1944 to supply the needs of our armed forces overseas and meet essential home front war requirements, according to WPB's paper division. Farmers have nearly 139 million acres of farm

More Food For School Lunches
America's school children have been assured by the Office of Price Administration more generous amounts of food for lunch-room and cafeteria meals under a new plan for providing rationed foods to schools. The new allotments were worked out by OPA in close co-operation with school lunch nutrition experts of the Food Distribution Administration. The Government's school lunch program, which went into effect one year ago, is a wartime measure to make sure that school children will have a well-planned and nutritionally appropriate noon meal.

Tractor Production Up
Production of wheeled tractors in December was the largest for any month in two years—in excess of 20,000 as compared with 4,200 in December, 1942. However, according to the WPB, the current rate of production must be maintained in order to meet the tractor quota of 209,000 for the 12 months that will end June 30. This will not be easy because many of the parts needed for tractor production are also used in landing craft, now in urgent demand by the armed services.

Serious Mistake to Fight Flu on Your Feet, Dr. Cox Says

Austin.—Commenting on the fact that there were approximately 25,000 cases of flu reported in Texas last week, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today that there is no way to estimate the number of additional cases not attended by a physician, therefore not reported.

Dr. Cox urged every Texan to do his utmost to protect himself and his family from the dangers of influenza and its possible complications and stressed the fact that it is not a disease to be regarded lightly.

"It is a serious mistake to try to fight flu, on your feet. Complete bed rest, lots of liquids, a light diet, and treatment prescribed by a competent physician are the steps most necessary to early recovery," Dr. Cox said.

"Pneumonia is a frequent complication of influenza, and with vitality low from the effects of flu, pneumonia can be an unusually serious menace," Dr. Cox said.

The State Health Officer said that avoiding undue exposure to cold, wet weather, maintaining good ventilation, obtaining sufficient sleep and eating a nourishing diet will aid in building up physical resistance and may help to ward off influenza. If, in spite of these precautions, fever, headache, and other flu symptoms appear, the patient should go to bed immediately and consult his family physician.

Two Minute Sermon
(By Thomas Hastwell)

They Spend Their Lives Moving Water Pails: I used to know a man who had a workshop in which he spent a good deal of time and did a good deal of work. The workshop had several holes in the roof through which the water leaked when it rained. The owner, instead of fixing the roof, used to set pails and cans about the place to catch the water. Every time it rained he went through this procedure, emptying them after the rain was over and cleaning up the shop. I asked him one day why he didn't take an hour and fix the roof, pointing out the time and trouble it would save him. I will, some day when I get around to it, he said. There are people who live all of their lives like that. They have practices and habits that interfere with their efficiency. Some day they expect to correct them but the day doesn't seem to come. They go on and on all through their lives setting out pails and emptying them after the rain. They have not learned to live efficiently.

The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32:3, 4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds" (Psalms 57:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science brings to light Truth and its supremacy, universal harmony, the entireness of God, good and the nothingness of evil" (page 293).

Be balanced believers and consistent Christians, and help to give to our age what it lacks most, "the words of faith and of good doctrine" embodied in lives that adorn the teachings of God's Word.

Your Horoscope

January 17—You move slowly in all your undertakings, consequently you make few mistakes. You inspire confidence in whatever you undertake to do, very often being placed at the head of important positions; if not the head you are the power behind the throne.

January 18, 19, 20—You have great executive ability, fine intelligence and reasoning power. You have a discriminating mind. You are kind and affectionate in your home. People trust you and you do not often betray their confidence. Your business deals are generally successful.

January 21, 22, 23—You are cool, and cautious in some degree, though generally truthful you lack frankness. Your side of the question is generally painted a vividly rose color. You fit easily into any condition, provided there is not too much privation connected with it in which case you slide gracefully out of it.

Saving Our Youth
Text: "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine."—1 Timothy 4:16a.

In ancient Greece there was a race in which the runners carried lighted torches. The winner was he who first crossed the finishing line with his torch burning. Speed alone was not enough. Each man took heed to his torch.

In our text, a young man is addressed who from childhood had known the Scriptures. He was a man of faith, yet he was urged to "flee youthful lusts." He was to so conduct himself that no man could despise him. He was to be an example of all Christians.

Our day is one of opportunity to young people. What responsibilities they are assuming. Millions of young men face death on land and sea at the call of country. Young women are entering into life's serious duties because of the emergency. And Christ's call is just as urgent as that of native land. Of the things that Christ and the Church stand for, Paul urges, "Give thyself wholly to them." Wesley, Spurgeon and Moody entered wholeheartedly when they were young. Why not we? Our community, our church, our country needs us to carry the torch of truth. Lift it aloft.

A Christian youth may be too introspective, thinking of his own spiritual experience constantly. Or he may delve into doctrine, enjoying nothing more than debating religious subjects. Either tendency or practice carried far will cripple his usefulness. To "take heed" unto himself and to neglect Bible teaching is to become morbid and extremely mystical; to "take heed" to doctrine and to neglect himself is to become hypocritical and to overly stress the intellectual. But to give heed to both, one's personal Christian experience and the great teachings of the Word of God, is to "save thyself and them that hear thee." And if you do not save yourself, how can you save hearers?

Be balanced believers and consistent Christians, and help to give to our age what it lacks most, "the words of faith and of good doctrine" embodied in lives that adorn the teachings of God's Word.

Serious Mistake to Fight Flu on Your Feet, Dr. Cox Says

Austin — Commenting on the fact that there were approximately 25,000 cases of flu reported in Texas last week, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, said today that there is no way to estimate the number of additional cases not attended by a physician, therefore not reported.

Dr. Cox urged every Texan to do his utmost to protect himself and his family from the dangers of influenza and its possible complications and stressed the fact that it is not a disease to be regarded lightly.

"It is a serious mistake to try to fight flu, on your feet. Complete bed rest, lots of liquids, a light diet, and treatment prescribed by a competent physician are the steps most necessary to early recovery," Dr. Cox said.

"Pneumonia is a frequent complication of influenza, and with vitality low from the effects of flu, pneumonia can be an unusually serious menace," Dr. Cox said.

The State Health Officer said that avoiding undue exposure to cold, wet weather, maintaining good ventilation, obtaining sufficient sleep and eating a nourishing diet will aid in building up physical resistance and may help to ward off influenza. If, in spite of these precautions, fever, headache, and other flu symptoms appear, the patient should go to bed immediately and consult his family physician.

Back To The Bible

We are living in a generation that is dominated by a philosophy of materialism—a philosophy of selfishness and hatred that leads to the destruction of all the higher values that the best of mankind has struggled for throughout the centuries. This infidelity obtains expression: (1) By denial of the true origin of the Bible; (2) By mission of the divine revelation; the Bible coupled with a refusal to accept its laws as being sufficient to govern us in our relationship with our fellow men and our Lord; (3) By mission to the divinity of Christ and the sufficiency of the Bible coupled with a life of inactivity.

This infidelity has been bred and nurtured by the Christian institutions of worship. It is the natural result of: (1) Failure of the professed followers of Christ to preserve the doctrinal purity of the New Testament church. This failure has resulted in numerous religious institutions with conflicting doctrines causing confusion in the minds of people. (2) Failure of the professed followers of Christ to demonstrate by personal example at the philosophy of life as exemplified by the life and teaching of our Lord is practical in a actual world. Brethren, this infidelity can be cured by eliminating its cause, GOING BACK TO THE BIBLE.

Two Minute Sermon
(By Thomas Hastwell)

They Spend Their Lives Moving Water Pails: I used to know a man who had a workshop in which he spent a good deal of time and did a good deal of work. The workshop had several holes in the roof through which the water leaked when it rained. The owner, instead of fixing the roof, used to set pails and cans about the place to catch the water. Every time it rained he went through this procedure, emptying them after the rain was over and cleaning up the shop. I asked him one day why he didn't take an hour off and fix the roof, pointing out the time and trouble it would save him. I will, some day when I get around to it, he said. There are people who live all of their lives like that. They have practices and habits that interfere with their efficiency. Some day they expect to correct them but the day doesn't seem to come. They go on and on all through their lives setting out pails and emptying them after the rain. They have not learned to live efficiently.

The Golden Text is: "Ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the Rock, his work is perfect: for all his ways are judgment: a God of truth and without iniquity, just and right is he" (Deuteronomy 32:3, 4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is to be following from the Bible: "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations. For thy mercy is great unto the heavens, and thy truth unto the clouds" (Psalms 57:9, 10).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christian Science brings to light Truth and its supremacy, universal harmony, the entireness of God, good and the nothingness of evil" (page 293).

Your Horoscope

January 17—You move slowly in all your undertakings, consequently you make few mistakes. You inspire confidence in whatever you undertake to do, very often being placed at the head of important positions; if not the head you are the power behind the throne.

January 18, 19, 20—You have great executive ability, fine intelligence and reasoning power. You have a discriminating mind. You are kind and affectionate in your home. People trust you and you do not often betray their confidence. Your business deals are generally successful.

January 21, 22, 23—You are cool, and cautious in some degree, though generally truthful you lack frankness. Your side of the question is generally painted a vividly rose color. You fit easily into any condition, provided there is not too much privation connected with it in which case you slide gracefully out of it.

Saving Our Youth

Text: "Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine."—1 Timothy 4:16a.

In ancient Greece there was a race in which the runners carried lighted torches. The winner was he who first crossed the finishing line with his torch burning. Speed alone was not enough. Each man took heed to his torch.

In our text, a young man is addressed who from childhood had known the Scriptures. He was a man of faith, yet he was urged to "flee youthful lusts." He was to so conduct himself that no man could despise him. He was to be an example of all Christians.

Our day is one of opportunity to young people. What responsibilities they are assuming. Millions of young men face death on land and sea at the call of country. Young women are entering into life's serious duties because of the emergency. And Christ's call is just as urgent as that of native land. Of the things that Christ and the Church stand for, Paul urges, "Give thyself wholly to them." Wesley, Spurgeon and Moody entered wholeheartedly when they were young. Why not we? Our community, our church, our country needs us to carry the torch of truth. Lift it aloft.

A Christian youth may be too introspective, thinking of his own spiritual experience constantly. Or he may delve into doctrine, enjoying nothing more than debating religious subjects. Either tendency or practice carried far will cripple his usefulness. To "take heed" unto himself and to neglect Bible teaching is to become morbid and extremely mystical; to "take heed" to doctrine and to neglect himself is to become hypocritical and to overly stress the intellectual. But to give heed to both, one's personal Christian experience and the great teachings of the Word of God, is to "save thyself and them that hear thee." And if you do not save yourself, how can you save hearers?

Be balanced believers and consistent Christians, and help to give to our age what it lacks most, "the words of faith and of good doctrine" embodied in lives that adorn the teachings of God's Word.

Party Given for Mary Margaret Crews

Mrs. S. T. Crews entertained a group of boys and girls at her home Monday afternoon, Jan. 10, in honor of her granddaughter, Mary Margaret Crews, who, after a visit in the home of her grandparents, left for her home in New Gulf last week.

Guests for the party included the piano pupils of Mrs. Crews, and several others. They were Caroline Bell, Jean Hughton, Marcia Kincaid, Robert Kincaid, Frances Kincaid, Don Ray Burrow, Frankie Mabe and Barbara White and Charlie Bell. Mary Ann Myers and Mary Erma Cooper.

Many in-door games were played, after which the guests were invited into the dining room where the table was decorated with flags and attractive plate favors lay at each place. Refreshments of chocolate cake and ice cream were served by Mrs. Crews, who was assisted by Mary Margaret's mother, Mrs. Lee Crews.

WESLEYAN SERVICE GUILD

The Wesleyan Service Guild held its first meeting of the New Year in the home of Mrs. M. S. Henry on Thursday, Jan. 13.

The new officers for the coming year are: Mrs. J. B. Harrison, president; Miss Florence Black, vice president; Miss Lottie Russell, recording and corresponding secretary; Mrs. Claude Brooks, local and connectional treasurer; Miss Blanche Hays, press reporter; Miss Florence Black and Mrs. Carrie Hart, program committee.

At the usual outline of business, the treasurer gave the annual report for 1943, $118 spent in home and foreign lands and $36.60 in local work.

The following program was given: "History of Palestine," by Mrs. Henry, in which she featured the geography of the country and political conditions during the time of Christ which it is necessary to know for an intelligent study of the Gospels. The 11th and 12th chapters of Mark will be the lesson for the 27th of January.

It being the time for making of pledges for the connectional work, Mrs. Claude Brooks presented the work, making an informative talk on the eight schools sponsored by the Guild and the personal responsibility of each member in carrying out the Great Commission. She used a candle lighting ceremony with white candles representing Christianity; blue candles representing Loyalty and red candles for service.

An appetizing plate was served by the hostess at the close of the program.

Mrs. Agnes McLaughlin was hostess for the Columbian Club on Jan. 12. It was annual election day and Mrs. S. J. Ferguson was leader for the program.

General satisfaction was expressed for the course of the present year on "Strategic Points of the War Zones" and all were in favor of a miscellaneous study of present day topics and the peace and developments of the near future for another year.

The election resulted in the re-election of the present officers. Roll call, as usual was interesting. There was never such interesting and important developments as today.

The hostess served dainty refreshments and the next meeting will be held on Thursday, Jan. 20, in the home of Mrs. H. Schindler.

WEST SIDE CLUB

The West Side Home Demonstration Club met on Jan. 12, with Mrs. S. E. Tate as hostess. Mrs. Henry Ross, the new president, presided over the meeting. An interesting program on the subject, "How Big is Your Waste Line?" was presented.

An Increased Cotton Acreage Possible

A great many agricultural thinkers are of the opinion that there should be an increased acreage in cotton this year to help alleviate the protein feed crisis. The limiting factor to this increase will be the acute labor and machinery situation. If the government loan should be continued so that a price floor can be assured an increase would be safe.

However, in the immediate years to come, we could easily have a condition when we would accumulate a surplus and force reduced prices again with unfavorable conditions.

It is to be hoped that following the war there will be a demand for more cotton to clothe the needy peoples of the European countries. However, the government has removed all restrictions and limitations so far as acreage is concerned, and evidently it feels that it is a safe proposition for this year at least in the face of present demand and available supplies.

Pruning Vines and Fig Trees. Good fruit, both in quality and yield, if obtained through good care of trees and vines. Pruning is one of the most important items in the creed of orchard management.

Grape vines, of which Texas has abundance, must be pruned every winter, and January is the most suitable time of the year to do it. If they are cut too early in the fall, or left until February, they are likely to lose sap from pruning. A normal plant can carry 30 to 40 bunches of grapes to maturity. But if too much growth is left, the bunches will be small and many small branches are likely to die on the plant in the latter part of the growing season. It is recommended to select 30 or 40 of the best size branches and remove all other growth. Cut back the remaining branches, leaving two buds on each shoot.

Normally, blackberry and dewberry vines should be pruned in June, but if the job was overlooked it should not be delayed further. Before applying the shears, all weeds and grass around each plant should be removed with a hoe. Then select three of the best and largest canes and cut out all others. If the remaining canes are more than three feet high, top them with the shears or a sharp knife. Young and boyseberry vines should be cut back to three runners on each plant, each runner not exceeding six feet in length.

county agents office and who furnishes the following information:

Fifty per cent of the soybean meal produced in southern mills from mid-western soybeans is reserved by Commodity Credit Corporation for distribution to critical areas. The remaining 50 per cent is left in the hands of processors for distribution through regular trade channels. The War Food Administration has issued an order effective January 1, 1944, requiring the processors of cottonseed, soybean (except mid-western soybeans crushed in southern mills), peanut, and flaxseed to set aside 20 per cent of their January production of protein meals for distribution only to protein deficit areas through state and county Tripple-A committees.

The 50 per cent of the soybean meal left with the southern mills, 80 per cent of any other soybean meal, and 80 per cent of the cottonseed, peanut and linseed meal, plus all other types of protein concentrates, are therefore left in the hands of the industry for distribution through the established channels of trade.

Although Texas will get its fair share of the protein meals made available for directed distribution by the War Food Administration under the set-aside order, it can readily be seen that the small amount available for such distribution will not be sufficient to take care of all the needs of all feeders," Vance said. "It will be sufficient only," he continued, "to relieve the most critical area where regular channels of distribution have failed to supply the requirements of local feeders."

Vance stated that recent storms and near-zero temperatures developed a critical situation with range livestock in the Great Plains region. Every effort is being made to rush supplies of protein cake into that area to prevent heavy death loss.
