Soil Conservation News of District

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, Lower Pease River District Board: W. C. Howland, Grady Halbert, O. T. Holmes, O. H. Brandon, H. L. Myers.

Farmers and ranchers of the district are now thinking of management plans on their pastures and range lands. Pasture and range lands are one of the most important sources of the early or poor quality grasses. The early or poor quality grasses are little barley, rescue, needle grass, trioda, rescue, blue grama, Big and Little Bluegrama, Sideots grama, Blue grama, and other choice grasses are being planted this season's growth.

During the long period of continued grazing and unusually dry conditions of the past two years, the pastures and ranges are being depleted and the grasses are being killed or greatly weakened. With the favorable rains this season, the pastures and ranges are beginning to come back throughout the country. However, close examination shows that the vegetation present is mostly annual weeds and grasses of poor quality perennial grasses. Most of these are finished for the season. This kind of vegetation does not fit into a well managed livestock operation as do the grasses which grow and thrive during the summer months.

During the summer months, the ranchers and livestock farmers count on the choice deep-rooted perennial grasses. On many pastures in poor condition only sprigs of Indian grass, Big and Little Bluestem and Blue grama are hiding in protected places the cattle cannot reach.

Many ranchers and farmers are pointing out that the only economical and successful way of getting the better grasses back on the land is to defer the pastures through the summer growing season. The choice grasses are then allowed to manufacture plant food for maintenance and growth.

Pastures in poor condition, soil as well as the grasses, have been depleted. This means it is necessary to take out every hoof of stock by the first of June and rest it until frost. Unless this is done, the few scattered choice grasses will be grazed out because during the hot summer months these bunch grasses are the only green forage available for grazing.

These grasses do not seed until September, October and some in the early part of November and have a seed crop to improve pastures, stock should be kept until after the first killing frost. Seed stalks are the most nutritious part of the plant at this time and animals will graze it before the seeds have a chance to mature and scatter.

To get maximum production on our pastures and ranges it is wise to plan to graze off only one-half of the grass that grows. The other half go back to the soil as much and litter, it will serve as "grass insurance" for a dry year.

Bob Carroll, cooper in conservation group No. 12, is getting results from resting his pastures. Bob reduced his number of head last year so that he could rest a pasture year-long. This year he grazed last year and this year he is making a better job of producing seed. These better results will finally crowd out the undesirable grasses.

ONLY THE BRAVE PROTEST THE FARE . . . But in this instance it appears to be doing little good. A husky Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, cop is doing some vigorous noddling here with Evandro Casato, one of 24 students of the National Union arrested in protest riots against a planned increase in Rio car fare. Three street cars were stoned and set on fire by the demonstrators, who, police said, were members of the young Communist league. All were released after questioning.

Retired Baptist Minister Dies at Daughter's Home

Funeral for Rev. J. H. Plunkett Held at Gould, Okla.

Funeral services for Rev. J. H. Plunkett, 85, retired Baptist minister, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Cora Belle Whatley, Friday night, June 3, in Crowell, were held at the Baptist Church in Gould, Okla., on Sunday afternoon, June 5, with interment taking place in the Gould Cemetery. Gould is the former home of the deceased, and he was formerly a pastor of the church there.

Rev. Dan Green, a life-long friend and a former pastor of the church, officiated at the services. Favorite songs of the family were sung by the choir.

Pall bearers were grandsons of Rev. Plunkett, with the exception of two. They were Frank Kasel of Dallas; David Fox of Bryan; Bill Bell of Crowell; H. M. Plunkett of Odessa; Earl Plunkett of Mena, Ark.; and Jack Walker and Les Whatley of Crowell.

Rev. Plunkett was born in Madison County, Texas, on October 22, 1864. He married three years ago and was preceded in death by his wife four years ago, and she was laid to rest at Gould. Seven children were born to them.

Rev. Plunkett was a pioneer Baptist preacher of Oklahoma, having moved, with his family, to Oklahoma in early life. He was actively engaged in preaching and in ministerial work until the passing of his wife. Only one year ago on the day of his burial, he preached the sermon at a homecoming of a church he organized more than fifty years ago. He had many friends in every section where he had worked. His funeral reflected his life, and was attended by people whom he had married and whose children he had married, and those to whom he had ministered in various ways. He was of a happy, cheerful, helpful disposition, truly a ministering spirit.

Rev. Plunkett had resided in the home of his daughter for about five months and had been ill most of that time. A son, Lem Plunkett, has been here for the past month.

Survivors include the seven children, Mrs. Cora Belle Whatley of Crowell; Mrs. Louise Fox of Bryan; Mrs. June Cook of Bryan; Lem Plunkett of Odessa; Olga Plunkett of Inglewood, Calif.; Vaden Plunkett of Wichita Falls and Jimmy Plunkett of Bentonville, Ark. All were here for their father's funeral with the exception of Olga.

Eleven grandchildren also survive and six great grandchildren, as well as one brother, Walter Plunkett of Houston and a number of nieces and nephews.

A number of Crowell friends attended the funeral Sunday afternoon.

Wheat Harvest in Foard County Almost Completed; Approximate Number of Bushels Received Over 1,145,000

The big rush in harvesting Foard County's 1949 wheat crop was over last Saturday, however, some wheat was being received at the elevators in the county up until Tuesday night. The one-inch rain that fell over the county Tuesday night stopped the combines that were still in operation.

According to figures released by the elevators of the county Wednesday afternoon and estimating the grain that has been combined but still remains on the farms or in storage outside of the elevators, there had been approximately 1,146,800 bushels harvested in the county.

The yield per acre fell far short of what it was estimated to be several weeks ago. Many fields of wheat were badly damaged by the excessive rains in May. Some farmers have reported good average yields on all their acreage and some have had disappointing reports.

There are still many acres of wheat in the county that have not been harvested on account of being too green, but an accurate estimate is hard to get.

The transient combines here for the harvest began to move out the latter part of last week and continued into this week.

The estimate of the crop in the Foard County News on June 10 last year was that it was nearing the 1,000,000-bushel mark.

A more accurate estimate of the total yield for the county can be obtained for next week's issue.

Crowell to Be Sprayed with DDT in Near Future

Arrangements are being made to spray the City of Crowell with DDT, it was announced this week by city officials. Before this can be done, however, it will be necessary that all weeds and high grass are cut so that the spraying with a fogging machine will be effective. Folio cases in Texas are mounting and it is essential that every safeguard be taken to prevent this dreaded disease.

Owners of vacant lots are responsible for their property, it was said, and they are urged by those in authority to have the weeds cut on these lots as soon as possible. High weeds on vacant lots are a health hazard and mar the beautification of the city.

Many home owners have done a fine job in beautifying their yards, but they need the cooperation of owners of vacant lots that adjoin their property.

This year the clean-up job is a must and city officials say they are prepared to carry out any ordinance necessary to safeguard the health of the citizens of Crowell.

Crowell Men in Austin to Attend Highway Meeting

A second hearing was conducted by the State Highway Commission in Austin Wednesday on the request for extension of Highway 199 from Seymour to Crowell.

Alton B. Bell, president of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce, headed a delegation at the meeting from Crowell. With him were Claude Callaway, chairman of the Highways and Roads committee, and J. R. Beverly, committee man.

A plea for the extension was made to the commission last February, but no action was taken. Proponents contend the road would effect a saving of 40 miles per round trip between the towns, and would be of benefit to many sections of West Texas as well as to areas east of Fort Worth and Dallas.

BETWEEN-MEAL SNACKS

Austin Highlights
(By Sen. George Moffett)

Austin, Texas, June 4—Some observers say that the most important bills of this session of the State Legislature are the Gilmer-Aikin bills to revamp the state's public school system and the $30 million appropriation for farm-to-market roads.

There are three Gilmer-Aikin bills, each dealing with a separate phase of the public school educational problem. The first one abolishes the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction and substitutes the office of Commissioner of Education, which is to be filled by appointment by the State Board of Education.

For more than sixty years, the people have elected the State Superintendent. That will now be changed to the appointment method just mentioned. I did not vote for this bill, as I seriously question the wisdom of this particular change in our educational system.

The second Gilmer-Aikin bill establishes the requirements for various schools and sets forth the teacher-pupil load and the salary scale for teachers. The Legislature thought best to establish a salary scale that might attract well-qualified people charged with the responsibility of teaching our children. This probably is a sound step.

My belief is that our country was able to swing into action quickly during World War II because millions of Americans had received suitable basic educational training before the war broke out, and therefore they were able to acquire specialized training that made them very useful in war plants, essential war occupations, and the Armed Services. A person who receives good basic training in our public school system is usually fitted to become either a useful citizen or soldier in later life. Therefore, the money spent to attract good teacher talent ought to be a good investment.

However, I strenuously objected to the transportation section of the second Gilmer-Aikin bill, because I sincerely believe it to be unfair to the sparsely populated areas of Western Texas. It is very hard to convince members from the cities and thickly populated counties of Central and East Texas that transportation is a major item in most West Texas counties and that the state should take note of that the state should provide equal educational opportunities for all the children, including those in West Texas.

The third Gilmer-Aikin bill provides the state's part of the money to get the new system underway. It will take at least $30 million annually more than the state has heretofore provided to put this new program to work.

The second important item of this session is the appropriation for $30 million with which to build farm-to-market roads in Texas for the next two years. This is by far the largest appropriation ever made by the state for such purpose. However, this state is so large that even $30 million, when spread over the 254 counties in Texas, will build only about twelve to fifteen miles per county, including the necessary bridges, culverts, etc. This bill, however, provides for a continuing appropriation each two years and if carried out as intended will ultimately mean a considerable amount of farm-to-market road mileage. The construction of roads is perhaps the best way to spend money in order to get the greatest good for the greatest number.

Americans spent $9,600,000,000 for liquor in 1947, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce.

Last year the U. S. Department of Agriculture reports there were 27,440,000 persons living on the farms of the United States.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

(By Congressman Ed Gossett)

Washington, D. C., June 3, 1949—The recent Supreme Court decision in the Terminello case and the recent untimely death of James Forrestal have brought into sharp focus the whole controversial question of freedom of speech. Terminello was convicted under a Chicago ordinance for creating a disturbance by an allegedly vicious and rabble-rousing speech. The Supreme Court reversed the Illinois Courts and acquitted Mr. Terminello and held that he had a right to say what he wished, even though his speech provoked anger, invited public dispute, and created unrest. A number of Justics dissented from this view. It is generally conceded in Washington that Mr. Forrestal's death was largely caused by vicious and unfair attacks upon him, principally by radio commentators. Mr. Earl Godwin, an old and reputable newspaper man of Washington and a radio commentator, said "One reason why James Forrestal ended his life was the pounding of vast cruelty inflicted on him by editors and commentators who had an axe to grind or an exclusive scandal to sell or spout. . . . Also a flood of abusive letters reached him because of his stand on Middle East oil. . . ." Incidentally, Mr. Forrestal was the only member of the President's Cabinet who sought to keep the Administration from rushing to the defense of Israel and from precipitously recognizing the sovereignty of Israel.

A number of bills have been introduced in the Congress seeking to limit writers, commentators, newspapers, and radios, in their unsupported attacks upon individuals and organizations. This whole question of censorship, of freedom of speech and expression, is coming in for serious and controversial debate. Public officials, in particular, have been considered open targets for abuse. Often great injury is done to the public service through unfair and libelous attacks on such officials. However, democracy itself must rest upon freedom of thought and expression. Censorship itself often abuses the rights of individuals in restraining freedom of expression. More than 200 years ago, the famous French philosopher, Voltaire, said to another famous Frenchman, Rousseau, "I wholly disagree with what you have to say, but will defend unto the death your right to say it." Granting the evils and abuses of a free press and a free radio, such evils and abuses are not so great as would be those of irresponsible censorship, or of severe restraints upon freedom of expression. Indignant as we may become because of unfair attacks upon people and issues, most of us will still agree with Mr. Voltaire.

The President on yesterday approved a bill passed by the House and Senate which seeks, through the Commodity Credit Corporation, to supply additional grain storage. A number of us in conference with CCC officials have been frantically seeking more storage for grain now being harvested in our section of Texas. Plans are under way to use government warehouses on abandoned army posts—also to use hundreds of ships idle and anchored in the harbors of the country. There are several hundred of such ships in Texas ports that it is hoped may be used. Unless adequate storage is found, Texas farmers will lose millions of dollars in the price obtained for wheat now being harvested. This year's wheat crop is expected to break all records. One of my Congressman friends from Kansas reports that his State alone will produce more than 260 million bushels.

A few days ago, I participated in an NBC television debate in New York City. Senator Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee, and myself were on the affirmative, while Professor Herbert Wechsler of Columbia University Law School and Mr. Basil Brewer, editor of the Standard Times of New Bedford, Massachusetts, were on the negative. The question was "Should the Gossett-Lodge Amendment Abolishing the Electoral College Be Adopted?" The debate was presided over by a Judge of the New York Supreme Court. Our opponents admitted the evils of the present system but expressed fears that if the Electoral College was abolished, the South would have too much voice in national politics.

A good deal of comment is heard around Washington concerning Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., and his recent election to Congress. Mr. Roosevelt was elected on the Liberal-Progressive ticket, defeating candidates who ran on the Democratic ticket and the Republican ticket. A good many members of Congress have been amused by the fact that Mr. Roosevelt took off for a visit to Palestine immediately after his election and has not yet reported in Washington to be sworn in as a Congressman. Some gossip has been occasioned by the report that his mother has said he would be President of the United States one day. That, of course, is a possibility pleasing or otherwise, depending one's point of view.

SNAKES AREN'T BAD

Austin, Texas, June 4 — Snakes aren't as bad as you think, says a University of Texas zoology professor.

An authority on Texas wildlife, Dr. W. Frank Blair explains there are only four poisonous snakes among the many that live in the state. For everyone of the poisonous coral, rattlesnake, water moccasin and copperhead snakes, however, there are 10 non-poisonous snakes that help mankind by eating harmful insects, he points out.

His advice is: Learn to recognize the poisonous types and kill them, but let the others alone.

She and her little girl friends were playing as if they were traveling on the train, using the closet as a Pullman, and Allison was sleeping in the upper berth on a shelf when in some way she fell out.

The largest hail losses have been paid to J. R. Ford, Roy Todd and J. H. Carter, which amounted to $10,000.

When the harvest hands and teams went into the wheat fields Monday the temperature stood at about 50.

Mrs. H. Speck's little nieces, Frances and Lou Inda Puckett, of Amarillo are making her a visit.

Miss Lois Taggart came in Tuesday from Denton where she attended C. I. A. the past term.

Rheumatic Heart Disease Disabling to Children

Austin, Texas — The disabling and often fatal disease of children, rheumatic heart disease, is one of the leading causes of death among children and young adults in the age group 10 to 25 years.

Unfortunately, there has been developed for this disease no vaccine such as we have for smallpox, diphtheria and whooping cough, but by recognizing the early symptoms and obtaining a competent physician's diagnosis and treatment, some of the damaging results of rheumatic heart disease can be prevented or moderated.

The State Health Officer, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, says that "in general the early symptoms of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows or wrists. The pain is felt usually in one of these joints, and spreads frequently to the others. Often a doctor's examination of a child who becomes irritable and cross without apparent cause, easily, and develops nervous habits, will disclose the presence of rheumatic heart disease."

Predisposing causes to this serious illness include frequent chilling, living in damp, steamy quarters, poor diet, frequent colds, and sometimes scarlet fever or other infections caused by certain streptococcus germs. All such conditions should be avoided if at possible.

Protection for children against rheumatic heart disease, should include a thorough physical examination by a physician at least once a year; a well balanced and nourishing diet, sufficient rest, sleep, and dressing at all times in accordance with the temperature of the room or playground. Consult a physician at once if any symptom suggests that the disease may be present or in process of developing.

The offensive, sickening odor left by cockroaches is caused by an oil secreted by their scent glands. The odor can be removed by washing the articles in soapy water.

A Product of General Motors

Two of America's Most Popular Motor Cars

Pictured above are typical examples of the two smart and separate lines of cars which bear the current imprint of Pontiac goodness—the Streamliner and the Chieftrain DeLuxe Sedan Coupes.

Each is in such demand that, on its own, it ranks among America's most popular cars today. That two cars of such decidedly different appearance should each enjoy such wide acceptance is easy to explain. THEY'RE BOTH PONTIACS!

While each has its own individualized smartness, both offer all the great basic Pontiac virtues. Both are conspicuously beautiful. Both carry the well-known promise of Pontiac quality—long life, dependability, and fine performance. Both afford the smooth, enjoyable performance of Pontiac's two great engines—the power-packed straight eight or its equally famous six-cylinder companion.

Finally, both represent unusual values—a very fine product at a very low price. Either one you choose will make you mighty happy.

Annual Meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston, Mass., June 6

Boston, Mass., June 6—Breaking through the crust of ancient beliefs in material power, the post-war world is reaching out in an unprecedented effort for something better upon which to found a union of nation, The Christian Science Board of Directors declared today.

Addressing several thousand Christian Scientists attending the annual meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, the Directors viewed with satisfaction the world-wide stir in human consciousness to discard the material for the spiritual.

Physicians, they said, are giving more importance to thought in relation to disease. Natural scientists, they added, are gaining in their recognition of the insubstantiality of matter.

Religious leaders everywhere, they pointed out, have developed a widespread sense of the need and reasonableness of greater and more direct evidences of spiritual power.

In various other directions, the Directors continued, there is a strong urge to look beyond mere human means for the establishment of stable government.

The Directors' statement and the election of Miss Emma C. Shipman to the Presidency of the Mother Church for the ensuing year sparked an annual meeting filled with reports of marked progress in the Christian Science movement throughout the globe.

If Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science,

MISS EMMA C. SHIPMAN
Brookline, Massachusetts
Incoming President of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Biographical Sketch, Incoming President, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.:

Miss Emma C. Shipman, C. S. B., of Brookline, Mass., is a local member of The Mother Church. She became a firm believer in Christian Science when a young girl through the healing of immediate members of her family by two of her aunts who were early pupils of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy.

Miss Shipman received her schooling in the public schools of Vermont and New Hampshire, in the Johnson, Vermont, Normal School (now Teachers' College), and at the College of Liberal Arts, Boston University. She is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity.

Miss Shipman joined The Mother Church in 1893, and received Primary class instruction the same year. In January, 1896, she was elected a teacher in The Mother Church Sunday School.

In November, 1898, Miss Shipman was called to the last class taught by Mrs. Eddy. In March, 1899, she began the public practice of Christian Science, and later began the work of teaching Christian Science. She has served on various committees for The Mother Church and was for several years a member of The Christian Science Bible Lesson Committee. She has also contributed many articles to the Christian Science periodicals.

were here today, according to the new President, "she would see the signs of the growth she most desired"—signs that stem from what Miss Shipman described as "a more steadfast consciousness of the all-power and all-presence of God."

This consciousness was seen by the Directors of the Church as rapidly spreading throughout the post-war world, where "beliefs long accepted are being questioned and discarded as never before."

"Not only the general stir in human consciousness but definite, basic changes of concept in the major fields of science, theology, and medicine" were said by the Directors to have contributed to a growing respect for Christian Science and the spiritual healing for which it stands.

"These are the three measures of meal to which Mrs. Eddy referred—science, theology, and medicine—and certainly great changes have been going on in all of them."

"The changes plainly represent a yielding of human thought in some measure to Truth, as revealed by Mrs. Eddy, and they have undoubtedly created in many quarters new and more favorable attitudes toward her teaching."

What is the essential message of these teachings? The Directors explained this, as follows: "It is that the availability of satisfactory government, whether of the body, or for any group of mankind, or for mankind as a whole, is no longer open to question."

"It is that such government does not have to be built up by merely human means, but that it already exists in perfection, and needs only to be understood and exemplified in the thought and conduct of men in order to become amply evident in their experience."

The Directors added: "It must be plain enough that selfishness is the root of the world's troubles today—selfishness which puts one's own interests, or the interest of one's group or nation, as he conceives them, above the interests of the rest of mankind."

"And it is not strange that thinkers in many fields are recognizing that the remedy for this widespread evil is to be found in those qualities of thought and life which are revealed in Christian Science as the qualities of God, and therefore as spiritually natural qualities of man."

The growing worldwide recognition of the news and editorial quality of The Christian Science Monitor was a source of keen satisfaction to the Trustees, Governments, private industries, educational and private foundations, they said, have sought the counsel and assistance of the Editor and other staff members of the Monitor.

Food, clothing and literature supplies have flowed steadily from The Mother Church to needy Christian Scientists in Europe, the Clerk's report disclosed.

Large quantities of food have been sent to churches and societies in Japan, Hungary, Austria, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, the Netherlands, and Poland, he stated. Similar shipments of clothing have gone to Great Britain, Germany, Northway, the Netherlands and elsewhere.

to a lower level. But the farmer would still have had to pay current high wages and other costs. In some cases, the legal meat prices established by the deep thinkers in the government might have been below the cost of production. With this possibility confronting him, it would have been a rare farmer indeed who'd have produced as much livestock for market as possible. The great majority of farmers would have been exceedingly wary, and the total available meat supply would have inevitably declined sharply.

On top of that, more and more of the supply would have found its way into the black market, to be sold at illegal, excessively high prices that only a few could afford to pay. Rigid government restrictions always play into the hands of people who are looking for ways to make a quick dollar at the expense of the public.

As matters turned out, meat is in good supply and it is being sold at a fair price. But conditions would have been very different if we'd accepted the arguments of those who champion a regimented economy.—Industrial News Review.

THE REGIMENTERS WERE WRONG

According to government surveys, the supply of livestock will be better than adequate this year. The excellent grain crop, coupled with a good demand situation, are among the factors which have encouraged farmers and ranchers to hold meat animal production to high levels.

It is interesting to imagine what would have happened had Congress bowed to the urgings of the Executive Branch and reimposed price controls and rationing a year or two ago. In this, we are dealing in the realm of theory, but experience here and abroad provides an accurate basis for speculation.

The whole argument for price control was that it would be used to arbitrarily push prices down

VERSATILE COAL

What does coal look like and what is it good for?
You probably think that's an easy question — coal is just a black, heavy substance that burns, and gives heat and energy. But that's only the beginning of the story.

According to an article in Coronet magazine, coal provides thousands of things besides energy — ranging from ersatz butter to DDT, dyes, plastics, perfumes and life-saving drugs.

New possibilities for using coal are virtually unlimited. Chemical processes, which change its molecular architecture, produce such articles as rubber, refrigerators and so on down a long list.

Coal is an exceedingly versatile commodity. We have coal in nearly inexhaustible quantities—even at the current high rate of consumption our known reserves would last for thousands of years. We also have a progressive coal industry which is constantly looking for better ways to mine it, and to make it more useful and desirable in the eyes of the consumer. Then we have an army of coal miners who represent one of the high paid labor forces in industry.

Coal enters more directly into our daily living than is generally realized.—Industrial News Review.

Weekly Sermon

You CAN Do It!

By L. L. Macfarlane, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

A common statement heard today is, "I'd like to, but—" You want to do or say something, but obstacles seem to overbalance. Along this same line, we hear so many Christians mention, "I'd like to tell others about Christ, but—I haven't a good enough education—I'm no speaker—Who'd want to hear a poor nobody like me?"

When Dwight L. Moody, well-known evangelist, was holding services in Ireland, a newspaperman wrote the following: "One cannot but ask the question, 'What is the magic power which draws together these mighty multitudes and holds them spellbound?' Is it the worldly rank or wealth of learning or oratory of the preacher? No, for he is possessed of little of these. It is the simple lifting up of the cross of Christ—the holding forth the Lord Jesus before the eyes of the people."

Mr. Moody gained new Christians not by trying to be an outstanding orator, or by overwhelming his audience with ornate words but by showing "Jesus only." Anyone who is a follower of Christ and knows His Word, can do the same. And, as Moody, he can testify of Him, without worry or fear.

The evangelist's son tells this of his father, "He was able to throw off all burden of mind when he had done his utmost. 'It's worry that kills,' he would say, and

Miss Peggy Evans and Pfc. Carlos McBeath Wed Saturday Night

Miss Peggy Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Evans, and Pfc. Carlos McBeath, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McBeath of Thalia, were married at the parsonage home of Rev. and Mrs. Aubrey C. Haynes, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Haynes, pastor of the Crowell Methodist Church, officiated with the double ring ceremony.

The couple was attended by Mrs. Arnold Smith of Waco, sister of the bride and Sherman McBeath of Thalia, brother of the groom. The bride was attired in a dress of luggage waffle pique, with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of Picardy glads. She carried out the tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed and blue. Mrs. Smith wore a two-piece dress of aqua blue cotton sheer and white accessories. Her corsage was of tiny white chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. McBeath will reside in Fort Worth where he is stationed at Carswell Air Force Base.

One of Screen's All-Time Greats to Be at Rialto

One of Hollywood's all-time great pictures is brought back to the Rialto screen Tuesday, June 14, with the showing of M-G-M's masterpiece reprint of "San Francisco," with Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald and Spencer Tracy as its outstanding stellar trio.

Jammed with spectacle and exciting action, together with music and romance, this unforgettable picture has its setting on the Barbary Coast when it was a byword around the world. Clark Gable offers one of his greatest characterizations as Blackie Norton, owner of the most popular resort on the Coast. Jeanette MacDonald is superb as the country girl who starts her singing career on the Barbary Coast and rises to great operatic heights, only to return to the Coast because of the man she loves.

Spencer Tracy scores in an unusual role as a kindly priest who chooses the wicked street for his evangelistic work.

High Blood Pressure

Hardening of Arteries,
Pains in Left Arm
And Side—

Elmer G. Johnson, President of Harlingen State Bank, Harlingen, Texas, writes on Feb. 20, 1948:

"Please send another bottle of Liquid Garlic, also send a bottle to my sister-in-law, Mrs. Hulda C. Dutton, 45 Atwater Terrace, Springfield, Mass.

"I have some good reports to make on the effectiveness of garlic used. Mr. Turner, Texaco dealer here has taken two bottles and is much better, his blood pressure down about 60 points. Mrs. W. F. Nelson, San Benito, who was in bad shape, is also very much better and her blood pressure down considerable. This garlic works, and you are doing a fine job of producing it for the benefit of those suffering from high blood pressure or heart trouble."
