That information was in the hands of a few top-drawer Allied officers—who were rather discreet about it.

Why a Farmer Should Buy and Keep War Bonds

by Gabriel Lundy
Head, Dept. of Agricultural Economics
South Dakota State College

PATRIOTISM, willingness to combat harmful inflation, and a desire to build up a reserve of post-war buying power will impel the farmer to buy and keep War Bonds.

Farmer loyalty will express itself not only in maximum production of necessary food and fiber for the winning of the war. Farmer loyalty will also express itself in the equally necessary and patriotic duty to invest cash in War Bonds which the government can purchase both food and war equipment. Fortunately farmers are receiving higher prices and larger incomes. This has enabled many of them to reduce old debts to manageable amounts or to acquire surplus cash for Bond purchases. A sense of responsibility toward the need of the nation for funds with which to carry on the war will urge farmers to purchase War Bonds to the limit of their resources.

Both direct self-interest and patriotism dictate the purchase of Bonds as a means to prevent inflation. During all our large wars we have had high war prices followed by very low prices and depression some years later. During World War I many farmers and others unwisely used the enlarged income to bid up the prices of farm land. As a result the farm mortgage debt was more than doubled. Then when post-war prices dropped very low many farmers became unable to pay, and lost their farms through foreclosure. A repetition of this calamity can be avoided by investing in War Bonds instead of buying land at inflated prices and on credit.

The danger of inflation, however, is not limited to land. It is also important not to bid up the prices of other things. Price inflation and price collapse in every line are harmful. Such harm can be avoided by diverting surplus funds away from the markets for scarce commodities and into War Bonds. Financing the war by means of heavier taxes would be more anti-inflationary, but since Congress has decided in favor of Bonds it is our duty and privilege to invest in War Bonds.

Good farm management and self-interest as well as patriotism will urge the farmer to buy and keep War Bonds. If prices fall

Cotton Ranks First As U. S. Food Oil Crop

Cotton still holds its long-time place as the nation's most important source of needed vegetable oil, despite drastic reduction in cotton acreage and large increases in acreages of soybeans, peanuts and other oilseed crops, analysis of Department of Commerce reports shows.

Production of cottonseed oil during the 7-month period, August, 1943, through February, 1944, exceeded combined production of soybean oil, peanut oil and corn oil, the reports show.

More than one billion pounds of cottonseed oil were produced during the period, the latest for which comparable statistics are available, compared with 663 million pounds of soybean oil, 33 million pounds of peanut oil, and 139 million pounds of corn oil. Combined production of the other three leading vegetable oils is 11 per cent less than that of cottonseed oil, alone; while peanuts, widely-publicized as an oilseed crop, supplied less than one-tenth as much oil as cottonseed.

For the entire season of 1942-43, cotton oil mills produced 25,357 million pounds (of 60,000 pounds each) of cottonseed oil. Soybean oil production was 19,970 million pounds last season, peanut oil 2,136 million pounds, and corn oil 4,006 million pounds each, the reports reveal. Practically all of the peanut oil and part of the soybean oil were produced at cottonseed oil mills of the Cotton Belt.

after this war as they did after other large wars, the farmer with a reserve in Bonds will be in an ideal economic position. Farm buildings and machinery are wearing out faster during the present war period than during normal times due to difficulties in obtaining needed material and labor for repairs and replacements. Farmers should now be putting money in Bonds to cover these costs. About 10 percent of the total machinery investment and about 4 percent of the total farm building investment should be saved each year to cover wear and depreciation. With lower prices, farm equipment, new buildings and new furniture and household equipment will be at the farmer's disposal for less money after the War than now.

Furthermore, if he holds his Bonds until maturity, his money will be increased by one-fourth. With more money and lower prices, the Bond-investing farmer will then have cash to make his farm work easier and more productive. His money will also yield him more in home comforts, education for the children, or in the purchase of a farm for the son.

The danger of war-induced inflation does not end with the actual fighting. Post-war inflation is fully as threatening. Large-scale conversion of Bonds into cash for the purchase of articles, commodities, etc., before industry has had time to convert fully to peace-time production, will be undesirable. By holding his Bonds longer, the farmer or other Bondholder will contribute to the elimination of both a wild "boom" and a subsequent depression.

Agriculture and industry are intimately interrelated and interdependent. The government is now industry's big customer. After the war, farmers will be big buyers of industrial products. If the accumulated purchasing power is released gradually, and if income is widely distributed, industry can furnish full and continuous employment. In turn this will give farmers a profitable market for their products. Thus, both patriotism and far-sighted self-interest will induce farmers and others to buy and keep their War Bonds until after peace is achieved.

Poultry Production Discussed

We have just concluded a series of six meetings with the various home demonstration clubs in the county, at which time we discussed poultry production.

Some seventy-four farm women attended these meetings and various phases of poultry production was discussed involving housing, feeding, sanitation, brooding and the various poultry diseases current in the county.

Those attending showed intense interest in the poultry program and we appreciated the invitation, extended through their Home Demonstration Agent, Miss Elizabeth Elliott, to appear before them.

Eggs At Low Price Still Profitable

There's still a small profit in producing eggs at present prices, says Dr. W. A. Boney, poultry veterinarian for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

"The two best things I can recommend now," Dr. Boney says, "are to inspect the flock daily and cull out non-layers, and replace them with chicks from hens which have been bred for high egg production."

Many hens are not in production now. Generally, they are identified by bright yellow shanks and yellow beaks, and some are showing signs of sickness, he explains. Others are crippled or paralyzed, while a large number have grey eyes which is a form of leucosis, or range paralysis.

Nearly all birds so affected are not laying and probably have a reproductive disorder or an internal form of range paralysis.

Keeping poultry houses clean and comfortable is another safeguard against disease and consequent loss of production.

Wheat Harvest Just Around The Corner

With the added moisture of the latest rain the grain is rapidly heading out.

Usually some grain reaches the market here soon after June 1 each year. So harvest will be in full swing by June 10 to 15.

We will send out an inquiry this week to determine how many combines we have in the country and to determine how many will be needed from the outside.

May we suggest that those, who do not have combines and who will need their grain cut by some one else, let this office know as we are having inquiries from machine operators from out of the county and out of the state.

This office will attempt to assist you in securing needed machinery and trucks. So please keep us advised as to your needs of combines, trucks and labor.

Should there be combine operators who have not secured work to do, please let us know as there will be calls for operators.

We are having calls as far away as Kansas from operators of combines and trucks, and, since this office will act as a clearing house for placing these machines we will have to know who needs them.

An Extensive Terracing Program

During the month we laid out and supervised the construction of terraces on the entire 120-acre farm of Dr. J. M. Hill totaling five miles. On W. B. Jones 20 acres, 1 mile; M. F. Hunter, 140 acres or 4 1/2 miles, entire farm; R. L. Pechacek 40 acres, or 1 1/4 miles, entire farm; Mrs. J. B. Raspberry, 75 acres or 1 1/2 miles, entire farm; Mrs. Mamie Thomas, 75 acres or 1 1/3 miles, entire farm; Hartley Easley, 210 acres or 4.7 miles, entire farm; W. O. Fish, 65 acres contoured; R. L. Walling, 95 acres contoured; Frank Flesher, 80 acres or 2 1/2 miles terraced; Leslie McAdams, 160 acres or 4 miles, entire farm; Roy Todd, 25 acres, or 1 mile; Enos Todd, 30 acres or 1 1/2 miles; Johnnie Marr, 75 acres or 2 miles, entire farm; R. N. Beatty, 30 acres or 1 1/2 miles; Milburn Carroll, 60 acres or 1.7 miles, and Dick Sparks, 90 acres or 2 1/2 miles, entire farm.

Each of these built standard terraces and most of them were built under contract at $1.50 per hundred feet.

Since there are five whirlwind terracing machines, three Ford outfits, and a few others with some using one-way, operating in the county, we are getting a lot of work done and the best terraces on the whole we have ever had constructed in the county.

The Triple A has co-operated in this program. Aside from the terracing program they are carrying out the most extensive tank building program ever undertaken in the county.

Workers Who Reach 65 Should Consult Nearest S. S. Board

Inaccurate advice from well-meaning but inadequately informed friends may be costing some retired workers money in the form of old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

Each worker who is 65 or over and has been working in covered employment should get in touch with the nearest office of the Social Security Board as soon as he quits his job.

Similarly when a worker dies, the widow or other close relative should immediately contact the Social Security Board field office where complete assistance will be given in filing a claim for survivors' benefits.

Many workers of retirement age tell us that they did not realize that they may continue to earn credits toward benefits after reaching age 65, or that they may work in covered employment, even after their retirement insurance rights.

The true facts are that a worker may qualify for retirement benefits at any age above 65. He merely gives up his benefit for those months in which he earns as much as $15 in covered employment.

In a recent California anti-narcotic campaign some 50 druggists were arrested for selling the so-called "4-P pills." Known as "goof balls," the pills when taken in a highball or cocktail may cause a man to be turned down at his induction center as a "nervous" case.

What We Think IN THE NEWS 30 YEARS AGO

This column is an expression of this writer's opinion regarding various subjects discussed in it from time to time.

The opinions expressed here are not submitted as the final dictum in regard to the matters discussed but solely and purely as the opinion of the writer.

I wish to direct my remarks today to some of the customs that have become the stereotyped convention regarding the conduct of funerals.

I am opposed to the practice commonly employed at funerals known as "viewing the remains." It appeals to me as a relic of barbarism.

I am opposed to flowers at a funeral. Too many of them are given because the givers feel impelled to show such so called respect.

I am opposed to many funeral services. Many of them that I have heard appear to have been designed with the thought in mind of stirring up and harrowing the feelings of the family and the friends.

These are but a few of the things in connection with the last rites referred to as a funeral service which in my opinion might be improved and bettered.

The contest was held in its first month of activities, said announcement today by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the two-year production and improvement plan. The contest was officially inaugurated in March, following a referendum vote by WTCC affiliates to put it on. Objectives are to contribute to the war effort in stimulating increased production on West Texas farms and ranches of food and feed crops, and to carry the plan into the post-war in more fully developing the areas' natural resources from the soil, together with soil and water conservation and utilization.

As of April 1, 43 area chambers of commerce, or agencies functioning as such, had progressed sufficiently in their contest participation to have earned certificates of award, and these were in the mail to them this week-end. The certificate, a fine piece of embossing and printing, recites that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, "speaking for the people of West Texas and with their congratulations, is privileged to bestow this Certificate of Award on the Chamber of Commerce, as a pioneering leader in the Inter-County Production and Improvement Contest." It bears the signatures of WTCC President M. C. Ulmer and Manager D. A. Bandeen.

Receiving the award token are chambers of Abilene, Albany, Anson, Amarillo, Ballinger, Big Spring, Brady, Breckenridge, Childress, Clarendon, Coleman, Colorado City, Del Rio, Electra, Floydada, Hamlin, Haskell, Henrietta, Hereford, Iowa Park, Jamesburg, Jewell, Lubbock, Memphis, Midland, Moran, Pampa, Plainview, Quanah, Roby, Rotan, San Angelo, Santa Anna, Seymour, Snyder, Spur, Stamford, Sweetwater, Taboka, Vernon, Weatherford, Wichita Falls, Winters.

STORY OF RAILROADS

James J. Pelley, President of the Association of American Railroads, recently said:

"The greatest thing we have had in America is to be found in our institutions of government—institutions which have left it to the individual to do his best, to work and save, to risk loss in order to earn profit. It is those institutions which, in a few short decades, have enabled our people to transform a wilderness into the mighty civilization we see all about us."

"Government has had its part to play—a most essential part, and in many ways a most helpful part—but the individual, the chance-taking, profit-seeking individual, is the source and main spring of American achievement. There is no finer example of this than the story of the American railroads. Everyone recognizes, I think, that the mass transportation of railroads is responsible in large measure for the agricultural, industrial and commercial growth and development of the country. Taxes Paid by Oil Industry Aids School Children of Texas

Taxes paid by the Texas oil industry meet the cost of educating one out of every four school children in Texas, according to a survey just completed by the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Total cost of operating the State's public schools in 1943 was $96,086,675, of which the petroleum industry paid $22,421,262 in direct taxes, not including the gasoline tax, which is paid by the motorist but collected for the roads and shippers that the railroads have been able to handle a load twice as great as in the last war, with one-third less equipment and 500,000 fewer men than it took then—and to do a better job besides."

government by the oil industry. There are numerous independent school districts in which oil is paying the bulk of the taxes—in two instances, a full 90 per cent last year; and in 14 others (including one entire county), oil paid more than 80 per cent.

Where oil foots the chief part of the school bill, the expense per pupil runs much higher than in the state as a whole. Taking 10 such districts, (including one entire county), the average per pupil was $173.38, compared to the State average of $64.30, which—by the way—was an increase of $2.88 over the preceding year. The oil industry also aided in retiring outstanding bonds in the school districts, and in one instance, oil's part of the cost was slightly over $64 per student.

Even if a county does not have oil production within its borders, its school children benefit from the school taxes paid by Texas oil for, out of the State apportionment of $37,356,675 in 1943, almost $10,000,000 was paid by oil and, of the $8,300,000 for rural aid, $2,075,000 came from the oil industry.

The biggest danger facing this country the next few years is that of isolationism. From the standpoint of lasting world peace it is the most potential threat we have.

We are opposed to the encroachment of the federal government on states rights. We believe that a strong central government is desirable and necessary.

There are the time honored sayings directed against one's changing his location such as: "A rolling stone gathers no moss," and "distant pastures look greener."

Perhaps the best news that has been received by Hitler and the Japs in some time, was the announcement by Ireland that she would not abandon her position of neutrality and come out on the side of the Allies.

The world is using about seven million barrels of oil a day. This looks like enough oil to oil up any world to make it run more smoothly than the world is running today.

National Maritime Day—May 22: May 22 was designated as National Maritime Day by a proclamation issued by President Roosevelt in accordance with a resolution adopted by Congress in May of 1933.

The reason why government and government projects cost so much is that there are too many men holding positions of trust and responsibility in the government who have no business experience or ability.

One of the big problems in connection with the salvaging of waste paper in the small communities is that of getting it to the point where it can be used.

Workers Who Reach 65 Should Consult Nearest S. S. Board

Inaccurate advice from well-meaning but inadequately informed friends may be costing some retired workers money in the form of old-age and survivors insurance benefits.

Each worker who is 65 or over and has been working in covered employment should get in touch with the nearest office of the Social Security Board as soon as he quits his job.

Several retired workers who have delayed filing their claims have informed the Board that friends had told them they were not eligible.

Many workers of retirement age tell us that they did not realize that they may continue to earn credits toward benefits after reaching age 65, or that they may work in covered employment, even after benefits start, without sacrificing their retirement insurance rights.

The true facts are that a worker may qualify for retirement benefits at any age above 65. He merely gives up his benefit for those months in which he earns as much as $15 in covered employment.

These are but a few of the things in connection with the last rites referred to as a funeral service which in my opinion might be improved and bettered.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

This column is an expression of its writer's opinion regarding various subjects discussed in it from time to time.

The opinions expressed here are not submitted as the final dictum in regard to the matters discussed but solely and purely as the opinion of the writer.

I wish to direct my remarks today to some of the customs that have become the stereotyped convention regarding the conduct of funerals.

I am opposed to the practice commonly employed at funerals known as "viewing the remains."

I am opposed to flowers at a funeral. Too many of them are given because the givers feel impelled to show such so-called respect.

I am opposed to many funeral services. Many of them that I have heard appear to have been designed with the thought in mind of stirring up and harrowing the feelings of the family and the friends.

Contest Sponsored by W. T. C. of C. Making Marked Progress

The West Texas inter-county Agricultural and Livestock contest is making marked progress in its first month of activities, said an announcement today by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring the two-year production and improvement plan.

The contest was officially inaugurated in March, following a referendum vote by WTCC affiliates to put it on. Objectives are to contribute to the war effort in stimulating increased production on West Texas farms and ranches of food and feed crops, and to carry the plan into the post war in more fully developing the areas' natural resources from the soil, together with soil and water conservation and utilization.

As of April 1, 43 area chambers of commerce, or agencies functioning as such, had progressed sufficiently in their contest participation to have earned certificates of award, and these were in the mail to them this week-end. The certificate, a fine piece of embossing and printing, recites that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, "speaking for the people of West Texas and with their congratulations, is privileged to bestow this Certificate of Award on the Chamber of Commerce, as a pioneering leader in the Inter-County Production and Improvement contest." It bears the signatures of WTCC President M. C. Ulmer and Manager D. A. Bandeen.

Receiving the award token are chambers of Abilene, Albany, Anson, Amarillo, Ballinger, Child Spring, Brady, Breckenridge, Childress, Clarendon, Coleman, Colorado City, Del Rio, Electra, Floydada, Hamlin, Haskell, Henrietta, Hereford, Iowa Park, Lamesa, Levelland, Lubbock, Memphis, Midland, Moran, Pampa, Plainview, Quanah, Roby, Rotan, San Angelo, Santa Anna, Seymour, Snyder, Spur, Stamford, Sweetwater, Tahoka, Vernon, Weatherford, Wichita Falls, Winters.

County Planning Boards

In all counties represented by these chambers agricultural planning boards have been fully organized, or are now completing their rosters of members. The chambers of commerce are organizing agencies. Recently completed boards are reported to the WTCC, with personnel, are those of Jones, Midland, Dickens, Val Verde, Dawson, Scurry, Shackelford, Clay, Taylor, Mitchell, Gray, Howard, Fisher, Donley, Potter, Haskell, Coleman, Childress, Hardeman and Wilbarger. Boards are nearing completion in Coke, Wichita, Tom Green and Runnels counties.

In the contest Rules and Regulations, county planning boards were asked, as their first job in

STORY OF RAILROADS

James J. Pelley, President of the Association of American Railroads, recently said:

"The greatest thing we have had in America is to be found in our institutions of government—institutions which have left it to the individual to do his best, to work and save, to risk loss in order to earn profit. It is those institutions which, in a few short decades, have enabled our people to transform a wilderness into the mighty civilization we see all about us.

"Government has had its part to play—a most essential part, and in many ways a most helpful part—but the individual, the chance-taking, profit-seeking individual, is the source and mainspring of American achievement.

"There is no finer example of this than the story of the American railroads. Everyone recognizes, I think, that the mass transportation of railroads is responsible in large measure for the agricultural, industrial and commercial growth and development of the country. Favors Guidance in Migration of Youth from Farms

The annual migration of young people from farms to the city, which even in normal times involves several hundred thousand persons, has surpassed all former bounds and presents a social problem meriting all the attention that it is now receiving, and more, believes Dr. M. L. Wilson, Director of Extension Work, Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Wilson expressed the hope that the Institute on War and Postwar Problems of Rural Youth Migration would hold a conference this year similar to the one held in 1943.

"In my opinion," Dr. Wilson said, "the 1943 Institute report recommends a broad and basic guidance program for all rural boys and girls to be developed co-operatively by rural schools and other leading rural agencies such as the Extension Service. It seems to me that such a program should make adequate provision for acquiring these young people with the comparative advantages of rural and urban life and especially for helping them to decide wisely what is best for them individually as regards migration to the city.

"Such a program," Dr. Wilson added, "will do much toward making possible more selective migration. At present when war needs are so largely controlling rural youth movements from their homes, their diverse needs for guidance before they leave home are large and urgent.

"Already service men and women and others returning from war industries are yielding significant clues to the heavy postwar guidance tasks ahead both in the cities and in the smaller centers in regard to re-migration back home, as well as for oncoming rural youth still at home."

The findings of the 1943 Institute, the Director Extension said, "provide a many-sided picture of the needs of all these groups, of ways to lessen the migration of unsuitable, and of the maladjustments of those who might, with needed help, go wisely."

United States Air Forces destroyed 9,463 enemy aircraft in aerial combat and 1,579 more on the ground in 1943, the War Department reported. In the same period, 2,809 USAAF planes were destroyed in aerial combat and 76 on the ground.

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 7.

The Golden Text is: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Ephesians 5:14).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness: That the man of God may be perfect, thoroughly furnished unto all good works" (II Timothy 3:16, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The great truth in the Science of being, that the real man was is, and ever shall be perfect, in inconvertible; for if man is the image, reflection, of God, he is neither inverted nor subverted, but upright and God-like" (page 200).

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

Lives of Enduring Granite: I watched an old stone cutter at work one day. He was working on a piece of polished granite, cutting letters in the polished surface. He would work with a tool but a little while and then would exchange it for another. The hard granite quickly wore down the cutting edge. He told me that in cutting the softer marble that one tool would last all day and cut many times more letters in the softer stone. But, he said the letters cut in the softer stone will weather away in comparatively few years while those cut in the granite will remain for many hundreds and even thousands of years. I thought as he talked and worked how like the lives of men. The lives of some men are soon forgotten, because they made little impress upon the world during the time in which they lived, but the lives of others, made of sterner stuff, cut deeper and live in the memory of their fellowmen hundreds and thousands of years. The one can be likened to the soft sandstone that soon weathers away and the other to enduring granite that lives on and on.

Weekly Sermon

By the Rev. Harold L. Lundquist, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Triumph Over Death

As we read the closing verses of Matthew 27 we find loving hands performing what His friends thought to be the final act of devotion to their Lord. We also see the hands of wicked men active in what they thought was a final act of hatred. Then suddenly the Lord Himself breaks through in resurrection power.

The women, whose devotion to their Lord never wavered, were joined in the final act of taking the body of Jesus from the cross and burying it by two secret disciples, who now come out into the open. Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus. It was a courageous act on their part and undoubtedly the expression of their great love for Jesus.

The two Marys seemed to have stayed to watch the grave even after Joseph had gone to his home. The death of Jesus may have crushed their hopes, but they still loved Him. After all, is not that the ultimate mark of a disciple, love for our Lord? Faith may waver, hope deferred may make the heart sick with discouragement, but never let love for Him grow cold. In due season faithfulness finds glorious reward.

The wicked men who had brought about the crucifixion of Jesus were not content to let their hatred of Him die at the grave. They feared that His disciples would perpetrate a fraud, and after stealing the body declare that He was risen. Wicked and deceitful hearts can imagine all sorts of treachery on the part of others.

While these enemies acted in hatred and unbelief, they unwittingly did the cause of Christ a great service by demanding the guard over the tomb. They made it forever impossible for any charge of fraud to be successfully made against the truth of the resurrection.

As it began to dawn on the first day of the week, the two women, coming back to the grave weighed down with grief, beheld a picture resplendent with the glory and majesty of God. An angel of the Lord had broken through the unbreakable seal of Rome, rolling back the stone which was to have permanently closed the door to the tomb. This was done, not to release Christ—for He had already gone, no grave could hold Him—but that men might see the empty grave and know that He was risen. With what joy the women left the tomb! He is risen! And because He lives, we too, shall live! For the resurrection declares that Christ is the Son of God with power, the Savior of all who put their trust in Him.

Woman War Refugee Enlists and Frees Fighting Marine

Hongkong, Singapore, Wake, Midway and the Philippines were once familiar to Pfc. Peggy McCain who spent most of her life in traveling and living in what are now the Pacific war areas before she joined the Women's Reserve of the U. S. Marine Corps. Born at Fort Mills, Corregidor, Private First Class McCain left the South Pacific in 1943. She spent three years in Europe, visiting France, England and Germany. She then returned to the Philippines where she remained until the bombing of Pearl Harbor.

Before being evacuated she experienced two bombing raids in Corregidor. En route to Auckland, New Zealand, the troopship she was on was torpedoed, but those aboard were rescued.

From New Zealand, Private First Class McCain was sent to Australia, then to Hawaii, and finally to the United States.

Lends Efforts to Win War Upon arrival in this country, she determined to lend her efforts to the winning of the war from which she had just escaped. She first went to work as an apprentice flight mechanic for an aircraft company in San Francisco. Then, to release a fighting Marine for combat in the South Pacific, she enlisted in the Marine Corps Women's Reserve on July 30, 1943.

Private First Class McCain is now serving as a telephone operator at the Marine Corps Base in San Diego.

"There isn't really much I can say about my experience in the South Pacific," Private First Class McCain said. "After the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor, everything happened so fast, there was not time to think about anything. Our one thought was to leave the battle area as soon as possible. The one emotion experienced by those being evacuated was anger. We all wanted to get to the United States as soon as possible so that we could contribute our services to averting the treachery of the Japanese."

"By joining the Women's Reserve of the Marine Corps, I have the satisfaction of knowing I have released one more Marine for active combat in the Pacific."

Private First Class McCain's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. McCain, live at 18 Magnolia Avenue, Millbrae, Calif.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Make your own flannel duster. Soak an old piece of flannel in paraffin oil for several hours. Wring it out, wash in tepid water and dry. Makes a good dust-gatherer and furniture polisher at the same time.

To make your brooms and brushes last much longer and produce better work, wash them occasionally in two quarts of warm water to which has been added four tablespoons of ammonia. Let the straws or bristles soak in this for half an hour, rinse them thoroughly and hang up in a cool place to dry.

It is predicted that total war production will be cut 25 per cent by fall. By that time it is thought stock piles will be sufficiently built up to take care of any emergency.

Mrs. T. L. Hughston was assistant leader and was aided by Mrs. Hines Clark, Mrs. Fred Webba and Mrs. R. R. Magee in a study of nursery work.

The hostesses served ice cream and cookies to eighteen members.

a business meeting and a social meeting honoring Mether Capps on her birthday. She was presented with a pretty pot flower as a birthday gift.

Cake and punch were served to Mrs. Capps, Mrs. E. V. Cato, Mrs. Sim V. Gamble, Mrs. Joe Johnson and the hostess.

ADELPHIAN CLUB

"Federation Day" was observed by the Adelpian Club Wednesday, April 26, with Mrs. Carrie Hart as hostess.

Mrs. Verne Walden, Federation Counselor, opened the program with a questionnaire on Federation News. She then gave a review of the International Goodwill trip to Mexico, sponsored by Mrs. Volney Taylor.

Mrs. J. A. Stovall was leader for the afternoon's study. Mrs. Virgil Smith gave "Spring Song" as a vocal solo. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Wm. Ricks. Mrs. Ricks played two piano numbers, "Whispering" and "Song of the Islands."

Mrs. Merl Kincaid, delegate from the club to the 7th District Federation of Women's Clubs convention held in Plainview, gave a resume of the highlights of the meeting. Mrs. W. E. Lizard, president of 7th District, gave an address on "Privileges and Responsibilities of American Women."

Mrs. Atwood of New Mexico was main speaker at the Art Evening session, her subject being "Reasons for Progress of Women as Citizens is Due to Organization." Mrs. Ethel Foster, state president, urged the women to take up their responsibilities.

First Assistant of Education Trumblee gave a report of the part school children have taken in buying stamps and bonds. Mrs. Kincaid closed her report by reading the report of the Adelpian Club for 1943-44, as it was given at the convention.

Mrs. Hart, the hostess, served a delicious refreshment plate to the members and guests. Mrs. Grady Magee and Mrs. R. R. Magee and Marcia Kincaid. The next meeting will be on May 10 at the club house with Mrs. Ernest King as hostess.

THALIA SERVICE CLUB

The Thalia Service Club met in a called meeting on April 28, Mrs. Oran Ford was named as chairman of a committee to care for transient service men who become stranded in Thalia. Mrs. J. M. Jackson was named chairman of a committee to arrange for all Thalia service men to be presented in the Trails to Glory program over radio station KWVC.

Mrs. Mack Edens gave a report on the Red Cross work of the club. A resolve was made to make a better showing in the future. The sewing on hand was accepted for completion by various members.

It has become necessary to define "Thalia Service Men." Some rules were agreed upon and these rules will be posted at the local postoffice. A survey of the territory within the boundaries agreed upon will be made by members of the club and all information concerning Thalia Service Men will be brought up to date.

On March 23, the club presented an inspiring patriotic program which included a dedicatory service for the Thalia Roll of Honor. An auxiliary was organized by Marlin Woodson. The program was followed by an auction sale. The proceeds of the sale and fees from the men's auxiliary netted the club $225.06.

The following members of the Thalia Service Club were guests of Mack Gamble at the Cameron Cafeteria following a blood donation at Wichita Falls on April 21 and they wish to express their appreciation to him; Mrs. John Wright, Mrs. Oran Ford, Oneal Johnson, Mrs. Elmer Patterson, Mrs. M. Woodson, Mrs. J. M. Jackson, M. C. Adkins, Mrs. Ben Hogan, Harlie Capps, Mrs. C. H. Wood, Robert Long, Walter Ramsey, Mrs. Ben Hopkins, Ben Hopkins, J. D. Tole, Mrs. Letha Tole and Joe Johnson.

The club is preparing a scrap book of the service men and any news clippings or information or material which is deemed as useful for the book, will be appreciated.

The members are urged to attend the club meetings, but, if that is impossible, a letter to a service man is a worthy substitute. A friendly, cheerful letter from home is the best service which can be rendered to the men in service, so it is suggested that the correct address of some lad be selected and regular letters written to him.

One of the largest power shovels in the world is said to be in operation in an Ohio strip coal mine. The scoop alone weighs 47½ tons and will move 35 cubic yards of dirt at one bite. Seven men can stand abreast in the opening of the shovel.

A book review was the feature of the Adelpian Club meeting on April 12 at the club house with Mrs. Earl Mamard as hostess.

Mrs. J. E. Long reviewed "Burma Surgeon" by Gordon S. Seagrave. "Burma Surgeon" is the story of Dr. Seagrave's more than twenty years spent serving in Northern Burma, on Chinese border, as a medical missionary. During these years he built a splendorous home, a nurse's home, a hospital, a nurse's family, conducted a nurse's training school, training many native girls to be good medical assistants and nurses.

Traveling many miles each year over almost impassable mountain roads, through jungles and through perils of every description, treating thousands of patients for various diseases he at last was made a high ranking military officer, a lieutenant colonel, in Gen. Stilwell's army and accompanied the general on foot in retreat out of Burma in May, 1942.

Mrs. W. B. Tysinger, leader of the program, gave a review of the author's life. A business session preceded the program and was directed by Mrs. Merl Kincaid, club president.

A room in the House Office Building at Washington, D. C., is known as the folding room. Some 70 workers are constantly employed folding and putting into envelopes for dispatch to constituents printed copies of speeches made by Congressmen. During campaign time the force is increased to 150 workers. At such times as many as 450,000 pieces of mail are getting out each day. Swimming Rules for Summer Set Out by State Health Officer

Austin—Seasonal advice to vacationists concerning the proper precautions to be used in water sports was released from the State Health Department this week by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

It was pointed out that, in view of the wartime travel restrictions, vacation pleasures are apt to be limited to excursions and picnics at nearby lakes and ponds of unknown depth, and rivers and streams of unfamiliar currents. The usual life-guard supervision associated with bathing beaches and commercial swimming pools is, of course, not available in such places.

Swimming and water sports are beneficial to good health provided one's physical condition justifies this type of exercise," Dr. Cox asserted. "Nevertheless, they possess dangerous possibilities if the rules of safety, through carelessness or thoughtlessness, are disregarded."

The State Health Officer outlined the following simple rules for bathing and swimming in safety; at least one hour should elapse after a meal before entering the water; upon the first indication of fatigue, come ashore, call it a day, and don't re-enter the water; if chilled, leave the water immediately; do not enter the water when overheated; learn to float—this is important; never attempt to rock a boat in a spirit of fun; never swim in water that may be polluted. Swimming close to or over a few miles below sewage outlets is inviting the possibility of acquiring disease.

Excursions, picnicking parties contribute to healthy, happy, normal life, especially desirable during this tense and uncertain time when Dr. Cox said, "It is advisable to eliminate stress from our summer but it is important that beneficial and not dangerous."
