Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

When They Die, What? I remember as a small boy a good many years ago, that there lived in our neighborhood a boy who was never very popular with the neighborhood gang. He was a fussy, quarrelsome, selfish sort of a boy, a spoiled brat, as they say. He was a disturber, always upsetting the plans of the group and always making himself a general nuisance. Boys as a rule can get along together. If one of them acts up and gets out of line the rest soon put him back in his place. He soon realizes that he must co-operate and give and take in the democracy of boyhood if he is going to get along with the group and belong. The boy mentioned above was an exception. He apparently did not seem to desire

Mental Disorders Represent a Real Problem Today

Austin. — Mental disorders today represent a real problem and it is estimated that more than fifty per cent of all hospital beds are filled by persons suffering from mental or nervous diseases, declares Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

It thus appears that modern civilization is exacting a terrific toll. High speed living, with its cruel exactions upon nature, is responsible for a large part of the trouble. But improper personal conduct must also shoulder much of the blame. The fact is that nearly fifty per cent of the patients entering hospitals for mental disorders are there because of to learn this important lesson. He wanted things his way—or else. As a result he was never popular and never really beloved. There are adults like that. Being adults they should know better than to persist in their unsocial habits, but they don't. I have often wondered how these persons expect, when they die and pass on, as they say, to get along in the spirit world where all must be harmony. Are they still going to be quarrelsome and cross-grained, and if they are, how are they ever going to be happy in heaven where the first and last law is harmony?

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

organic or toxic causes. For example, general paralysis is the direct cause of one-fifth of the mental troubles in males entering hospitals and one-tenth of the disorder for all groups. This condition is an organic disease of the brain due to the germ responsible for syphilis. It is a preventable disease. Early and effective treatment of acquired syphilis will block the end results of general paralysis in the insane.

The excessive use of alcohol is responsible for a number of mental disorders, at least in males. Alcohol and syphilis combined are responsible for approximately one-fifth of the hospitalized insanities. Nevertheless, improper living habits continue to impair many brains. Insufficient sleep, neglect of bodily care and an over forcing of nervous energy are the pitfalls to avoid in this connection.

Nature demands that her fundamental laws be at least reasonably observed. A constant outraging of the physiological economy takes its toll not only in bodies but in minds also. Insanities and lesser nervous disorders could be spectacularly reduced if this fact was more generally respected. Training for mental health must be started in childhood as that is the time when corrections are made to the best advantage.

It is being freely predicted unless Congress has a change of heart the draft will die in 31. If this happens it will be necessary to fill vacancies in armed forces by enlistment. This may result in pay increases and added advantages to those entering the service as a life's profession.

AGRICULTURE in County

(Joe E. Burkett, County Agent)

MANAGEMENT VERSUS "DOCTORING"

With all the new developments in the field of medicine, like penicillin and sulfanilamid, "doctoring" will never take the place of sound feeding and breeding practices in producing poultry and livestock. That's the opinion of Dr. E. A. Grist, veterinarian of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Let's take a look at the things we consider in a good dairy program for instance. These would include: feeding to get highest production from the individual cow, the ability of that cow to produce, and finally the natural resistance to disease that the cow might have. These things can never be accomplished through medicine, Dr. Grist says. Natural ability to produce, and a great deal of natural resistance to disease, are developed through good breeding programs. Some of us fail to realize that good management practices will also serve to prevent and control diseases.

With the exception of some of the highly contagious and infectious diseases such as blackleg, anthrax and the like, most disease conditions can be kept out of our herds and flocks by sound management practices, Dr. Grist says.

1946 A "WONDER YEAR"

Did you know that 1946 is being called the greatest crop year in the history of the country. In a report to the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, USDA's Crop Reporting Board states that, generally speaking, the country over, the weather and other conditions were about as good as we have ever had.

Of course some of us got too much rain, and others got too little, but still, farmers came near harvesting full acreage that they planted that they have in any of the past 17 years.

Production of food grains and feed grains were the largest on record. More fruit and truck crops were produced than ever before, and records were set in the production of potatoes and hay seed. While here in Texas we may not have set many records, the Western States harvested the biggest acreage ever, and the North Central states almost topped previous totals.

All in all, the Crop Reporting Board says, the total output from planted acreage in the country was the greatest in all our history.

HYBRID CORN OUYIELDS NATIVE VARIETIES

Corn hybrids are destined to take the place of the native open pollinated varieties of corn in Texas, says E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Miller believes that the open pollinated varieties are on the way out because Texas farmers can get much greater yields from hybrid varieties.

Although corn hybrids adapted to Texas have been available for only a few years, about 800,000 acres—one-fifth of the state's corn acreage—was planted to hybrids in 1946, Miller says. He believes that as soon as more seed is available and farmers realize the value of corn hybrids, acreage will be expanded on a much larger scale.

In field tests conducted during 1946 at 17 different Texas A. & M. College Agricultural Experiment stations corn hybrids showed an average yield increase of 33 per cent over open pollinated varieties. These tests were made in nearly all sections of the state. Such increases from hybrids can be had by farmers at an extra seed cost of only 75¢ to $1, Miller says, and will mean more dollars in the corn growers' pockets.

The Experiment Station tests showed that hybrids have certain regions in which they are well adapted, Miller says. The Texas yellow hybrid No. 12 is well adapted in the more humid sections of East Texas, especially on fertile soil, including river bottoms. Eight and 18 have made good records in the central and western corn-growing areas, and the new yellow hybrid No. 29 has a wide adaptation and is suitable for the drier as well as the more humid sections. The white hybrid No. 9W, also widely adapted, is the only hybrid that can be recommended for the Gulf Coastal Prairie, Miller says.

FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

Probably most of you have heard the report that foot-and-mouth disease has broken out in Mexico again, and that the danger exists of the disease being spread into Texas.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has issued a warning that we should be on the lookout for any signs of the disease, and report it to the proper authorities. At the present time, none of the infection is near the Texas border. The trouble zone is down near Mexico City, but of course, there is a possibility of the infection coming across the border.

United States and Mexican officials are conducting a survey in the area to map out plans to control the disease. The report from USDA states that "livestock areas are cautioned to continue with extreme watchfulness" for any signs of the disease and report anything that looks suspicious. No fence exists on the border to stop strays or wild animals with the disease from coming into the United States.

Back in 1926, a similar outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease occurred, but quarantines, and slaughter of the animals infected, held the disease in check.

It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing; the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit and they are life.—John 6:63.

A good deal has appeared in the news of late in reference to the "portal to portal" pay suits now being filed against industry. Briefly here is what is meant by "portal to portal" pay. In 1938 in a moment of general mental lapse Congress passed a law providing that a worker could charge his employer for time spent in traveling from the front gate of the employer's property to the work bench at which the worker was employed. Included also was the time spent in changing from street clothes to the worker's uniform, the washing up at night, the changing into street clothes at night and walking or riding back to the gate of the company property. Little attention was paid to the law until last June a worker filed suit in court for the collection of back pay based on the provision of the law. The court decided in the worker's favor. Since the court's decision suits in which back pay demands total nearly four billion dollars have been filed by workers and there are many others on the way. The matter is now in the U. S. Supreme Court. It is admitted that payment of the demands accumulated over the past nine years will close the doors of many companies. The matter will come before Congress who may outlaw all such suits.

If anything is done with the income tax law by Congress we would favor an increase in exemptions for small taxpayers rather than a general reduction in all brackets. The argument in favor of increasing exemptions for the small earner is that the money thus saved will be spent for merchandise. This will mean more employment and more business for the large taxpayer and a real measure of relief for the small taxpayer.

A politician is an individual who before election keeps his ear to the ground and after he is elected gets his head in the clouds.

Over 8,000,000 social security workers will qualify for retirement pay in 1947.

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

"There is a splendid town." All of us has heard this expression, or a similar one, when the name of some town has been brought up in the course of conversation. Ask some people what in their opinion makes a good town and they will say without hesitation, an industry giving employment to several hundred people, a railroad shop or division or a branch of a large industry. This is the first answer one taking a poll of opinion would receive from most people.

There are, in my opinion, a number of other things that contribute toward the making of a good town. In fact I know a lot of good towns that do not have a single industry in them employing over a dozen persons. Although an industry giving employment to a substantial number of people is a splendid asset and a splendid point from which to start to make a good town.

The first thing that is needed to make a good town is good people. I do not mean by this that they must be perfect people whose conduct is always exemplary, but I mean people with the right attitudes, the right concepts of what a town in which they expect to live and rear and educate a family of boys and girls should be, what it should have in the way of atmosphere and the thing that might be defined as civic and moral conscience.

The second important element in the building of a good town is men and women with an active interest in and concern for the welfare of the town in a spiritual and a material way—men and women with sufficient concern and energy, that if the town isn't what they think it should be and could be, have the energy and the disposition and the will to do something about it.

The next element that I think is needed in the building of a good town is a spirit of co-operation to the degree that the man power and woman power of the community is ready, eager and willing to join forces and work for the attainment of a selected goal. Because of this spirit of co-operation there is an absence of hanging back, of bickering, and quibbling, over petty details and means. The whole thought is centered on the objective itself and all work toward that end willingly, cheerfully, energetically and enthusiastically.

The next ingredient necessary for a good town is the absence of clannishness. I refer to the type of clannishness that pits one group against another, that prompts the East side crowd to see nothing good in the proposition presented by a member of the West side group. No small town is good enough or big enough to contain and prosper with two factions. Two factions in a town will cut its man power for good and for progress not to a half, but to an eighth.

A town is a good town when all deserving businesses in it do well. It does a town no good if one merchant or one service concern overshadows all the rest, equally deserving who are, because of the situation, forced to eke out a mere existence while a favored one prospers greatly.

The next and not the least important ingredient in the shaping up of a good town is loyalty to home institutions, home business men and professional men. It is the keystone in the perfect arch of the good town.

HISTORY

Girl Scout Day—March 12: The organization known as the Girl Scouts in the United States was first known as the Girl Guides. The Girl Guides originated in England having been organized by a sister of William Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scouts in England, as a companion organization to the Boy Scouts. The Girl Guides were organized in the United States by Daisy Gordon on March 12, 1912, at Savannah, Ga. Miss Gordon became acquainted with the Girl Guides organization through her aunt, Mrs. Juliette Lowe of England, who also maintained a home in Savannah, Ga. The first group of Girl Guides was formed on March 12, 1912. The movement spread rapidly to other cities. In 1915 a headquarters was established in Washington, D. C., and at the same time the name was changed to the Girl Scouts. The headquarters were later moved to New York. By 1924 the membership to the organization had grown to 325,000 active members with troops in every state. The Girl Scout organization follows the pattern similar to that of the Boy Scouts. The members are from 10 to 16 years old. The first unit is the troop, which may have all the way from eight to thirty-two. Each troop is divided into patrols consisting of four to eight members. Each patrol has a leader and an emblem. The patrol leaders with the captain and lieutenant of the troop form the executive board called the Court of Honor. The Girl Scout movement has proven very popular in the United States and in localities where adult leadership is available splendid success has been achieved. The program is interesting to the young people and teaches many splendid lessons.

IN THE NEWS 30 YEARS AGO

News items below were taken in whole or in part from the issue of the Foard County News of February 16, 1917:

J. L. Martin has bought a newspaper plant at Royse City and will move his family to that city immediately.

After an illness of only a few days, Mrs. J. J. Gollehar died Feb. 10th. She had not been in good health for some time.

Water is the most needed thing in the industrial life of Crowell today. This is without doubt an indisputable fact, and we believe is the opinion of our people.

The first destructive fire ever experienced by Thalia was that of last Sunday night when practically all the business houses of the town were wiped out, only one remaining.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gibson gave a six o'clock dinner last Friday night honoring Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cope.

Ira Logan and family are here this week from Wellington and will probably locate here.

Leonard Pyle and wife of Quanah were here visiting relatives this week.

Mrs. A. E. Propps of Benjamin was here Thursday of last week.

John Hays has sold his residence in the northwest part of town to Jim Cook.

Albert Schooley and M. F. Crowell went to Wichita Falls Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cope have gone to Quanah to make their home. Mr. Cope will be associated with L. J. Massie in the grocery business.

Thomas Hughston had the misfortune last week of getting two of his fingers painfully mashed in the dry cleaning machine of Hinds & Magee.

Washington News

By Congressman Ed Gossett, 13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 8.—The House of Representatives this week by a vote of 285 to 121 passed a Resolution to submit to the people a constitutional amendment which would limit a President to not more than two terms in office. This question was seriously debated in the Constitutional Convention. The question of limiting Presidential tenure has been debated ever since. At one time the founding fathers wrote into the constitution a provision for one term of seven years, later changing it to provide four year terms with no limitation on reelection.

Congressman Hobbs of Alabama and myself filed a minority report in the House contending that if Presidential tenure should be limited, it should be limited to one term of six years. Presidents Andrew Jackson, Rutherford B. Hayes, Grover Cleveland, and William Howard Taft advocated a single term of six years for American Presidents. Such a limitation was written into the Democratic platform in 1912. Through the years more than 100 attempts have been made in the Congress to impose such limitation.

Proponents of a limited tenure for Presidents contend that the Executive has grown too powerful, that our system of checks and balances between the Executive, Legislative and Judicial branches has gotten seriously out of balance, and that any President with the power now given our chief executive can perpetuate himself in office. By limiting his tenure they say we could limit his power. It is further contended that doubtless more Presidents in the future, instead of following the precedent set by Washington and Jefferson and others in retiring at the end of their second term, will be trying to outdo the mark of four terms set by the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Opponents contend, however, that, after all, it is a matter to be left up to the people, that in times of emergency the people should have a right to reelect a President regardless of the number of terms he may have served.

If the resolution is now passed by the Senate, the people themselves will have the opportunity to pass on this subject.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities this week witnessed an unusual spectacle—a sister testifying against her brother. Ruth Fischer of New York told the Committee her brother, Gerhard Eisler, was a "most dangerous terrorist both for the people of America and the people of Germany." Apparently Eisler has been one of the leading fomenters of communism in this country. The record indicates that he received extensive training for this purpose in a communist school in Moscow.

Eighty-two year old bachelor Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas is receiving some notice over his proposed bills to create uniform marriage and divorce laws throughout the United States and also to outlaw the advertising of intoxicating liquors. I remember getting Capper's farm paper when I was a small boy on the farm. The old gentleman has been in public life for almost a half century, serving as Governor of Kansas before his election to the Senate in 1918. The Senator will probably not get very far with either of his proposals although a great deal can be said for both of them. No states in the Union have identical marriage or divorce laws, and some contend that it is a case of the chain being no stronger than its weakest link. The state of South Carolina will not grant a divorce on any grounds or permit the remarriage of divorced persons, while the state of New York still operates under a law written by Alexander Hamilton before the American Revolution granting a divorce solely on the ground of adultery. The Senator, coming from perhaps the most notoriously dry state of the American union, contends that if you cannot prohibit the liquor traffic you should not encourage it through advertising. Perhaps on both his proposals the argument could be made that society should make greater endeavor to create a moral as opposed to immoral atmosphere. Reference was made in newspaper some weeks ago to chaos into which the Socialist Government of England threw that country through government's taking over the ownership and operation of the mines. Some of the chickens now coming home to roost are of the industries of England now closing down because of lack of coal. While our country appears to be booming—for present at least—the British are suffering more than at the end of the war and seem to be on the verge of economic collapse. They have they will learn that you cannot get something for nothing and that honest toil is the creator of wealth.

Lincoln's Birthday

February 12 is a notable date in American life, as the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. Our people reverence his memory. He set an example for all time of a true democratic spirit, of human sympathy and of devotion to the ideals of American life.

His history is full of inspiration for American youth. Born in the simplest sort of a home, he did not probably have more than a year in any school, but he acquired learning and wisdom from his constant study of great books. By the light of the blazing fire on the hearth he read the Bible, Shakespeare, the life of Washington, a history of the United States, and so on.

Such works of wisdom and human experience opened his mind to great thoughts, and gave him practical ideas about life. They were a great factor in his wonderful success. The young people of today will similarly fit themselves for important service, if they will read and ponder over such grand works of literature.

Lincoln's success in finally rising to the highest office in the country is an illustration of how the way opens to people if they make the best use of their opportunities. Only a very few of course, can rise to high office, but all can make themselves more useful, and win the praise of their fellowmen, if they seek constantly for self-improvement, and perform the duties of life with fidelity and intelligence.

Lincoln's birthday is a good time to inspire the boys and girls to make the best of themselves, that none of them should be satisfied with low aims, but they should try for the best achievement. Even though some have only limited opportunities, Lincoln's story shows that they have a chance to rise.

Weekly SURPLUS NEWS WAA

Special types of surplus fire-fighting equipment will be channeled to municipal and volunteer fire departments to combat rising fire losses throughout the nation, WAA has announced. Surplus equipment such as ladder trucks, pumping engines, crash trucks and office of civilian defense type pumps is urgently needed by municipal fire departments to replace old and worn equipment, WAA said. Federal agencies will continue to exercise their priority rights; however, since these agencies do not normally purchase this type of property, municipal and volunteer fire departments will have, in practice, exclusive access to surplus fire-fighting equipment.

More than 7,700,000 pairs of surplus half soles will be offered for sale by WAA at new reduced fixed prices ranging from six cents to eight cents a pair for the various trade levels. Orders will be accepted concurrently from priority claimants and other buyers, including exporters, from February 15 to March 7, 1947. The half soles are black, made of composition rubber, one-quarter inch thick, in sizes six to 11, inclusive. Any WAA regional office will supply detailed information on the offering.

The Fort Worth regional office of WAA is holding one of the largest sales of electrical equipment and supplies yet to be held in the region. Hundreds of different items of electrical merchandise are included in the sale, which closes February 24. Further information may be obtained from WAA, P. O. Box 1407, Fort Worth.

WAA is currently distributing a 16-page booklet entitled, "How to Buy or Lease Surplus Real Estate." The purpose of the pamphlet is to guide business, political subdivisions, institutions, banks and other interested organizations and individuals in taking the steps necessary to acquire government owned surplus real property. Copies of the booklet may be obtained from any WAA regional office of real property disposal.

Surplus twin-engine Douglas C-47 type transports and single-engine liaison aircraft have been removed from the priorities list by WAA. All such planes are now price-tagged and sold on a first come, first served basis, with no priority certificate necessary. Prices range from $1,075 to $1,490 for the smaller craft and $15,000 to $40,000 for the larger, depending on model and condition.

A shipment of 1,800 tons of shelled peanuts left Houston, Texas, last week for England. They were purchased by a British food mission. When the peanuts reach England the name will be changed to "Monkey nuts," the common name for peanuts in England. Some one estimates that the 1,800 tons will make 14,400,000 nickel bags of nuts. The reason given for the purchase of this kind of the food mission is that many of the English people are still suffering from malnutrition as a result of the war and the peanuts are expected to provide a needed nourishment.

Veterans News

An innovation in veterans' training—a foreign trade school—was recently established in New Orleans with an enrollment of 112 veterans from a half-dozen states.

It is the Import-Export Institute of the Maybin School, sponsored by the Orleans Parish School Board. New Orleans foreign trade executives are helping train the veterans.

Purpose of the two-year course is to train veterans to take positions in New Orleans' booming foreign trade business, especially with South America.

The curriculum stresses foreign trade, Latin American culture, Spanish language and general business subjects. Ages of veterans attending range from 18 to 43 years.

The initiative of a former Army Air Force Captain, who assists from a GI guaranteed loan, has provided Mississippi banks and businesses a new protection in the shipment of money and valuables.

Incorporated as the Jackson Armored Car Service at Jackson, Mississippi, Humphreys' firm is conveying payrolls and money shipments for businesses in all parts of Mississippi.

COURTESY IN THE HALL

As Mrs. Davis was meandering down the hall last Monday at dinner, there was a sudden explosion of loud, silly talking coming from a group of girls standing around their lockers. Mrs. Davis gave a startled look of mixed wonder and fear. She slowly turned around and stared at the girls. "I know now she felt for I felt the same way. While in the hall in the future, let's all be a little more quiet and orderly and think of our neighbors' feelings. By the way, don't get scared, Mrs. Davis, they won't bite you."

On the other hand, the cost of electricity, like Mr. Brodie's popularity at home, is going down and DOWN!

The music lovers' society of lower basin street could well be the nickname for a few of the "cats" in CHS. We prowled around a bit and found a few of the above mentioned on the alley fences.

Sharon Haney was the first subject. She informed us that among her favorite records are "Sentimental Journey" by Les Brown, "I'm Afraid To Love You" by the Mills Brothers, and "Begin the Beguine" by Artie Shaw.

Bobby Cooper proved to be a little more of a fast tempo as his favorites were "Opus No." by Tommy Dorsey and "Summit Ridge Drive" by Artie Shaw.

WILDCATS BRING HOME TROPHY FROM TOURNAMENT

The Crowell High School Basketball team returned home Saturday night with a beautiful trophy from the Harrold Basketball Tournament.

The Wildcats won the consolation bracket of the tournament by defeating the Five-in-One and Vernon B teams. They were three point losers to South Lockett, winners of the Tournament.

The trophy has been placed in the school's trophy case along with the others won by past teams of CHS. Joe Mason and R. L. Ballard were awarded on the last tournament team.

Wildcats Lose to Seymour

The Crowell Wildcats lost to Seymour Friday night, in their home gym. Joe Mason was high point man with 9 points. The Wildkittens were also defeated by the Panther "B" squad 16-11. Billy Roy Cooper was high point man with 7 points.

The Wildcats, despite some losses, have had a good season this year. Some of these losses can be contributed to hard luck as the Wildcats have been defeated by two and three points made in the last few seconds of the game on several occasions. However, they have never given up and have kept fighting all the way through.

The Wildcats play host to the Chillicothe Eagles Friday night in the last game of the year. The following boys will be wearing the Wildcat jersey for the last time in this game: Joe Mason, Bobby Cooper, M. W. Wagnon, Billy Roy Cooper, R. L. Ballard and Larry Wood.

I wonder if the breaking is permanent between that inseparable foursome: Jo Ann M. and Ed T.; and "Booty" B. and V. B.?
 I wish I knew to whom Melba D. is true: Presley or Shorty?
 Are those two small friers, Joyce Hinkle and Buford Wheeler, a steady couple?
 Neva Lou P. and Don W. were seen purring around Tuesday night.
 Couple of the week, goes to Julia Johnson and John Potts.
 Couple we didn't know about: Ruby Odle and Ward Kuhn.
 Icyphene Wharton has changed her ideal man to J. C. Thompson.
 Bobby Cato and Emilie Kajs make a cute couple. Agree?
 Kathleen E. and Marlene M. were seen walking around on pink clouds over the week-end. Reason: Danny and Clarence were home.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

- The couples that are always seen around: Louis Pyle and Virginia H.; Floyd Oliver and Bobby B., broke up?
 - Vera Lee didn't wait on Clifford Ohr's bus every morning?
 - The Study Hall Water Fountain and the Study Hall Clock worked?
 - Joe M. didn't keep Janet R.'s telephone busy?
 - Sharon H. had a slumber party more often like that one Friday night?
 - Martha J. and "Prune" Bell became a steady couple?
 - C. D. Campbell, R. L. Ballard & Billy R. Cooper decided to get ready with a gal, or ever go?
 - Congratulations to: Marlene Mason and Clarence Ohr. By the way have you seen Molly's ring?

Valentine Sunshine

The people who receive messages of sentiment and affection on Valentine's day, February 14, can consider how these valentines are like a very nice and sunny day, coming in a period when the weather has been monotonous or unpleasant. Human life for many people is monotonous, and many meet annoying conditions in daily life. These experiences create some feeling of discomfort in many minds.

When a valentine comes in, or a number of them, it is a good deal as if a very bright and sunny day had come after a period when the weather was less pleasant. It is a welcome that however dull or dreary may seem, there are people like and care for and welcome the one to whom the valentine is sent.

This is a cheering thought. The valentine is welcome recipient, and it makes brighter.

... to merit your friendship and goodwill!

To merit your lasting friendship—to merit your lasting goodwill—we operate our service business in accordance with the following principles:

OUR SERVICE PLEDGE

- We will accurately diagnose—to the best of our ability—the repairs needed on your car. If you request it, we will give you in advance our analysis of the work to be done.
- We will write up your order clearly, completely and legibly, and secure your authorization to do the work before starting.
- We will notify you in advance of any additional work we think should be done, and secure your approval before proceeding.
- We will perform all the work on your car as efficiently and as economically as possible. We will replace only those parts which in our judgment need replacing.
- We will road-test your car after the work is done and before we return the car to you, if the nature of the work requires it.
- We will endeavor to have your car ready on time. If the work takes longer than we estimate, we will advise you as far in advance as possible.
- We will provide you with an itemized bill showing exactly what work was done and exactly what it cost. We will gladly explain any item or items that are not clear to you.

For several years, we have realized that all automotive service (including our own) has not been of the caliber which you as a customer or we as a dealer have desired, due primarily to shortages of manpower and materials—a situation over which we have had no control.

Today, however, with more experienced mechanics in our organization and with service parts becoming more readily available than they have been for years, we want you to know that our car service is rapidly getting back to normal, and as conditions continue to improve, you may expect to receive from us the same fine service that you have been accustomed to receiving in previous years.

We of the Chevrolet service organization want you to know that we value your service business to the fullest degree and that we are determined to give you such sound and satisfying service that you will want to be our customer for a long time to come!

Come in today and at regular intervals. . . . Skilled mechanics—modern tools and equipment—quality parts and materials . . . all adding up to service that you'll call superior in all ways!

JESUS AT THE FEAST OF TABERNACLES

LESSON TEXT—John 8:12-16, 31-36; 9:1-5.
MEMORY SELECTION—I am the light of the world; he that followeth me shall not be in darkness.

"The Light of the World is Jesus!" Who does not remember with what delight we as children sang, "Come to the light, 'tis shining for thee . . . The Light of the World is Jesus." How precious was the truth that thus flooded our souls!

Has the passing of the years dimmed the beauty and glory of that light in our hearts and lives?
 Do we need it renewed? God is willing and ready. Jesus is the light, and just as the sunlight sheds its glory on an awakening world at dawn, so Christ sheds abroad the light of God in the hearts of believing men. The writer of these lessons pens these words with the prayer that as this portion of God's Holy Word is studied and taught, that light may break forth on many a soul lost in the bewilderment of this dark world.

Our study centers around three simple words fraught with beauty and rich in meaning.
I. Light (John 8:12-16).

The text says, "Then spake Jesus." When? Just after he had silenced the hypocritical accusers of a woman taken in sin, and had spoken the word of peace to her troubled soul. She was to "go and sin no more" because she had met him who is the light of the world.
 They that follow him "shall not walk in darkness;" they are the children of light, they have the very light of life.

How sad it is that with the light of the world shining in all its brightness, men loved their own darkness. The Pharisees, instead of receiving the Light, had to argue, and to do it on a low, fleshy plane. They even accused Jesus of being a liar. Think of that!

So it is that men may reject the Light of God and go on into a darkness made deeper because they have seen the light.

Now we look at our second beautiful word. How sweet it sounds as we repeat it—
II. Freedom (vv. 31-36).

Free. Four letters, but what a depth of meaning! Chains have fallen off, prison doors are open.
 The one who was bound is free.
 But here we are concerned with an even more important liberty, the freedom of the soul. Many there are who boast of their independence, but who are merely slaves. Jesus said: "Whosoever committeth sin is the servant of sin" (v. 34) not its master.

How shall they be freed? Note three things in these verses. (1)
 A condition—"If ye continue in my word." This means not only a profession of faith, but a daily appropriation and realization of his truth in life. (2) A promise—"Ye shall know the truth." The philosophies of men profess to be a seeking after truth, but how few there are who look to the one place where it can be found—in Jesus Christ. (3) A result—"The truth shall make you free." Truth always sets free.

Men are enslaved because, as in some foreign lands, they have not had the opportunity to learn the truth (we have failed to send it), or because they have rejected it.
 Freedom and light can lead only to—

III. Vision (John 9:1-5).
 This is one of the most instructive passages in Scripture. A man born blind is seen by Jesus. His disciples note his interest and begin to theorize on a theological question. They had learned so little of the compassionate spirit of Jesus that they saw in this blighted life only an illustration of a theological problem. May God help us that we may never be so blind.

Jesus goes at once to his blessed work. He was in the world to do the works of God. He and the Father always work. Let us follow his blessed example. The King's business requires haste.
 Let us work "while it is day, the night cometh when no man can work."

By a loving and gracious act,
 Jesus stirs in the heart of the man that faith which causes him to go, to wash, and, glory to God, he sees!

Such a personal experience of the divine power of the Son of God leaves no doubt in the man's mind that the One who caused him to see "is a prophet." All of a man's doubts concerning the deity of Jesus Christ disappear when he becomes his Saviour.

Do not fail to read the remainder of the chapter and note how this man's faith was victorious in the face of trials, persecution, and even of excommunication; for outside the temple he met Jesus and took him as his Lord. As Dr.
 Scroggie puts it, "His accommunication was a promotion. He went from the synagogue to the Saviour."

Burdens

We are apt to think of burdens as something undesirable, but in the Scriptures we discover some practical truths concerning them.
 David was confronted with opposition and treachery. "And I said, O that I had wings like a dove; for then would I fly away, and be at rest" (Ps. 55:6). But we cannot rid ourselves of troubles by running away from them.

David learned this lesson, for in verse 16 he says "As for me, I will call upon God, and the Lord shall save me." He had discovered that any running should be toward the Lord.

Here we find David praying.
 There may be something we can do about a burden after we pray, but there is nothing we can do about it until we pray. We should be thankful for burdens. How much time would we spend in prayer if it were not for burdens?

 young man he lived in a cottage

Observance of 85th Birthday of Mrs. J. F. Steele Made

Mrs. J. F. Steele, who has been 85 for the past three weeks, reached her 85th birthday Monday, February 10, and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Steele, who are in the home with Mrs. Steele, observed the day quietly. The honoree received many gifts, flowers and cards, as well as callers who wished her happiness on the anniversary of her birth.

Mrs. Steele was born in Bremen, Indiana, on Feb. 10, 1862. She came to Crowell with her husband, in 1933. Mr. Steele passed away in 1943. The couple were the parents of six children, only two of whom are living, Earl Steele and Roy Steele. Mrs. Steele is a faithful member of the Methodist Church, a regular attendant at all services, when possible. She has many friends who would add their good wishes and congratulations.

Those with her on her birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Steele, Mrs. Earl Steele and Charles Steele, a grandson; Mrs. Frank Cates, a granddaughter, and her children, Doris Ann, Gordon Thomas, Jimmie Frank and Catherine Sue; Mrs. Glenn Goodwin, a granddaughter, and two daughters, Barbara Jane and Sherry Ruth.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

The Columbian Club members met in the home of Mrs. Lee Black on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 5th. After a short business session, Mrs. Grady Halbert, as leader, proceeded with the lesson.

The study, which included a book review, was introduced by the quotation, "A book is an enchanted gate that leads to magic lands." In answer to roll call, favorite quotations from many lands and many authors were given.

"Books, a Challenge" was presented by Mrs. Hines Clark, who said that books in abundance, books, interesting and full of valuable knowledge, are truly a challenge to the student to read and be informed on every subject in the world.

The highlight of the program was a review of "The Biography of Dolly Madison" given by Mrs. C. R. Ferguson. Dolly Madison was a beautiful woman, resourceful and an ideal wife. By her tact and pleasing personality she was a helpful ally for her husband as he piloted the ship of state.

Mrs. Black served a delightful refreshment plate which featured the approaching Valentine season.

ADELPHIAN CLUB

The Adelpian Club met in regular session on February 5th at the Club House with Mrs. W. B. Tysinger and Mrs. John Carter as hostesses.

The American Home was the program subject with Mrs. Doyle Kenner serving as leader. She presented the question, "Are You Up-to-Date on Textiles?" A number of new and unusual samples of materials were shown. They were stain-resistant and wrinkle-resistant. Mrs. Kenner urged that women continue to ask for these materials in order that the merchants and wholesalers may make a stronger demand for the manufacturer to place these goods on the market.

As another phase, Miss Frankie Kirkpatrick gave hints on "To-

THEY GET NO BETTER . . . If you thought you had seen something in the past in women's hats, take a quick gander at a couple of those items that are indicative of milady's headdress this season. At left Mrs. Gardiner Johnson sports a nest of leaves on which is perched a stuffed bluebird. Mrs. F. W. L. Tydemann models the "Understatement" model.

FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

On Monday, Feb. 3, Mrs. W. L. Johnson was hostess to seventeen members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service. The meeting was opened with the song, "The Kingdom is Coming" which was followed by a prayer by Mrs. J. M. Barker.

A devotional, based on Jesus' lessons on forgiveness, was given by Mrs. Glenn Sook. She brought out the impossibility of one's ability to be fully aware of God's gifts and grace while carrying a grudge, while having an unforgiving spirit. Each victory over pettiness, vindictiveness and grudging natures is a step nearer the Heavenly Father.

"Commitment of one's whole person is essential for the true steward of the Lord," said Mrs. Johnson in giving Chapter 3 of the book on stewardship now being studied by the society. "The powers of the person when developed must be unstintedly committed, few without the consecration of one's person no other form of giving can have truly Christian significance." In addition to stewardship of the body and mind and of spiritual resources, those who would be God's stewards must give of their time, for money may be given out of a surplus without a sacrifice, but usually the giving of time is a sacrifice.

Edward G. Robinson Plays Detective In "The Stranger"

Edward G. Robinson and Loretta Young star with Orson Welles in International's superb melodrama "The Stranger," an RKO Radio release, at Rialto Sunday and Monday.

Robinson, playing a secret service agent, returns to the studio which gave him one of his finest screen vehicles in "The Woman in the Window." Miss Young portrays the daughter of a Supreme Court Justice whose marriage unexpectedly results in stark danger to herself and to the community and a supreme degree of suspense for the audience.

Miss Young's most recent screen appearance, also under the International banner, was opposite Gary Cooper in Along Came Jones. Besides appearing as co-star in "The Stranger," Welles directed the picture. He last played for International in Tomorrow Is Forever.

Anthony Veiller's screen play for "The Stranger" is enhanced by the New England background designed by Perry Ferguson, who was borrowed from Samuel Goldwyn to create the authentic sets. S. P. Eagle produced.

The artist, Constantine Brumidi, spent 25 years painting the decorations and murals on the walls of the Capitol building in Washington.
