Brushing Teeth and Flossing Gums is Important

The fact that dental decay is likely to occur in the average person, despite the best care given, does not lessen the importance of brushing the teeth and flossing the gums daily. It is important to have the teeth inspected by a dentist at least once a year by the family dentist. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Dentist, says that the lack of proper care gives added impetus to the decay of the teeth and gum tissue.

Despite the proper application of such procedures, decay is still a problem. In many cases, the decay is so advanced that the tooth is so injured that it is necessary to have the tooth removed. Dr. Cox said.

Everyone is invited to attend these services, it was announced.

Former enlisted personnel of the armed forces who are eligible for terminal leave payment for unused furloughs, as provided by recent congressional legislation, may now obtain claim for settlement forms at the Crowell post office, it has been announced by Alva Spencer, postmaster.

Each veteran must present an original discharge certificate, or certificate of service, by photostatic or certified copy, or by a certificate in lieu of a lost discharge certificate, with his application blank, according to the instructions on the form.

The bill provides that discharged enlisted personnel will be paid for unused furlough time at the daily pay rate of the last grade held, plus 70 cents a day for subsistence and, in case of those in upper three pay grades with dependents, and additional $1.25 a day for quarters. Payment will be made by the number of days of leave due at the rate of two and one-half days for each month's service, less the number of days actually taken.

The act provides for payments to discharged personnel in cash or bonds for accumulated leave up to 120 days between Sept. 8, 1939, and Sept. 1, 1946. If the amount due the veteran is less than $50 or if he was discharged before Jan. 1, 1943, payment will be made by treasury check.

For amounts of $50 and more, payment will be made in bonds of multiples of $25, with a check for the balance. Maturity date of the bonds is five years from the date of separation from service. They are non-negotiable and non-transferable, but they may be used for payment of premiums, loans or conversion of government or national service life insurance.

AGRICULTURE in County

(Joe E. Burkett, County Agent)

HOUSEHOLD ANTS

Since a lot of you folks are being pestered with those small black household ants now, here's some advice from Paul Gregg, assistant entomologist with the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

To treat those ants effectively, says Mr. Gregg, you must go out and get to the root of the trouble, which, of course, is the ant bed itself. The best way to handle these small ant colonies—and don't confuse them with the large or cutter ant colonies—is to sprinkle five per cent DDT powder around the entrance to the bed. Be sure the brand of powder reaches all the way around the hole, is about two inches wide and not more than six inches from the bed entrance.

When entering the colony, the insects will walk through the powder. It will stick to their feet and they'll carry it into the bed, killing all the ants in the colony. You can stop them temporarily in the house by using some commercial bait that contains thallium sulphate, says Mr. Gregg. It may be bought prepared for both the sweet-eating and the grease-eating ants. Or, if you can't find the commercial bait, try sprinkling the five per cent DDT dust in the house, or use a DDT residual spray.

SWEET POTATO MATURITY TEST

If you are one of the many people who have plenty of sweet potatoes this year, remember that they won't keep well in storage unless they are mature. Wait until they are mature before digging them for storage, says J. F. Rosborough, Texas A. & M. College Extension horticulturist.

A good way to tell if the potatoes are ready for storage, says Mr. Rosborough, is to break one in half and notice how quickly the moisture disappears. If the broken surface dries slowly, it is an indication that the potato is not mature. If the moisture dries quickly, the potato is ready for harvest and storage. The appearance of milk-like drops of moisture on the broken surface will also tell you that the potato is not mature. And still another sign of immaturity is the green coloring the surface will acquire after being exposed to the air for a few minutes.

For some further information on the finer points of harvesting, curing, and storing sweet potatoes, write to the Texas A. & M. #### TEXAS SWEET POTATO DIGGER

A tractor-mounted sweet potato digger, which simplifies the harvest of potatoes, has been developed at the Sweet Potato Experiment Station at Gilmer, Texas.

The digger consists of an old grader blade, bent and mounted on the rear of a tractor. The blade plows beneath the potatoes and they ride out of the ground on a finger-like arrangement attached behind the blade. The fingers free the potatoes from the soil and leave them on top of the bed. R. B. Hickerson, assistant farm labor supervisor with the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, says that potatoes harvested with the digger are not cut and bruised as much as those dug with ordinary equipment.

The digger is also equipped with two disc vine cutters that run in front of the blade.

A number of these machines have been built by blacksmiths and shop men in several East Texas counties. They used blueprints made by the agricultural engineering staff of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Plans and blueprints of the sweet potato digger may be obtained by writing to Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

Crowell Radio Wins Two Games from Cates Parts Co.

Weakened terribly by the absence of several key men, Cates Parts Company lost both games of a double header to Crowell Radio Service on Monday night, August 19. Score of the first game was 15 to 4 with the score of the short game 19 to 4. Feature of the game was the hitting of Billy Cox, who blasted out two home runs, two doubles and two singles, the home run in the first game coming with the bases loaded.

R. J. Everson pitched the first game for Crowell Radio and allowed only four hits, all singles, while he and his mates pounded out eleven safe hits and scored fifteen runs.

Milton Connell took over the hurling duties in the second contest and held the Partsmen to seven scattered singles. Not an extra base hit was allowed by either Radioman hurler. In the sec-

Cates Parts Co. Loses Both Games in Double Header

In two of the best played games of the season Fergeson Drug Store defeated Cates Parts Company in both games of a double header on Wednesday, August 22, taking the first game 5 to 1 and winning the five inning aftermath 8 to 7. Doped to lose both games by a big score Cates Parts amazed everyone by playing heads-up ball all the way and forcing the Druggists to come from behind in the last inning of the short game to win. Gus Russell was the big difference in the first game as he struck out five men and allowed only one hit, a single into right field by Frankie Halencak. Russell also hit a home run to help his cause along. Cotton Owens and J. W. Whitley also hit four-base blows.

With a peculiar reversal of form, in the second game the Cates Partsmen hopped onto the offerings of Gus Russell for five hits which, coupled with two walks, scored seven runs and gave the Partsmen what looked to be a substantial lead. Coming into the last half of the fifth inning trailing by one run, Fergeson Drug scored two runs and the game was over, the Druggists winning 8 to 7.

Stovall-Thompson played errorless ball. Fergeson Drug Store committed three errors.

Percy Taylor, Wilson Myers and Pete Russell hit two-base blows and Howard Gamble blasted out a triple for the total extra-base hits for the entire fight.

Recruiting Drive for Student Nurses Under Way in Texas

Citing a decline of 75 per cent in student nurse enrollment from last year, the Texas League of Nursing Education, in co-operation with five other state organizations, Saturday launched an intensive recruiting drive designed to add 2,000 Texas girls to nursing school ranks in September. The danger to health in every community in Texas due to this alarming shortage cannot be over-emphasized, Miss Lucy Harris of Fort Worth, president of the nursing league, pointed out. "Twenty-three per cent of the nation's hospital beds already are shut down because of the scarcity of trained nurses," she announced. "Texas' condition is worse and will become increasingly so unless the nurse situation is remedied by a flood of fall class enrollments." Co-operating in the enrollment drive are the Texas Hospital Association, the State Medical Association, the Texas Graduate Nurses Association, the Texas State Board of Nurse Examiners, and the State Organization for Public Health Nursing. The drive leader, the Texas League of Nursing Education, is the department of education of the Texas Graduate Nurses' Association. Despite university tie-ins on credits, college classroom and dormitory conditions, and other improvements in nursing school education, student nurse enrollment declined to 1,137 in the last year of the war and so far this year has dropped to the alarming figure of 300. Because of the gravity of the situation, Miss Harris said most of the state's nursing schools would delay closing fall registration until Sept. 15 and some would extend their deadlines to Oct. 1. Enrollment information is available at any hospital in Texas, she added. The 37 accredited schools of nursing in Texas are: Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Abilene; Northwest Texas and St. Anthony's hospitals, Amarillo; Brackenridge and Seton hospitals, Austin; Hotel Dieu hospital, Beaumont; Baylor, Dallas Methodist, Parkland and St. Paul's hospitals, Dallas; Hotel Dieu hospital, El Paso; City-County, Harris Memorial Methodist and St. Joseph's hospitals, Fort Worth; John Sealy hospital and St. Mary's Infirmary, Galveston; Hermann, Jefferson Davis, Memorial and Methodist hospitals and St. Joseph's Infirmary, Houston; Lubbock General and West Texas hospitals, Lubbock; McKinney City hospital, McKinney; The Sanitarium of Paris, Paris; St. Mary's hospital, Port Arthur; Prairie View hospital, Prairie View; Shannon West Texas Memorial hospital, San Angelo; Medical and Surgical, Robert B. And the disciples were astonished at his words. But Jesus answered again, and saith unto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches to enter into the kingdom of God.

Dr. Harold Urey, Nobel Prize scientist, says he would categorically defend the following statements: (1) If atomic bombs are made in one country, they will be made in all industrial countries of the world. (2) If this happens we will spend our days in deadly fear that they'll be used, and, in time, they will be. (3) No bombs must be made by or be in the possession of any government. (4) Peacetime applications of atomic energy are of no importance unless the danger of atomic bombs is banished from the earth.

The Federation of American Scientists reminds us that science can determine how the atom is run and how the universe is run. But it is up to all of us to determine how the world should be run.

HISTORY

Birthdays of William H. McGuffey—September 23: William H. McGuffey, known for his series of Electric school readers, was born near Clayville, Penn., on September 23, 1800. Shortly after his graduation from Washington College in 1826, William McGuffey became professor of languages in Miami University at Oxford, O. He served on the faculty until 1836 when he was elected president of Cincinnati, O., College. In the meantime he had been licensed to preach by the Presbyterian Church but he never held a pastorate. In 1839 he became president of Ohio University at Athens and later served on the faculty of Woodward College at Cincinnati and the University of Virginia. While he was president of Miami University a firm of Cincinnati publishers asked him to edit a series of school readers. He began work on the series in 1857. The McGuffey series of readers at once met with an enthusiastic reception and became widely popular, over 122,000,000 copies were sold. Mr. McGuffey received but $1,000 for his work. Even the smallest of royalties would have made him independent. At the time he compiled the books he was receiving a salary of $600 a year as president of Miami University at Oxford, O.

Thought for the day: Archaeologists digging down through layer after layer in Mesopotamia, the "cradle of civilization," have passed traces of an agrarian culture 8000 years old, a caveman culture very much older yet, and have just reached a layer of fused green glass. That's what the New Mexican desert sand turned into when the first atomic bomb was set off down there.

The present time is industry's paradise. Every industry that is producing any item for common use can sell all it can make. The market does not have to be sought out, it is waiting and ready to take the output of every plant.

Give a conceited man enough rope and he will prove to the satisfaction of everyone that conceit is no substitute for brains.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

When we read in the reports from the National Safety Council that over 25,000 persons were killed and over 100,000 were injured in traffic accidents last year we are impressed and shocked, and the mental comment by each one is that something should be done about it. While in this state of mind we approve the words of caution by the Safety Council and its plea for safer, sane driving. The thought of 25,000 dead and mangled bodies, with their life blood streaming out upon the pavement and finding its way into the gutters along both sides of the road, provides a sickening shock. We either resolve to do something definite about it, or we resign ourselves to the thought that there is nothing we as individuals can do about it, dust off our hands, and turn to more pleasant thoughts. As we turn to the more pleasant thoughts we will strive to keep out of our ears the crash of colliding cars, the sound of shattering glass, and the shrieks and moans of bruised and lacerated victims.

The fact that little or nothing effective is being done to prevent the increase in traffic accidents is evidence, it seems, that the American public has become resigned to the fact that twenty-five or thirty or more thousand persons will be killed in traffic accidents each year and that nothing can be done about it.

There are, it seems to me, some things that can be done about it, that are not being done, some things that should be coupled with the pleas and the moral suasion of the Safety Council.

A more thorough examination should be made of applicants for drivers licenses. In my state, Kansas, the examination is a farce. It seems to me that the intent of it is not to discover and weed out the inefficient drivers, but merely to get the few cents from each car driver required for the license and to give some lame duck the trifling job of collecting the fee. I have not investigated the methods used in other states but my conclusion is that few of them are any more thorough than is my own state Kansas, and some of them are even more lax. I do not think the issuance of drivers licenses is a matter that should be treated lightly—a matter that can be handled in between customers by the soda clerk at the village drug store fountain.

Another thing that can and would prevent traffic accidents is a more severe penalty on drunk and drinking drivers. All states are pitifully lax in this respect. Some states require a driver to carry a given amount of accident insurance before a driver's permit is issued. There is some objection to compulsory insurance but if courts will assess monetary damages against offending drivers personally the matter of accident insurance will adjust itself.

Another thing which would help would be a course of lessons on safe and sane driving taught for a few minutes each day in the schools. We must bring up the new generations with the habit of safe driving instilled in their thinking until it becomes a habit and a second nature with them. This will be more effective than all the penalties and all the warnings that may come later.

I do not feel that there is much to be gained in deploring the annual traffic slaughter and at the same time failing to do all that the law might be made to permit to prevent it.

Home Town Thoughts

People who are hopeful and confident are apt to have good health, and when the people of a community are hopeful and confident about the future of that community, it is apt to be prosperous.

People who are not interested in the prosperity of their home town, cannot expect the home town to be greatly interested in them. There is one very useful form of advertising that costs nothing, and that consists of good words said about the home town to visitors, and when one travels elsewhere.

"Unkle Hank" Will Advise Citizens

The "Home Town Philosopher" is a noted "All American" character. Every village and town, and every neighborhood in the larger cities, has its familiar philosophizing citizen, to whom "us moderns" eagerly go for tales of the "good old days," and of whom we seek knowledge and advice regarding our present day activities.

Our "Home Town Philosopher" gains his knowledge of the world and its affairs through actual experience. Who, among us can deny the truth of the old maxim, "Experience is the best teacher." Beginning this week Crowell will have its own philanthropic philosopher. His name is "Unkle Hank," and as typical an "old-timer" as you've ever seen or could possibly vision. "Unkle Hank" will be introduced to the citizens of Foard County by Weiss Farm Equipment in the pages of this newspaper, in pictorial form he will emulate the noted philosophers of past and present. His advice and witty sayings will be words worthy of heeding; long to be remembered. Many will be the humorous observations . . . refreshing escape from this world's present trials, tribulations and confusion.

History's first known philosopher was Thales, or Miletus, 640-550 B. C. Among the names of other famous philosophers handed down to us throughout are Democritus, Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Epicures, Roger Bacon and Henry Bergson, all were as foreign and as far away from us as their names imply. The majority of these philosophers' names are as hard to pronounce as the philosophy is for most of us to understand. Hence for "down-to-earth," easily comprehensible logic, it is natural that we will turn to our beloved "Home Town Philosopher" . . . UNKLE HANK.

Read his first appearance in this newspaper this week. Keep up with his philosophical weekly sayings hereafter.

Power of Persuasion

People win success in life by their power of persuasion. By their ability to persuade the fellowmen that their ideas are good and they are competent, they get elected to office, they win success in organizations, and they get jobs and induce people to patronize their business places.

Their business enterprises are benefited if they use this power of persuasion in advertising. By the facts and information given in these notices, they persuade people to visit their stores and look at their goods. Advertising reduces the cost of goods by helping dealers to enlarge their trade. When they get a greater volume of business, the cost of selling goods per article is reduced, and dealers are enabled to offer goods at low prices.

There are 360,000 places in the United States licensed to sell liquor. Their sales total $7,000,000,000 a year. About this same amount is spent for all public and private schools, universities, deaf, dumb and blind schools, insane asylums, libraries, church, Red Cross, health services, old age assistance, unemployment compensation and the care of veterans of all wars. The liquor industry is spending $50,000,000 a year to advertise its product and to induce still greater consumption.

We recall in the early days of the war we were filled with apprehension that this country would not get the ships and guns and planes needed in sufficient quantity in time to save the world from the German invaders. Difficult as it was the job was finally done in time and in a big way. In view of this achievement we are hopeful that the industrial resources of the country will one day be able to supply enough nylon stockings for the women and enough shirts and overalls for the men.

Since the Supreme Court decision removed the restrictions against negroes voting in southern states, southern state leaders have discussed abolishing the primary system in the South and returning to the Convention system of nominating candidates.

Technicolor Hit Has Monster Set

Surpassing the lush, lavish days of "Intolerance," "Ben Hur" and other silent screen spectacles, is the ancient Greek palace setting seen in Walter Wanger's "Night in Paradise." Technicolor opus playing at the Rialto Theatre Sept. 4 and 5. Merle Oberon and Turhan Bey are co-stars.

Largest indoor structure ever built for a Technicolor picture, the set was peopled by more than 500 players and working crew, numerous animals and birds, and unusual "props."

Not to mention the dozens of beautiful Grecian handmaidens, clad in sheer, flowing garments.

The scene was a courtyard of King Croesus' palace in Lydia. On all sides were columned buildings, centering around two pools, with water dyed a turquoise blue. The entire set measured 159 by 210 feet, with a height of 46 feet.

One of the unusual props was a Kibitka, in which rode Miss Oberon and her three feminine attendants.

Another strange prop was the 25-foot statue of Aphrodite along side the pools.

Miss Oberon portrays a Persian Princess in "Night in Paradise." It is a role she says she wanted to do for many years. Turhan Bey appears as Aesop, fable teller of Samos.

Featured players include Thomas Gomez as Croesus; Gale Sondergaard, Ray Collins, George Dolenz, and others.

Two Minute Sermon (By Thomas Hastwell)

The Salt of the Earth: The other day I stopped to talk to an old man who is a familiar figure about our town. He has a team and wagon, a plow and harrow and mowing machine. Each spring he plows countless gardens, mows acres an acres of weeds, and helps the farmers of the community with their harvesting. He will do anything that he is asked to do. As I talked to him I noticed that he was slight of build and thin. I had seen him at work many times and more often had seen him and his team on the way to and from work. I marveled that a man so thin and frail and bent could do so much hard work. I asked him how old he was. I was astonished when he said he was eighty-two years old. "Why," I asked, "do you work so hard." "Because," he said, with a grim note of earnestness, "there is so much to be done, and so few are willing to work." I thought as I looked at him drive off, what a rebuke that old man is to the younger people of this community who seem to have no concern that there is so much to do, and are willing to do nothing and live off of some one else's labors. Surely this old man is the salt of the earth.

When the government seized the coal mines last May and signed a temporary agreement granting John Lewis his demands it announced that the mines would be returned to the owners if and when they signed an agreement to continue in force the agreement made by the government with John Lewis. To date none of the 300 mines affected has been returned to private ownership. None of the mine owners has offered to sign the agreement made by the government.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the first six months of this year strikes reached an all time high with 85,500,000 man days of strike idleness during the half year. The previous high record was in 1937 when 28,424,857 man days were lost during the entire year.

Thoughts Taken from PTA Magazine

"The Parent Teacher Association is the largest organization on earth devoted exclusively to the welfare of youth.

"If every parent would work with the Parent Teacher Association, we would have better schools, happier teachers and better educated children.

"Through PTA, we can help the teacher help our children. The teacher can do much more for a child if she has the co-operation of that child's parents.

"It takes a lot of co-operation between parents and teachers, between parents and child as well as between teacher and child to make that child's education a happy, interesting and exciting experience, instead of a tiresome one.

"If the school is not just what you would like, don't blame the teacher. Give your support and co-operation to the schools, to promote the welfare of children and youth in home, church, school and community."

JESUS AND RIGHT USE OF PROPERTY

Lesson Text—Exodus 20:15; Proverbs 30:7-9; Matthew 5:25-33.

Memory Selection—But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal; for where your treasure is, there will your heart be also, Matt. 6:20-21.

Labor Day tomorrow! And much in the thinking of all America will be the right division of the fruits of investment of time and money. Property rights are fundamental. God's word teaches us the proper attitude toward our own rights and the rights of others; namely, honesty, yes, just plain old-fashioned honesty.

In such a time, the believer in Christ needs to be doubly vigilant lest he accommodate his own standards of honesty to those of the world.

Honesty in Purpose (Exod. 20:15). We cannot tolerate anything in word or deed that can be regarded as stealing what belongs to another. The very commandment against stealing implies that men have a right to that which they have made, earned or saved.

If no one had any property rights there could be no stealing. Some of our modern political and social isms deny such rights, but their reasoning is clearly not biblical or Christian. "Thou shalt not steal," forbids every kind of theft, and this includes more than robbery or ordinary stealing (see Lev. 19:11-13).

It relates to every kind of false dealing with another, such as oppression or the withholding of just wages. That, too, is stealing in God's sight.

Perhaps we ought to be more specific and apply the truth to our own day. Stealing includes such things as loading on one's job, borrowing money from the cash drawer, taking goods from the stock with which one is working, stealing another man's sermon, and preaching it as one's own, lifting material out of another man's book without credit, contracting debts which one can never pay, using false weights and measures, adulterating food or other material, "watering" milk for sale, selling worthless stock, dodging taxes or lying to the tax assessor, or using a slug instead of a nickel in the telephone to escape proper payment.

One might add gambling (which is taking another man's property by skill or by chance), making an unduly large profit on the labor of another, making money out of the sorrows and failures of others, etc. To be honest means to be fair, and that has broad implications.

Humble in Practice (Prov. 30:7-9). It may sound a little odd to hear this man pray that he should be delivered from prosperity. To ask to be kept from poverty is certainly to make a wise request, but to be delivered from riches, why that's certainly not sensible. So reasons the world, but as usual, it is entirely wrong.

Experience has demonstrated that the man who has an abundance of good things usually becomes self-satisfied, assuming that he deserves the credit for his affluence, to forget God, and what had been a good and useful life is soon destroyed.

On the other hand, it is true that extreme poverty tends to break down a man's morale. Watching his family starve is not conducive to honesty if a man can lay his hands on something to save them, whether it be his or not. We do not justify stealing at any time, but we can well understand that starvation can turn the mind of a normal man into abnormal channels.

III. Heavenly in Principle (Matt. 6:25-28). The Bible is concerned almost entirely with life on this earth. It tells us very little about heaven, just now it does give us laws, just now it does give us laws from heaven for life on earth. Our life here, our attitude toward property, is to be heavenly in principle.

We are not to be anxious (the correct translation of "take no thought," (vv. 25, 27, 31) about our life, about food, raiment and other necessary things. Proper forethought is all right, but worry? Never!

How shall these things be provided? God will provide. Consider the birds. Do they have nervous breakdowns about where their food and shelter are to come from? They cannot even pray and they are not able to work, and yet God feeds them.

Consider the glory of the flowers of the field, for not even a king can dress as they. The Lord does it. "Are ye not much better than they?"

What about the future. It is in God's hands, and even if it were in our hands what could we do with it? Even tomorrow with its needs, its blessings, its joys and its sorrows is not here yet, and when it does come there will come with it God's gracious provision (v. 34).

H. J. R. No. 62 HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION Proposing an Amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by the addition of a new Section to be known as Section 49-b, creating a Veteran's Land Board and establishing a Veteran's Land Fund; providing for an election and the issuance of a proclamation therefor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section to be known as Section 49-b which shall read as follows:

"Section 49-b. There is hereby created a Board to be known as the Veteran's Land Board, which shall be composed of the Governor, the Attorney General, and the Commissioner of the General Land Office. The Legislature shall provide by law for not to exceed Twenty-five Million Dollars ($25,000,000) in bonds or obligations of the State of Texas for the purpose of creating a fund to be known as the Veteran's Land Fund. Such bonds shall be executed by the Board as an obligation of the State of Texas in such form, denominations, and upon such terms as shall be prescribed by law, provided, however, that said bonds shall bear a rate of interest not to exceed three per cent (3%) per annum.

"In the sale of any such bonds a preferential right of purchase shall be given to the administrators of the various teacher retirement funds, the Permanent University Funds, and the Permanent Free School Funds; such bonds to be issued only as needed, in the opinion of the Veteran's Land Board under legislative authorization.

"The Veteran's Land Fund shall be used by the Board for the sole purpose of purchasing lands suitable for the purpose hereinafter stated, situated in this State (a) owned by the United States, or any governmental agency thereof; (b) owned by the Texas Prison System, or any other governmental agency of the State of Texas; or (c) owned by any person, firm, or corporation.

"All lands thus purchased shall be acquired at the lowest price obtainable, be paid for in cash, and shall be a part of the Veteran's Land Fund.

His Farm Fields Are Factories

U. S. FARMERS have made our fields into factories. We live better than people in other countries because our farmers get more out of the soil. The steel industry takes pride in the way it has helped bring about this improvement in farm practice. Tools of steel—from the plowshare to the giant combine—have multiplied in number and increased vastly in quality. Fifty years ago the typical farm in America used about 3 tons of steel. Today the figure is nearer 17 1/2 tons. That is a measure of the modernization of agriculture and an indication of the interdependence of steel and farming. We no longer have separate "farm production problems" or "industrial production problems."

The Institute has printed a booklet STEEL SERVES THE FARMER. Write for a copy and it will be sent gladly.

Weekly Sermon

By the Rev. Harold L. Lundquist, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

The Priest in the Life of Israel
 Failure to observe God's law inevitably brings disaster. That is true in the family and in the nation.

The work of the priest in Israel is brought out in I Samuel 2:27-30, 35; 4:12-18. And it reminds us of the sacred relationship of father and son. These are important matters.

1. A holy calling. Eli was the high priest in Israel, an office ordained of God and by him established in the household of Aaron. Eli was to teach them the law of God and to seek for their divine guidance. He was subject to special laws and had great privileges of service. Such a man had to be both a good minister and a good father. Eli was the former, but he failed as a father.

In the New Testament, Christ becomes our High Priest (Heb. 7:26; 9:11), and those who minister for him are to bring men to him—the "One mediator between God and man" (1 Tim. 2:5; Heb. 9:15).

2. A high responsibility. Eli did remonstrate with his boys, but he waited until it was too late, or did it in such a way and at such a time as to be ineffective. His failure at this point is declared to be placing his sons above God in his thinking.

What a solemn warning to indulgent parents! God will not permit such sin and failure as Eli's sons, God had the tender vine of his own planting—the life of the boy samuel, growing up in the temple. He was already hearing God's voice and learning to obey the call.

3. A heavy judgment. The Israelites went out to battle against the Philistines, and swift and awful was the judgment of God. Not only was there defeat, but the ark was lost to the heathen Philistines, and the two sons of Eli were killed. When Eli heard this he too fell and died. Here was the tragic end of a life that had begun with promise, and all because of weakness, failure and sin.

There is a lesson here for us. Will we go through the motions of religious exercises, talk easily

Miss Leota Murphy Weds Ralph Henry Bradford Saturday

Miss Leota Murphy and Ralph Henry Bradford were united in marriage Saturday night, August 23rd, at 9:30 at the Baptist Church in Margaret with Rev. M. L. Lewis, pastor of the church, officiating with the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends of the couple.

White gladioli, arranged in spiked clusters against a background of pale tulle, decorated the altar before which the couple stood for the exchange of nuptial vows. The only illumination was provided by candles in branched candelabra.

Mrs. William Bradford was pianist for the wedding music and played "Because" as a pre-nuptial offering. She also accompanied Mrs. Abb Dunn who sang "I Love You Truly." The traditional wedding marches were played for the wedding party.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a light blue suit with brown accessories. She wore a halo and corsage of Talisman roses. For the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue, she wore a cameo locket which belonged to her mother, her blue suit, a pair of earrings which belonged to her sister. She wore a six-pence in her shoe for luck.

The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy Erwin as maid of honor and Mrs. Herman Blevins, her sister, as matron of honor. Miss Erwin wore a dress of pastel pink and a corsage of white carnations while Mrs. Blevins wore a navy blue dress and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Fern McAfee of Frederick, Okla., and Miss Jean Simmons of Amarillo, attired in harmonizing colors and carrying nosegays of white carnations, lighted the candles.

The groom was attended by his uncle, E. L. Foster, of Quanah, as best man. Herman Blevins of Fort Worth and Floyd Bradford of Vernon were ushers.

A reception at the bride's home followed the marriage, for the bridal party and relatives. The two-tiered cake was cut by the bride and groom and Misses Erwin, Simmons and McAfee served it with punch to the guests. The lace-covered table was centered with a pretty arrangement of summer flowers, and was flanked by the wedding cake and the punch bowl.

The couple left immediately after the reception on a short wedding trip and Mrs. Bradford wore a tan Jersey dress with brown trim and brown accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Lubbock at 1519 Main St.

Mrs. Bradford is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Murphy of Margaret. She is a graduate of Margaret and Crowell Schools and also of a business college in Wichita Falls. She has recently been employed in Civil Service work in Frederick, Okla., and Chidress.

Mr. Bradford is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bradford of Margaret. He attended school in Margaret and served 31 months in Ireland, England and France, receiving a discharge in 1945. He is now employed at the Supply Depot at the West Air Base in Lubbock.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Horace Stephens, Bakerfield, Calif., uncle of the bride; Mrs. W. A. McAfee and Miss Fern McAfee of Frederick, Okla.; Mrs. Drella Davenport and son of Frederick, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Blevins and son, Calvin, of Fort Worth; Sgt. and Mrs. Fred Priest of Fort Worth; Miss Jean Simmons of Amarillo; Bill Ewing of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hysinger of Chillicothe; Mr. and Mrs. I. When a tire blows out, do not apply brakes nor throw out the wheel until the car has lost its momentum. A front tire out may cause you to lose control of the steering wheel unless you are holding it firmly. In the event of a blowout of a rear tire, a sudden application of the brakes at high speed, may cause the car to turn over.
