Where Do Managers Come From?

A DOZEN MEN operate turret lathes. A dozen clerks stand behind hardware counters. A dozen stevedores hoist dockyard freight.
Sooner or later, one operator, clerk, stevedore is going to reach out and do the work more competently than those alongside him.
This is a real beginning. But it is not enough for a man who hopes to manage.
A manager must have demonstrated that he can take orders, before he gives orders. He must know how to impart information. He must have character, courage, and the ability to administer.
If he has all these, he is ready to go on up. Some managers stay on the first, eighth, tenth steps, and do an important job. They are the foremen, superintendents, department heads, buyers. Some still keep going. The most farsighted and imaginative climb to the top.

This constant movement of men upward is one reason why American business has an ever-fresh point of view. Someone is always bringing a new idea on up with him.
Neither the men and women in industry nor the money in industry can be effective without good business-management. Nothing else is so important to the workers' welfare, the investors' welfare or the public welfare.

Uncle Sam Says

All of us would like to put dad on a pedestal on Father's Day to show him how we feel about him the year round. I like to think of all American fathers in the role of Minute Men, standing guard over the security of their families. Certainly they could do so better than to assure the happiness of themselves and their homes than by buying United States Savings Bonds regularly.

Two automatic bond buying plans are available now. If dad is on a payroll, the Payroll Savings Plan will assure him days of ease when he gets ready to retire. If dad is a professional man or self-employed, he can use his checking account to buy a bond a month.

Confusion Over Payment of Social Security Clarified

In order to clarify any confusion over payment of social security benefits, Erton F. Tate, manager of the Wichita Falls Social Security Administration field office, announced this week that when a worker acquires 40 quarters of coverage it does not mean that he will stop making social security contributions.

Any individual who has acquired 40 quarters of coverage is permanently insured under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance provisions of the Social Security Act and will be entitled to retirement benefits at age 65, and survivors benefits will be payable in the event of his death at any age, Tate explained. However, as long as a person works in employment covered by the Social Security Act he will continue to pay his social security contributions regardless of how many quarters of coverage he has, or regardless of his age. Persons who have worked continuously in covered employment at wages of $50.00 or more per calendar quarter since the beginning of the social security program January 1, 1937, now have over 40 quarters of coverage and are permanently insured. Tate added. Those persons will be qualified for at least the minimum monthly payments at age 65. The amount of their benefits, however, will be determined by their average monthly wage from the beginning of the program to the date their claim is filed. For example, Tate pointed out a case in which two persons will be 65 in January 1957. Should one of these persons work continuously from January, 1937, to January, 1957 at a salary of $200.00 per month, his benefits will be based on an average wage of $200.00 per month. The other individual worked for a salary of $200.00 per month from January 1937, through December, 1946, at which time he retired from covered employment. His benefits will be based on an average wage of $100.00 per month, the average secured by dividing his total wages by the elapsed time up to his attainment of age 65. Tate explained that the services of his office are free to the public and that questions and in-

Wages are not increased if they result in the cost of goods. A dollar is worth only what it will buy of food, clothing and the things one needs. When wages increase begin to beat down the amount of food, clothing and the things one can use a dollar will buy, then they cease to be increases. They become inflation.

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

The big problem before Congress at the present time is the matter of tax reduction. Shall the income tax be reduced and how much?

Ask any ten persons you meet what they think about reducing income taxes at the present time and they will tell you they are in favor of a substantial reduction.

They realize that we have an enormous national debt and that it is going to require heavy taxes to pay it off in the life time of even the youngest person living today, but even so they favor tax reduction. A few who favor tax reduction do so because they feel it will lessen the amount they have to pay in income taxes each year. Another group favors income tax reduction because they have come to feel that it is only through the reduction of taxes and the reduction of budgets that governmental expenditures are going to be reduced. They have watched Congress year after year, and notwithstanding the many promises that have been made to reduce expenditures, expenses have continued to climb and taxes have been forced up and up in an effort to meet the deficit caused by too much spending. They have come to feel that a Treasury, with a visible balance in it, is a temptation to the spenders that they are unable to resist, and that the only way to meet such a temptation is to make less money available, and reduce deficiency appropriations to a minimum.

This appears to be a most logical argument. Everyone knows that this is true in the matter of city funds, county funds, state funds and even individual funds.

Money not only burns holes in the pockets of many individuals but it also seems to burn holes in the pockets of municipalities, counties and states. As soon as a balance shows up some one will dig up something for which it can be spent, some group will receive larger appropriations, or, and this is easy in federal circles, new agencies will be created to take up the balance.

It would seem from this that tax reduction is the only sure answer toward a reduction in federal spending.

If we could be assured of reduced expenditures in the future, and the application of all money above necessary operating costs to the reduction of our debt, a great many, I am sure, would be in favor of the retention of the present tax rate especially while times are as they are and business and industry is operating at top speed. With reduced expenditures there is no time like the present to reduce the national debt, it can be paid easier now than it will ever be possible to pay it in the future. We are now operating at top pitch. Every industry in the country is selling everything it can produce, and behind every industry is a great quantity of back orders that will insure production at top speed for several years ahead. This is the opportune time to pay debts because we can pay them with sixty cent dollars.

I know of individuals who are reasoning thus and are paying off their old debts with cheap dollars. If individuals would stop to think debts are the only thing for which they can spend their money and get 100 cents on the dollar. Everything else one buys, whether it be merchandise, or goods, or service, the dollar is worth only from thirty to sixty cents. The man who owes a debt created in the past and fails to pay it off and receive 100 cents on his dollar, but chooses to buy goods and merchandise and receive in value from 30 to 40 cents on his dollar, is not working for his own interests. Our nation, if it puts off the date of paying its debt and getting 100 cents value for its dollar, will not be using good business sense.

IN THE NEWS
30 YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the issue of the Foard County News of Friday, June 29, 1917:

In the presence of a few near relatives and friends, at the home of the bride in this city, on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. John Davis and Miss Bonnie Gordon, were united in marriage, Rev. R. E. Watson officiating.

The News management feels very much encouraged in its efforts to give Crowell and Foard County a good paper, second to none among the country weeklies. Scores of our friends at home have within the last few days visited the office and seen the new Linotype machine in operation, and they have invariably noted the great improvement in the paper.

Sunday night as Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Ribble and family were coming to church, their team became frightened at an automobile and turned the hack over with all the occupants, broke loose and ran away. No one was seriously injured.

Frank Hill and Glen Ofield were in Truscott Wednesday.

Ed Lomar was snipped several cars of cattle to Kansas where he has secured plenty of grass and water.

Misses Essie Thacker and Una Self and Riley Self went to Vernon last Saturday afternoon to attend the Chautauqua.

Miss Essie McLarty visited in the Talmadge community Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Couch of Knox City are in Crowell for an extended visit.

The best average wheat yield for one farm in the Rayland community was 13 bushels per acre. Some small patches of wheat have made 18 bushels to the acre.

Allen Fish returned the latter part of last week from Oklahoma City where he purchased another bunch of 23 head of registered Poll Hereford cattle.

a national convention of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics. Richmond is approximately 100 miles from Washington U. S. Highway No. 1. It is an historical center. While there I saw the old church in which Patrick Henry delivered his famous "Give me liberty or give me death" speech. I also drove down Monument Boulevard, a long which appears at intervals of several blocks beautiful statues of Confederate heroes. First is the famous cavalry officer, J. E. B. Stuart; next comes a statue of Robert E. Lee astride his famous horse; then a statue of Jefferson Davis; next comes Stonewall Jackson; and finally that genius of the sea, Fontaine Maury.

My address to the Richmond Convention was one opposing the Stratton Bill to bring into this country 400,000 refugees from Europe. On Thursday night of this week I engaged Congressman Emanuel Celler of New York in a radio debate on the same subject. Tomorrow noon I will engage Congressman Stratton of Illinois, author of the bill, in another radio debate on the subject. My active opposition to this proposal has been bringing in volumes of mail—some praising, some abusing my position.

We will know that America is an immigrant nation. Most of us are proud of the German, the Irish, the Norwegian, and the people of northern and eastern Europe who came here in the last century. They brought strong blood. They brought willing hands to do the work that needed to be done. They brought strength. Today conditions have greatly changed and so have the immigrants. Generally speaking, those who would come under the Stratton Bill would be the worst, not the best. They would aggravate tremendously our many serious social problems. We do not want workers or non-workers. Under existing laws we will continue to get several hundred thousand immigrants per year. The Stratton Bill, in effect, proposes to use this country as a dumping ground. The cry that 800,000 displaced persons in some 300 camps maintained by us have no place to go is false. The cry that these people will be liquidated if returned to their homelands is false. Major General Lowell W. Rooks, Director General of UNRRA, has just stated that out of more than 7,000,000 repatriated—sent home—since the end of the war not one substantiated instance of reprisal after repatriation has come to his attention.

Our only hope of survival in a mad world is to keep this country virile and strong. Such cannot be done if we become simply a dumping ground for the undesirable of other lands.

Among visitors in my office this week were the 4-H Club boys and girls from Texas, Elnora Miller, Rt. 1, Valley View; Deane Bening, Rt. 1, Converse; Eloise Woodruff, Rt. 1, Shallowater, and Bobby Joe Griffin of Oxtali, accompanied by their supervisor, Miss Lorene Stevens, of Texas A. & M. College. We enjoyed having these fine young folks for lunch in the Capitol.

Other visitors included Joe Nesbitt, Postmaster at Harrold; Mrs. Chas. E. (Chuck) Collins and daughter, Betty, of Wichita Falls; J. M. Isbell and Mr. and Mrs. Otis Nelson of Wichita Falls; A. G. McDonald, son of Postmaster McDonald of Alvord, and his wife.

Some one has figured out the complicated high price situation by saying that prices will not be reduced as long as people have the money to pay them.

Few of the workers in the church and the lodge are able to do things in a way that completely satisfies those who never do any of the work.

There is no truer expression than that a man runs into debt and digs his way out.

Washington News
 By Congressman Ed Gossett,
 13 District of Texas.

Washington, D. C., June 21.—As this is being written the big storm in Washington is over the President's veto of the labor bill. I personally was greatly disappointed in the President's action and in his attack upon the so-called Hartley-Taft Labor Bill which we have explained in previous newsletters. The President's veto was overridden in the House of Representatives by a vote of 331 to 83. I joined with those voting to override. In my opinion it is absolutely necessary to bridge the power of the labor czars who now have it within their power to completely strangle the nation's economy. For almost ten years now, Congress has struggled to pass legislation amending the Wagner Act. In this they have always been opposed by the President. Even the Smith-Connelly Act passed in war-time was vetoed by President Roosevelt and then passed over his veto by the Congress. It was the Smith-Connelly Act that enabled the President to win his recent fight with John L. Lewis. This Act expires on June 30. The bill the President has just vetoed simply seeks to impose upon employers and employees equal rights, duties and responsibilities, and at the same time protect the public interest.

Last Tuesday afternoon in company with Congressman Vaughan Gary of Richmond, Virginia, I drove down to this Capital of the State of Virginia and addressed

"Advance-Design" Chevrolet Trucks Make Bow

The trucks that will bring true postwar design to the highways of America, Chevrolet's new "advance-design" line of commercial vehicles, will be introduced to the trucking industry June 28 by Chevrolet dealers across the country. Incorporating a variety of new features that assure greater operating efficiency, load-carrying ability and highway safety, the new trucks are said to be more rugged and durable than ever before. First units were built in Chevrolet's Janesville (Wis.) assembly plant, and were appreciably hailed. Here the "Queen of America's Dairyland," Miss Betty Gene Gardner, Ridgeway, Wis., christens the new vehicle as Gov. Oscar Rennebohm, Wisconsin's chief executive (right), and R. W. Podiesak, Janesville plant manager, look on.

HISTORY

Birthday of John Quincy Adams
 —July 11: John Quincy Adams, the sixth president of the United States, was born in Braintree, now Quincy, Massachusetts, July 11, 1767. His father, John Adams, took him on a mission to France when he was ten years old. For several years he attended the schools of Europe. Returning to this country he attended Harvard, graduating in 1787. He studied law and in 1790, was admitted to the bar. At the age of twenty-four he was sent by President Washington as Minister to Berlin. In 1801 he returned to the United States and to the practice of law in Boston. He was elected to the Massachusetts Senate and two years later was elected to the United States Senate. He was appointed Minister by President Madison to St. Petersburg. In 1814 he was made Minister to England. In 1817 he was appointed Secretary of State by President Monroe. In 1824 he became a candidate for President and was elected. Adams was not a political partisan and when he did not remove from office all his political opponents his supporters in his party became bitter and turned against him, defeating him for re-election. After a year retirement he was elected to the House of Representatives by Massachusetts district and elected every two years for the remainder of his life. He died February 23, 1848.

Unemployment at the present time now stands at 2 1/2 million. The experts predict that by the first of next year the figure will be between four and eight million.

The only defense known to date against the atom bomb is not use it and the surest insurance that it will not be used lies in world peace.

Unwanted Pacific Atoll

Now Valuable Air Station

Tiny Palmyra, the low atoll 1,100 miles southward from Honolulu, used to be an "island without a country," says the National Geographic society.

Whaling ships often sought the atoll's limited shelter in the early 19th century. One of the earliest visitors was the American ship Palmyra in 1802. At various times thereafter, the tropical pinpoint was claimed for the United States, for Great Britain, for the one-time Hawaiian kingdom, and by private individuals for themselves.

Declarations by Hawaii in 1862, by Great Britain in 1889, and by the United States in 1912 were sovereign claims among many private ones. All lapsed, however, because the atoll was not worth holding. By 1936, the trans-oceanic phase of air transport had arrived, and the United States raised the Stars and Stripes over Palmyra, prospective way station on the New Zealand air route.

More than 50 islets make up Palmyra's land total of 250 acres. They are links in the five-mile-long horseshoe-shaped platform of coral and hard sand that encloses three separate lagoons. Largest islands, Cooper, on the north, and Eastern, on the east, cover less than 50 acres each.

Britain Changed Calendar in 1752 and Lost a Week-End

When England changed New Year's Day from March 25 to January 1 in 1752 and adopted the Gregorian calendar, thousands of Englishmen suffered a prolonged "lost week-end." According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, the change in the calendar made it necessary to wipe out 11 days of the year, which was done by declaring that the day after September 2 was September 14, not September 3. This brought England into step with the Catholic countries, which had adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1582.

During the early Middle Ages, March 25 was considered the first day of the new year by most Christian peoples, but in Anglo-Saxon England, the Britannica points out, New Year's Day fell on what is now Christmas—December 25. At the time of the Norman Conquest of England, however, William the Conqueror ordered that the year should start on the first of January, possibly, it is believed, because his coronation was scheduled for that date.

Still later, England reverted to the custom observed by the rest of Christendom and began her year on the 25th of March, and that date remained the first of the legal and ecclesiastical year until 1752, when the calendar was adjusted to the Gregorian system which is still in use today.

If you're wondering what woods will burn best in your fireplace, here are a few suggestions. Softwoods from cone-bearing trees generally make a quicker and hotter fire but also a shorter-lasting fire than do hardwoods. The lighter hardwoods make a hotter and shorter-lasting fire than do the heavier hardwoods. Woods that give the most heat for their weight are: oak, hickory, sweet birch, hard maple, rock elm, locust and longleaf pine. A combination of hard and soft wood, such as oak and pine together, makes a successful fire. Woods that throw off sparks are chestnut, butternut, tamarack, and spruce. These should be burned only behind a screen.

Major Cause of Blindness

The single most important cause of blindness is cataract. It accounted for almost 25 per cent of the cases in a sampling of 20,000 blind adults. Congenital cataract accounted for 15 per cent of the cases among a large group of blind children. A cataract is an opacity of the crystalline lens—all or part. The lens is behind the pupil. It is the part of the eye that focuses rays of light on the retina. When the cataract is fully developed, light will not pass through the lens but is reflected back. This makes the pupil of the eye—ordinarily black—look white. The onset of a cataract seems to be closely tied up with a person's general condition. Teeth, sinuses, blood, glands—trouble in these or in almost any other part of the body may be behind the trouble in the eyes. Or the trouble may be centered in the eye itself as the result of eyestrain or an accident.

Our Heritage From Ancient Israel

LESSON TEXT FOR JUNE 25—Psalm 119:106; Isaiah 2:2-4; Micah 6:1-8
MEMORY SELECTION—He will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths.—Isaiah 2:3.

Editor's Note: Lesson subjects published in this section are copyrighted by the International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

By Harold L. Lundquist, D. D., of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

At the end of the road the Hebrew nation may have—yes, should have—stopped to look back and see what it had accomplished. Israel was now in exile, to return only in part, and with greatly limited greatness and glory.

What was God's purpose for Israel? It was threefold:
(1) To be a repository for his truth in the earth.

(2) To be a channel for the coming of the personal Redeemer to the earth.

(3) To be a national witness to the one true God to the other nations of the earth.

The first two they fulfilled. They kept for us the Word of God as revealed in the Old Testament, and from their nation came most of the men through whom the Holy Spirit wrote the New Testament.

It was through their nation that the Son of God came as Jesus of Nazareth, our Saviour and Lord.

But they failed to be the witness that God had meant them to be—and for this they came under his judgment.

Were they then a complete failure? Certainly not—our lesson makes that clear in three ways.

Teachers will find the scriptures not too well selected, but they do serve as a background for these thoughts. The nation Israel showed us:

I. The Enlightening Word of God (Ps. 119:105).

Let us never forget that the precious Word of God, which is our light on the way through this dark world, came to us through Jewish hands.

The Old Testament, which we come to appreciate more and more as we grow in grace and knowledge of the Lord, was committed to Israel by inspiration of the Holy Spirit, and preserved by the Jewish nation even at the cost of their own lives. Nothing was more precious to them than the sacred Scripture. We owe them a great debt of gratitude, and ought to honor them for their service to God and man.

We may say that the Bible, unsurpassed in all the world of literature, and beyond comparison as the guiding light for man's heart and life, was given to us through Israel. We could well say a hearty "Thank you" for that right now if we have never done it before!

II. The Exalted Worship of God (Isa. 2:2-4).

The prophet looks into the future to that glorious and blessed day when the nations shall have learned to live in peace and righteousness, when war shall be no more, and the worship of God shall be the desire and the joy of men.

When will that day come? Will it be brought in by the efforts of the church, or by conferences of national leaders? Not for a moment would we minimize the value of every true effort to spread peace and righteousness through the earth. We honor those who faithfully try to bring concord in the affairs of men.

But the clear teaching of Scripture, which has been so abundant, which has been experienced, is that we can expect the delightful condition of which Isaiah speaks only when the Prince of Peace himself has returned to reign, namely, our Lord and Saviour and coming King, Jesus Christ. We look for that day!

In that blessed time Israel shall worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness, even as their history under the hand of God in days past was one true worship of the Lord.

Here again they made an enduring contribution to the life of the world. Then note their witness to:

III. The Effective Work of God (Mic. 6:1-8).

We have here words of another Hebrew prophet. He speaks of God's plain dealings with his people, his judgment upon their sin, and the need of a careful and a worthy walk before him.

Back of all the admonition and appeal is the remembrance of how God had worked on behalf of Israel, delivering them from bondage, giving them effective leaders, going before them in battle, in fact, proving his goodness and love by his mighty works.

Israel's service for God and man is an example of what God can and will do for those who obey him and walk with him. It is equally true that they thus reveal the inevitable judgment which comes upon a sinful and disobedient nation. Let us not miss that lesson, for we need it today.

Uncle Sam Says

Exactly how much have you saved in the last 12 months?

If you can't write a good big figure in the space above then you'd be smart to adopt a method of savings that millions of Americans have found to be absolutely sure fire. This method is the regular buying of United States Savings Bonds. People buy Savings Bonds now on two convenient plans. If you are on a payroll, through the Payroll Savings Plan. If you are a professional man or woman or self-employed, through the Bond-a-Month Plan at your bank. By signing up on either plan, twelve months from now you will be able to write a nice healthy sum in that space up above.

21 West Texans Listed on Displaced Persons Committee

Twenty-one prominent West Texans are listed on the Texas Citizens Committee on Displaced Persons announced in Dallas this week by Executive Secretary Robert S. Strauss.

Members from West Texas are: R. B. Anderson, Vernon; Dr. J. F. Cox, Abilene; E. B. Harris, Graham; Harold Jones, Wichita Falls; Joe M. Leonard Sr., Gainesville; Raleigh Martin, Lubbock; H. Y. Overstreet, Farwell; Shine Phillips, Big Spring; French M. Robertson, Abilene; Lexie Dean Robertson, Rising Star; Dorrae D. Roderick, El Paso; Mrs. Ethel Hankins Swain, Abilene; Arch S. Underwood, Lubbock; Boyce House, Fort Worth, Deskin Wells, Wellington; Dean Chenoweth, San Angelo; Houston Harter, San Angelo; Philip A. Kazen, Laredo; Claude W. Meadows Jr., San Angelo; Mrs. Stephen E. Brady, Fort Worth; and Leo Davis, Fort Worth.

Mr. Strauss said the committee, of almost 100 outstanding Texans, has been formed to work for expressions from Texas to their congressmen urging their support of temporary, emergency legislation which would permit the U. S. to receive a rightful share of Europe's displaced persons.

"We are supporting H.R. 2910, a bill which would provide for entry into this country of 400,000 of these homeless people during the next four years. They would be subject to existing controls such as health, political affiliations and all other present restrictions," Mr. Strauss said.

Mr. Strauss pointed out that of the 850,000 now homeless in Europe, 80 per cent are of Christian faith and 20 per cent are Jews. More than 150,000 are children under 18, with at least half having been born in concentration camps.

China leads all the countries of the world in the matter of population. New York harbor is the busiest seaport in the world.

Use Corn Meal to Clean Rugs. To clean single-tone or two-tone rugs that are only slightly soiled, use cornmeal. With a stiff brush work the cornmeal into the pile of the rugs, then remove it with a vacuum cleaner.

Miss Nancy Anderson and Charles Wm. Thompson Take Marriage Vows Saturday Night at Methodist Church

In a beautiful setting of large ferns and tall baskets of white gladioli and peonies which, with additional greenery, formed a perfect background, and Swedish steel candelabra holding tall white tapers arranged symmetrically throughout, the marriage of Miss Nancy Jo Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Anderson of Papaikou, Hawaii, and Charles William Thompson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Thompson of Crowell, was solemnized at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, June 21, at the Methodist Church in Crowell. Rev. D. D. Denison, pastor of the church, officiated with the impressive double ring ceremony.

Misses Dorothy Dobbs and Wanda Silcott of Olton presided at the register in each vestibule of the church. White flowers and ribbons marked the reserved seats. Tapers were placed among greenery in the church windows. These candles were lighted by Ushers Bill Klepper and Crockett Fox, while the altar candles were lighted by Ushers J. M. Hill and Harry Harwell and Charles Davis and Alton Roark.

Mrs. Arnold Rucker, attired in a black chiffon and lace formal, provided organ music and accompanied the pre-nuptial selections, with Mrs. Alva Spencer playing, as violin solos, Budowski's "Adoration" and Schubert's "Serenade." Mrs. Spencer wore a dark rose net over taffeta dress. Mrs. Crockett Fox of Abilene, sister of the groom, dressed in a pink marquisette over taffeta frock, sang "This is Always" and "Because." Mrs. Rucker played the traditional wedding marches for the bridal party. All wore matching corsages.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful wedding gown of white marquisette over taffeta, with Chantilly lace trim, fashioned with sweetheart neckline and full, lace trimmed sleeves, caught tight at the wrists. Her full skirt, hooped, fell into a train. Her veil of illusion was caught to a Juliet cap, which was ornamented with seed pearls, with carnations and stephanotis. She carried an arm bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, centered with gardenias. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Miss Gloria Moorehouse of Santa Rosa, N. M., was maid of honor to the bride and was attired in a white net gown made over taffeta. She carried a showery bouquet of white sweet peas and wore a headdress to match. Bridesmaids, college friends of Miss Anderson, were Miss Jean Poteet, Miss Jean Hammer, Miss Rosslyn Schreier, Miss Wanda Chitwood and Miss Doris Thurman, all of Olton, and Miss Nelda Willis of Littlefield. All wore similar dresses of pale blue marquisette over taffeta, with drop shoulder and each carried a showery bouquet of pink sweetpeas with matching headdress. Each also wore on her arm a lei of split carnations sent from Hawaii by Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Thomson, uncle and aunt of the bride.

J. T. Hughston served the groom as best man and Ushers Bill Klepper, Alton Roark, Charles Davis and J. M. Hill, all of Crowell, Crockett Fox of Abilene and Harry Harwell of Lawton, Okla., stood with the wedding party during the ceremony. Morris Johnson sang "The Lord's Prayer" to precede the prayer of blessing, as the couple knelt.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, wore a silk pastel print formal with pink carnation corsage, and Mrs. Thompson, mother of the groom, wore black crepe, with shell pink chiffon and sequin trim and a corsage of pink carnations.

The wedding took place before an improvised altar arranged with ferns and baskets of Shasta daisies. Mrs. Denison sang "Because" to accordion accompaniment. Cecil Parkhill and Miss Janet Self were best man and maid of honor to the couple.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mason of Thalia, wore a white dress with white accessories and a corsage of orchids. Miss Self wore a pink dress with white accessories and her corsage was of white carnations. For something old, the bride wore a pin belonging to her grandmother. Mrs. H. T. Capps, for something borrowed, she carried a handkerchief which belonged to her maid of honor and she carried out the tradition of something new and something blue.

The couple left immediately following the wedding on a honeymoon trip to points in New Mexico. After their return they will make their home here.

Many Folk Songs Created by Negroes

Denton, June 23.—The Negro, whether he is in the penitentiary or on a Southern plantation, is America's greatest creator of folk songs. John A. Lomax, distinguished collector of American ballads, told an audience of more than 500 Texas librarians and guests at North Texas State College's Annual Clinic for School Librarians this week.

Although the Negro's contributions in the field of folk ballads are outstanding, the songs of the Texas cowpuncher, the Louisiana bayou people, and the Mexicans in southern Texas are also of significance, he stated.

Already making plans for another book, "One Hundred Best American Ballads," Lomax has contributed 10,000 songs to the archives of the Library of Congress and is the honorary consultant to the Library of Congress.
