It is predicted that there will be a market for 30 million new automobiles this country the first five years after the war. Dwindling butter supply has caused many New York City retailers to ration two ounces to a customer.

According to Prof. William J. Berry of Western Michigan College the United States could support 551 million people under a system of intensive agriculture. In the corn belt of the United States there are 50 persons per square mile. In the Po Valley in Italy there are 445 persons per square mile.

Five Red Cross clubmobiles are being equipped for use on the Aleutian Islands, and two already travel the Alcan highway.

If a man is conceded he usually overdoes it.

Crowell Wildcats Will Play Archer City Friday Night

The Crowell High School football team will journey to Archer City tomorrow night for its first conference game of the season. The Wildcats have broken even in the four practice games, winning two games and losing two. The Archer City boys have also won two contests out of four played. However, one of their losses was to Valley View, which was a conference game.

The Wildcats showed that they were not in shape in their game with Seymour and Coach Harold Wilkinson has been having them run a mile each afternoon before regular practice begins. Coach Wilkinson has also rearranged the backfield to give more power on straight away plays and more speed on reverse plays. John Carter will play the quarterback position and do most of the line plunging, while Pat McDaniel has been shifted to his old halfback position so he might be able to get into the open field more often to demonstrate his ability as a broken field runner. Kendrick Joy will remain at the other halfback slot, while Rap Tamplin will take Carter's place at the blocking position in the back field. Bobby Cooper has recovered sufficiently from his broken thumb that he received in the Seymour game to be able to play some Friday night. Howard Bell will start at Cooper's tackle post.

Chillicothe and Holliday will be playing at Holliday tomorrow night in a game that should have an important bearing on the conference race. Holliday will come to Crowell next week for another conference 12-A game.

London Lights Go on Again

A group of five-year-olds gaze at what is a most unusual spectacle to them. They see the lights of London go on for the first time. London recently changed from a complete black-out to a dim-out. After five years of darkness even a dim-out seems bright, and the fear of air raids is a thing of the past to most of them.

Signal Corpsmen Swim Moselle

When communication lines laid across the Moselle river, France, by the signal corps battalion were broken three times, the men decided to swim the lines across the river. The signal corps work has been outstanding in this war in keeping open all lines of communication, many times under heavy fire.

Signs of the Times in Belgium

Not the least apt sign of the times is the fact that this is an ex-Nazi pillbox upon which the joyful citizens of Liege, Belgium, scrawled their messages of welcome for the Allies and their hate for the fleeing Nazis. Pillboxes were marvels of construction, but unable to withstand the superior Allied air and land attack.

Good Record Made in Ben Franklin Store Buying War Bonds and Moved to North Side Square This Week

Eighty-five per cent of the Crowell High School student body participated in buying bonds and stamps this week. Only two home-rooms failed to reach the 90 per cent goal and one of these had an 86 per cent participation. Two classes, Mrs. Sloan's English III class and Mrs. Kenner's home-making class, had 100 per cent participation. The Crowell School is trying to buy enough bonds to purchase a jeep which costs $1,165, by December 7th. It is also the aim of both the High School and the Grammar School to reach the 90 per cent participation by November 1.

Merle Sandlin, Reported Missing, German Prisoner

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sandlin received a telegram from the International Red Cross Monday, October 16, stating that their son, Sgt. Albert Merle Sandlin, was a prisoner of war of the German government. The telegram further stated that a letter of information from the Provost Marshall General would follow. Sgt. Sandlin had previously been reported as missing in action on September 12.

Brothers Receive Awards for Bravery, Outstanding Service

Two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Matysek of Thalia, have been given awards in two different sections of overseas service. Pfc. Alfred C. Matysek, who is serving with an Armored Division in France, has been sent to England for rest and treatment for exhaustion and wounds. He, with five of his unit, was trapped behind German lines, and were without food and water. For seven days and nights they were bombed, shelled and strafed. While rescuing a companion, Pfc. Matysek was struck in the back of the neck by a shrapnel. He writes: "We prayed all the time. I know the good Lord was with us. I got into France one hour before H hour, so I really need a rest. Don't worry about me for no German bullet is going to stop me from coming home." He will receive the Silver Star, the Legion of Merit and the Purple Heart.

S-Sgt. Jeff F. Matysek, another son, has been awarded the Air Medal, according to a report from the 10th Air Force in India. Sgt. Matysek is gunner on a Liberator. He has been in the CBI theatre since February of this year. He has 175 hours of combat to his credit.

Funeral Held For Hit and Run Victim at Thalia Monday

Funeral services for Clatis R. Chism, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Chism of Thalia, were held at the Baptist Church in Thalia Monday afternoon. Rev. Herbert Brown, pastor, conducted the services. Interment was in the Thalia cemetery.

Pall bearers were H. W. Banister, E. G. Grimsley, E. H. Roberts, Bill Moore, C. C. Wisdom and Lloyd Fox.

The youth was the victim of an alleged hit and run driver late Saturday night, the accident occurring at the south approach of the Peace River bridge northwest of Vernon. The boy was asleep in the rear of a car driven by his father, when it was sidswiped by a truck, alleged to have contained three youths from Carey, Texas. They failed to stop and render aid and are at the present time being held by Wilbarger County officers pending further action. They were arrested west of Quanah a short time after the accident.

The boy was killed instantly by the impact of the two vehicles.

County Agent Says Starve Boll Weevils During Fall Months

Destruction of cotton stalks thirty to sixty days before frost will kill thirteen out of nineteen boll weevils, says D. F. Eaton, County Agent. This, he adds, is much higher kill than by any other means of control.

The value of stopping the growth of cotton plants as early as possible in the fall cannot be over-emphasized. It is one of the most effective, practical and cheapest means of controlling the boll weevil, cotton's number one enemy, Eaton says.

Surveys show that from nineteen to twenty-four times as many weevils survive the winter in or near cotton fields where stalks remain undisturbed until killed by frost, compared to fields where stalks were destroyed by October 15. Under favorable conditions, one pair of weevils is capable of adding twelve million descendants to next year's population.

The boll weevil eats a heavy toll from cotton growers. It is estimated that the pests destroy enough cotton yearly to equip three million soldiers and enough cottonseed products to produce 105 million pounds of beef.

Weevils feed on green cotton. Take away their food and their chances for surviving the winter decrease. The weevils which are well fed until their hibernation time, which begins at the first frost, have a better chance to live through winter and attack the 1945 cotton crop. Weevils which are thin and undernourished at hibernation time seldom live until spring.

The longer the time between destruction of the stalks and the coming of frost means fewer weevils come spring, specialists say.

ROTARY CLUB

Hubert Brown was in charge of the program of the Crowell Rotary Club Wednesday at noon at the Deluxe Cafe. George Self, the newly appointed news commentator, gave a very comprehensive picture of the progress of the Allied armies on all battle fronts.

The program consisted of an enthusiastic and instructive talk by Leo Purvis, principal of Crowell High School and instructor of an aeronautics class in the school. Mr. Purvis brought out the importance of aeronautics in the present age and emphasized the fact that Crowell would need an airport in the not too distant future and its citizens needed to think about it and begin preparations now.

SCIENCE JOINS THE FIGHT

Fire prevention week is past, but during those seven days of concentrated battle against fire the public learned of new weapons to combat uncontrolled fire. Among those weapons are such innocuous sounding devices as fog, foam and snow. One story told how a munitions ship collided with a tanker off the East Coast a few months ago. The crash exploded and sank the munitions ship and turned the tanker into a raging inferno. By all the rules, the tanker should have been a total loss. It wasn't. Twelve hours after the accident, Navy fire fighters arrived with some of the latest fire fighting tools. By then the heat was unbelievable. Bronze fittings melted like hot chocolate. Ahead of the Navy men as they went aboard the ship, traveled a ball of hissing fog. Sheltered behind it, they advanced toward the ship's stern. Arrived at the stern cargo tanks, they applied another modern fire fighting miracle: foam. From special nozzles they shot a smotherer of snowy bubbles which stuck on everything. The bubbles piled up in the tanks, floating on the burning gasoline like super-yeasty dough, choking out the fire. A $3,500,000 ship and 70,000 barrels of war fuel had been saved. The mysterious fog that saved that ship was made by dozens of needle-fine streams of water rushing from a hose at 100 miles an hour. Backed by 150 pounds of pressure, these streams, aimed to shatter against each other, broke up every gallon of water into 23,000,000,000 particles—literally a drenching, cooling fog. Snow, another fire fighting miracle, is liquid carbon dioxide sprayed under high pressure. It leaves the nozzle at 100 degrees below zero. No fire can withstand it. In spite of everything that has been done to prevent and extinguish fire, the tragic fact remains that fire losses are still rising—because we as a nation are too lazy and indifferent to use what science has given us—Industrial News-Review.

THOUGHTS OF SERIOUS MOMENTS

Friends should not be chosen to flatter. The quality we should prize is that rectitude which will shrink from no truth.—Channing. There are three friendships which are advantageous, friendship with the upright, with the sincere, and with the man of much observation.—Confucius. Let friendship creep gently to a height; if it rushes to it, it may soon run itself out of breath.—Fuller. According to Sidney Hillman the CIO Political Action committee has a campaign fund of $700,000. The bumps along the highway of life are to keep us within the speed limit.

It is predicted that if the war ends within the next three months that great quantities of dehydrated vegetables will go on sale in the grocery stores of the country. Total production of dehydrated vegetables is estimated at 277,000,000 pounds compared to normal peace time production of 1,000,000 pounds. According to the ODT (Office of Defense Transportation) there will be no truck tire relief for the balance of 1944 at least.

Have I not commanded thee? Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest.—Joshua 1:9.

We have seen two theories of government tried and both of them failed to get done the job they started out to do. During the Republican administrations preceding the coming of President Roosevelt to power, the green light was given to business to go ahead at full speed. There was a minimum of interference from official Washington. Under these plans the depression came and the debacle of 1929 when industry, in spite of its freedom of action, came to an impasse. Under President Roosevelt a new plan was tried. Industry was hampered and restricted and bound by many regulations from official Washington. After eight years of effort in 1940 there were still many unemployed persons in this country. Somewhere between these two extremes a workable system must lie.

As early as 1938 it was reliably reported to this country and to England that Germany had an air force of 175 squadrons of fighting planes consisting of about 3,500 first class Stuka dive bombers, Messerschmitts, Focke-Wulfs, Heinkel and Dorniers, and, in addition, a fine force of trained fliers, and a production set up of five to ten thousand planes a year. Neither Congress nor the English Government paid any attention to the report, the truth of which was not to be questioned. The world refused to wake up to what was going on but continued to bury its head in the sand and prattle of peace. This is the danger that lies ahead after this war—that vigilance will relax and wishful thinking take the place of realism. This is the real thing that must be guarded against in post war plans for a world peace.

We are predicting that after the war the railroads of America are going to offer a better service to the traveling public than has been given at any time in the past. Travel is going to be made more comfortable and luxurious than it is now. New and better and more modern equipment is going to make rail travel more appealing. This will be due to the always progressive spirit of American railroads to give the best, and to the spar of air travel competition which is going to reach new heights when peace returns.

HISTORY

Armistice Day—November 11: Armistice Day observes the anniversary of the suspension of hostilities in the first World War. The actual time of suspension of hostilities was 11 o'clock on the morning of November 11, 1918, after the signing of an armistice by representatives of the contending powers. When defeat appeared imminent a delegation was sent to Marshal Foch asking for mercy. The delegation was told by Marshal Foch that he had prepared plans ready for signing. Authority to sign reached the German delegation at two o'clock Monday morning. At 5 o'clock terms were signed and the order sent out that hostilities would cease at 11 o'clock. The announcement was received everywhere with great joy and many wild demonstrations. The following year, November 11, 1919, President Wilson issued a proclamation setting aside November 11 as Armistice Day. The day is observed throughout the United States. Ceremonies are usually in charge of the American Legion Post in each community. The celebration consists of a Memorial service beginning at 11 o'clock in honor of the soldier dead who participated in the war. In 1920 President Wilson named the Sunday nearest Armistice Day as Armistice Sunday at which time religious services in the interest of international peace are held. In 1926 Congress adopted a resolution directing the President to issue an annual proclamation calling upon the people to observe the day. Such a proclamation has been issued by Presidents each year since. The day is observed as a legal holiday in twenty-eight states and Hawaii. In other states it is observed in response to a proclamation by the Governor.

Most of the attempts to forecast how the soldiers will vote will fail. The reason they will fail is that the soldiers have a view detached from party allegiances. Their only allegiance is to this nation. They are going to be influenced more by whether John Smith is more concerned about the election of John Smith than he is concerned about what is best for the nation. Word gymnastics as expressed in political speeches is not going to deceive the soldier as they often do party followers and political opportunists.

Always before, Germany has fought her wars on foreign soil. Always before she has destroyed and despoiled the land of others and burned their cities. This time Germany will know what the destruction occasioned by war really is. She is going to know what she has scorched and scorched that she has applied so freely to others means when it is applied to her own land. The longer she holds out the more of her country is going to be destroyed.

In his inaugural address as National Commander of the American Legion, Edward H. Scheiberling said: "We want a peace with teeth in it—a peace that can and will be enforced." The sentiment grows in this country that we are going to have peace in the future even though we are going to have to fight for it.

If America, Great Britain, Russia and China can work out a plan whereby they can all agree on a program for world peace in the future, world peace can be assured. The resources of these four countries are such that no nation or combination of nations can stand against them for long.

There is a good deal of real worrying about the post war era and whether or not industry will be able to keep going. Our guess is that for the first eighteen months at least industry can devote its time exclusively to catching up on the Nylon hose shortage.

During the last school year stamps and bonds were sold in the from September until June a total of over $600,000,000 in war bonds of this country.

Where Allies Invaded Albania

Striking by air and sea, an Allied invasion of the Albanian and Yugoslav coast is now well under way. First airborne landings were in northern Albania and islands off Yugoslavia. Lines were formed in short order and a new hole driven in the southern rim of Hitler's fast-cracking fortress, as the Russians drive on.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

If we are ever going to have an enduring peace the peace lovers of the world have got to realize that they have in Germany a race that is obsessed with the idea of world domination. Their peculiar attitude toward indefensible ruthlessness is a part of that obsession. It is made possible by the belief that all else other peoples are but scum and riff raff, but muck and mire in the road that leads to German supremacy, and German world domination, and that any act of ruthlessness and violence is justifiable if it serves to remove from their pathway a group of people who may be an obstacle to their ambitions.

The Germans fight the people of occupied countries in the same manner that we would fight a plague of locusts, or a plague of rats. All people other than Germans are but rats and locusts in the way of Germany's march to world domination.

The chief argument advanced by friends of the Nazis is that the German people are not to blame for this condition. I have never been deceived by this claim. I think that this thing has been fastened in the hearts of the German people until they believe it fully as much as their leaders believe it. It is their creed, their slogan, their ultimate goal. Put this germ into the minds of a people with the industrial genius and the fanatical industry of the German people and you have a combination that is going to constitute a threat of war as long as the race is permitted to build up its war machine to formidable proportions.

It will be remembered that we won the last war by a narrow margin of the few weeks in which we out-guessed the German high command.

If we win this war, as we all sincerely hope that we shall, it will be because of the errors made by the German high command. If Hitler had followed into England immediately after Dunkirk, it would be an entirely different story today. It is quite a different thing attacking the European continent across the English channel than it would have been to attack it across the Atlantic ocean. If Hitler had not attacked Russia when he did we could not now be in France. If Rommel had not made a bad guess in North Africa we would not now be in possession of the Mediterranean.

Are we going to continue to tempt fate? Are we going to continue to allow Germany to rise up periodically in her avowed conquest of world domination? If we do we are going to wake up one fine morning and discover that the aggressor has failed to make the mistakes that have given the Allies their opportunity in the past, and find ourselves definitely on the defensive in a long and exhausting war.

In my opinion many now living today are going to live to see another war in which we will again plunge the savings of years and in which civilization will pay a terrible price—unless we do the thing that common sense and reason dictates should be done.

This peace with Germany cannot be made secure by meeting and signing a scrap of paper. It can only be made secure by making it impossible for this nation to ever become a threat to the peace of the world. Germany must be policed and restricted until such time as there develops in the thinking of her people the fallacy of the superior race and the necessity of world domination. This is the least the Allies can do. If they fail to do this, in my opinion, this war has been fought in vain—it has merely been a delaying action in the retreat of civilization from world peace.

Practical Results Shown in Scientific Research to Date

"Scientific research in behalf of Texas products has already shown practical results, through the development by S. Cecil Womble, College Station, of a new process whereby an additional ten pounds of oil can be recovered from each ton of cotton seed crushed." Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe said recently.

"About a million tons of seed will be crushed in Texas this season. Thus the new process can be made to yield an additional ten million pounds of oil, which will help alleviate a wartime shortage of vegetable oils.

"The additional oil recovered will have a market value of at least a million dollars, and the residual cotton seed cake product will be softer and of better quality, as the new process uses additional moisture."

The improved process has been discovered directly through research efforts of the Texas Cotton Research Committee sponsored by Senator Moffett in the 47th and 48th Legislatures. He plans to ask for additional funds at the next regular session.

WRONG ORDER

Advocates of more government control in the administration of medical care, usually wind up their arguments with the challenge that if the doctors don't "do something" promptly, socialized medicine will step in with all the answers. By "do something" they mean to virtually install a doctor in every home, whether he is wanted or not. If the issue of

Kerr, Rayburn To Speak At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Oct. 12.—Democrats from Texas and Oklahoma will assemble here on Thursday, Oct. 19, to see and to hear two of the nation's leading personalities in the Democratic party address a gigantic two-state rally in Memorial Auditorium. Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma and Congressman Sam Rayburn of Texas have accepted invitations to appear in person before voters of the two states to further Democratic party principles.

The two orators have assured Col. W. T. Knight, general chairman of the rally and head of the Texas state Democratic league of business and professional men, that they would be on hand to seek support for the Roosevelt-Truman ticket. Kerr, keynoter of the July national Democratic convention in Chicago, is recognized as one of the country's outstanding speakers. Kerr's Wichita Falls address will mark his only appearance in Texas during his present series of campaign speeches throughout the Oklahoma area. Rayburn, speaker of the house of representatives and widely known figure for his efforts as a Democrat, will introduce the Oklahoma governor.

All Democrats in the North Texas-Southern Oklahoma region are being extended invitations to attend the Wichita Falls rally, and already delegations from Oklahoma are making arrangements to be present.

The speakers will take the stump from the stage of the Memorial Auditorium here at 8 p. m., and a two-state radio hookup will carry Kerr's address to voters of the sector. Stations which will broadcast the program will be announced later, Chairman Knight said.

Besides Kerr and Rayburn, other outstanding Democrats who will attend the rally will include Harry L. Sey of Dallas, chairman of the Texas state Democratic executive committee; Myron Blalock, Texas national committeeman; James V. Allred, leader in the recent fight for control of the Texas Democratic party; W. H. Kittrell of Dallas, secretary of the Texas state Democratic executive committee, and widely known congressmen from both Oklahoma and Texas.

"Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being poured into doubtful states and districts in an effort to defeat the Democratic party, and to return the control of our country to the hands of a few, as it was under Hoover," said Colonel Knight.

"It is vital to the welfare and prosperity of our great Southwest to defeat this effort, and I urge that every loyal Democrat attend this great rally in Wichita Falls Oct. 19."

whether the United States is to have socialized medicine turns upon the ability of the doctors to work economic miracles, the country will undoubtedly get socialized medicine.

The real place of medicine is well described by Hygieia: "The history of contemporary medicine of any period economic, social and political conditions. Medicine prospers in discovery and improvements along with other branches of science; in turn, these discoveries reflect similar progress or regression in the social and political life of the times. The social and economic problems encountered in the practice of medicine are not peculiar to medicine and cannot be solved by medicine alone. Bad housing and bad nutrition contribute directly to bad health, but they arise not through any fault of medicine but from bad economic and social situations. And so their cure is to be sought not through a radical change in medical procedure, but rather in the remedying of social ills, in which effect medicine will gladly participate. The cure of many a sociologic-medical problem is a grocery order rather than a prescription."

State Democratic Chairman Appealing for Heavy Vote

That the small counties of Texas are responsible for the victory of the pro-Roosevelt forces in taking over control of the party from those who wish to wreck it, and was a forceful expression of the will of the plain democrats of those counties, was the statement of Harry L. Seay, Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee in Dallas.

"Among the many loose charges aimed at the Roosevelt-Truman ticket by the anti-Roosevelt people, no matter what brand they bear, is the one that the State Democratic Party is dominated by the C. I. O.," said Mr. Seay. "That this is false is evidenced by the fact that at the September convention it was the small counties with their one, two, three and four votes that really sunk the anti-Roosevelt crowds from the 'big-four' cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Houston with their large industrial populations. The medium sized counties went along with the Roosevelt crowd also."

"In these four big cities vast sums of money were spent by well-paid 'dis-organizers' in buying newspaper space, radio time and in flooding the mails with literature of a sometimes scurrilous nature, all with the intention of fuddling the public. However, democrats who vote the ticket straight and who were determined not to be robbed of their birthright to vote for the party nominees, were not fooled."

The big job now is to get out the vote and all efforts of the State headquarters in Dallas are directed toward that end, for according to Mr. Seay, a good many people knowing that the pro-Roosevelt people are in the vast majority, and may not feel that their vote is necessary. "We want the biggest vote ever given any democratic candidate," said Mr. Seay, "and we won't be satisfied with anything else."

Brief Bits of News From Here and There

According to a report issued by Protestant religion forces, there has been a decline in Sunday School attendance in all but four of eighteen Protestant denominations the past ten years.

A survey was conducted recently by the War Department among the men in the service. One of the questions asked was: Do you want your wife to work after the war? The consensus of the answers was: I want my wife and my job waiting for me when I return. I don't want to find my wife busy with a job some returning soldier needs, and I don't want to find some other man's wife has my job.

Patent rights have been issued for a butter preservative process which is said will keep butter fresh and sweet over long periods in hot or cold temperatures. But given the new treatment is said to have remained palatable and firm after several weeks' storage in 100 degree temperatures. The process consists of mixing thoroughly with butter a quantity of high melting point fat such as stearin.

According to Secretary Ickes, plans have been completed for government post war projects that will provide 1,500,000 man-years of work for returning veterans. Among these are 235 projects for irrigating more than six million acres of never used but potential fertile land plus water for a larger area where farming is a gamble due to uncertain and inadequate rainfall. These projects alone would provide settlement for 135,000 families and require about 1,249,000 man-years of labor.

AGRICULTURE

(D. F. Eaton, County Agent.)

Texas Milk Direct Aid To Victory Milk from Texas' 1,425,000 milch cows is one of the country's great wartime assets, according to the Milk Industry Foundation. Faced with the greatest demand for milk ever known, the dairy industry's wartime record is outstanding. Never in history has there been such a steady flow of milk from American farms to so many people.

Dairy figures emphasize the milk industry's help in the allied march to victory. Milk from 26 million cows on three-quarters of the nation's farms literally girdles the earth in the wake of allied arms. Milk is gaining increasing recognition as the requirements of our armed forces, allies, lend-lease and liberated nations assume global proportions.

Texas ranks tenth in U. S. milk production with a total of 2,041,000,000 quarts in 1943. Cows on Texas farms each produced an average of 1,433 quarts of milk. In addition to the large quantities consumed as fluid milk and cream, Texas milk was used for making 21,799,000 gallons of ice cream, 36,739,000 pounds of creamery butter, 14,694,000 pounds of cheddar cheese and substantial amounts of other dairy products. Texas' 1943 farm cash milk income totaled $90,481,000.

On the home front milk is rendering a valuable war service. Milk drinking, now widely popular in war plants, lessens fatigue, reduces accidents, cuts losses in man-hours, improves production and earning power.

Milk and its products comprise over 25 per cent of the 1,700 pounds of food estimated to be consumed annually by the average American.

Milk is the largest single source of gross farm income and was 15 per cent of all farm income in 1943—larger than cattle or hogs, twice eggs, over twice cotton, four times wheat, six times tobacco. One out of every 15 U. S. families is dependent on milk for a livelihood.

Americans enjoy the best milk in the world with sanitary safeguards and widespread distribution. This war has proved emphatically the economy and value of milk as a food containing vital components of the diet.

Agricultural Census

The department of agriculture will begin soon to prepare to take its usual five-year agricultural census to be taken in 1945.

Enumerators will be selected, preferably from among local people and they will be given preliminary training. This census will cover all phases of agriculture, livestock, crops, and acreage of cultivated and pasture land, as well as a complete enumeration of the population.

From this survey we get a lot of useful information about our country, and its resources and agricultural set-up.

Preventing Roadside Flat Tires

The Office of Defense Transportation says that by using a method called the "Comparative Air Loss System," developed from surveys and careful tests, 90 per cent of all roadside flat tires can be prevented.

According to information from the ODT received by M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer for the A. & M. College Extension Service, research into punctures and tire failure revealed a situation of needless destruction and premature wear of millions of tires and tubes daily. Two facts from the research are outstanding:

(1) That about one-third of the motor vehicles on highways today are being operated with a punctured tire which cause a slow leak of air.

(2) That tires often run thousands of miles with nails or tacks causing only slow leaks until "fatigue" occurs. Then the tire goes flat instantaneously.

The "Comparative Air Loss System" is based upon a simple chart for tabulating the air pressure of tires at fixed intervals. This requires about 40 seconds for an automobile. Bentley says that checking pressures when all tires are cool is the most accurate way to detect punctures. Slight differences in pressure always will be found, but the following differences, if valve caps had been on tight, indicate the existence of punctures.

If, for example, a passenger car tire is three pounds below the lowest of its running mates, or a truck or bus tire five pounds below, it can be suspected of having a puncture. Any tire with greater air loss should be removed for examination and loss. The check should be made just prior to inflating tires. Bentley cautions that valve caps should be screwed on fingertight after careful inspection to assure that rubber washers are not damaged or missing. When the valve is on tight, excessive loss of air warns of a puncture in that tire. This puncture should be repaired at once to prevent damage to the tire.

Young Children Need Protection Against Winter Illnesses

Austin.—Young children may suffer as much from winter illnesses as they do from those commonly known as "summer complaints," in the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, and his advice to parents is to guard babies and young children against these winter health hazards.

Influenza, tonsillitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, and asthma are included among those diseases which may be dangerous winter illnesses among young children since they affect the respiratory or breathing system. Such diseases as pneumonia may develop from a neglected cold, they may follow as an after-effect of measles or whooping cough, or they may occur suddenly and with very little warning. These diseases of the respiratory system are more prevalent in winter than in summer and are much more difficult to combat than digestive ailments such as summer complaint.

"These winter diseases are particularly dangerous to babies and young children," Dr. Cox stated. "Nearly all of them are spread through the secretions from the nose and mouth. Children not in vigorous health are naturally more susceptible to these complaints and the first line of defense," Dr. Cox cautioned, "is to strengthen the powers of resistance against disease; the second is to keep them under medical supervision and the third is to make sure they avoid contact with others who have coughs, colds, or fevers."

Army fliers proved that modern planes can ride out a hurricane when they took a plane through the center of the hurricane that recently visited the Atlantic coast, and returned with important data to the Norfolk base. Winds up to 125 miles per hour were encountered by the pilots during their mile flight.

SAFETY FIRST

With radio installed on practically everything that walks, flies or floats, the question is asked, Why not on trains? Only technical experts can answer that question fully.

The Association of American Railroads, which is familiar with every detail of railroad research, points out that: "Since the early days of radio communication, railroads have carried on numerous experiments in the use of this newer medium of communication, as it might be applied to railroad operations. These experiments have been carried out on numerous railroads in co-operation with various inventors and manufacturers."

"There are technical difficulties in radio transmission and reception on railroads, due to the close clearances of bridges, tunnels and structures which preclude the possibility of long or high antennae, and due to the special noise conditions, shock, impact, and vibration encountered in railroad train service. As radio communication itself has improved in quality, and become more dependable and better adapted for railroad use, the number and variety of the experiments with radio communication . . . have greatly increased."

"The operating results obtained by the use of radios in tanks and other mobile military equipment may go a long way toward making possible the application of the radio as a communication medium in some fields of railroad operation."

"The design of all equipment used in railroad operation must be such that it will function under the most severe conditions. This design requirement must be met by others in the railroad supply industry, before radio can become an essential factor in the railroad scheme of communication."

The railroads are not hunting gadgets. They seek ever-greater safety of operation.—Industrial News-Review.

Small dealers are concerned that the first flow of civilian goods after the war will go to big dealers. Under the present set up officials say the big stores will get all the goods and get a corner on the market. A demand is being made that a system be worked out so that small business will get a fair portion of the goods.

To measure a mind one need only find out the size of the problem it worries about.

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 22.

The Golden Text is: "The hour is coming, and now is, when the dead shall hear the voice of the Son of God; and they that hear shall live" (John 5:25).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But now being made free from sin, and becoming servants of God, we have fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life" (Romans 6:22).

The Lesson - Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Progress is born of experience. It is the ripening of mortal man, through which the mortal is dropped for the immortal" (page 296).

BREAK CLEAN . . . COME OUT FIRING! Who says the age of chivalry is dead and modern machinery has taken the romance out of war? Tpr. W. J. Whan, Belle Ewart, Ont., and Sgt. R. Gladnick, New York City, show that Canadian tankers at least, still abide by the code duello and pistols at dawn are not found only between the pages of books. It is all clean fun and the lethal weapons are a couple of souvenirs picked up in a wrecked German position. The boys are relaxing between bouts of slugging it out with Jerry with much more dangerous weapons than these.

THROUGHOUT the Summer Canadians, fighting with the British in the Caen area of Normandy, have been slogging their way through some of the heaviest and fiercest resistance of the war. Battle-scarred and hardened, they are now old-timers in combatting enemy guns, mortar fire, mud, mines, in hedge-to-hedge advancing and the other rigors of ground fighting. First real action for the Canadians in Normandy came with the drive on Carpiquet, a prelude to the push into Caen. There they faced the greatest mass of German troops so far concentrated on a narrow front—troops which included the cream of Nazi strength, a fanatic Hitler Youth formation. The village was to be taken by the Quebec and Maritime units; the hangars at the south end of the airfield by the western Canadians; and the administrative buildings by the Ontario infantrymen. Piercing tank battles prepared the way for the infantry. Wading through breast-high wheatfields in the face of 190,000 shells poured into them by Nazi guns, but with magnificent support from allied warships pounding enemy positions from the sea, and air support from allied planes, the important village and finally the airfield were taken.

TEXAN'S SHARE in the WAR

A warning against a home-front let-down on the result of optimistic war news issued today by Judge Ben H. . . president of the United . . . of Texas.

The war will not be over until every American abroad has brought home. "Until that comes, none of us on the front can afford to reduce support of the war program.

As we all should remember, "cease firing" does not mean giving. Even if Germany should surrender, we still must support our fighting men and our Allies. This is the year, more than any other, we must support the related agencies of the National War Fund.

The war chest president called to recent announcement by officials that many troops are being moved from Europe to Pacific after Germany quits war.

Germany's surrender will not end the war, he declared. "Millions of American soldiers and marines still fight against the Japanese. Secretary of war has predicted long, hard war in the Pacific and other high military officials have made it plain that they believe the Japanese war to last at least through 1945, and perhaps longer.

With this long, bitter struggle ahead of us, we must do everything in our power to back up our men on the firing line!"

Judge Powell also called attention to the fact that even the end of the war with Germany would automatically free all American prisoners held in European prisoner-of-war camps.

Prisoners in enemy camps may be freed for months after the armistice is signed," he declared. "Experience in the last war shows that exchange of prisoners extends over a long period. During that period, we must continue the full service of War Prisoners Aid, the National War Fund agency which sends courses and many other supplies to our men behind enemy lines.

We know, too, that our troops in Europe cannot be returned for months after the surrender in Germany. With actual fighting still on, they will need more services of such agencies as USO, which provides rest and sends USO-camp into every war theater. These services also must go with interruption to our troops in Pacific."

The increased need for services to people of the liberated countries, Judge Powell said: "The people of Belgium, France, Norway, Holland, Greece, and the other countries liberated or to be liberated after years under the harsh rule of the invader will need our help now as never before. They need food, clothing, medicines and other supplies to maintain life. They must have seed, that they may plant crops and become self-sustaining. Above all, they must have hope, unless the world is to reap a crop of hopelessly defeated humanity as a result of the war."

Citing the statement of Maj. Lewis S. Hershey, national director of Selective Service, that at least 10 months will be required to demobilize the army even after final victory, Judge Powell urged all Texans to give full support to the National War Fund campaigns to be conducted in every community and county of

The St. Louis Cardinals, winners of the National League pennant, fought it out with the Browns for the world title. The Cardinals are not strangers to world series' contests, although playing another St. Louis team for the title is something new for them, as well as for the member of National League.

The airlines contributed... able exclusive officers... over a thousand of their pilots, hundreds of mechanics, radio operators, and others necessary to establish and place in operation the Army Air Transport Command and Naval Air Transport Service...

When war came, too few military pilots were qualified for instrument flight and for navigation by air over long distances. They were mostly 'contact' flyers. The trained airline pilots... delivered the men and material and even led the way for military formations to their rendezvous. They were not only competent flyers, they were air navigators...

The airlines were also called upon to perform civilian contract services. Planes were ferried and men and materials were transported to the corners of the earth by them. They trained pilots, mechanics, radio operators, and navigators for the armed forces. They overhauled engines and did other mechanical work upon military aircraft and established and operated huge modification centers for combat aircraft.

"When the history of this war is written the public will realize the debt of gratitude owed the airlines which... in no small degree shortened the war and saved countless lives."—Industrial News Review.

Food, Home Notes

Green Tomato Time
When the frost is on tomatoes, gather them in, ripe or green. Sort out the green ones about to turn color, and often they have a white spot around the blossom end. These will ripen at cool room temperatures in sunlight or shade.

Good for cooking... good for preserving are the immature, green tomatoes that show no signs of turning color. Preserve or eat them soon after picking as they won't ripen and are likely to rot if kept too long.

Green tomatoes may be cooked like ripe—stewed, fried, broiled, scalloped, baked. Only differences: Cook green tomatoes 10 to 15 minutes longer. For stewed or scalloped green tomatoes use more sugar—1 tablespoon for six medium-sized tomatoes.

Here are some green tomato recipes to serve 6:
Curry of Meat with Green Tomatoes: 1 onion, sliced; 3 tablespoons meat drippings or other fat; 1 quart sliced green tomatoes; 2 cups chopped, cooked meat; 1 and 2 teaspoons curry powder, salt.

Cook onion in the fat. Add green tomatoes, cover, and cook until tender. Add meat and heat thoroughly. If the mixture is too thick, thin it slightly with meat broth, gravy or water. Season to taste with curry powder and salt. Serve with flaky boiled rice or noodles.

Green tomato meat stew: 1 pound chuck, cubed; 1 teaspoon salt, pepper; 4 tablespoons flour; 2 tablespoons fat (beef fat may be used); 1/2 onion, chopped; 3/4 cups water; 3 medium-sized green tomatoes; 2 cups cubed potatoes; 1/4 cups sliced carrots.

Roll meat in mixture of salt, pepper, and 2 tablespoons of the flour. Brown in fat. Add onion; cook until lightly browned. Pour in 2 cups of the water, cover and simmer about 1 hour or until meat is almost tender.

Wash, remove stem ends, and quarter the tomatoes; add with potatoes, carrots, and 1 cup water to the meat. Cover and cook until vegetables and meat are tender. Add more water as needed. Blend remaining 2 tablespoons flour with the 1/2 cup water, add to stew, and cook until slightly thickened.

Green Tomato Pie: 6 to 8 medium-sized tomatoes; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange rind; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon; 3/4 cup sugar; 2 tablespoons cornstarch; 1 tablespoon table fat, pastry.

Wash, remove stem ends, and slice tomatoes. Combine with lemon juice, lemon or orange rind, salt, and cinnamon. Cook 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Mix sugar and cornstarch; add to tomato mixture and cook until clear, stirring constantly. Add fat. Cool slightly, then pour into a 9-inch pie plate lined with pastry. Cover with pastry and pasty edges. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) 10 to 15 minutes.

Break Soup Bones
Studies made at the Oregon Experiment Station indicate that a homemaker should break her soup bones into small pieces before cooking 3 or 4 or set her butcher to do this for her. Further, it is important that her soup contain potatoes or some acid like vinegar to draw calcium from the process. Calcium is the most likely to be short in the can diets.

Cool Ripening
If Kieffer pears are to be tender and fine-flavored in canning, they need two or three weeks of cool ripening. Only at a temperature from 60 to 65 F. does this variety of pear become tender and the full pear flavor develops. Pears held either in a warm or cold place never ripen but remain tough, woody, poor in taste.

It's Strawberry Planting Time
October 15 to November 1 is the best time to set strawberry plants in most sections of Texas. J. F. Rothborough, horticulturist for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

If the old planting survives, summer in good shape, the largest and thickest "daughter" plants and put into a new "daughter" usually are nearest the mother plant, the any having reddish brown or margins.

In choosing varieties plant or Mastedon Everbearing. Usually one hundred plants each member of the family safe guide. But a few in a garden where they are protected will provide a good crop for the table. They can be tried through the summer in a frame garden, too. In puring the soil, the site should have a heavy application of well rotted barnyard fertilizer, broadcast, then plowed and pulverized.

The board of education of Gabriel, Calif., was presented with a petition recently asking that progressive education be continued and that reading, writing, arithmetic and spelling taught in the grades five through eight. In higher grades it is asked that U. S. history and geography be taught. The petition also asked that color work projects be used only as a reward for good work done.
