JUST A COUPLE OF ELEPHANTS... This is the season of the year when circus press agents start vying with politicians to see which can make more noise and get more space in the newspapers for their assorted exhibits and freaks. Here, for instance, are two elephants of the Dailey Brothers circus which wintered in Gonzalez, Tex., and is ready for a tour of the country this summer.

Hilton Crane Takes Over Duties As C. of C. Manager

Hilton Crane, the new secretary-manager of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce began his new field of work on June 1. His office is now temporarily located in the Shirley-Youree Drug Store.

Since the purpose of the Chamber of Commerce is to foster the civic, commercial, cultural and industrial interests of Foard County and its trade territory in general, everyone should feel free to call upon the secretary-manager for any assistance he may be able to give them.

This organization works on a non-profit basis. It aims at helping the people, individually and collectively, in the county.

A great opportunity for growth and progress lies ahead for Crowell, the county seat, if every person, young and old and big and little, will lend their support. It cannot be done by just a few. The support of all is absolutely necessary.

"We must have your full cooperation if we are to make Crowell the kind of city it now has the opportunity of being," Mr. Crane stated.

A city that is a county seat, can certainly show a "sign of progress" by having street markers and house numbers. Such markers could be installed for a nominal cost.

Sunday, Crane will leave for Wichita Falls where he will attend the Managers Convention of the Chamber of Commerce.

The quartet tables at which the meal was served were centered with crystal bowls of poppies, commemorating the observance of Poppy Day. Covers were laid for 32 guests, among them being Rev. J. R. Smallwood of Paducah, the speaker for the Poppy Day program.

A brief talk was made by Rev. Smallwood at the luncheon and remarks of appreciation were made by several guests.

The luncheon followed a program held on the west side of the Court House at 11 a.m. Commander Glendon H. Hays, of the Gordon J. Ford Post, was master of ceremonies and introduced Rev. V. M. Newland, who gave a prayer to open the program. To make the program a real tribute to the war dead and to further the poppy idea, a simulated cemetery was placed on the lawn with each small grave marked with the name of those of the county who fell in action and over each a small flag waved.

Wheat Harvest Gets Underway After Week's Delay

Harvesting of the 1948 wheat crop got under way again Wednesday afternoon. Wheat trucks began to arrive at the Crowell elevators about 2 or 3 o'clock in the afternoon and by 8 o'clock they were lined up two abreast on South Main Street for two blocks waiting to be unloaded and the Crowell elevators were kept busy for several hours into the night. Harvesting was stopped by a 3-inch rain which fell all day Wednesday of last week.

Foard County elevators had received approximately 275,000 bushels late Wednesday afternoon. The grain has bleached out some since the rain and was testing from 57 to 60 yesterday.

It is estimated by elevator men that the wheat crop over the entire county will average about 12 bushels, the yield from some fields is poor and in others it is very good. The best wheat in the county is in the east and southeast sections.

On June 5 of 1947 the News reported 400,000 bushels received at the elevators with better than a million-bushel crop.

On June 6, 1946, the report was 740,000 bushels received and the total yield for the county estimated at 800,000 bushels.

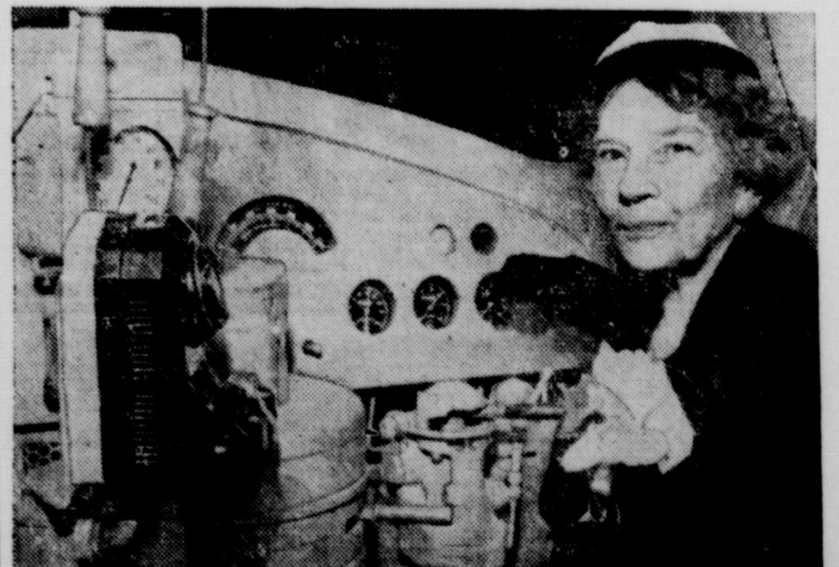

On June 7, 1945, another million-bushel crop was one-half harvested, total bushels received at elevators being 567,500. Harvest started in 1945 on May 26.

On June 1, 1944, the News announced that the harvest would begin soon. Equipment had begun to arrive because as far away as Nebraska.

On June 3, 1943, the harvest had started the first of the week following a heavy rain the week before. At this time the 1943 crop for the county was estimated at 500,000 bushels.

SUB ROSA... Secretary of the Navy John L. Sullivan informed congress that submarines 'not belonging to any nation west of the iron curtain have been sighted off our shores.' He said that Russia has five times as many subs as Germany had at beginning of World War II.

MRS. JONES WAS THIS ROUNDER'S NAME... This is Mrs. Casey Jones, wife of the engineer who rode to fame on a six-eight wheeler. She was seated at the throttle of the General Motors "Train of Tomorrow" on its run from New Albany, Miss., to Memphis, where she took part in ceremonies honoring the arrival of the train there. Her husband's ride to his death on "Old 37" 42 years ago has been immortalized in song and story.

Weekly SURPLUS NEWS

The clearance of surplus in the El Paso area by WAA and slated for June 10 will involve materials originally costing $200,000. In addition to about $100,000 worth of machine tools released by a government defense committee, some auto parts, cafe equipment, tents, heaters, coolers and medical furniture and supplies will be among 88 lots to be offered the various classes of buyers.

Some odd things still come up from time to time in WAA's inventory of government owned surplus. Buyers are now being solicited for 117 oil paintings and original water colors by leading American artists. This internationally famed collection was assembled by the government in response to requests from foreign countries for a showing of contemporary American art. Sale will be by sealed bid on each piece, subject to the standard priority sequence. The collection is on display at the Whitney Museum of American Art, New York City. Latest in the parade of Texas cities to acquire municipal airports under the provisions of Public Law 289 will be Harlingen, which will soon take over its adjoining surplus air force camp, the Harlingen Army Air Field. It has been pointed out that the southwest is particularly fortunate in being able to secure fine airports for its municipalities, since the Grand Prairie War Assets Administration region contains nearly half of all surplus airport property in the United States.

The sales program for war surplus personal property in Texas and four adjoining states has already been tentatively scheduled for 112 different locations. This advance scheduling carries WAA up to June 30, and involves virtually all such surplus in inventory, aside from real property and related material. The WAA has, partly by virtue of the withholding of the surplus stock, already been able to reduce its inventories in the Grand Prairie region to approximately $40,000,000 in personal property from approximately $75,000,000 on hand in March.

Two locations in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, will be the scene of War Assets clearance on June 3. Items such as electrical supplies, valves and fittings, cafeteria equipment, office machines and furniture, lumber and timbers, tenting, medical supplies, paints, hardware, pipe insulation and scrap metal, will be offered the bidders. The surplus stocks, worth about $300,000 originally, will be inspected at the Baton Rouge's Permanent Metal Company, and the Engineer Depot, where awards will be made beginning at 9:00 a.m.

Columbia University received a gift of 8 million dollars from Tung-Li Yuan of Peiping, China, an alumnus. Unfortunately the University won't be able to make any extensive plans for using the money in the way of new buildings or in creating new foundations. The 8 million Chinese dollars are worth only about $25 in American money. The incident furnishes an idea of the extent to which inflation can really go, if uncurbed.

20th Abbott-Costello Laughfilm Funniest

"The Wistful Widow of Wagon Gap" is the funniest of all the 20 comedies made so far by Abbott and Costello, stellar laugh artists. It opens at the Rialto Wednesday, June 9.

The team has a solid story into which their characters and rouhines fit naturally, and they also have the support of Marjorie Main, who is no mean bell ringer herself in any laugh meter test. These assets, plus a good supporting cast and a novel western background, put this new laugh offering on any theatergoer's must list.

The story has Lou and Bud as housewares salesmen, who find their way into the wild western town of Wagon Gap in Montana. Pudgy Little Costello is charged with shooting a no-good resident, and under the law must support the victim's family and pay all the debts. Miss Main is the victim's widow, and she and her seven children—some pretty, some homely, but all brats—become Costello's charge.

Riotous scenes take place on the widow's farm as she forces Costello to do the chores.

The Senate Commerce committee killed by a vote of 6 to 5 a bill designed to regulate liquor advertising. The bill would have prohibited the publication of advertising tending to create the impression that liquor was beneficial to health, contributed to social or business standing or prescriptive upbuilding, increased social life or should be a part of the atmosphere of the American home. The bill was introduced by Senator Reed of Kansas and Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado. The only defense left for the American family which seeks to protect its young people from such fallacious doctrine it appears, is to refuse to subscribe for periodicals which print liquor advertising.

Every case is contracted by way of the mouth and digestive system.

Carriers who are careless in their personal habits are likely to infect any food they handle with unwashed hands. Some of the most serious and far-reaching outbreaks of the disease have been caused by drinking milk or eating foods that have been handled by carriers. Persons may be carriers without knowing it.

An exchange lists a few of the funny laws one finds in various parts of the country. They are as follows: In Joliet, Ill., it's illegal to try on more than six dresses in any one store. Any one caught stealing soap in Mohave county, Ariz., is required to wash himself until the soap is entirely consumed. In Gary, Ind., it is against the law to get upon a street car if you've eaten garlic within the last four hours.

Although it has occurred so often it is no longer news when a hitchhiker who has been given a ride ends up by robbing the car owner of his wallet, watch and car, there are still people who take chances by giving hitchhikers a lift. It is evidence that on the whole people are kind hearted and in spite of their misgivings and the clamor of their better judgment are willing to help out their fellows who appear to be in need.

Scientists say that the metals and chemicals used in the human body are worth about one dollar. We think the statement too general, we know some people who have over ten dollars worth of brass alone in them.

HISTORY

Independence Day — July 4: July 4 is the anniversary of the adoption, by the Continental Congress in 1776, of the Declaration of Independence. The movement toward a declaration of independence for this country by the Continental Congress began on Friday, June 7, 1776. At this time a resolution was presented to the Congress by Richard Henry Lee of Virginia, which provided that "these United Colonies are, and of a right ought to be, free and independent."

Russia, since the war, has been reaching out and taking in other nations and territory on the basis that they were once part of Russia. She is now at work on the matter of taking over Finland, because it once belonged to her. How long may we expect it will be before Russia advances reasons why she should take over Alaska because it once belonged to her and because the purchase price which was considered very high at the time doesn't seem high today.

The increasing number of cold storage locker plants with their slaughtering facilities is going to make the rural areas less and less dependent upon the packing house for meats. Locally killed meat stored in the locker plants is available at all times and provides a constant yearly supply of good meat uninterrupted by strikes in the packing house and on the railroad. In some localities hundreds of farmers who formerly bought all their fresh meat from the local butcher now depend altogether on the locker plant for it.

The report is that the consumption of sugar is lower than when it was being rationed. The conclusion is that people bought more sugar when it was rationed and hoarded it and are now consuming their reserve stock. Either this, or it took more sugar to keep them sweet during the rationing days.

This one from one of our exchanges: Said the spinster who was asked why she had never married: "It takes a mighty good husband to be better than none."

Strange isn't it that it requires years of careful training to show a man the right way to live but the poor sap will find the wrong way without a word of help.

What We Think

(By Frank Dixon)

There is much talk today of the possibility of war, yes, even the necessity of war with Russia. It is even being freely predicted that within from ten to twenty-five years this country will be engaged in war with Russia. We are being urged to get ready for it and to arm for it. The reason why those who believe that we will be at war with Russia before long feel as they do that she represents Communism and other isms that are opposed to our form of government and for the further reason that she is now engaged in a program of territorial expansion, which if carried out, will include practically all of Europe within the Russian Empire. When this happens, if it does, Europe will be at the mercy of Communism and will be even more controlled by a dictator form of government than it was under Hitler and Mussolini.

I believe that we should make every effort, compatible with honor, to stay out of war with Russia. At the same time we should

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

Two Minute Sermon 12 3 78 99 Working to the Glory of God: The other day I overheard a woman say in speaking of another woman that she did everything to the glory of God. I asked her what she meant by the expression. "Just what it says," she replied. "The woman to whom I refer works just that way. Everything she does she does the very best she knows how. She never shirks or holds back a single bit of her ability or effort. She gives what ever she is doing all she has. "I believe," the woman said, "that any one who does that, who puts into the job at hand everything he has and does the very best of which he is capable, is working to the glory of God. I do not believe that God has much use for the loafer and the idler and the shirker who does everything he can to keep out of doing an honest day's work. I believe if a man works for another he should give the job his best or quit. I don't believe the loafer and the time killer is fooling God. I think God knows just the kind of measure of service he is giving. Honorable work is a service to mankind, and God has put his stamp of approval upon service. The extent of that approval, I believe, depends upon the quality of the service. We honor God in our daily work and I believe one can say with complete reverence that there is such a thing as working to the glory of God.

Uncle Sam Says

What would you say if you saw a groundhog emerge from his hole this month with a stack of Savings Bonds in his paws? Millions of my nieces and nephews, who own Savings Bonds and are adding to their bond holdings regularly through the Payroll Savings or the Bond-A-Month Plans, would say that Mr. Groundhog has at last acquired common sense as a prophet of an early spring. There is no better harbinger of a bright, happy future is there than the growing, safe, profit-making financial reserve of United States Savings Bonds.

A NEW LOOK AT THE OIL PICTURE

What's the Matter with The Oil Business?

The following speech was delivered before the International Oil Congress in Tulsa, Okla., May 18, by Ernest O. Thompson, chairman, Texas Railroad Commission, the oil conservation and regulatory body of the nation's great oil producing state.

People are asking this question: "What is the matter with the oil business?" The answer is simple, there is nothing the matter with the oil business—nothing except growing pains!

All over the world people are using more petroleum products. Those nations who have used oil in the past are demanding ever increasing petroleum supplies. The countries who used little or no oil heretofore are finding petroleum a truly great blessing. Everywhere in the world more oil is demanded.

No longer is it a matter of selling petroleum products. The problem today in oil is to fill the ever greater demand — world wide.

fault and criticize the other fellow. On every side you hear talk of what's wrong with the city, what's wrong with the State, the Nation, and what's wrong with the world? We are in the critical period of fault finding.

How much more refreshing life would be if we would put more accent on the positive. Look for the good. Be constructive.

Actually the oil industry has done one of the most remarkable supply jobs in all history. It is unexcelled. We oiled the war successfully. Oil contributed hugely to our victory in the air, on the sea, and on the land all over the globe.

I personally know from inspection on the ground in the field of combat that the oil was delivered when, where and as needed. The oil industry is one of the forgotten heroes of this last war and War I.

We as a people are too impatient to give this great war time heroic industry materials and time enough to bring the oil production plant up to date in view of the undreamed of increase in demand for gasoline, oil, and petroleum products.

It is my deliberate judgment that within 2 years the oil supply will be adequate. I hope I may say, with modesty, that this is an informed opinion.

Keep in mind that before World War II we had great overproduction of oil in America. Large unneeded and wasteful stocks of crude were on hand in tanks above ground. Enormous new oil fields were discovered in the United States, and the oil from these new fields had to be permitted to orderly share in the market demand. Room had to be made for their output. Overproduction staggered the industry.

The oil producing states, the industry, the state regulatory bodies and the courts worked sensibly, reasonably and legally together to solve this problem of orderly production control to prevent physical waste in the production of this natural resource.

The problem was solved and today there is no industry, in my opinion, better prepared and better fortified to meet the growing demands of the coming years.

The very fact of too much oil made vitally necessary the study cooperatively by business, law makers and scientists. Then followed the passage by the oil states of wise conservation laws, controlling the production of oil and gas to prevent physical waste in such production. Market demand laws were passed which say that production of oil in excess of market demand is waste.

The legal prevention of waste is as old as the common law. Nobody in his right senses wants waste committed in the production of an irreplaceable natural resource.

These laws, both market demand and waste prevention in nature, have been upheld by all of our courts, including the United States Supreme Court.

Conservation of oil and gas in the United States is thoroughly grounded in public opinion, accepted and practiced by the industry and thoroughly ingrained in our laws. Conservation is here to stay.

Conservation means the orderly production of oil and gas in a manner that will prevent waste and protect correlative rights of the owners. Conservation does not mean the locking up of our resources.

At the present time, the market demand statute plays no part in oil production control. The market demand law comes into play only when production exceeds demand. This is simply because the market demand today exceeds the oil that can be produced under sound engineering principles. This is quite a transition from the old days of overproduction. Then the question was how to have ratable takings—giving every producer a fair share in the market.

Today America is producing every barrel of oil it is possible to produce under sound engineering practices. We could, of course, produce more oil for a short while but such a procedure would do irreparable harm to the wells and would mean less oil in the end. Much oil would be left in the ground unproducible by known methods.

Under our old open flow method of oil production, we left in the ground in the U. S., unrecovered, perhaps 100 billion barrels of oil in the older oil fields. In the old days, we let oil wells gush and blow their heads off. The pressure was prematurely dissipated. This wasteful procedure resulted in a very small percentage of recovery. In that way we left those estimated 100 billion barrels of oil in the ground.

Research may show, and I think will show, how to recover many billions of barrels of this hidden oil—hidden in the rocks and sands of old thought-to-be depleted oil fields. The industry and our institutions of learning are everywhere at work on this research. We are going forward with conversion of natural gas into gasoline. Experiments and pilot plants are showing the way to get petroleum out of shale and coal economically.

Science is going forward with demand. Research is the order of the day, both by industry and colleges and schools all over the land.

The Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Krug, announced in Tulsa in May the most heartening thing yet heard from Government. It was that the Government of the U. S. is not going into the shale oil conversion business. He said rather the Government would encourage private industry to do this job. This sort of Government encouragement to industry will renew our faith in American ideals. Such a government policy will take fear out of the hearts of the oil industry. It restores hope and faith in free enterprise.

I truly we have been hearing much talk about nationalizing our oil industry. Many articles have been written and at least one book has been published, finding fault with the oil industry in that there have been spot shortages of gasoline and heating oil in the United States.

We are a very impatient people, and it seems we cannot gracefully tolerate even spot shortages of anything the lack of which inconveniences us in the slightest. Little credit, if any, is given to the great achievement of today's all time high petroleum production. It's an outstanding industrial achievement. We should be proud of such results in industry.

When we point out that we are far ahead of even war time output in oil, the critics simply yawn and say, where is my refinery going to get the crude oil needs? Or where are my constituents going to get their heating oil?

Eighteen Committees of Congress are investigating the oil shortage. The Armed Services Committee has just released a report calling serious attention to our need for 2 million barrels additional oil daily for military purposes, should war come. This Committee gives the industry six short months to show that the needs can be met. A bill was introduced in this Congress, setting up complete Federal Oil Control (the Hartley Bill). This bill, of course, got nowhere. But its very introduction was a threat of Federal control.

The very fact that so many Committees of Congress are working on oil shortages keeps many oil company executives going to Washington, testifying in Washington—preparing for testifying and coming back from Washington that the wonder is they have any time to attend to business. Washington has just about become their real headquarters.

All because of a few spot shortages of gasoline and heating oils. Are we not a little impatient? Should we not rather give credit for the magnificent job that has been done instead of fault-finding over minor shortages?

It should be remembered that from 1941 through 1945 no steel was available to bring the oil plant up to its needs. The only supplies furnished were for war time products, such as aviation gasoline. Still every war need for oil was promptly met.

Had the generally predicted depression come after V-J Day, as was so direfully forecast, we would have had a surplus of oil. The market demand would have been far below supply. The oil plant, before the war, was set up for about 5 million barrels per day capacity. That capacity was far beyond the fondest dream of the most optimistic oil economist. No one ever, before the war or at any time during the war, seriously thought that peace time post-war America would by 1945 consume or market 5 million barrels of oil either here in America or in exports.

Such demand seemed fantastic. Overproduction beyond market demand was the posed problem. For years the oil surplus in the United States had been the problem. No one I have heard thought differently. If so, they kept it very secret.

How quick the transition! It is just another chapter in the American success story. Our frontier is still to be explored industrially. This temporary shortage is being met by the expenditure of 4 billion dollars by the oil industry to bring the plant from 5 to 6 million barrels daily capacity.

Research, scientific advances, American initiative and free enterprise—if left unhampered and unfettered by Government interference, will get the job done—and done in an orderly fashion. The less interference, the more promptly this job will be accomplished. The oil industry stands as one of the greatest monuments to private enterprise. It is the supreme vindication of the American way of life in business.

VOTING ON A PRINCIPLE

According to one close observer, the action of the House in refusing to give TVA a $4,000,000 appropriation to start construction of a steam electric plant, "reflects a crystallization of sentiment in the lower house against the government obviously going into a public utility business without even a pretext of it being an incident to some other governmental function. The issue was clearly one of principle rather than economy."

It is a good thing for the country that that issue has been brought into the open. Approval of this TVA request—and it will be up again—would amount to Congressional approval of state socialism, paid for by all the taxpayers, for the benefit of a few consumers in a particular area. Far more important, it would establish a strong precedent for putting the Federal government into the utility business throughout the country. Starting from there, it would be just a question of time until the government took over other forms of commercial enterprise. For there is one sure thing about super government—it never stands still, and its appetite for money, authority, and its own perpetuation is insatiable.

The whole TVA set-up should be exhaustively investigated by Congress now. The bitter debate over its tax exemptions, interest exemptions, rates and costs should be solved through objective examination. Of greater moment, some of the window dressing should be removed from TVA's claims concerning the efficacy of its flood control and reclamation work—the best engineering opinion now holds that big dams are not the answer, and that soil conservation through water control on the farms and in the valleys, before the land is washed into the rivers, is the sound way to handle it. Finally, Congress should consider the virtual life and death power TVA holds over the Southwest by virtue of its electric energy monopoly. Does this socialist principal fit the American tradition? — Industrial News Review.

MUCH IN THE MARKET

Markets and groceries have a plentiful supply of foods at this time. Many of the standard food items may be found in generous supply now, says Myrtle Murray, extension home marketing specialist of Texas A. & M. College.

To name a few of the abundant foods, the vegetable list includes cabbage, cauliflower, Irish potatoes, celery and lettuce. And among the fresh fruits are listed oranges, grapefruit and lemons.

In the canned section are lots of citrus juices, grapefruit segments, standard grade peas, sweet potatoes and pumpkin, as well as such tomato products as juice, catsup, paste and puree.

Plentiful dried fruits are raisins, prunes, figs and peaches, and three nuts — walnuts, figs and pecans will continue in abundant supply.

Turning to the sweeter section, grocery shelves have good quantities of jams, jellies, marmalades, fruit butter from last year's crop. Also in this group is peanut and peanut butter.

Last, but certainly not least, the plentiful list, says Myrtle Murray, the markets have large quantities of chickens, eggs and both fresh and frozen fish.

LOOKING FORWARD

Most of the things we fear never happen, and most of the things that happen we need not fear.

During the war the prognosticators of gloom predicted there would be a period of great unemployment immediately following the cessation of hostilities. In stead we had the highest possible employment.

There have always been people ready to sell America short — and always America comes through because America is made up of people who know how to work and save and to sacrifice if necessary. The wastes are noisy but relatively few.

There was never a better time than now to save and never a better place to put those savings than with your home bank.

Some of the 75,000 ABC Pins Get Ready to Travel

Did you know that rules of the American Bowling Congress call for daily replacement of the bowling pins on its 40 tournament alleys? This means some 75,000 new pins are used in the course of the event. The practice assures that every team will compete under exactly the same circumstances. In the photograph above a girl is repacking a few of the discarded pins for distribution by Chevrolet truck to privately owned bowling establishments.

Weekly Sermon

HIM THAT IS ABLE

By Wayne Christianson, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

Tucked away in the next-to-the-last verse of the next-to-the-last book of the Bible is a fragment of Scripture with a power-packed message. That message—for every person who, deep down in his heart, wants to be different from what he is—may be found in verse 24 of the book of Jude: "Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy..."

The tremendous thing about this verse is that it speaks of one outside ourselves who is able to do things we cannot do. He is able to keep us, not from physical falling, but from falling into the depths of sin. Indeed, He is able to snatch us from the sin that already holds us helpless in its grip. He is able to save us, not from one sin or a few sins, but from the terrible power of sin as a whole, for we read that He is able to present us "faultless." And the passage reminds us that when He so presents us, it will be a time of "exceeding joy."

The next verse—Jude 25—answers this question as it speaks of "the only wise God our Saviour." This is the Lord Jesus Christ, who for love of man left His place in heaven to become one of us, who died for our sins and lives today, who is able to save all who call upon Him. Not only has this one who is able, borne our sins in His own body (1 Peter 2:24), but He is even now transforming the lives of all who trust in Him. Thus He will one day present all who have called upon Him "faultless... with exceeding joy."

If you shrink from the Christian life because you fear you cannot hold out, look again at the promise in Jude 24. It is not the Christian who is able, but the Christian's Christ. All who commit their lives to Him will one day stand before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy. But those who seek to counterfeit the change only He can make, will one day stand before Him in shame and sorrow. How terrible to know His judgment power then; how wonderful to know His saving power now and through eternity.

ENVY OF THE WORLD

The history of the world, since recorded time began, has been blackened at regular and frequent intervals by terrible famines. Countless millions have died miserably from hunger. And those cataclysms were not confined to long past, primitive times. In the last quarter century starvation has stalked through China, Russia, and other nations.

Yet, in the United States, we have never had a famine. Some may say short-sightedly that this is because we are blessed with an abundance of resources. But other countries, where the standard of living is abysmally low compared with ours, have great resources also. Some may think it is because we work harder. Yet in the hunger-ridden nations the average man and woman work much longer hours, and perform a great deal more manual labor, than does the average American.

The basic reason for our abundance lies elsewhere. It has been in a theory of government that encourages every man to do his utmost and reap the rewards that has stimulated voluntary, individual enterprise and that, finally, has given every man the right to compete with any other in his chosen field.

We see how this system works on every hand. As a simple example, every American can walk into a store and buy all the meat he wants—something that is impossible in most other countries. Free enterprise is responsible for putting that meat in the butcher's showcase — for turning steers, hogs and other animals into cuts that are ready for consumption.

To meet the needs of the country, a great packing industry has been developed to bridge the gap between the livestock producer and our homes. It performs a vital service at a cost which is almost unbelievably small.

So it goes, in every field of enterprise. Free people, working in a free economy, have made the American standard of living the envy of the world. — Industrial News Review.

Matterhorn is a high mountain in the Swiss Alps.

HONING THE MIND

"The minds of men are a great deal like the old-fashioned straight razor," said William R. Boyd, Jr., president of the American Petroleum Institute. "They have to be honed, and competition is the strop that makes a keen blade."

Mr. Boyd was speaking to the opening of the Silver Anniversary of the International Petroleum Exposition at Tulsa. And there his remark was particularly apt.

Crowell Couple Exchange Vows in Rialto Mon. Night

On the stage of the Rialto Theater Monday evening, Miss Helen Ruth Anderson became the bride of Paul Johnson, in a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. N. B. Moon in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives, friends, and theater-goers.

The stage was prettily decorated with wrought iron candelabra and tall baskets filled with pink and white flowers. The candies were lighted by Misses Mary Johnson and Martha Johnson, sisters of the groom.

Miss Christine Hanks was maid of honor while Bill Nichols served the groom as best man. The wedding march was played for the entrance of the bride and her maid of honor, upon whom a spot light was thrown as they went down the long aisle. They were preceded by little Miss Carolyn Sue Hord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Hord, as flower girl who carried the flower petals in a pretty white and pink basket. Bearing the rings was Master Bill Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Graves.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of white crepe with which she wore white accessories. These included a white halo hat. Her bouquet was of pink carnations with a center of lilies of the valley, and these she carried on a white Bible. Miss Hanks wore a pink dress modeled like the bride's and her flowers were white carnations, centered with pink gladioli. The bride carried out the tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed and blue.

Following the marriage, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Johnson, parents of the groom. The wedding cake was served with punch to a large number of guests present. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a short wedding trip after which they will reside on a farm near Crowell.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Anderson and has resided here with her parents, for a short time. She attended school at Princeton, Texas. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Crowell High School.

The young couple were the recipients of a lovely array of gifts from the merchants of Crowell.

Douglas Adkins and Miss Rawls Wed in Lubbock Saturday

Miss Wanda Lee Rawls, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Rawls, 1405-A Avenue U and E. Douglas Adkins of Phillips, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adkins of Thalia, were married Sunday afternoon, May 30, in the Calvary Baptist Church in Lubbock. Rev. C. J. McCarty performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of gladioli, palms and candelabra.

Charles Bratcher sang "Because" and Donnie Rawls, brother of the bride, sang "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life." Both were accompanied by Mrs. D. C. Favcett, pianist, who also played soft incidental numbers while the ceremony was being read.

Given in marriage by her brother, James M. Rawls of Ft. Worth, the bride wore a bridal gown of white crepe with a waist length veil attached to a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and gardenias with streamers of white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Wayne McCoy of Plainview, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a blue crepe gown fashioned like the bride's dress. She carried a bouquet of pastel flowers. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Robert Giles of Lubbock and Miss Mary Adkins of Vernon, sister of the groom. Both wore pink crepe dresses and carried bouquets of pastel flowers. Candelighters Misses Mildred Giles of Lubbock and Modelle Rawls, sister of the bride, wore dresses of yellow crepe and wristlets of pastel blossoms. Miss Roxiann Adkins of Thalia, niece of the groom, was flower girl and wore a white organza dress and carried a basket of rose petals.

Houston Adkins, brother of the groom, was best man and ushers were Roy Ferguson of Phillips and James Adkins, another brother of the groom, of Amarillo. Ronnie Rawls, nephew of the bride, of Fort Worth was ring bearer.

Following the marriage, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Giles in Lubbock. The serving table was centered with an arrangement of sweet peas and roses and held a three-tiered cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Guests were from Olney, Vernon, Phillips, Thalia, Crowell, Amarillo, Hale Center, Plainview and Fort Worth.

After a wedding trip to Colorado and New Mexico, the couple will be at home on the Idalou highway in Lubbock. For travel, the bride chose a brown and white linen suit with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mr. Adkins is a social science teacher in Phillips High School. He attended Deatur Baptist College and received his B. S. degree and also a master's degree in education from Texas Tech. The bride was graduated from Lubbock High School and has been employed in Lubbock for the past seven years.

Mr. Adkins served three and a half years in the 36th Division of the Army and spent 20 months as prisoner of war in Germany.

Miss Dolores Gilbert Will Wed Clifton Gaudin, June 20th

Gilbert Jr., brother of the bride-elect, will serve as best man. Cpl. Sidney Gilbert, of Elgin Field, Fla. and Everett Gaudin of Vernon will be ushers. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

CO-LABORER'S CLASS

Mrs. Paul Shirley, Mrs. F. C. Brooks and Mrs. R. W. Bell entertained the members of the Co-Laborers Sunday School class in their monthly social and study meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Shirley.

Approximately twenty-five ladies attended the meeting. Mrs. Carrie Hart was leader of the lesson on the Bible book, Ezekiel. She was assisted by Mrs. Allen Sanders and Mrs. J. W. Bruce. An informal period of discussion was held.

Mrs. Brooks gave a humorous reading and read the horoscopes of each one present during the hour of diversion.

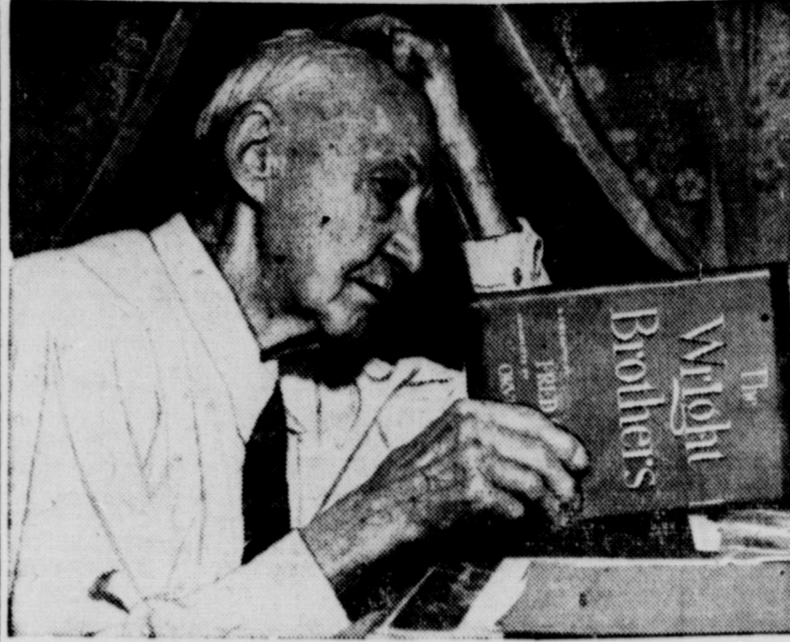

A delightful salad course was served buffet style at the conclusion of the lesson and diversion period.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

At the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. Crews Cooper on the Margaret highway, the Columbian Club members were entertained in the last meeting of the current club year on Wednesday, May 26.

The president conducted a short business session and the meeting was turned over to Mrs. B. W. Self, who was leader of a most interesting and instructive lesson on flower arrangement.

Mrs. O. R. Boman was guest speaker and presented three beautiful arrangements illustrative of the three schools of flower arrangement, the Oriental, the Flemish and the Modern American. In the Oriental design she featured the various levels, earth, man and heaven and balanced the arrangement with an Oriental figure.

THE MEMORIES HE HAS... Charles E. Taylor of Los Angeles, who was left $800 a year for life by Orville Wright, holds book of the Wright brothers and recalls thrilling days when he assisted in the building of the first airplane engine the brothers used in 1903 at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in their epochal flight. Ill of a serious heart ailment, Taylor, when told of the bequest, said he was "grateful to Orville."

The Flemish is the mass arrangement giving emphasis to angles and color, while the Modern American combines the prominent features of the two forms.

Mrs. R. L. Kincaid gave a report on the Quah Flower Show which she attended. She stated the arrangements and decorations were beautiful and formed a setting for the flower arrangements to be judged.

A round table discussion followed on suggestions for next year's work. Projects to be sponsored next year came up for discussion and resulted in a number of worthwhile things being endorsed.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ted Reeder, served a lovely refreshment plate to sixteen members and three guests, Mrs. David Johnson of Lubbock, Mrs. O. R. Boman and Mrs. Reeder.

Mrs. James Welch was welcomed as a new member.
