Piano Instructor Is Elected For Crowell Schools

Mrs. Carolyn McDaniel has been elected to teach piano in the Crowell schools by the Crowell School Board. Mrs. McDaniel is a graduate of Decatur Baptist College and majored in music, having had several years of training in piano. This is the first time since 1945 that piano instruction has been offered in the Crowell schools.

Mrs. McDaniel began her work Monday morning with thirty pupils. There will be two lessons per week given each pupil. Due to limited time, she is teaching beginners only at the present time.

Choral singing is also being offered in both High School and Grammar School this term. This is the first time since 1941 that public school music has been offered in the High School. Mrs. Faye Statser is teaching this subject.

Texas Gas Exhaustion Predicted By Kittrell In Scene Magazine

At the present rate of natural gas will be exhausted within 15 years, W. H. Kittrell Jr., former secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, declares in the October issue of Scene Magazine, published in Dallas. The October number, first to be published under the editorship of Stanley Walker, former city editor of the New York Herald Tribune, contains 72 pages of Southwestern features and photographs.

Kittrell proposes the formation of a Texas Conservation Association to work for the adoption of policies that will avert this exhaustion.

Pointing out that consumption of Texas gas has tripled in ten years, with current consumption of gas produced in Texas amounting to more than three trillion cubic feet annually, he says: "If, as the American Gas Association calculated, we had 82 trillion cubic feet of gas at the beginning of the current year, we will have 79 trillion left at the close, and if the use of gas continues to increase at 15 per cent per year, we will use nearly three and one-half trillion feet in 1948, four trillions in 1949, and four and three-fourths trillions in 1950, leaving us with 67 trillions at the close of that year. If the consumption increases till it levels off at six trillion feet by 1953 or 1954, our supply will last till about 1962."

Export of natural gas in fairness be prohibited, Kittrell concedes, adding: "We can, however, move to prevent the dedication of our remaining prospective lines, and we can enact legislation that will reduce or eliminate the waste of gas in the production of oil."

Scene Magazine explains editorially that the other side of this controversial question will be presented in its November issue.

Prevention for Rheumatic Heart Disease Unknown

Austin—Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged 10 to 14, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages 15 to 25. Despite its importance this disease its etiology is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid, diphtheria, smallpox, and whooping cough has yet been developed for its prevention or control. We do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physician's accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results of the disease may be prevented.

Exposure to frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows, or wrists. The pain usually is felt in one of these centers and spreads to the others. Oftentimes a child will get irritable and cross without any visible signs of a good reason for this attitude. He may cry easily or develop habits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever.

According to Dr. Cox the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child examined, at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kind of food and plenty of rest. When the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once, and if he prescribes complete bed rest, his advice should be implicitly followed.

Campaign for Blue Cross Membership Here a Success

The 10-day campaign for enrollment in the Blue Cross Group Hospital Service in Foard County, which closed Sept. 13, was a gratifying success, it was announced this week by Cecil L. Stredwick of Wichita Falls, regional director. Mr. Stredwick stated that the total enrollment for the short allotted time for the campaign was considered outstanding and that Group Hospital Service was glad to be able to render this service to the citizens of this community.

New members enrolled during the campaign totalled 850 with approximately 200 transferred from old groups to the Blue Cross.

Mr. Stredwick also stated that if the Foard County Advisory Council deemed it necessary, the Blue Cross enrollment could be opened again after six months have elapsed.

Cates Parts Company Moved to Rock Bldg., West Side of Square

The Cates Parts Co. moved its stock of automobile parts and accessories to its new location in the corner rock building on the west side of the square last Friday and Saturday. Since the tornado the business has been operated in the Fox building on the north side of the square.

The new location gives the parts company plenty of room to take care of its parts department and display accessories. Arranging of the stock is now underway and will be completed as soon as possible.

ROTARY CLUB

Rotarians George Wilson, Ross and Vance Favor of Onanah were visitors at the meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club last Friday at noon. T. O. McClung and P. N. Stephens, highway patrolmen of Vernon, were also visitors at this meeting.

With Jim Cates as program chairman, Mr. McClung made a very interesting and instructive talk on the new traffic code that has recently gone into effect in Texas. Mr. McClung stated that the main object of the highway patrol was to give to motorists courtesy, service and protection.

IMMORAL LENGTHS . . . Dr. A. Powell Davies, pastor of the All Souls' Unitarian church at Washington, D. C., assailed new long skirts as "immoral" and "moronic" because they waste material needed by world's suffering people.

Crowell Wildcats Lose to Paducah Dragons, 20 to 12

The Crowell High School football team lost its second exhibition game last Friday night at Paducah to the Paducah High School team by the score of 20 to 12. Paducah had defeated Chillicothe by two touchdowns the previous week. The Crowell boys looked a great deal better in this game than they did in their opening game here against Floydada. They will journey to Holliday Friday night to play the Holliday Eagles in their opening conference game of the season.

The Wildcats held the Dragons scoreless the first quarter last Friday night and threatened to score once themselves by driving down to Paducah's fifteen yard line before losing the ball on downs.

The Dragons scored two touchdowns in the second quarter. Off-side penalties contributed a great deal in one of these drives. The half-time score was 13 to 0 for Paducah.

The Wildcats went back on the field the second half with a determination that paid off. They roundly outplayed the Cottle County boys in both of these quarters. Each team scored a touchdown in the third quarter. The Paducah boys made all of their scores on running plays. They converted two of their extra points.

The fourth quarter was all Crowell's. Led by Dalton Biggert on passes and ball carrying, the Cats scored one touchdown in this last quarter and picked up several other first downs. Biggert ran both of Crowell's touchdowns over with the aid of some splendid blocking by the other members of the team. Thomas Tammien and Ray Black continued to look extra good on defense work.

Several Crowell boys received injuries in the game, but Grover Yechem is the only boy who will have to miss any games. He received a shoulder injury that will probably keep him out of the lineup for four weeks. Walter Caddell, Ray Black, and Mar Hill Taylor are the other boys who were injured.

Very little is known about the Holliday squad this season. However, this is the team that upset the Crowell team last year and the Wildcats have not forgotten it. The game will be played at Holliday Friday night. Coach Scott Whitaker will probably start James Weathers or Billy Joe Hallock at Yechem's right halfback position.

The Iowa Park Hawks will play Crowell next week for Crowell's first conference game at home.

DDT IN DOGHOUSE

Put DDT in the doghouse. This is what the entomologists from the Texas A. & M. Extension Service—not as somewhat out-of-date slang, but as good advice for health and comfort.

This means DDT could be used for quarters of other pets that roam around and bring home fleas, ticks, or that attract flies mosquitoes or bedbugs. Such treatment does not mean complete protection but it's worth while, say the specialists. It does change for infection. One special value of DDT is that it remains effective for weeks.

One of the household sprays with 5 per cent DDT added is not so convenient for spraying of pet quarters or made a part of the regular spraying around baseboards and water pipes in the kitchen, or in and around the garbage can where flies can gather.

Buy not what you want, but what you need. What you don't need is dear at a penny.—Cato.

Mr. Lawrence has visited during Dykes numbers of times during past years. He is survived by nine children and a number of grandchildren.

MILK AFTER FIFTY

A pint of milk a day is a must if older people are to keep healthy and active, say foods specialists of Texas A. & M. College Extension Service. Men and women in their fifties, sixties and seventies often overlook milk in their diets, a neglect that deprives bones of necessary minerals.

To help furnish enough calcium, protein and phosphorus for the proper upkeep of their bodies, a daily pint of milk is the minimum, say the specialists. A condition of demineralization of the skeleton may come from too little calcium in the diet and often leads to broken bones in later years. Some investigators have suggested that many a fall, which supposedly results in a bone break, is actually due to weakened bones which break and cause the person to fall.

Relatively little is known of the nutritional needs of the older age group, the specialists report, and state experiment stations are making studies aimed at correct dietary recommendations. Recent studies do show that older people have not lost their ability to store calcium and other minerals and that their diets should include milk.

Veterans News

Veterans entering schools and colleges this fall may expect their subsistence check early in the month, the Veterans Administration has announced.

The initial payment will include all subsistence allowances from the start of the semester through the end of the last full business period before the check is issued.

So serious delays in payment of subsistence allowances are anticipated, but VA is advising students to be able to meet special financial obligations for at least the first six weeks of the term.

The time lapse between date of enrollment and receipt of the check involves two factors. First, a veteran generally is not eligible to receive a subsistence allowance until he has been in school for 30 days. Secondly, checks are mailed normally on the first of the month, covering the allowances due for the previous month. Therefore, a veteran enrolling during the latter part of September ordinarily will not receive his first check earlier than the first of November.

The Southwestern area superintendent by VA's Dallas Branch Office is expecting an enrollment of more than 100,000 World War veterans in colleges and universities. The estimate for Texas is 75,370, for Louisiana, 20,000, and for Mississippi, 9,267. Half of the nation's 14,500,000 World War II veterans have received one or more payments of readjustment allowances for employment or self-employment since their discharge from service, VA reports.

However, of those who have received their benefits as unemployed or self-employed veterans, fewer than eight in every hundred have claimed all of the allowances to which they are entitled under the GI Bill.

The law provides payments up to $20 a week for unemployed veterans for a maximum of 52 weeks, while self-employed veterans may claim $100 a month net earnings, for a total not exceeding ten and two-thirds months.

Peeling Vegetables. — Deeply colored vegetables lose their coloring by over cooking. Never peel beets to cook. Wash well and cut off all but one-half inch of the stalk and do not cut the root. If the root is cut off, the beets will "bleed" and lose color during the cooking.

Cleaning Coffee Pots. — To clean out a coffee pot put a tablespoon of soda into it and fill with water. Boil for twenty minutes. Then pour out soda and water and boil fresh water. Dry in the air, if possible, in the sunlight.

According to the National Safety Council 96,000 persons lost their lives in accidental deaths in the United States in 1945.

And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord.—Acts 22:16.

The woman who does not have children as a part of her life's plan escapes a lot of worry and care and inconveniences, but she has a terribly dull life to look back upon when age moves in and takes over. Life has a way of compensating humans who live it. There comes a time when bride and parties lose their lure and there is a hungry longing for memories that a childless life cannot supply but for which the soul always hungers.

The greatest compliment that can be paid to a community or a neighborhood is that a home owner can leave the house day or night without locking the door and come back to find nothing has been disturbed and no prowlers have entered. This can be done in many small towns of this country, but city dwellers know better than to try it.

Let your lights so shine that you can see where you are going, but not to the extent that they will blind every driver you meet.

Ann Sothern Scores in "Undercover Maisie"

Adventure and excitement proceed at a breathless pace in "Undercover Maisie," current attraction at the Rio Theatre, with Ann Sothern playing her newest Maisie role against a vivid background of police headquarters. For Maisie, who has tried her hand at a wide variety of occupations in the past, this time is a lady cop who uses her sharp wit and winning personality to help track down a gang of postwar bunco racketeers. There is never a dull moment when the irrepressible Maisie is around, and her turbulent career reaches a new suspense pitch in her current adventures in which she dons a highly sophisticated brunette glamour disguise to expose first, a phony seer, then a gang of swindlers preying on ex-GI's with fraudulent building contracts.

HISTORY

The Discovery of America—October 12: The first celebration of the discovery of America by Columbus was held in New York on October 12, 1792, three hundred years after the landing of Columbus on the shores of this continent. The celebration was sponsored by the Society of St. Tammany, or Columbus Order. The celebration consisted of a dinner and the usual speeches. A monument was erected in the headquarters of the Society as a part of the ceremonies. A number of monuments have since been erected in this country by various groups. The idea of celebrating the discovery of this country gained recognition very slowly and the next celebration of consequence occurred in 1892, one hundred years later. This celebration, a quadricentennial, was marked by the World's Fair or World's Columbian Exposition in Chicago. The celebration supported by a Federal appropriation was planned for 1892, but for the reason that the buildings could not be completed in time did not open until the next year. Due to the persistent efforts of the Knights of Columbus the day was finally designated as a holiday in New York in 1909. The signing of the law was made the occasion for a city wide celebration in New York. The day is now observed as a legal holiday in some thirty-four states.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

The town in which I live is a county seat town not unlike thousands of other small county seat towns throughout the nation. It has about the same things that county seat towns have in common with each other.

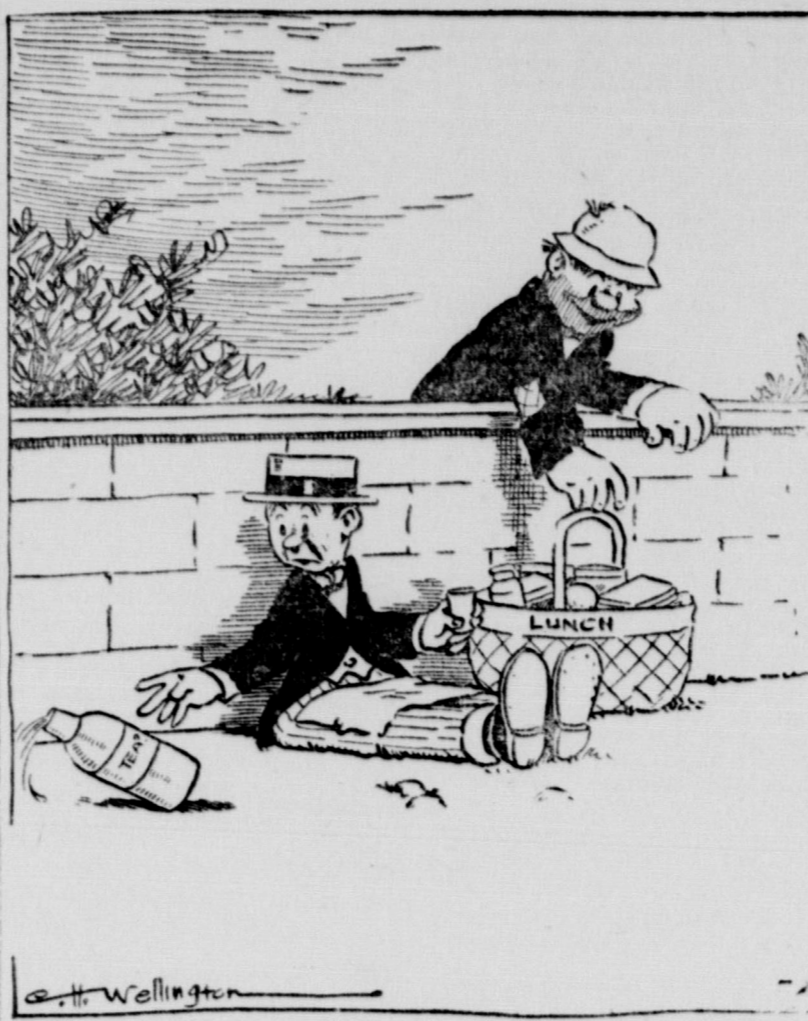

During the depths of the depression the city dads of the town, in order to provide labor for idle men, conceived the idea of building a municipal swimming pool. For the seventy-five years of the town's existence the boys went swimming in creeks and stagnant ponds. The girls had no place in which to swim.

The pool when it was completed was the envy of the country for miles around. Representing an outlay of around $90,000 it can readily be imagined that it was a swimming pool de luxe. For a number of years after the pool was built it was indifferently run by this one and that one who operated it as a private proposition. The attendance and interest was not what it should have been considering the kind of pool and the real need for it in the community. This year, however, the local Red Cross Council stepped in and took over the management of the pool. A swimming instructor was employed who immediately organized classes of the various groups and set up a program running from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. The season concluded with a water show which was participated in by all of the young people who had had a part in the swimmers program. There were exhibitions of high diving by the boys and girls, with the usual flourishes of swan dive, jackknife dive, and the gainers. There was also swimming races and various types of aquatic sports usually seen only at the larger resorts and in the movie reels. The finale was the well known floating water wheel shown under colored lights and spot lights. It was faultlessly executed. It was difficult to believe as we watched the performance that it wasn't being done in Florida waters by young people with years of training rather than by boys and girls from the prairie country whose familiarity to water was limited to occasional brief plunges in local creeks and ponds. All this leads up to something I want to say. This community had had a splendid swimming pool for years yet this was the first summer that the community realized anything like its real worth and value.

During the summer's course the young people of the community not only had an opportunity to engage in a most healthful exercise, but at the same time learned how to swim, how to rescue drowning persons, and how to apply artificial respiration in the case of drowning—all fine and worthwhile things for young people to know.

As a result of the program youngsters of the community went back to school this fall glowing with health under a coat of tan. It would be difficult to estimate the worth of the program to the young people and the community. It put a new meaning in vacation days. It gave to them a design and a purpose.

There is nothing that the local Red Cross Council could have

Uncle Sam Says

How would you like a fat raise? Dream stuff, you say? It isn't. It's a cold-cash, brass tacks reality—if you want it to be. How do you go about it? Very simple. Just sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. For every $3 you put away now, you get $4 in ten years. Take part of your pay each week in U. S. Savings Bonds. It's all that simple. That's a fat gain in any man's arithmetic. And if ten years seems like a long time to look ahead, just give a thought to the smart Americans who bought bonds ten years ago, and hung on to them. Act now. Ten years will be gone before you know it!

Shop Run by Blind Buys Bigger Plant

CHICAGO. — Chicago is well on its way to having the nation's largest work and training shop for the blind.

With the purchase of a former war plant, officials of the Illinois Industries for the Blind, a non-profit organization, predicted their early leadership in this field.

The new headquarters, a two-story structure, was built during the war. Its 45,000 square feet of floor space is double that of the present shop. Rapid progress of the four-year-old organization brought contracts from manufacturers which this year resulted in the production of goods valued at more than $750,000 at wholesale prices.

Eighty blind persons at present are working, learning and producing in the shop. The new quarters will provide space for 250 persons and accommodate many now on the waiting list, said Stanley C. Chadwick, chairman of the board.

In an unorthodox approach to the types of work blind persons can do, executives for the industries have gone beyond the obvious occupations.

Sightless ones operate drill and kick presses, riveting machines and lathes. They produce brooms and mops, but main emphasis is placed on toys.

Included in the toys manufactured this year were dolls, boats and 600-000 helicopters.

During the war the maritime commission twice gave the workers awards for outstanding production. This was in connection with contracts which aggregated millions of dollars.

In the short period of its existence, the organization has trained more than 800 workers, most of whom have obtained jobs in private industry.

WOULD HAVE EACH STATE ADOPT AN OFFICIAL DOG

America's dog-loving folks are urged to seek adoption of an official dog for each of the 48 states by Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York City.

Practically every state now has its official bird or official flower. Mr. Miller said. Certainly, he thinks, the dog as mankind's closest animal companion throughout the ages, deserves every bit as much recognition.

Mr. Miller stated he anticipated the early organization of committees for an official dog in several states, and that his organization would give these groups every possible aid in achieving their objective. Adoption of an official dog in any state would have to come about either through action of the state's legislative body, by a governor's proclamation, or by popular vote of the people of the state.

Plastics Used On Huge Scale

Chemical Matures Under War Stress; Now Factor In Big Business.

CHICAGO. — "Matured under the stress of war, plastics have become an important factor in the field of big business," declared William T. Cruse, executive vice president of the Society of the Plastics Industry.

"Peacetime finds America using plastics in industry and home on a gigantic scale," he continued. "The man-made material has come a long way from the day when it was largely associated with variety store trinkets and baubles.

"Plastics," he added, "have emerged as engineering materials in their own right. Industry is using them in the factory as housing, gears and a thousand other sturdy items never dreamed up 10 years ago."

It took the war — a proving ground for many things and people — to give plastics supporters the test they needed to show that their material could stand up with any other if not misapplied.

Blow to Industry.

In the early days, manufacturers had unfortunate experiences with plastics and threw up their hands in disgust.

They made plastic cameras that fogged the film, combs that curled up, and plastic dinnerware that softened in hot water.

"It was simply a case of using the wrong plastic to do a particular job," Cruse explained. "There are more than 23 plastics to choose from. All are different. The only thing they have in common is their origin—the molecules can be juggled in the test tube and combined in many sorts of ways to make plastics that are hard, soft, elastic, semiliquid or brittle, depending on what use is to be made of them."

This early misapplication was a severe blow to what had been heralded as a plastic age. The industry was just beginning to make strides again when the war broke out.

It got into the fray as a pinch-hitter when such strategic metals as aluminum, magnesium and zinc became scarce.

Show Versatility.

Almost immediately, plastics demonstrated their versatility and adaptability to a variety of uses.

The public heard little of plastics until the war department revealed it was being used in helmets, trench mortar fuses, pistol grips, bomber plane noses and bomber fuselages.

"In battleship construction, over 1,600 different plastics applications were used, in airplanes more than 200," Cruse said.

Plastics also went into radar equipment, assault boats, life rafts, jungle boots, goggles, binoculars and electrical equipment.

Today, once doubtful manufacturers are back on the bandwagon and looking for plastics for an answer to their problems.

But plastics leaders, mindful of the damaging blow that unbridled public enthusiasm once dealt them, now are moving with caution.

They are reluctant to talk about plastic cars and plastic homes.

"We are trying to strip away the glamour, magic and mystery with which many have come to regard plastics," Cruse said.

"We are pointing to it as a material of tough quality that will do a particular job well when properly engineered."

Many North American Animals Are in Danger of Extinction

At least 50 North American animals now are in danger of extinction, according to Dr. Hartley H. T. Jackson of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Already, he points out, some notable species have vanished. The big, dark buffalo of the northeastern United States was last known in Pennsylvania in 1801. The Maine giant mink, nearly twice the size of an ordinary mink, disappeared in 1909. About six races of grizzly bears have perished. The Merriam elk of Arizona, largest of all elk, was exterminated by 1900. The last big Plains wolf, long a nuisance to stockmen, ceased to exist about 1930.

Now, says Mr. Jackson, "North America has a long list of endangered wildlife races. Several of the grizzly bears have already gone. The Florida black bear is reduced to less than 500. The glacier bear of Alaska is so scarce as to face extinction. The fisher, the marten, and the wolverine have all been trapped so extensively for fur that they have been reduced to a danger point everywhere in North America. The black-footed ferret, with a range almost coinciding with that of the prairie dog, has become rarer and rarer until now it is seldom reported.

The southern sea otter a few years ago was believed to be extinct, Jackson said, but a small herd unexpectedly was discovered on the coast of California, which now numbers about 300 animals. The timber wolf of the northeastern states has almost succumbed to the inevitable. In fact, all the large wolves of the United States are endangered. The unsuspecting little kit fox of our western plains was easily trapped for its fur and no restrictions placed on killing it. Once a common mammal, it now is rare and in many regions extirpated. Several of our seals are so reduced in numbers as to cause serious concern.

New Hormone Gives Relief in Stomach Ulcer Cases

CHICAGO. — Development of a new hormone which scientists hope will heal stomach ulcers and also prevent their recurrence has been announced by Dr. Andrew C. Ivy, Chicago gastrologist.

The hormone, known as enterogastrene, is derived from the intestinal tracts of dogs and was developed at Northwestern University, where Dr. Ivy formerly headed the department of physiology.

Dr. Ivy said that the hormone has been used in the treatment of peptic ulcers "in scores of cases and the results are sufficiently encouraging to show this method of attack is worthy of further study."

Dr. Ivy, who now is executive vice president of the professional schools of the University of Illinois in Chicago, has spent several years studying the ulcer problem.

"Approximately 1,500,000 persons in the United States develop peptic ulcers during any 10-year period," he writes in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

"The problem of the peptic ulcer challenges medical science today because among the chronic diseases it ranks 10th as a cause of death and 12th as a cause of days lost from work.

"The death rate per 100,000 persons, presumably in the United States from peptic ulcer has increased from 2.7 in 1900 to 6.8 in 1943.

"The most discouraging characteristic of peptic ulcer is its likelihood to recur."

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Creechouse and their daughter and her two children of Vernon visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gobin Sunday.

Joe Y. Roberts of Fort Worth, on of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Roberts, whose left arm was badly fractured in a car accident near Iowa Park last Thursday, is recovering satisfactorily in the Baylor Hospital in Dallas.

Mrs. Weldon Cogdell is teaching in the school for American children in her home town near Tokyo, Japan, according to recent letters received from the family. Captain and Mrs. Cogdell are both enjoying the novelty of living in Japan, but will be glad when it is time to return to America.

What Would We Do Without Him?

Do you wonder why the school house looks so neat and clean between the last afternoon class and the first morning class? It almost seems like a "little man who isn't there job" doesn't it? The little man, who is very much here, is Elmer Brisco. He is the janitor for the grammar school building and for the high school building. His helper in high school is Alton Johnson and in the grammar school building, Donnie Brisco.

Mr. Brisco has been janitor in Crowell schools for six years. Sometimes it seems he almost has too much to do. Have you ever seen him when he was not busy? During the day he has to "fix the clock, fix the shade, fix a desk, fix a door, hang a clock, set the stove, open a window, mop the floor." Mr. Brisco's pet peeve about janitorial is finding tiny bits of paper and crushed chalk on the floor. Let's try to help him. After all, during his day we forget the many odd jobs he does plus his regular work. Could we ask for more?

Czechoslovakians Are Appreciative of Junior Red Cross Packages

This week "thank-you" notes, which were written on picture postcards, were received by the students of CHS for packages that were sent through the Junior Red Cross two years ago.

These were accompanied by a general letter to all CHS students. The letter follows: Praha, June 21, 1946, Republic of Czechoslovakia.

To Our Young Friends in U. S. A.

We just received your precious post-panels as a proof of your sacrificing friendship.

We are really appreciating your kind attention and herewith we also are thanking you all from the depth of our heart.

We also hope that we shall be able after the post-war misery and after all the difficulties caused by the six-year tyranny of the German occupation will be overcome, to do in future the same for you and to recompense the valuable gifts and presents which you are sending us.

You cannot imagine, dear friends, the surprise and the pleasure which were caused by your kind action.

We also would like to be in touch with you and to keep the exchange of letters with your school by mail.

If you are interested to do so and to keep such a correspondence, kindly use the following address:

PEP SQUAD TRIP

In spite of a short delay en route, thirty-five members of the Pep Squad, and their sponsor, Mrs. Otto Davenport, were in Paducah Friday night for the kick-off.

Our blonde and brunette cheerleaders, Julia Rose Johnson, Betty Barker, Betty Brock and Mary Jo Short, were stunning in their white battle packets and white circular skirts. The other two leaders, Betty Brock, and Julia Rose, have black uniforms which are like the white ones.

Even though we did not win the game, the girls were backing the team with lusty yells, showing great improvement over their first attempts. Before returning to Crowell, we stopped in town for hamburgers and cokes.

C. H. S. POINTS WITH PRIDE

Edna Lee Dunn, senior vice-president, steps into the coveted spot as personality of the week, with big sparkling brown eyes and hair. Her hobby is reading. When it comes to movies, just out Ingrid Bergman and Gregory Peck in the starring roles and you'll have "Eddy" swooning at your feet. Her favorite pastime, anytime, is to be with Craig Sandlin. Edna Lee is a 17-year, old "shorty" who likes biology. If you want to please her taste for food bring on some delectable stuffed olives and creamed liver. Eddy has crushed the F. H. A. Club Pep Squad, Sub Junior Avelhian Club and was elected Bluebonnet girl of Foard County. One of Eddy's favorite sayings is "you're under the influence of inklyball."

DRAGONS BEAT WILDCATS

Paducah fought its way to a 96 to 12 victory over the battling Wildcats Friday night at Paducah.

Paducah scored two touchdowns in the second quarter, and at the half they were leading 13 to 0. They crashed over another touchdown in the third, but the Wildcat's fought back to score. In the fourth, the Wildcat's fought their way to the second touchdown.

Crowell was slow getting started, but in the second half they outplayed Paducah and pushed them all over the field. Dalton Biggerstaff was the offensive star as he scored two touchdowns and gained most of the yardage. Thomas Tamplin and Ray Black sparked the Wildcat's defense.

Grover Yocham received an injured shoulder on the opening kickoff and will probably be out the rest of the season. There were a few other casualties on the team but none serious.

The following substitutes were used during the game: Hack Norman, Billy Halenack, James Bice, Ruddy Rader, Thomas White, James Withers, and Jimmie Rasberry.

WILDCAT PURRS

Here we are again with another week of gossip that we'll tell you about, but first we'd like to ask a few questions:

Have Jimmy Cates and Myra Don Self been making eyes at each other, or was it Clarence Orr and Myra Don?

Do Vernon Jones and Jean Wood have a few heartbreaks in common, or has home vice Richard Brock, will you please inform us of your feelings toward Laverne Shultz?

Could the girl with Leon McPest Saturday night have been Laverne Farrar? Could have been!

Why does Marion Gobin roam the halls? (We hope you find your mate, we wolf.)

Could it be that the Hender-

Bobby Jack, did your girl give you that sprained arm? Where did Garland Denton get the black eye? Could have been that he ran into a door? (but we don't think so.)

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up at night, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with stinging and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder.

 Ask one to cook your meals—and still you have eight!

Eight little servants—working like eleven!

Seven little servants—you don't need candlesticks
 When this one lights the house for you—and still you have six!

Six little servants, electrically alive,
 This one sews a handy seam—and still you have five!

Five little servants to help with every chore;
 One breathes a little breeze—and still you have four!

Four little servants—such activity!
 One can iron all the shirts—and still you have three!

Three little servants—if you're feeling blue,
 One will entertain you—and still you have two!

Two little servants, whose work is never done!
 One keeps the food fresh, and thinks it's rather fun—

One tells the proper time from sun to setting sun.
 (Dependable electric service makes these servants run—
 And saves you lots of elbow grease. Suppose you had none?)

Yes, electricity is always ready to take the work out of housework. And it costs so little! Matter of fact, if yours is the average family, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money as you did 20 years ago. What other item in your budget does so much for so little?

Weekly Sermon

(By E. Russel Cummings, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

Not Strangers, But Fellow Citizens.

An American troops slowly entered Puget Sound one dark, cold night in March. The war in the Pacific had ended and 4,500 war-weary soldiers had been crowded aboard to make the trip from Korea to the States.

This glorious homecoming was the culmination of four years of nerve-racking battles and long months of confinement in concentration camps of the enemy. Many of the boys had experienced grim hand-to-hand combat with the Japanese on Okinawa, Iwo Jima and the Philippines. Many bore on their bodies the unforgettable scars of war and the evidences of malnutrition.

The thirteen-day trip home was made amid an atmosphere of uncertainty and half-hearted concern on the part of the tired passengers. Their war-conscious minds were slow in grasping the fact that they were actually going home.

Then the morning sun came up and there was a mad rush from bunks to top deck. Before them lay an American city with its skyscrapers. As the ship lay at anchor in the bay the travelers suddenly realized that they were really home. No longer did they feel like foreigners, as they had when they stepped ashore on other lands. Their joyfulness could scarcely be restrained.

What great joy is ours when we come to the realization that we have been liberated, repatriated, brought home, freed from the bondage of sin. We are no longer in the prison camp of Satan, our worst enemy.

It has been said that Satan's successful invasion of the Garden of Eden was our "Pearl Harbor," but when Christ ascended on high He took captivity captive and ransomed our souls through His own precious blood. From that time on we were "no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow citizens with the saints, and of the household of God" (Eph. 2:19).

SCRIPTURE: Ecclesiastes. DEVOTIONAL READING: Ecclesiastes 3:1-7.

Worthy Objectives

Lesson for September 29, 1947

THE BOOK OF ECCLESIASTES, written by Solomon, B. C. 977, is profitable in the fact that it discloses the findings of a very remarkable man on life. Solomon tells us that he had tried every tempting offer of the world, but found it vanity. "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity," he declares.

Solomon is often referred to as the wisest of men. He does not make this claim, nor would I suggest it.

As a matter of fact, Solomon was a very unwise man in many of the manifestations of his life. He had every advantage, but yielded to selfish pursuits of pleasure when he might have been serving his day and generation by the will of God.

Why do I point to Solomon as an unwise man? From his own testimony—"I gave my heart to know wisdom, and to know madness and folly; I perceived that this also is vexation of spirit. For in much wisdom is much grief; and as that increaseth knowledge increaseth sorrow."

Excellent Advice

Even so, Solomon was heady, by the time he wrote Ecclesiastes, to give some excellent advice. He had discovered that pomp and ceremony are meaningless—that they turn at last to ashes.

For example, "He (God) hath made everything beautiful in its time, chapter 3, verse 11. Solomon had dealt in the artificial. He had worn the most costly robes, lived in the finest palaces, had gardens set up to please any passing whim.

But now that he has come to see the vanity of men, he can at last open his eyes to the beauty which God creates. And now he has become a wise man, indeed. There is beauty everywhere if only we have eyes to see.

Words of Wisdom

The next section of Sunday's lesson brings us to one of Solomon's greatest confessions. He says, chapter 3, verse 14: "I know that, whatsoever God roth, it shall be forever; nothing can be put to it, nor anything taken from it; and God doeth it, that men should fear before him."

We do well to remember that God is, and that he is good, and that he is sovereign. "This is our Father's world," wrote Maltbie Babcock. Here is a truth for today. In our dismay over the atomic bomb, we are about to forget that God intended for man to discover atomic energy, and he expected man to have enough moral stamina to use this discovery for his good and God's glory. Which brings us to the heart of the preacher's message, chapter 12, verse 13: "Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: fear God, and keep his commandments; for this is the whole duty of man."

Seeking the Best in Life

Solomon, by his own testimony, missed much of the finer things of life; but he admonishes the reader to profit by his mistake and seek the best in life. For example, in chapter 2, verse 24, Solomon says: "There is nothing better for a man, than that he should eat and drink, and that he should make his soul enjoy good in his labour."

Every boy and girl in the world knows the joy of honest work, at least I hope so. Have you grown a beautiful flower? A vegetable garden? Cut a cord of fire wood? Then you know that work is one of the essential ways of seeking the best of life.

Then Solomon comes to the first eight verses of the last chapter—a golden section of memory. It is one of the first passages of Scripture I ever learned. I trust every young person reading this column will commit that passage to memory, if you have not already done so.

Testing Life's Philosophies

Solomon concludes his confessions with this probing declaration: "For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil."

What is he saying? He is reminding us that whatever may be our philosophy of life, such philosophy, together with our commitments thereto, will be tested out under the white light of God's ultimate truth. My conclusion is that I desire but one thing—to find and follow the will of God which is always right and always best.

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)

Life Strikes a Balance: In the town in which I live there is an elderly man who operates a popcorn machine on one of his street corners.

In winter's cold and summer's heat he is on the job early and late and many patronize him each day for a sack of freshly popped corn or roasted peanuts. The other day two small boys stood watching him with interest. Finally one of them said: "I'll bet, mister, you make lots of money selling popcorn and peanuts like you do."

The old man didn't say anything for a minute or so and then very soberly and gravely said: "No, son, one can't make a lot of money in this business, because there is so much shrinkage in the peanuts." The answer seemed to satisfy the boy, but not his partner who said: "I suppose so mister, but there isn't much shrinkage in the popcorn, is there?"

It was a good question. I thought when I heard the story how like life. It isn't all gain and it isn't all loss. As with the old popcorn seller things seem to balance up pretty well by the time life has been lived.

Tiny mums, bachelor buttons and fern filled a tiny wagon which was fastened to a star and then stood before a miniature bride and groom. The wee green napkins with gold letters, "Frances and James" further carried out the color scheme. The same flowers were used in decoration of the other rooms of the lovely home.

Taylor sang two numbers, "Always" and "Because" with Mrs. Pat McDaniel playing her accompaniment. Kenner talked on the social life of the White House the various rooms of the executive mansion, their use and the furnishings of each. Although the Capitol and White House have been built many years, they were built with vision and have been well cared for and are adequate for the needs of the government today.
