Pop's on K.P.!

POOR POP! How willingly he took over when Mother got the gripe. But Mother will have a relapse when she sees what's happened to her favorite kitchen!

Pop hasn't yet caught on to Mother's modern way of keeping house. He hasn't yet learned that dependable electric service can take a lot of work out of housework—not only in the kitchen, but in every room of the house. For electricity is like many extra pairs of hands for the housewife—and the house-husband, too, when he takes over K. P.

But there's one thing Pop does know, because he's the lad who pays the bills. He knows that electricity is just about the smallest item in his family budget—even though he may not realize that the average family gets twice as much electricity for its money as it did 20 years ago.

It costs so little—and it does so much! Yes, electricity is a big household bargain that comes to Pop—and to you, too—through the practical experience of your friends and neighbors in this company, under sound business management.

This community has received a fine rain the last few days. Tests with expert drivers show that 37 feet is required to bring a car traveling at the rate of twenty miles an hour, to a stop. The test shows the distance the car travels from the time the order to stop is given until it comes to a full stop. The distance varies with drivers since some drivers require a longer time to apply the brakes after receiving the order to stop than others. This difference of muscular reaction is known as the personal equation.

GOOD TO ME

Someone should ask you whether your parents were good to you, chances are you would answer, "Well, yes, sure." But were numb-brained enough that your allowance is gone by Wednesday, and dishes out more when dad isn't looking. She soaks you with anything your heart desires.

There are fathers too who have a way of covering up for their children. Parents who make it too easy for you when you're young make it too hard for you when you're older.

Obviously we're talking about parents who take all the starch out of you by trying to make life one long feather bed for you to lie on.

You say your parents are so good to you? Well, we're asking you to be good to yourself.

DEDICATED TO ANYONE WHO TAKES PLANE GEOMETRY

The day dawned cold and gray. I slowly reach down for the bed frame to drag myself out of bed as I recite my axioms and postulates in preparation for the third period.

My mumbled words go something like this, "The shortest distance between two points is a straight line, equals added to equals—Mum! Where is that pair of blue pants you got out of the tailor shop yesterday—sides opposite equal angles are—Mother! I can't find but one of my socks—quantities equal to the same or equal—Will you get me another pair of socks? I can't find that darn—Ouch! My—My voice is anguished as I bang my head against the bed frame.

At the bus stop in Thalia I go on with my monotonous drone—equals subtracted from equals—the bus driver looks at me sadly. Another lost soul, he thinks. I get to school. I struggle through speech class, the glassy stare still in my eyes. The bell rings. I shuffle down the stairs to English—any point on a circle is equidistant from the—What did Mrs. Sloan say? Oh, but Mrs. Sloan, ah, well.

I go on continuing my mumbbling, counting the minutes 'til geometry class out in the hall—the bell rings.

I sink into geometry, my nerves beginning to get shot. I stumble blindly to my seat. I sit there—I wait. The nail biting stage sets in. Mr. Graves comes in. He starts explaining a proposition. I squirm down in my seat, hoping he won't see me—ha! Vain and silly boy. Oh, well, what if I don't know why triangle ACE is congruent to triangle AJF?

While counting the red spots before my blazing eyes I hear through the dense for that the test isn't going to be 'til tomorrow.

I wilt and run down the chair leg like melted butter. They pick me up off the floor, trying to stop the stupefying cackle emerging from my mouth.

The dawned cold and gray. I slowly reach down for the—Oh, well, it's a vicious circle.

YEARNING FOR "LEARNING"

Such is the case of Clifford Ohr, Sophomore at Crowell High School.

Clifford lives exactly thirty-two miles from the school; so figuring sixty-four miles the distance to and from school, he travels 11,520 miles each year he attends.

Therefore, to get a high school diploma, he goes 46,080 miles. That's what we call a "yearning" for "learning."

And then the "rest of us gripe" at just having to get up and walk a few blocks or ride a few miles. —Huh—we should kick.

And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and He will dwell with them, and they shall be His people, and God himself shall be with them, and He shall be their God.—Revelation 21:3.

Think on this: There is no record of a tragic crossing accident occurring in the case of a driver, who, upon approaching a railroad crossing, stopped, looked and listened. Every crossing accident that cost the lives of car drivers and car passengers last year occurred because the driver upon approaching the railroad crossing did not stop, look and listen.

We note that the War Assets Administration had several hundred million dollars worth of tools and machines produced for war plants at great cost. These, the article stated, though in splendid mechanical condition and still capable of much service are going to be destroyed. They are going to be destroyed rather than sold because it is feared if they are sold it will upset the market, make it impossible for manufacturers to sell similar machines and result in unemployment. I think the reasoning of whoever arrived at such a silly conclusion is, to use a common expression, "screwey." How is a market going to be destroyed that is so far behind that it takes two years to receive the simplest piece of equipment after it has been ordered? Everyone who has tried to buy anything the past two years knows this is true. Another thing, if we are going to permit Germany to get into the manufacturing business again as has been stated and are going to spend good money to do it why wouldn't it be better to send them these machines instead of cash. If the machines are still usable they should be used rather than destroyed and the hours of high priced labor put into their making lost.

There are three things that this nation should conserve: its natural resources, its free government and its top soil. Dissipate or waste or lose one of these and we haven't much left.

Records of the National Safety Council reveal that more persons have lost their lives in accidents in peace time in this country than by all the wars in which this country has participated.

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

In my opinion, the peace of the world for many years to come is going to be determined definitely and surely by our foreign policy during the next few years.

If we adopt a do-nothing foreign policy we are going to see the control of the world go to Russia and her satellite nations. We are either going to be the first, the dominating nation of the world or we are going to play second fiddle.

I am not an alarmist nor am I building a straw man to later tear to pieces, but I see in the policy of Russia the same thing that the world saw in Hitler's march to world domination—and with much less reason.

Hitler needed more room for his growing nation. It was too cramped and crowded to permit expansion industrially and otherwise on the scale that German leaders had visioned. With Russia there is no such problem. She has all the territory she will ever need or can use—and more.

Russia's aim and goal is world domination the same as was Hitler's.

Within the past ten years there have been 15 occasions on which Russia has expanded and secured more territory, most of it of the type that in war is called vital and strategic areas. These acquisitions comprise 260,160 square miles of territory in which there live 22,374,000 persons, four complete independent countries, extensive areas from six neighboring states and strategic sites (on long term lease) from two.

In these areas elections already are Russian controlled.

Washington has objected to this program of expansion but all protests have been ignored. In the meantime Russia is blocking and hindering as much as possible every session of the United Nations. She desires to hold up negotiations while she grabs up territory. It is obvious that at the present time Russia is power drunk. She sees no need for the United Nations. With England out, Germany prostrate, France and Italy all but helpless—and the United States timidly protesting she sees nothing to fear. She is riding on a high wave of ruthlessness. Like Hitler she will grab while the grabbing is good and then defy the nations whose vassalage has left them with empty plates.

This nation should assert itself. We have earned this costly wars the right to rule this blundering world. Are we going for a second right to go by default?

We may some day have world peace in this world, but it won't come about through such aimless drifting. It will come when it comes through a definite clear-cut purposeful plan.

Instead of seeking to wheedle Russia into discussing plans with us our attitude should be that of telling her what she should do and what she must do and what she must not do.

At the present time we are committing the identical error that permitted Hitler to rise to power. Instead of meeting with Russia in a peace conference we are going to find ourselves, umbrella in hand, at another Munich.

World peace is safer in my opinion, with the U. S. in the saddle than it is under any other driver.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett, 13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., April 12.—Among office visitors this week were two with whom I conferred at some length; both had amazing stories to tell.

Major James McMinn, of Carlsbad, N. M., gave me copies of his sworn statements submitted for use in the trial of Japanese war criminals. Major McMinn was a member of the New Mexico National Guard that went into the Philippines before the war and was captured at Bataan. His verified stories of brutality and atrocities are almost beyond comprehension. How any of these boys survived is a miracle. Two different prison ships on which Major McMinn had been crammed were bombed and sunk by our own forces. The Major and others are here in behalf of a bill to require the Japanese to pay these survivors for work and injuries during imprisonment.

The second visitor was a famous German editor now residing in New York and publishing a German language newspaper, whose name is Gerhart Seger. Mr. Seger told me of a debate he had with Adolph Hitler in 1922. He was the third member of the German Reichstag to be thrown into a concentration camp by Hitler in 1934. His property was all confiscated at that time. He escaped in 1935, came to America and has become a naturalized citizen. He returned and aided Justice Robert Jackson in the Nuremberg trials. He is bitterly anti-fascist and strongly favors an immigration bill of which I am the author to exclude from immigration to this country all members of the Nazi party and its allied organizations.

Thomas Jefferson was born April 13, 1743. Next Monday, April 14, a gigantic bronze statue of Thomas Jefferson will be moved into the beautiful Jefferson Memorial that rises majestically on the banks of the Tidal Basin in the City of Washington. Few of the founding fathers are as generally and justly revered, memorialized, and celebrated as Thomas Jefferson. His is one of the massive figures appearing on the Mount Rushmore National Memorial in the Black Hills of South Dakota. This sculpture was done by Gutzon Borglum and his son, Lincoln Borglum. The heads are sixty feet from chin to top, and it is said it will take a million years of natural erosion to destroy this monumental work.

The most amazing coincidence in American history was the death of Thomas Jefferson and of John Adams on the fiftieth anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1826. The lives of these two men were curiously entwined. While Jefferson wrote the Declaration of Independence, both men were signers of it. In the first Presidential election contest in 1796 John Adams won over Thomas Jefferson by an electoral vote of 71 to 68. Three electors who were supposed to vote for Jefferson voted instead for Adams, or Jefferson would have been elected. However, the two remained friends, and when John Adams died on July 4, 1826, his last words were, "Jefferson still lives." As a matter of fact Jefferson had died some hours earlier. On July 3 preceding his death, Mr. Jefferson had rallied and asked what day it was. Upon being told it was the third he expressed keen desire to live until the Fourth, and was doubtless happy that he could expire on the great anniversary with which he had so much to do.

Volumes could and have been written concerning the handwriting of the great Jefferson in the early days of this nation. It was his signature on the American Eagle which was used as the emblem of the slogan, "E pluribus unum" which is inscribed on the top of the Capitol dome.

Jefferson started his country by discarding the white horses and coach and walking to his inauguration. He started the country again by receiving the British Ambassador in dressing gown and house slippers. He hated false aristocracy of all kinds and loved and trusted the common people. Even in death he demonstrated his modesty and democracy. He wrote his own epitaph which is inscribed upon his tombstone. He did not mention that he had been Governor of Virginia, or the first Secretary of State, or President of the United States, or that he had been responsible for the Louisiana Purchase out of which seventeen states were carved. He simply wrote the following: "Here was buried Thomas Jefferson: Author of the American Declaration of Independence—of the Statute of Virginia for Religious Freedom—and Father of the University of Virginia."

Our late President Roosevelt's last speech was one eulogizing Thomas Jefferson. It was prepared for delivery by radio to 250 Jefferson Day dinners in 1945 and was published on April 14 following his death.

Announces Details of $20,000,000 Price Reductions

PRODUCT	NO. OF MODELS	$ REDUCTION	% REDUCTION
FARM TRACTORS	12	$10 TO $134	UP TO 10.6%
MOTOR TRUCKS	12	$50 TO $300	1.9% TO 3.6%
2-ROW MOUNTED CORN PICKER	1	$52	6.4%
MILKER UNITS	2	$12 TO $17	14.4% TO 18.4%
PLOWS	52	$9 TO $20	3.0% TO 10.7%
CULTIVATORS	13	$5 TO $10	4.5% TO 7.4%

This is a partial list of price reductions. Others listed at right.

Details of the International Harvester policy of making price reductions to save customers approximately $20,000,000 a year have now been worked out.

Prices have been reduced on 163 models. These cover 12 basic models of farm tractors, 123 basic models of farm machines, 16 basic models of industrial tractors and engines, and 12 models of motor trucks, as well as certain motor truck attachments. The new lower prices are effective as of March 10, 1947.

These reductions were made not because of any decline in demand, but because the company believes nothing is more important than to lower the prices of the goods people buy.

While prices have not been changed on all products, reductions have been made wherever possible, in the amounts possible. Prices of many of the most popular products have been substantially lowered.

Altogether, more than half of the company's customers will be benefited by the reductions, which range from 1% to 23.8% and from $2.50 to $300 per item, based on the company's list prices.

The ability to maintain these lower prices will depend on the supply and price of materials the company buys from others and on uninterrupted production at reasonable wage levels.

The prices listed here carry out the announced policy that "Any price is too high if it can be reduced." As dealers in this territory, we will do our part!

Public Health Nurse Week from April 20 to 26 Proclaimed

Austin.—The State of Texas is planning to celebrate national "Public Health Nursing Week" April 20 to 26, as proclaimed by President Harry S. Truman.

The purpose of the week, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, will be (1) to recruit more public health nurses (2) to increase understanding of the fact that much needless sickness and suffering can be prevented or reduced by using public health nursing services (3) to encourage greater understanding of public health nursing as a service for everybody regardless of size of income (4) to encourage development of public health nursing services wherever needed (5) to increase citizen participation in public health nursing services.

From the beginning of this work more than thirty years ago, public health nurses have been concerned with the total health situation of the family including sickness, disease prevention, and health protection.

In setting aside April 20 to 26 as "Public Health Nursing Week" for America, health administrators and all other friends of nursing should exert their efforts toward the extension of public nursing services, so that there will be enough qualified nurses to meet the needs of all the people, and thus help in maintaining a maximum health level throughout the nation.

John Razor of Vernon, and Rotarians Johnnie Jones, Earl Worley, Roy Harper, D. L. Hickey and Rev. George Wilson of Quanah, and Horace L. James of Elk City, Okla., were visitors at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club.

In a short business session, reports were heard from chairman of the F. F. A. and 4-H Club show to be held in Crowell on Saturday, April 19.

Other visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Merl Kincaid and her three children, Marcia, Bob and Frances, and M. S. Henry. Henry Ferguson was in charge of the program which consisted of piano numbers by Marcia, Bob and Frances Kincaid. Mr. Henry, first president of the club when it was organized on April 26, 1928, gave a short history of the club and what it has meant to the community.

It happened in the Kansas State University in Lawrence, Kan. When a group of G. I. students filed into the Analytical geometry class room the first of the term, they discovered one co-ed, Miss Lois Linck, seated in the back row. There was the usual number of whistles and wolf calls from the part of individual G. I. that the young lady drop the course. One said, "Say, honey bunch, competition is going to be plenty rough in here, you had better drop the course." Another advised, "Come on, Bright Eyes, let's get out of all of this." For several days this continued without effect and then one morning the instructor made an announcement, "Gentlemen," he said, "because of my heavy schedule the department has made arrangements for a student instructor to lead you in the course. The student has completed the course and has been attending the class for several days while I've been attempting to get you started on the right track. Today this student will take over and I am sure you men will give your new instructor, Miss Linck, your hearty co-operation."

Improved Uniform SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

THE KINGDOM STRENGTHENED AND ENLARGED
 I. PERSON TEXT.—I Samuel 5:6-10 17-25.
 II. SCRIPTURE.—David was made king greater for the Lord, the Lord of hosts, was with him.—II Samuel 5:10.

David was the great king of Israel. His life and reign are of unusual interest and the Bible gives much information about him. In the rapid survey of Israel's history which we are making in our lesson series, we have just this one lesson on David's reign and that is concerned more with the nation than with the king.

This unique man was by God's choice placed over Israel. At first he received only the allegiance of the southern division of the kingdom, the Judah (see II Sam. 2:4). But by showing himself friendly (Prov. 18:24) he won the hearts of the people of the north, Israel, and they too recognized him as king (II Sam. 5:1-5).

Thus united, the kingdom was ready to move forward, by the blessing of God—and that is the story before us in our lesson.

I. The Lord Was with Them (vv. 6-10).
 A united people! How important that is in the affairs of the nations. Nothing is more disturbing or a greater hindrance than internal friction. We ought to deal quickly and decisively with any group or force in the life of our nation which is clearly divisive or disloyal.

Think, then, how important it is that God's people in the Christian church stand together in undivided loyalty to Christ, our King, and in loving devotion to one another.

Jerusalem, which was to be the "city of David," and which figures so prominently not only in history but in prophecy, had to be wrested from the hands of the heathen Jebusites, and be established as the sacred city and the capital of the Jewish nation.

Note that the kind and considerate king was not a weakling. He knew how to fight and to win. Verse 8 is difficult to interpret, but evidently does not mean that David was cruel. The Jebusites taunted him by saying that their blind and cripples could hold the wall against David's men. Then they doubtless put their best soldiers on the wall, and David said to his men, "Let us take these cripples."

We see in verses 9 and 10 that David was not only a fighter, but also a builder. He began then the development of Jerusalem, the great city of which we are yet to hear wondrous things.

II. The Lord Delivered Them (vv. 17-21).
 The Philistines, Israel's constant enemy, had control of each of the land west of the Jordan. As soon as they heard that the people were now united under a young aggressive king, they laid plans to destroy his power almost before he could start.

The Philistines were clever, but they reckoned without God. David was smart; he counted God into his plans. He asked the Lord what to do and the answer was, "Go up. I will certainly deliver the Philistines into thy hand," and he did.

We may well learn the lesson that prayer, consultation with God, must come before any successful campaign for him. Inquire of him to be assured of victory.

Note also here that there are battles in which the Lord expects us to go up boldly right into the face of a mighty enemy, and take the victory by faith!

Sometimes we are afraid to meet the enemies of the cross with boldness, choosing rather to compromise for the sake of peace. It never works. That is the way of defeat.

III. The Lord Went Before Them (vv. 22-25).
 Defeated once so decisively that they had to run away from their sacred images (v. 21), the enemy rallied for another attack.

It is ever thus—and foolish is the Christian who thinks that one victory wins a war. After spiritual victory Satan redoubles his efforts and strikes while the believer is resting on his laurels—if he is foolish enough to do it.

Here again we say, be on guard! Observe that the Lord worked differently this time. David inquired again, but this time the word was, "Thou shalt not go up." Israel was to come up from the rear of the Philistines, and not to attack until the wind in the treacherous told that God had gone before to smite the enemy.

There is a time for straight out frontal attack on the enemy. There is also a time when God wants us to stand back and watch him work out his deliverance. Sometimes that is harder to do than to attack, but we must obey his word.

How shall we know which to do? By asking God. Prayer must always precede action—and then action will be right!

Weekly Sermon
 (Rev. Philip R. Newell, Sales Manager, Moody Press, Chicago.)

"It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth." Thus did the Spirit of God move Jeremiah to write in his almost forgotten lament over the fall and captivity of Jerusalem. In similar vein, some 400 years before, the wisest of men (1 Kings, 3:12) summed up the scope of human experience with worlds which grate harshly on the suave twentieth century ear: "Sorrow is better than laughter; for by the sadness of the countenance the heart is made better. The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning; but the heart of fools is in the house of mirth" (Eccles 7:3, 4).

In the midst of a flippant and perpetually wise-cracking generation, the true child of God does well recall that the servant is indeed not above his master, particularly when his Master in the days of His flesh was "a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief," and whose plain prediction to His disciples stipulated that "in the world ye shall have tribulation."

The disciples of our Lord were not at first interested in the sufferings and rejection which He kept insisting was the price of following Him. Their minds instead were largely occupied with the splendor of the expected kingdom, and their individual opportunities for profitable places in it.

Thus today, also, many are enthusiastic over the prospect of participation in the benefits of life eternal, but are either ignorant or unwilling to accept the fact that true discipleship demands rejoicing as a result of participation in Christ's sufferings. . . . this, indeed, being the portion in this life to which those truly in Christ are "called" (1 Pet. 2:21), and "appointed" (1 Thess. 3:3, 4).

HOUSEHOLD HINTS
 Value of Oatmeal and Macaroni—One cup of cooked macaroni or oatmeal but not enriched in any fashion gives 100 calories. Grate a piece of cheese two inches by one inch by three-eighths of an inch and you add another hundred calories.

Cleaning Clothes Pins.—Scrub clothes pins occasionally in soap suds and rinse in clear water to prevent stains on washed clothes hung on the line.

Drainage for Seed Boxes.—To provide drainage in a seed box when planting seed indoors, place a piece of coarse screening over the bottom of the box before sifting in the soil.

When he got out, I put my hand in my coat pocket and said gruffly, "I got a gun here—the watch—hand it over."

He didn't argue with me, but he had a puzzled look on his face. Probably trying to figure out how I knew he got it.

My girl came around the corner of the church. She got in—"Oh, I nearly forgot," she said, "here's your watch you left at my house last night."

 A car with piston rings; two rear tires and no front springs; has no fenders, seats or tank; burns lots of gas and is hard to crank. The carburetor busted, smells like an old shoe, engine's missing; his on two, eleven years old. Be twelve this fall, complete running gear, shock absorbers and all. Radiator's busted—sure does leak—transmission's dry, you can hear it squeak. Ten spikes missing, grill's all bent, tires are gone, ain't worth a cent as the tires are gone, has to be run on the rim, to go much longer chances are slim. The name's scratched off; we don't know what it's called; but it would be a good car, if it were overhauled.—L. Wood and Bobby Cooper.

A SHORT STORY
 The day was pleasant as the earth began to make the evening sun sink behind the horizon.

"There! Up ahead! Oh, I see—it's just a hitch-hiker. Well, I've plenty of room, I'll let him ride."

"Hi, Mac. How's that? No, just to Thalia—huh? Yeah, sure, it'll help you a little. Your door isn't shut."

We rode along. Nightfall was closing in. I began to think of the things I had heard about hitchhikers. I was glad the ride was only ten miles.

My girl was to meet me at church at 7:30. I wondered what time it was. I felt. No watch! Then I knew what had happened. I stuck the ride out innocently.

When he got out, I put my hand in my coat pocket and said gruffly, "I got a gun here—the watch—hand it over."

He didn't argue with me, but he had a puzzled look on his face. Probably trying to figure out how I knew he got it.

My girl came around the corner of the church. She got in—"Oh, I nearly forgot," she said, "here's your watch you left at my house last night."

Former Resident of Foard Weds at Home in Clayton, N. M.

The marriage of Miss Wilma Flesher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Flesher of Clayton, N. M., formerly of Thalia, to Manly Cannady, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cannady of Kerr, N. C., took place at 8 o'clock in the evening of April 12, at the ranch home of the bride's parents.

Rev. Wayne Douglas read the vows of the matched double ring ceremony before an improvised altar of Easter lilies flanked by white tapers.

Mrs. E. A. Cannady, sister of the bride, played the bridal march from Lehengrin and soft strains of "Always" and "As Long As I Live" during the ceremony.

The bride wore a leaf brown suit with brown accessories and a corsage of sweetheart roses. She was attended by Mrs. Odell Birdwell of Clayton, as matron of honor, who wore a gold colored suit with brown accessories and a corsage of purple carnations. Elbert Cannady attended his brother as best man.

At the reception which followed the marriage, a three-tiered cake was served by Mrs. E. A. Cannady, while Mrs. Odell Birdwell poured punch at the pretty candle-lighted table, covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of jonquils surrounded by lace fern.

Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moody of Oklahoma, former residents of Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Cannady will make their home at Amistad, N. M.

W. S. C. S. Meets in Social Session

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met Monday at 3 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Leo Owens with Mesdames Owens and R. J. Thomas as co-hostesses.

Mrs. J. R. Beverly was leader for the program which was opened by singing "Jesus Shall Reign."

The subject of the lesson was "The One Hundredth Anniversary of Methodism in China" and Mrs. Beverly gave an interesting report of the great work of the Methodist Church during the years.

Mrs. H. E. Thomson, who was a recent delegate to the conference of the W. S. C. S. which met at Big Spring, gave an instructive report of the conference.

During the month of March a mission study was conducted with Mrs. M. S. Henry as leader. "The Portrait of a Pilgrim" was the book studied, the theme of which was a search for the Christian way in race relations. The study was ably handled by the leader.

At the conclusion of the program the hostesses served delicious refreshments to those present.

Laugh-Packed Thriller Coming to Rialto, 23-24

When the three precocious and imaginative children of a writer of best-selling murder mystery thrillers begin to take their author-mamma's novels to heart and try to mould her life accordingly, anything can happen.

"Home Sweet Homicide," which opens at the Rialto April 23, is said to be based on author Craig Rice's own home life; her three children literally lap up her detective yarns as fast as they come out of the typewriter, and it was the children who were her inspiration for this book.

For Peggy Ann Garner, "Home Sweet Homicide" provides another opportunity to display her outstanding talent for high comedy first revealed in "Junior Miss."

Randolph Scott portrays the romantic detective, "Bill Smith. Lyn Bari welcomed the role of "Marian Carstairs." Curly-headed Dean Stockwell and Little Connie Marshall play the children's roles.

PLANT BED TIPS

If you started your tomato plants, lettuce, cabbage, pepper plants, and other slow growing vegetables in a plant bed six or eight weeks back—the chances are you'll soon be wanting to go to the garden with them.

Your lettuce and cabbage plants can be moved direct from the plant box to the garden when they are up around two or three inches high. But with tomatoes, pepper and eggplants, it's a little different story. When these vegetables reach a height of around three inches, they need to be thinned to a spacing of two to three inches apart. This calls for transplanting some of the plants into another bed or box. A few more weeks of growth, spread out in the larger box, will give you sturdier plants when you do set them out in the garden.

Some folks like to take vegetables from the plant box and transplant them into small paper cups or tin cans, and this method does have the advantage of giving you a good mold of soil around the plant when you start to put it out.

Generally, vegetables that come out of the plant box and are transplanted into a second container need about three or four more weeks of growth. When they become vigorous and stocky, they are ready for the garden. And these added weeks of protected growth will make your plants grow off more quickly and set fruit earlier than when small plants or seed are used.

DON'T DO IT

Wonder if you're planning to use 2, 4-D in your garden this year?

Well, if you are, listen to this warning from plant scientists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They say in effect, "don't do it." While 2, 4-D has made itself a quick reputation for killing some broad leaf weeds, it is not the answer to your prayers on how to get weeds out of the garden.

Tomatoes, beans, peas and other popular garden vegetables are very sensitive to 2, 4-D, and if a little of the spray drifts onto your vegetable plants, you may have a lot of replanting to do.

Another warning: If you use 2, 4-D in your spraying equipment to kill the weeds in the lawn, don't use the same equipment for other sprays on your garden crops, unless you first thoroughly clean the sprayer with warm ammonia water. The USDA scientists say use about 2 teaspoons of household ammonia to a gallon of warm water to make a good cleaning mixture.

While 2, 4-D shows much promise as a weed killer in many cases, stick to your hoe to get the weeds out of the garden.

The Great Salt Lake has dwindled in size until today it covers about one-tenth of its original area.

Veterans News

The Veterans Administration has reviewed more than a third of its disability compensation cases in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi in the Congressionally-authorized program to establish more accurate ratings for disabled veterans, VA reported this week.

Of the 207,000 compensation and pension cases in VA's Dallas Branch Area subject to review under the new disability rating schedule approved by the last Congress, VA has reviewed 75,353 cases, slightly more than 36 per cent.

VA said virtually all veterans drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities will have their cases reviewed under the new schedule. Reviews are automatic, therefore, VA requested disabled veterans not to make inquiries about their cases while they are pending.

Although the new schedule provides increased ratings for certain types of disabilities and decreases for other types, it does not make any blanket change in ratings. However, the increases far outnumber the decreases.

World War II amputees eligible for free automobiles, who intend to apply for them, should file their claims immediately because funds for purchase of the cars will not be available after June 30, VA said.

The appropriation authorized by the 79th Congress for the purchase of automobiles for disabled veterans cannot be used until the veteran declared legally eligible and a sales agreement made with a car dealer. Since this processing requires considerable time, vet-
