Voice of America

With approximately 30,000,000 Americans living on farms, the farmer's vote is the most important mass vote in the country. Here a poll reporter questions a New Jersey farmer, who has plenty to say about price controls, farm subsidies and the election. Like the thousands who are being polled by various agencies in the country he votes for the next President!

Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate for the presidency, who fought President Roosevelt strenuously in the nation's first wartime election of a President in 80 years, said: "I am confident that all Americans will join me in the hope that Divine Providence will guide and protect the President of the United States."

Foard County News Leads Texas Weekly Newspapers in Advertising Sponsored Locally in 5th War Loan

The Foard County News was not only among the top one hundred weekly newspapers of the nation in the amount of sponsored advertising for the 5th War Loan, but led the nine other Texas weeklies, who were also on the national list. The News was in 12th place in this list.

The following editorial is copied from the October issue of The Texas Press Messenger, official organ of The Texas Press Association: "Nine Texas weeklies were listed among the top 100 that were honored by the treasury for outstanding service in aiding the 5th bond drive. The Foard County News gave adequate publicity to the retail merchant of 1910; I have been here for so many years everyday knows of my service and what I have to sell. The opposite is true. Three-fourths of the people do not know what the non-advertising merchant has to sell. Neither do they know of the importance of the home-town paper unless they are constantly informed. Newspapers need to advertise and to keep on advertising their great worth."

"Some of these honored weeklies gave adequate publicity to the recognition given the home-town paper for its patriotic service in war time. The most effective promotion was not boastful; but it was comprehensive. On the other hand there were some of these weeklies who ignored the citation or gave it scant mention. "People in the average Texas town are proud of their city, just as they are of their state. They point with pride to the accomplishments of the football team, the excellence of the school system, the superior service of the stores, the resources of the trade area and many other things. They will take equal pride in their home-town newspaper if the services of the paper are publicized in good taste.

"There are still too many weeklies who assume the attitude of the retail merchant of 1910; I have been here for so many years everyday knows of my service and what I have to sell. The opposite is true. Three-fourths of the people do not know what the non-advertising merchant has to sell. Neither do they know of the importance of the home-town paper unless they are constantly informed. Newspapers need to advertise and to keep on advertising their great worth."

Crowell High School Wildcats Will Go to Holliday Tonight to Play Valley View in Another 12-A Conference Game

The Crowell High School football team will journey to Holliday tonight (Thursday) to play the Valley View Warriors in another conference 12-A game. By virtue of the 19 to 6 defeat of Valley View last week by Chillicothe, Crowell remained the only undefeated team in the district. The Wildcats have conference victories over Archer City and Holliday. Valley View has split their two conference games with a 12 to 0 win over Archer City and last week's loss to Chillicothe. Due to the fact that Valley View does not have a lighted field, this game is being played on Thursday night. Holliday has a home game on Friday night.

Couch Harold Wilkinson plans on starting the same lineup this week that looked so good against Holliday in the Wildcats' last game here two weeks ago. Carlos McBeath, the 123 pounds of dynamite, will remain at the pivot position to act as a spark plug in this third conference game. Horace Todd will fill in the backfield post again in John Carter's position. Carter's knee is improving rapidly but it will be several weeks before he is able to be back in the lineup. It is also doubtful whether Bobby Cooper will be able to see any service again this week due to the injured thumb.

The Wildcats will be at home for their next two games. Wellington, leaders in district 3-A, will bring a veteran team here for a non-conference game next week. The Chillicothe Eagles will be here for Crowell's last conference game on the 24th of this month.

County Receives .61 Inch of Rain

The amount of rain received Monday night in Crowell was .61 of an inch, as recorded by the gauge at the Crowell State Bank. The county as a whole received about the same amount, according to reports from other communities.

This much rain put the young wheat in good shape and probably did not damage the cotton crop to any great extent. A norther blew up Tuesday night and the people were reminded Wednesday morning that winter was coming.

Santa Fe Award Presented Bill Fish at Vernon Tuesday

Bill Fish, 4-H Club winner of the Santa Fe educational award, his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fish, and D. F. Eaton, Foard County agent, were guests of the Vernon Rotary Club Tuesday when the award was officially presented by L. J. Cassell, of Amarillo, special representative of the Santa Fe Railway Company. Robert Rummel Jr., winner from Wilbarger County, was also presented the award at this time.

The work of both boys was explained by the Foard County agent and by Frank Wendt, agent for Wilbarger County.

The presentation by Mr. Cassell was made following a short discussion of the trip which will be taken by both boys to Chicago to attend the National 4-H Club Congress the first of December. The trip will be given with all expenses paid and entertainment will be provided for the winners. They will join 16 other winners in Texas for the trip to Chicago where they will be taken on sight-seeing tours and banqueted nightly.

Thirty per cent of all movies made at the present time are taken by both boys to Chicago to be shown in this country, according to Major Orton H. Hicks, deputy director of distribution for Army's overseas film service.

ROTARY CLUB

A welcome visitor at the Wednesday meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club was a former member of the club, Ernest King, chief petty officer, first class, of the United States Navy Seabees, who is at home on leave after service overseas. Mr. King told Rotarians much of his experience after landing on foreign soil and the participation of his outfit on the coast of France at Cherbourg on Day. M. A. Wilkins was program chairman.

Following the talk by Mr. King, George D. Self gave his news comments which pertained mostly to the general election.

for my wrong doing. The thought of being discovered haunted me and turned an otherwise lovely morning into a period of mental torture, which only ended when my wrong doing was discovered. It sounds like a very childish thing to tell of it now, but how different are adults in this respect than children? As the theft of the frosting from the cake, and the worry that the wrong day brought, spoiled the whole day a small boy, so we adults bring a lot of unnecessary worry into our lives and spoil many beautiful days because we yield to the temptation to pick the frosting from the cake that never was worth the anguish and the worry.

Picking the Frosting From the Cake: I remember when I was quite a small boy my mother baked a cake for dinner and covered it with shiny white frosting and set it away to cool. The white frosting looked so tempting and meal time was such a long way off that I felt I could not wait. I made numerous trips to the pantry and each time picked a piece of frosting from the cake until it no longer looked white and shiny. Suddenly I realized what I had done. I realized that I would be discovered and called to account

Great Hereford Show Will Be Held in Dallas Nov. 11-19

Dallas.—Carloads of cattle began rolling into the State Fair Grounds this week for the Greater Pan-American Hereford Exposition to make up an entry list of 495 head, the largest aggregation of registered animals shown anywhere in the Western Hemisphere this year. Documentary proof that this is the cream of the Hereford world is held by the owners of these animals. A score of grand championships is represented, as well as holders of a hundred first place awards in various classifications, all won in competitions since the opening of the fall show season, including the exhibitions at Lincoln, Neb., Topeka, Kan., Atlanta, Tulsa and Shreveport. This grand finale of the 1944 show circuit will be held Nov. 11-19, not only topping everything that has gone before in number of animals, and quality, but also in the $20,000 premium list. Fifty-one of the entries have been made by Four-H Club members. These young exhibitors will be guests of the exposition throughout the entire show. In addition to these youngsters, invitations have been issued through the county agents to all the Four-H Club members in all of the 252 counties of Texas to be special guests on the opening day. Responses being received by Jack E. Story, chairman of the Four-H Club committee indicate that between 2,000 and 3,000 of the boys and girls will be present. Special entertainment is being planned in their honor. A. M. College is making arrangements to bring the entire cadet corps of 2,000 members to Dallas on Nov. 11 which is Armistice Day and also the occasion for the A. M. Southern Methodist University football game so that all those interested in animal husbandry may also view the Hereford show. Pablo Riso of Uruguay, one of the largest Hereford breeders in the world who has been winning championships in South America with his bulls imported from the United States, has arrived in this country to serve as judge. Cattlemen from all over the country will attend, both as exhibitors and spectators. These include the officers and directors of the American Hereford Association. A conservative estimate of the value of the animals on the entry list is placed at more than $1,000,000. In connection with the exhibition, which is sponsored by the Texas Hereford Association, the Texas State Championship Rodeo will put on a nine-day show with performances each night and on Sunday afternoons. Four major competitions will be held during the rodeo with numerous nationally famous specialty attractions. These contests, open to all comers, whether professional or amateur, include calf roping, bronco riding, bull dogging and bull riding. Purses of $7,500 have been provided which, with entry fees, will bring the prize money up to about $10,000. Some of the performers have just concluded an engagement at Madison Square Garden before capacity houses. Special numbers will include Hoyt Hefner, billed as the world's greatest bull fighter, in the ring with a wild Brama, trick and fancy riding and roping, the dance of the range, a quadrille by six couples on horseback; Cecil Cornish and his cow pony Smokey in a bit of drama and Joe Lindsley with his educated Hereford bull, Iron Ore. Advance ticket sales are being handled by the headquarters office of the Texas Hereford Association in Dallas. Because of the limited capacity of the grandstand, early reservations are necessary. Some of the wildest and toughest broncos, bulls and steers will match their strength with the skill of world champion riders and bulldozers at the Texas State Championship Rodeo at Dallas, Nov. 11-19, in connection with the

Two principal problems faced the assembly. One was what means should be employed to enforce peace when two nations having differences had exhausted all means at their command to maintain peace.

Another problem was that of reconciling the weak and the smaller nations with the larger nations that the weaker nations might not be dominated by the larger powers.

Without amicable agreements on these points any peace plan will be an unstable matter maintained by the superior force of the larger powers and submitted to unwillingly but through necessity by the smaller powers.

Briefly this is what the meeting proposed: The foundation of a general assembly of all "peace loving" nations, a security council of eleven members, a social and economic council with a general membership and an international court of justice.

The effect is that the conference plan places authority with the nations that must bear the chief responsibility for maintaining world order, but gives the weaker states an opportunity to advise in the assembly and to affect decisions in the council.

The conference plan provided for a reserve army, air force and navy to be provided by the member states in agreed proportions. The air force would be immediately available. Other necessary forces would be mobilized in an emergency and the whole force directed by a military committee consisting of the chiefs of staff of the permanent members of the council.

As was indicated the plan is but a beginning but it appears a sound beginning from which the working out of any differences that exist should not be impossible.

After the war is over and peace has finally come we believe that a day should be set aside for the purpose of reminding every one once each year that war is our concern no matter where it takes place in the world.

Children Should Be Protected from Diphtheria Early

Austin—All children should be protected against diphtheria at a very early age, according to a statement on the subject released this week by the Texas State Department of Health.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges Texas parents to have their children who are not already protected immunized at once.

"A dose of toxoid can save a child from serious illness or even death," Dr. Cox asserted, "and those who have not been safeguarded against this danger should be inoculated immediately."

"Babies should be protected by immunization by the age of eight or nine months," Dr. Cox said. "A first dose of toxoid is recommended by authorities on the care of infants by the age of eight or nine months, or even as early as six months. A second dose is usually given later."

To keep immunity at a high level, Dr. Cox said that a reinforcing dose of toxoid is advised before a child is old enough to enter school. Those who went to school or kindergarten this year without this additional safeguard or without ever having been protected certainly should be immunized without any further delay.

Make Fire Prevention Year 'Round Practice

Fire prevention on farms should be made a year-around practice, says M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer for the A. & M. College Extension Service.

The week ending October 14 was National Fire Prevention Week by Presidential proclamation. No doubt thousands of Texas farm families took stock of fire hazards in their homes, barns and sheds, and cleaned up the danger spots. But Bentley points out that the same hazards easily can return unless the safety work done during Fire Prevention Week becomes a habit.

Farm families are at a disadvantage compared with city and town dwellers in the matter of fires. Very few farms can call trained fire fighters for assistance. Most farms aren't equipped with pressure pumps to effectively fight a blaze; and farm buildings usually are not as fire resistant as city construction. Then, too, a large number of farm homes have fire hazards which were not present some years ago. Electricity has become pretty common throughout rural Texas and a great many farmers store gasoline and oil around their place.

Both electricity and oils are serious fire hazards if mishandled. Bentley says that it is merely common sense to store gasoline and oil a safe distance from buildings. Both are highly inflammable and if they become ignited the blaze is hard to control. Safeguarding against fires from electricity begins with proper wiring and is maintained by periodic inspection and the correct use of appliances.

Bentley says that if the wiring system is equipped with fuses instead of circuit breakers, an extra supply should be kept on hand for replacement. Never attempt to make a burned out fuse work by placing a penny behind it. He cautions also not to use extension cords for permanent wiring nor hang them over nails . . . and don't let chaff, cobwebs or other materials which burn easily accumulate near bulbs, in barns or outbuildings.

Meanwhile, he adds, keep chimney chimneys repaired and don't let trash accumulate in the attic or under the house.

BEHIND THE SPEECHES

After listening to a few of the "debates" between major party leaders in the pre-election campaign, the natural reaction is awe. How does it happen that we are winning the war if the charges of political incompetence on both sides are anywhere near true? As a matter of fact, we would not be winning the war if our fate had been left to the foresight and initiative of any political party. We were preparing for the war in ways the politicians never dreamed of. Long before Pearl Harbor, the array of armament and supplies that American factories were able to turn out after our peril was generally recognized, was not due to any previous political planning by either party.

For example, very few persons considered the problem of fueling, which the sudden appearance of an American air armada presented to the oil industry. If the industry had been unprepared when this armada became a fact, not a plane would have left the ground for years. However, as the annual report of one oil company points out, the development of high test gasoline for the planes that are today wrecking Germany, began in the laboratories of the oil companies many years ago. It says: "Two days after Pearl Harbor, the Office of Petroleum Coordinator called manufacturers of high octane aviation fuels to Washington. Each producer was asked what his company could do in the emergency." This company, like others, revealed that it was producing a high octane ingredient suitable for 100 octane aviation fuel. The production was immediately available to the government.

Here is the real reason why this country is winning the war—behind the speeches, the cold fact is the people were ready for war because of the alertness of their industries. —Industrial News-Review.

How To Destroy Grain Weevil

Recently Jack McCoy brought in a specimen of insects which were prevalent in his wheat. We sent this specimen to Dr. H. G. Johnston, our Extension Entomologist down at A. & M. College and here is his report on them:

"The specimens sent in are the cadelle beetles which is a rather common injurious pest of stored grains of all kinds. The larvae very commonly burrow into the timbers of the grain bin, as explained in your letter. This habit makes the pest rather difficult to control, and also makes it extremely important that the storage bin be thoroughly cleaned up and the walls and floors thoroughly sprayed with oil emulsion, kerosene, or something of that kind. Otherwise, these larvae develop and infest the new grain very soon after it is put in the bins. After the grain is once infested fumigation is the most satisfactory method of control. This pest is somewhat resistant to fumigants and a thorough job must be done to obtain satisfactory results. The fumigant mixture most commonly used is Ethylene dichloride-carbon-tetrachloride sold under the trade name of Dow-fume 75."

This insect is a rather long, narrow black bug and we have had frequent complaints of damage done to grain in this county by them.

For further details contact this office and the method of treatment for this insect will suffice for other grain weevils.

The treatment will not injure the grain for food, feed, or effect its germination for planting seed.

Call "Boarder" Cows Now

Each beef or dairy cow which is an unprofitable producer should be culled from the herd before winter sets in. This practice is economical and good management under any conditions. But menaced by a shortage of labor, high prices for feed, and a deficit in protein concentrate which threatens to be more acute than year ago, strict culling is more important than ever before.

It is plainly evident that livestock owners will not have enough roughage to adequately feed their herds throughout the winter months. This situation may lead to the common and very dangerous practice of limiting the amount fed in order to make it last all winter. In shorting the cows on the roughage they want and need, stockmen will find that the cows will not have produced as well as when they are on full feed.

As a safe alternative, many stockmen can cull out enough poor producers to assure a supply of roughage sufficient for the needs of the cows remaining. By so doing stockmen will get as much production and more net return than they will by spreading the roughage thin and keeping the poor producers.

Christian Science War Relief Extends Post-war Aid Program

Boston. (Sp.) — Cessation of fighting in Europe will by no means put an end to the sewing, knitting, packing and shipping activities of Christian Science War Relief units throughout the United States. These units in fact are being asked to greatly increase their output in order to assist in the gigantic task of re-clothing the liberated populations of the Continent.

Announcement is now going forward to all churches of Christ, Scientist, and Christian Science Societies in the United States that the Christian Science War Relief Committee has been authorized by The Christian Science Board of Directors to extend its program to include postwar relief in Europe at the earliest opportunity.

Information obtained from Government and private sources indicates that the need for clothing will be even greater than that for food. After a careful study of all available facts, the National Planning Association, for instance, recently reported that at least 100,000,000 persons in captive Europe have insufficient clothing. Children are unable to leave their homes for want of something to put on. Young and old alike are about in rags. Millions lack any apparel that could be called warm.

Stepping Up Program
It is to help meet this acute need that the Christian Science War Relief Committee is in common with other war relief agencies is stepping, rather than curtailing, its program as the fighting in Europe appears to be approaching its final phase. The committee has already started putting goods into warehouses so that they will be ready for distribution at the first possible moment.

Wide Distribution
Now at the end of its fourth year, the Committee finds that it has distributed approximately 2,522,950 garments to the needy overseas. About 1,534,800 of these were in England, the rest to refugees and, as the occasion developed, to liberated countries in continental Europe.

The same kind of clothing, both new and used, that has brought so many expressions of gratitude from bombed-out families in England will be needed in still larger quantities for the homeless and destitute in liberated Europe. Clothing rather than money must be collected because for a long time to come it will be impossible to purchase anything like the amounts required.

Warm, used garments in good condition are wanted at once for men, women, children and infants. Sturdy shoes are also needed, likewise household linens and blankets. Besides making garments out of new materials, the War Relief units are urged to continue their reconstruction of used clothes.

Letters of Appreciation

How much the receipt of these well-made, practical yet attractive garments means to those in need, is attested by hundreds of letters in the Committee's files in Boston. As one British sailor writes:

"I am in the Royal Navy and you good ladies can realize how us chaps worry when we are at sea these times over our families. I have four little ones and you can imagine my surprise when I came home to find them very nicely clothed. Thank the good Lord there are good people like you ladies about to help us in need. Words alone cannot express my feelings, and my wife also sends her very best wishes and thanks. God bless you all."

Keeping Away from Gatherings Is Duty of Bad Cold Victim

Austin.—The common cold is responsible for more lost working hours, with resulting loss in income and production, than any other illness prevalent in the United States, asserts Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer, in a statement just released. He stated that the number of victims remains, from year to year, practically the same, and expressed the opinion that the only way this situation can be remedied is by more universal care and thoughtfulness on the part of the general public.

"One of the more common predisposing causes of a cold is the over-heating living room, or office, in which much time is spent, especially when insufficient outdoor exercise is taken and when inefficient ventilation is provided," Dr. Cox said. "Such a living environment, when coupled with careless eating habits and too late hours, tends to lower resistance and invites the appearance of debilitating colds."

Dr. Cox stated that it is wise to avoid direct contact with infected persons; and said that the cold victim himself has a definite duty to perform in keeping away from gatherings and in the unfeeling use of a handkerchief, or paper tissue, when coughing or sneezing.

"Colds themselves are troublesome enough, but frequently they lead to pneumonia, and even in these days of improved treatment, pneumonia still remains a devastating and dangerous disease," Dr. Cox warned. "If, in spite of precautions, a cold is contracted it is wise to see your physician at once. If fever is present, bed is the only safe place to be regardless of temporary inconvenience or loss of earning power."

According to Navy authorities, by 1945 the Navy will have about 8,445 ships—the mightiest armada the world has ever known.
