JOHNSON-FOX STORAGE BARN PAYS DIVIDENDS IN FIRST YEAR'S USE

O'Neal Johnson tells Clyde Neel, county ACA administrator, they had to rush work on the new granary just before...

(This story and pictures courtesy of the AMARILLO TIMES)

From the Thalia community here in Foard County comes one of the most convincing stories that farm storage does pay off.

Here are two brothers-in-law, O'Neal Johnson and Loyd Fox, who operated a grocery and hardware business in Thalia for 11 years before selling out five years ago so they could devote their entire time to farming operations. Johnson and Fox, like thousands of other wheat farmers in West Texas, last April suddenly waked up to learn they would lose thousands of dollars if they found themselves without storage when the harvest got under way a few weeks later.

"We started work on that storage barn on April 28 and finished it on May 24 even though we lost ten working days because of rain and mud," says O'Neal Johnson. "In fact, we were still driving nails when the first load of wheat was brought to the barn."

The new barn is 80 feet long and 40 feet wide, including a hallway. It cost the partners about $4,500. But the partners are mighty happy they built that barn.

Here's why: wheat was bringing exactly $1.50 a bushel in Crowell when the harvest got under way. The elevators took three loads for storage and refused the fourth one that was hauled back to the farm.

"The loan price on this wheat is now $1.92 a bushel plus 16 cents for storage," added Johnson. "The difference between $1.50 cash price at harvest time and $2.08 is still 58 cents a bushel. We stored 15,000 bushels in that barn. At 58 cents a bushel, that means we made $8,700 above what we could have gotten had we sold in June. The barn only cost us $4,500 so we actually saved $4,200 above all costs."

And the $4,200 would pay for the fine new residence the Johnsons built a year ago on the place, about eight miles east of Crowell, and about three miles west of Thalia. (Loyd Fox and his family reside in Thalia.)

Some of this year's wheat on the section which the two partners operate together made as high as 30 bushels but the overall average was about 20. (Loyd explains that he was fishing in Mule Creek when he should have been seeding his crop last fall.) O'Neal says he has 260 acres in cotton "to fall back on." He has a married son, Jimmy, and another son, Billy, 16, who work with them. There also is a brother, Woodrow, farming with O'Neal. However, they have other land besides the section on which the O'Neal Johnson family live. J. L. McBeath, a neighbor, farmed this same section for 27 years before moving off it five years ago when Johnson and Fox bought it. McBeath points out a big cottonwood tree, largest between Crowell and Thalia, which he and his wife set out in 1924 on that place.

The Johnson-Fox partnership are strong believers in the PMA practices. They have just gotten approval of 380 acres of chiseling by the community committee, Tuck Matthews.

And, on top of their wheat storage, the partnership has put a shed, 20 by 80, on the south side of their new barn where they may store a big portion of their cotton this fall "just in case," says O'Neal Johnson. By the way, he was born and raised just three miles north of where he now lives, in the Gambelville school district. And he is the oldest of a family of six sisters and four brothers. He and Loyd Fox married sisters.

"And during the 11 years we operated the grocery and hardware business in Thalia, we never lost over one-half of one per cent although we sold 85 per cent of our merchandise on credit," added Loyd.

And these two partners admit they graze some cattle on their wheat through the winter and early spring months.

T. H. (Tuck) Matthews tells O'Neal Johnson where to sign the dotted line after Tuck, as a community committee member, completed inspection of chiselling done on 380 acres on the Johnson-Fox farm.

Left to right: Loyd Fox, full partner and brother-in-law of O'Neal Johnson, J. L. McBeath, center, a neighbor who formerly operated the section and Johnson at right. Someone had made a funny remark at which they were laughing.

Mrs. Ted (Jean) Reeder, chief clerk, supervises office work in the Triple-A office in Foard County. Clyde Neel is the administrator.

To the People of Crowell:

We, the members of the Volunteer Fire Department of Crowell, need your help. Crowell is fortunate to have the low fire insurance rate now in effect in this town. To maintain this rate, we must meet certain requirements of the Fire Insurance Laws of the State of Texas.

One of the requirements is attendance at drills. We must have 28 members present at one drill each month. We are allowed only 21 members in the department, therefore, we must have 14 members present at two drills each month. So far, we have only a few members who are attending these drills and trying to carry the load to maintain our insurance rate.

We need men in this town who are willing to sacrifice a little pleasure and be willing to get their clothes dirty to help us out. It is not a bed of roses and there is a lot of hard work attached to learning to fight a fire.

If you are willing to meet these requirements, please place your application for membership with the Crowell Fire Department.

Yours for a better and safer Crowell.

Funeral for Doyle Wright Held Here Saturday at 3 p. m.

Rites Conducted By Rev. Fitzgerald of Austin

Doyle Wright, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wright, met accidental death in the Municipal swimming pool at Seymour Thursday afternoon while, as a member of the Crowell Band, he was on an outing of the band members and band sponsors to that city. The group had been in the pool for only a few minutes when Doyle disappeared and when he was brought to the surface, he was pronounced dead by physicians who were quickly on the scene. Efforts to revive the lad by artificial respiration were unsuccessful.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon, August 27, with Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald of Austin, a former Crowell pastor, officiating. Interment was made in the Crowell cemetery under the direction of the Womack Funeral Service.

Pall bearers were members of the band: Charles Wishon, Wayne Shultz, Bobby Hord, Don Brisco, Lewis Hunter, Marion Gobin, Joe Sokora and Jimmy Franklin. Named as honorary pall bearers were Jimmy Tom Cates, Chun Gafford, Billy John Rader, A. L. McGinnis, Jimmy Everson and David Bayless.

Serving as flower bearers were members of the band also: Bobbie Ruth Abston, Rondyn Self, Frankie Mabe, Jenny Wehba, Doris Morris, Melba Ward, Bertha Holliday, Ann Bayless, Elaine Brooks, Neva Lou Potts and Jene Browder of Truscott.

With Mrs. A. L. Rucker playing piano accompaniment, favorite songs of the family were sung by a choir and a special song, "Beyond the Sunset" was sung by Mrs. W. F. Stasser.

Richard Doyle Wright was born in Crowell on April 2, 1933, and had resided here his entire life. He attended the Crowell High School and was considered an outstanding pupil. He was a member of the band and participated in all school activities. He was employed at the time of his death at the school in making the building and grounds ready for the opening of school. He was happiest when engaged in school work. He had many friends and his untimely death has caused regret among young and old.

Doyle was a member of the First Baptist Church and was active in church as well as school. Survivors include Mr. and Mrs. Wright, the parents; one sister, Mrs. Keller Mecharg of Albuquerque, N. M.; two brothers, Minyard Wright and Herman Wright of Wichita Falls; three nieces and three nephews and a number of aunts and uncles and cousins.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Minyard Wright and family and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wright, all of Wichita Falls; Lee Wright and P. V. Long of Pampa; Mrs. Jimmy Donberry and two children of Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonsel and children, Bobby and Dora Faye, of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Taylor and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Allen Minyard and family and Shorty Taylor of Canyon, and Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Hopkins and family and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bradford of Vernon; Mrs. Virgie Nelson of Brownwood. A number of Seymour people also were in attendance.

C. H. S. Football Team Practicing on Home Field

The Crowell High School football team has been working out on its home field this week after a week's work in the Wichita mountains. The team is shaping up to the extent that Coaches Thayne Amorette and Gordon Erwin are pretty definite about most of the starting positions. However, Coach Amorette states that many of the reserves will be used a great deal during the season. The line was strengthened quite a bit by shifting Buddy Rader from a backfield to a guard position. This gives three first string guards. Coach Amorette thinks that a team is about as strong as the middle of its line. With James Bice and Buddy Rader at guards and Jimmy Rasberry and Hack Norman at the tackle positions there shouldn't be any team making too much yardage through the middle. Those four boys average 170 pounds in weight. Harold Ribble has the inside track on the center position. He is light but very active and a good blocker. Charles Pittillo is a definite starter at the right end position, but the other end is still wide open. However, Jim Paul Norman, a brother to Hack, is looking the best at the present time. Jim Paul is a freshman and inexperienced but he should develop into a good end. Bobby Lax, Joe Howard Williams, and Gordon Wood Bell are being used quite a bit in the line.

F. L. Ballard, Rouse Todd, Billy Earl Lynn, James Weather, Jon Sanders and Buster Laquey should take care of the backfield positions. However, several other boys will see service in the backfield during the season.

The Coaches carried the squad to Matador for a scrimmage on Tuesday night and they were well pleased with the way the Crowell boys performed. The Matador boys will return this scrimmage here on Thursday night and the public is invited to see it. The scrimmage will start about eight o'clock and there will be no charge for admission.

The Wildcats will open their season here next week with the Munday Moguls. Crowell defeated the Munday team by two touchdowns last year but the Moguls will be playing their second game of the season when they come here on Friday of next week. They play Rochester at Munday tomorrow night.

Harris S. Chandler of Wichita Falls Buried Here Sunday

Harris S. Chandler, 61, of Wichita Falls, brother-in-law of Vernon Pyle of Wichita Falls, Leonard Pyle of Pasadena, Calif., Mrs. A. M. Bryson of Throckmorton and the late Mrs. E. W. Burrow of Crowell, was buried in the Crowell Cemetery Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

Mr. Chandler died suddenly of a heart attack in the Brook and Eighth Street Barber Shop, which he owned and operated, Friday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted at the Hampton - Vaughan-Merkle Chapel at 2 p. m. by Rev. G. C. Randolph, pastor of the Scotland Methodist Church.

Pall bearers were Byron Davis and Homer Zeibig of Crowell, and Jim Dunham, K. Gower, Vance Allen and W. O. Brown of Wichita Falls.

Mr. Chandler resided at 800 Denver and had lived in Wichita Falls for 15 years. Survivors include his wife, the

They are Mr. and Mrs. Will Neal and Mr. and Mrs. John Mahoney of Quamah, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Grimm of Oklahoma City, Mr. and Mrs. Martin O'Connell of Crowell, Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn of Margaret. Friends of these couples are especially invited to attend. It has been announced.

J. D. Mahoney Jr. of Dallas is chairman of the reunion this year.

A large attendance is expected and some visitors come from as far away as California.

All Preparations Have Been Made for the Opening of the Crowell Schools Monday Morning, September 5th

Everything is in readiness for the opening of Crowell Schools next Monday morning, September 5, according to Superintendent Grady Graves.

Classes will start at nine o'clock and run to noon on the first day. The periods will be only long enough for books to be issued and assignments made. The buses will return the children home about 12:15. The school cafeteria will be open on Tuesday. Meals will be 25 cents as last year.

Mr. Graves states that parents who wish to accompany their children will be welcomed, but there will not be any opening exercises as all of the time will be needed to issue books and make assignments.

Most of the high school students have been enrolled this week and it looks like there will be over 200 in this department this year. This is about 15 over last year's enrollment. Due to the additional teachers allowed by the new Gilmer-Alken program, Crowell High School will have several new subjects taught. Speech II, choral singing, and bookkeeping are the subjects that are offered this year that were not offered last year.

There will be a faculty meeting of both Crowell High School and Crowell Grammar School teachers Saturday morning at nine o'clock for the purpose of making plans for Monday.

The Crowell Colored School will also open Monday morning with Principal Paul Barree in charge. Mrs. Lillian Powell, the other colored teacher, is in Galveston recovering from an operation and will not be able to teach for the first two weeks. Mrs. Powell will provide a substitute until she is able to take over her duties.

Highway Work Completed in Crowell and North of Thalia Last Week

Seal coating of 500 feet of curb to curb highway on U. S. Highway No. 70, west of the square, was completed Friday by the State Highway Department. The Highway Department did the curb and gutter, the base and asphalt topping, with the property owners paying for the curb and gutter. All the work was under the supervision of the State Highway Department with J. A. Nabers of former Miss Nina Pyle; two sons, J. D. Chandler of Wichita Falls, and W. H. Chandler of Pasadena, Calif., and two grandchildren.

Childress as district engineer. Thalia Road Topped On the farm - to - market Highway No. 262, which runs two miles north of Thalia to the cemetery, the work of seal coating only was completed Thursday night. The base and surface work had been done by the Highway Department last year. Seal coating of this road gives the citizens of that community a first-class farm-to-market highway.

HEADS MOTOR GROUP

SENATOR JAMES E. TAYLOR

Austin (Spl.)—James E. Taylor of Kerens, former newspaper publisher and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, resigned this week to become executive director of the Texas Motor Transportation Association. Governor Allan Shivers in calling a special election November 8 to elect a successor described him as "a leader in the Texas Legislature and one of the state's most able and earnest public servants."

As chairman of the Gilmer-Aikin Committee on education Taylor pushed his public education reform program successfully to legislative adoption over strong opposition. He leaves the legislature to head one of the state's major industry groups. It is the largest employer group in Texas and the second largest taxpayer, he said.

The new motor transportation executive is a graduate of Baylor University. He served two terms in the House of Representatives before the war, commanded a field artillery battalion of the 36th Division in Europe during the war and was elected Senator before he returned in 1945. The Taylors will make their home in Austin. Their daughter, Shirley Ann, is a freshman at Baylor.

U. S. COFFEE DRINKERS LEAD WORLD IN USE OF BEVERAGE

Because of its size as well as its fondness for coffee, the United States is much the most important market for the coffee producing countries, but up to the last war, at least, it was not the country with the greatest per capita consumption of coffee.

In the years 1934-38 Sweden averaged a consumption of 17 pounds per capita and Denmark followed close with 16 and one-half pounds, at a time when the United States was using about 14 pounds per capita, according to a study of coffee in international trade which Kathryn H. Wylie has been making for the U. S. Department of Agriculture's office of foreign agricultural relations.

"For United States consumers," says Mrs. Wylie, "the past two or three years have witnessed a dramatic increase in coffee consumption," with a per capita consumption of about 20 pounds. Coffee prices have had ups and downs in the last quarter century, but she remarks that on the consumption side changes in prices do not seem to have a corresponding influence on demand.

She says, "For the United States at least purchasing power in the hands of consumers appears to be of importance in determining the quantity of coffee to be purchased. With a higher level of per capita income, there is a tendency to use more coffee per cup; more social functions at which coffee is served are given; coffee and light refreshments are served at meetings and between-meal coffee drinking at snack bars is more prevalent."

able for growing them. A third reason for the use of lima beans in southern diets comes from the Mississippi experiment station where research has shown that their protein, phosphorus, thiamine and riboflavin makes them important nutritionally, especially when they are used in generous quantity. The fresh green beans offer more in vitamins than those which have matured to a white color or have been dried, the studies show.

SOUTHERN LIKING FOR LIMAS

Early colonists in the South, on finding the Indians there growing lima beans, readily adopted these beans for their own, so that they have been traditional in southern meals and gardens ever since. Another reason for the popularity of limas in the South is that the long warm summer season is favorable for growing them. A third reason for the use of lima beans in southern diets comes from the Mississippi experiment station where research has shown that their protein, phosphorus, thiamine and riboflavin makes them important nutritionally, especially when they are used in generous quantity. The fresh green beans offer more in vitamins than those which have matured to a white color or have been dried, the studies show.

WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

(By Congressman Ed Gossett)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26, 1949—The House has today quit until September 21 under a recess agreement. Neither the House or the Senate can adjourn for longer than 3 days at one time without a joint resolution in which both Houses concur. The House attempted to secure Senate agreement for the House to adjourn for one month but the Senate voted down such House Resolution by a 58 to 25 vote. Thereupon, the House agreed to quit for one month under a 3 day recess arrangement. That means that every third day the House will meet and promptly adjourn for another 3 days. A few Representatives will be left here to carry on this procedure.

It will be necessary for me to remain here for several days, since I am Acting Chairman of a Judiciary Subcommittee now conducting hearing on Tideland bills. These hearings will be concluded early next week. Following that, I have an appointment with Secretary of State Acheson to discuss with him the serious problem of oil imports. Other departmental and office work will have to be concluded before my departure for Texas. The Gossett family will have to remain here because three of our children will start back to school early in September. Because it is impossible to know just where I will be and what Congress will be doing between now and January, this will be our last newsletter until the convening of the Second Session of the 81st Congress on next January 3.

We have been receiving numerous letters urging a reduction in various taxes. Eighty-four year old Representative Bob Doughton of North Carolina, who has served in the Congress for better than 35 years and who is Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee that considers all tax matters, has just stated that there would be no tax reduction this year. Representative Doughton makes the point that by the end of this fiscal year on next July 1, we will be between four and five billion dollars in the red. For this ensuing fiscal year, we will spend in excess of 45 billions of dollars. Just how, when, where, and if federal spending is to be reduced, remains the big question. All agree that we should operate on a balanced budget and should not spend billions more than we collect. Forty-five billions of dollars, the amount our government will spend this fiscal year, is considerably more than our total national income was during the depression years.

Secretary of Defense, Louis Johnson, created quite a flurry in Washington this week by asking all members of Congress to be in his office at 9:30 on Wednesday morning for an important announcement. Some 125 members did go to the Secretary's office to hear him announce the closing of numerous military bases and the proposal to discharge some 130 thousand employees. The possibilities are that most of these employees will eventually remain on government payrolls by transfer to some other agency or post. Someone has said "there is nothing so permanent as a temporary government job."

On my desk is a resolution recently received from a conference of State Governors. The Governors go on record as favoring increased efficiency and economy in government. The Governors then conclude by saying "The Governors' Conference does not in any way suggest a curtailing of public services." There certainly is a crying need for higher efficiency and for the elimination of waste and duplication. However, government expenses are not going to be greatly reduced without at the same time reducing some of the government services and activities. Officials and citizens cannot demand more services and expect to receive any substantial reduction in taxes. Unless the American people insist on keeping government within due bounds, then government will continue to grow and grow, both in size and in cost, and we will eventually drift into what is commonly called the welfare state, which, according to all available evidence is not a state to be desired, and is not in the last analysis for the general welfare.

Soil Conservation News of District

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, Lower Pease River District Board: W. C. Howard, Grady Halbert, O. T. Holmes, O. H. Brandon, H. L. Ayers.

Now is the time to start making plans for planting winter cover crops. These crops should be planted as early as possible in the fall provided there is enough moisture to get them up. With the good under ground season that we have now, if general rains fall during the next month, these crops should be planted so that a good growth can be obtained before cold weather. Crops such as Austrian winter peas, Hairy vetch and Dixie wonder peas are all adapted to this area.

All seeds should be inoculated for maximum results. Madrid sweet clover can also be sowed in November and still remain a biennial. Not only will these crops serve as soil building crops, but they will furnish good cover on land subject to severe blowing during the critical winter and spring months.

The Board of Supervisors encourages the planting of these crops and there should be several thousand acres planted in the district.

The trial plantings of Guar that were made on the Joe Coufal farm has made excellent growth and is making a good seed crop. Several of the neighbors have already asked Mr. Coufal for seed. This crop is a summer legume and anyone wanting a summer legume should drive by Mr. Coufal's and look at the crop.

Mounting unemployment indicates that high production costs and high retail prices are beginning to show up in reduced sales and reduced employment. We are reaching a point in this country, if we have not already done so, where we are going to have to decide whether it is better to continue a policy of high production costs, increased wages and unemployment, or whether it is better to have lowered production costs, increased sales and increased employment. Obviously the latter is the wise course. It is better to produce and sell a large volume of merchandise at a price the mass of consumers can and will pay and give employment to many, than it is to produce and sell a limited amount of merchandise produced by a few workers at high costs and high retail prices which limit a limited number can and will pay.

I have heard so much talk about race intolerance, a local man said yesterday, that I am beginning to think it is a strawman some people set up when they want to secure some cheap publicity. I do not believe racial intolerance, if it does exist, is going to be corrected by law. No one can make me or any other man love the Methodist or the Baptist church by passing a law, and no one can make me or any other man love a black or yellow or red man by law. These are matters which I decide in my own mind, and, I hope, in all fairness. Racial intolerance has two sides. A man, regardless of his race, color or creed, to receive friendship from me, has to meet me half way. He can't flaunt his religion or his color in my face and make me love him because of it. I won't ever do that. My hope and desire is to be fair, and just always, to be honest and tolerant and kind, but even with this I must be met half way, if I meet him half way. I think, left alone, this will work itself out peacefully in harmony and love, but any attempt by any law, church or race to ram it down the throats of people is going to meet with defeat. This public destruction of straw men being carried on by many today isn't doing the cause any good.

According to the Brookings Institution, bad roads in this country are retarding out the economies possible through better cars. The remedies proposed by the Brookings Institute are: better use of highway revenues, better highway administration, and improved traffic engineering techniques.

High wages won't help much unless there are jobs to go to them.

LOOPHOLES in the Law

By WILL WILSON

Past President, Texas District and County Attorneys Association

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of short case histories, all taken from court records, showing how legal loopholes often enable criminals to escape punishment in Texas. Will Wilson, of Dallas, is chairman of a special steering committee of the State Bar, which is working for revision of the antiquated Criminal Code and Code of Criminal Procedure in order to eliminate these loopholes.)

John and Mary had been drinking heavily, and were, in fact, drunk. In this condition they got into their automobile, with John driving, and rode out into the country. Out of town a few miles, John turned off the public highway and drove onto a farmer's private property.

As the car was weaving and skidding along the farmer's road, John saw a pickup truck coming along the road toward him. The pickup was driven by the farmer, and he had his three small children in the back. John was too drunk to avoid the pickup. He smashed into it. The farmer's three children were badly injured and the truck itself was demolished. In an argument with the farmer, following the accident, John admitted that he was drunk. He was charged with driving while intoxicated and brought to trial.

He was acquitted and went scot-free because he was driving on a private road — the farmer's own road — and not on a public highway.

The State Bar of Texas is working to get rid of the legal loopholes that made such an outcome possible.

All Dogs Should Be Vaccinated Each Year for Safety

Austin, Texas—The Texas State Department of Health during the first seven months of this year has a record of the examination of 2709 animal heads for rabies and of this number almost one fourth were found positive, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

Rabies is transmitted to man through a bite or having a cut exposed to the saliva of a rabid animal. If a person is bitten, the offending animal should be penned, if possible, for a period of at least ten days. If the animal is in the infective stage, he will die within this time. This does not mean that he may not be in the noninfectious or incubative stage and develop rabies later. All dogs bitten by a rabid animal should be confined six months. If it is necessary to kill the animal, this should be done in such a manner that the brain is not destroyed.

When sending a head to the State Laboratory it should be put in a container, sealed and packed in ice to prevent decomposition.

Dr. Cox said that rabies is a hard disease to eradicate, but that it could be done if all owners would have their dogs vaccinated each year and eliminate all stray dogs. If you have a dog, get him vaccinated the same as you have your children immunized against diphtheria and smallpox.

Rabies is commonly supposed to be a disease of warm weather, but it is more prevalent during the spring and fall because the dogs congregate and move about more, therefore the chance of exposure is greater during this time. It is true that more dogs are killed during the summer months, but the percentage of rabies is low.

Pipeline Network Hope of Supplying Towns with Water

Abilene, Texas—Thirsty West Texas today has a new hope for water in a program that may make the entire area a network of pipelines, supplying water from a half-dozen multi-city dams on the major watersheds.

This project is seen in a letter from President John D. Mitchell of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to Manager D. A. Bandeen, in which he pledges the organization's support of multi-city surveys.

"From our study of and activities on development of our municipal water supply, it appears that the solution is beyond the capacity of the individual cities and that the total solution of the problem must come from complete river basin development and the building of large dams serving several cities," Mitchell wrote.

"The fact is that dam sites are not available for each of our cities and that there are only a few dam sites with ample watersheds and potable water on each of our main streams."

"These few main basin dams must be promptly developed if West Texas is to save the water originating in our territory and meet the critical water shortages now existing in all of our cities."

Immediately Bandeen set about a study of the formation of a West Texas water association with its main purpose of "extracting the optimum values of water originating in and available to West Texas in the common interest of the area."

This Association would cooperate with existing authorities and might even assist in the formation of others, according to plan.

It was Bandeen who recently propounded a new formula for federal aid in dam building, which would make it possible for the Corps of Army Engineers and the Bureau of Reclamation to build dams for municipal water as well as flood control.

In a study of the Hoover Commission's report, the WTCC recommended that economic loss from lack of water be made criteria for multi-city dam building, as well as flood control.

Bandeen pointed out that much of the money spent on multi-city dam building, where municipal water would be the principal product, would be reimbursable to the government, but at the same time communities would receive federal aid to which they are not now entitled. This is because of inability to show flood damage on West Texas streams in the 20-inch rain belt.

At the same time the WTCC went on record as approving the Hoover recommendation that municipal water be given the highest priority in multi-city dam building, and that hydro-electricity be considered only after all other uses had already been provided for.

Already the Bureau of Reclamation is beginning its study of dam building in West Texas, with a view to supplying municipalities with water. The first of these studies is the proposed dam on the Canadian River north of Amarillo near Borger. There a dam and distribution project to cost some $87 million is recommended for serving nearly a dozen cities. Water would be piped from this dam out of the Canadian basin, across the Brazos and into the Colorado watershed, in serving Lamesa. This is the first project of its kind proposed in Texas, and it already has the approval of the House Representatives and a favorable nod from President Truman himself.

Next has come the proposal of 25 towns in the Brazos water shed for the construction of the Bob Baskin dam near Rule, which would impound 310,000 acre feet on the Double Mountain fork of the Brazos river, for domestic and irrigation water. This project previously had been rejected by the Bureau as an irrigation project that would not pay out.

WTCC engineers applied the domestic yardstick and urged a reconsideration on the basis of supplying domestic water to the 25 towns, and the Bureau of Reclamation announced it would reconsider the project in the light of the suggested usage.

In turn the Bureau also has indicated a willingness to investigate other projects, on a basin wide basis, with a view of supplying domestic water with a series of dams. Such a series would be necessary to divert certain hard and salty water from the main lakes, so they would provide palatable water for domestic use.

Already the WTCC has proposed a study of the Big Spring-Odessa project on the upper Colorado, and the Peace River project for a score of towns in the Vernon area. Reclamation service officials from Oklahoma also are making a study of a project on Prairie Dog creek, which would serve Memphis and Childress.

The multi-city water supply idea is not a new one in West Texas, where some towns already are having to use water which has been impounded by other municipalities. A number of West Texas towns have had to use tank cars to haul water from neighboring towns, when their own supply became exhausted. Coleman, on the Colorado watershed, for nearly two years bought water from Brownwood and served it through Coleman distribution system at a cost ten times greater than normal. Finally Coleman was able to get a dam built in Hords' creek, which

Strong Support Being Given USO Program in Texas

Austin—The strongest support is being given the revitalized USO program in Texas by the Armed Forces and numerous military and veterans organizations, Governor Allan Shivers, General Chairman of the campaign to raise Texas' $500,000 quota of the national fund, announced today.

We have had assurance from military establishments and veteran groups alike that they would do everything possible to make our campaign for a USO for our big peacetime military establishment a success, Governor Shivers said.

Among those who have declared the need for the program and pledged the fullest cooperation are General Thomas T. Handy, speaking as Commanding General of the Fourth Army at San Antonio; Major General J. S. Stowell, Commanding General of the Air Training Command at Randolph Field; Major General K. L. Berry, who as Adjutant General of Texas heads the state's National Guard; Brig. General Carl L. Phinney, Assistant Division Commander of Texas' famous 36th Division, Joe Spurlock, Texas Commander of the American Legion; and many others.

Legion Commander Spurlock said in a letter to post commanders throughout the state: "... It is important that everyone participate. I hope that you can assist the USO in your area ..."

General Handy said in a letter to all Texas members of the Army Advisory Committee: "Your support and cooperation in the forthcoming USO campaign being planned on a state-wide basis will be of great help. Your contribution of service toward the success of this campaign will be reflected in the morale of the Armed Services."

Said General Stowell in a memorandum to air bases of his command: "We are all aware of the aid USO gives us in solving our morale and community relations problems ... I am sure you will take steps to impress the Community Chest officials in your area with the importance of USO work to our men and ask them to include the USO in the 1949 Chest appeal."

General Berry wrote: "Our military establishments is younger and more civilian in character than ever before. More than 50 per cent of these servicemen are less than 21 years old. The USO is the lone link between the youthful service man and his home. It serves his religious, educational, recreational and personal welfare needs. It is a potent weapon against communism."

serve these men and women wherever they are," General Phinney said.

The Texas campaign is part of a national drive for $10,000,000 to reactivate the USO as requested by the President and the Secretary of Defense. Texas has 98,000 men in the armed forces, and this state's subscription of $500,000 will mean just a few cents more than $5.00 toward the comfort and welfare of each of these young citizens, Governor Shivers said.

Building Dams for Water Supplies Is Problem of Congress

Abilene, Aug. 30—It is up to Congress to decide whether the Corps of Army Engineers can undertake to provide municipal water supplies where flood damage is not excessive, according to Major General Lewis A. Pick, in a letter written to Senator Lyndon Johnson.

The general was meeting the challenge of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in which economic loss from lack of water in West Texas is greater than in flood covering the West Texas water shortage damages and application of the Hoover Commission's Domestic water recommendation, the organization points out these losses in the West Texas area and is asking Congress to give domestic water first priority in all dam building programs. A copy of the report, made by WTCC Manager D. A. Bandeen, was sent to General Pick by Senator Johnson.

"The need for such water appears urgent in many parts of the country, but it is obvious that the question raised by Mr. Bandeen is one of broad policy, as to whether such work should be undertaken by the Federal Government. This is a matter which can be decided only by Congress," the general wrote.

General Pick was assured the WTCC report was not prepared as a "complaint on any of the several federal agencies handling water projects, but to seek for these agencies a legislative policy wherein economic loss due to lack of water can be a criteria for dam building, and wherein domestic water can be given priority on Federal water projects."

Meantime surveys of West Texas watersheds have been authorized by the Bureau of Reclamation, using domestic water as a criteria. Principal of these is the Canadian project between Amarillo and Borger, which will serve a dozen West Texas towns. Another is the Bob Baskin dam near Rule, which previously had been turned down as an irrigation project. The WTCC believes this project can pay for itself as a municipal water supply for 25 West Texas towns.

Other areas also are being considered, including the Big Spring-Odessa, Ranger - Eastland and Peace River projects. Harry P. Burleigh, planning engineer of the Reclamation Service, will be in Abilene Monday for an all-day conference with WTCC officials concerning these surveys and also the possibility of the creation of a West Texas Water Association, as proposed recently by President John D. Mitchell.

The 1949 goal of the Red Cross, 60 million dollars, has been over-subscribed by over 7 million dollars, according to Royal C. Agne, national director of the Red Cross fund raising committee. In the opinion of Agne, Americans will be asked to contribute from 60 to 80 million dollars a year for the next five years. The reason, he says, post-war costs continue to be high.

SCHOOL age is a wonderful period... when life is an unending voyage of discovery. But a dangerous age, because young eyes must keep up with inquisitive young minds, and three-fourths of all a child learns must come to him through his eyes!

Weekly Sermon

Lessons from the Life of David—As Shepherd
by Charles Trimmier, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Of all the great men described in the Bible none had a more humble beginning than the son whom Jesse called "beloved." The stripling David first appears as a shepherd boy before the aging Samuel, who had already seen seven stalwarts of Jesse's house present themselves as candidates for the crown of Israel.
They had all been rejected, but now the heavenly command of coronation was, "Arise, anoint him; for this is he." The faithful priest-judge, Samuel, performs this last official act of his long career and the shepherd's auburn locks shone with the oil of a king's anointing.

More important than the kingly oil, however, was the fact that "the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward" (1 Samuel 16: 13). It was this Spirit which marked the shepherd whose renown as musician, poet, soldier, and king will end only when his true successor shall ascend the throne which God promised to the house of David forever.

It is interesting to observe that the Spirit led David back to the sheepcote before He led him out to do battle with Goliath. There, as a lone defender of dumb animals, the anointed shepherd grew to his historic role as protector of Israel. Even as Saul's armies were suffering ignoble defeats, God was molding a leader for them up in the hills near Bethlehem.

In this beginning of David's career many lessons may be learned. Have you discovered for yourself that "the Lord seeth not as man seeth; for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart?" No matter what our station in life may be, God can make us to be useful in His purposes if our hearts are right. What a day of opportunity would be ours if the hymns of nominally Christian America could become the heart-songs of a repentant people!

The shepherd of his father's sheep became the king-shepherd of Jacob's flocks. So God would make us leaders and guides in this day. The Spirit which anointed David still speaks in the words of Paul, "I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that you present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

Two Minute Sermon

(By Thomas Hastwell)
We Must Do Our Part: One of the most regrettable things, I think, is to see a person, who by his manner and attitude, is robbing himself of a great deal of the pleasure and the joy of living. Not only this, but his manner and attitude is depriving him of many rewards which could be his to possess and to enjoy. Such persons are prone to wish for many things they do not have even to pray for them, and make themselves miserable because it seems that their wishes and their prayers are not answered. I do not believe that an individual whose lot in life and whose situation is the result of his action, and conduct, and attitude, will ever secure the thing he is praying for until he corrects his own faults which stand in the way of its realization. What he needs to do is to pray that he be given an understanding of his weaknesses and low points and the will to correct them. A young woman, with whom I am acquainted, desires very much to secure a certain position. Her manner is not at all gracious. She has a sharp and ready tongue. She takes no pride in her clothes or personal appearance. Naturally a discerning employer will not hire her. She should pray, not that the position be given her, but that she be given the wisdom to see and correct the faults that are holding it from her. She must first do her part.

LIVESTOCK SHIPMENTS

Products of Cotton Seed Discussed

Austin, Tex., Aug. 27.—Merchants, farmers and others interested in cottonseed oil, cottonseed meal and hulls, or cotton linters may find a new book on cottonseed products by Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas cotton marketing professor, a source of valuable and up-to-date information.
Each of the principal products—oil, cake or meal, linters and hulls—of cottonseed is discussed in a separate section. In addition to 90 tables and 45 figures used as illustrations and basic data, there are 71 pages of tables contained in the appendix.
As science continues its research concerning the contents of the cottonseed, the greater becomes the value of the seed. For example, scientifically balanced rations now fed to dairy cattle call for specific amounts of protein which is found in cottonseed meal or pellets. The demand for such protein feed now far exceeds the supply, Dr. Cox explains.
Refined cottonseed oil has long been one of the country's most valuable fats, and cotton linters, once a waste product, are carefully graded for exacting markets. The standardization, markets, market organization and trade procedures in marketing cottonseed products and for cottonseed provide material for two of the 10 sections of the book.
Dr. Cox, who is an accepted authority in this country and abroad on matters pertaining to cotton and cotton marketing, has spent a great deal of time during the last two years in preparation of the present volume. The publication is 350 pages and is entitled, "The Cottonseed Crushing Industry of Texas in its National Setting."

Declines from the Previous Month

Sheep shipments dropped 38 per cent; hogs, 17 per cent; cattle, 15 per cent; and calves, 11 per cent.

Compared with July 1948 all types of livestock shipments showed decreases in July of this year.

Movements of cattle and calves fell 31 per cent over the year. Sheep and hog shipments dropped 20 and 15 per cent, respectively. July interstate shipments plus Fort Worth declined 20 per cent from June and 27 per cent from July of last year.
Intrastate shipments minus Fort Worth fell 14 per cent in June and 43 per cent in July 1948.

NEW TYPE CABOOSE

Caboose with cupolas soon may be the exception rather than the rule on Illinois railroads, the Illinois commerce commission discloses. It has authorized the New York Central railroad company to operate cabooses with bay windows instead of cupolas. Two other railroads previously were granted similar authority and the commission's railroad division says that as other carriers replace cabooses they will be of the bay-windowed type rather than those with cupolas. The new cabooses of the New York Central system will be all-steel and will be equipped with safety glass. The commission's order points out that the potential hazard to trainmen from falls caused by sudden application of brakes, in getting to and from the cupola, will be eliminated in the new type of caboose.

Veterans to Get Special Dividend on NSL Insurance

Monday, August 29, 1949 will be the first day of distribution of application forms for the National Service Life Insurance special dividend to be paid to veterans who carried their GI insurance for three months or more prior to January 1, 1948.

Application forms will be available at post offices, veterans' service organizations, American Red Cross, Veterans' County Service offices and throughout the West Texas area served by the Lubbock Regional Office of Veterans Administration, Manager Robert W. Sisson announced.

These simplified application blanks are in the form of a three-fold card; the veteran will retain one third of the card, which contains the instructions, and after filling in his full name, service number, C-number if any, and insurance number or numbers if available, and address, he will place a one-cent stamp on the remaining two-fold card and mail to Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C.

It is expected the dividend check distribution will begin in January and will be substantially completed during the first six months of 1950. "Making application on the first day of distribution of the forms does not necessarily assure early receipt of the special dividend check," Mr. Sisson emphasized.

Beneficiaries of deceased veterans who are presently receiving insurance benefits will not be required to make application for the special dividend. Veterans Administration will mail direct to beneficiaries of deceased veterans whose insurance was not in force at time of death, the necessary application form for any accrued dividend payable.

One application only is necessary although the veteran may have had more than one policy of insurance or more than one plan of insurance. It is further pointed out that where the insurance number is unknown, the veteran's application will be identified through his service number.

TREAT YOUR SEED

with CERESAN® Now!
For Better Stands

WHEAT

Only disease-free seed can produce the healthy plants which give you high yields. You can readily protect your grain crops from most of these destructive diseases by planting seed treated with Du Pont "Ceresan" seed disinfectant. "Ceresan" checks seed decay, blights, stinking smut and other diseases on wheat—also effective on oats, barley, rye, millets and flax.

Winter Grain Seed Needs to Be Treated Before Planting

Planting time for winter grain crops is just around the corner and now is the time to get the seed ready.

If the seed you intend to plant are mixed with weed seed, they should be cleaned and then treated chemically as a safeguard against losses from grain smuts, seed rots and seedling blights, says Joe Burkett, County Agent.

Stinking smut is the most serious wheat disease. If there are smut spores on the seed, they will germinate with the seed wheat—if conditions are favorable—and will grow up with the wheat plant. Stinking smut is hard to detect in the field, says Burkett. If the infestation is severe, you may notice a foul odor and the heads will take on a darker green color. At heading time, the heads will have masses of smut spores where the kernels should be. During combining operations the smut balls break open and scatter millions of black spores over the healthy seed.

Oats and barley are often attacked by smut but here it is easily detected by the black barren stalks in the field. An effective method of control for these smuts is to treat each bushel of seed with one-half ounce of new improved Ceresan or with a like amount of the new chemical called Ceresan M.

Loose smut is something else. It causes the grainless black heads that you have probably seen in your wheat field, says Burkett. It cannot be controlled by chemical treatment—only by a difficult hot water treatment—and for that reason Burkett says it is best to get seed from growers who do not have the disease in their fields.

The same chemical treatment can be used on oats and it will also help control the new disease called helminthosporium blight to which Victoria oat crosses including Fultex, Ranger, Rustler and Victor Grain are susceptible. One symptom of this disease is weakening of the stalks which causes lodging.

Burkett says that treating grain seed is good insurance against losses in yields due to smuts and other seed borne diseases and against dockage losses when you sell.

FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

Members of the Foard City Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the church on Monday, Aug. 22. Mrs. Howard Ferguson led the group in singing "Let Others See Jesus in You." A prayer was offered by Mrs. Grady Halbert.

The devotional, based on Matthew 6, was brought by Mrs. Roy Ferguson. She stressed the futility of great material wealth without Jesus.

Mrs. Jack Welch gave the sixth chapter, "We Survey Our Record," the study of "The Bible and Human Rights." Reluctant as people are today to acknowledge the reality of sin, the fact remains that the Christian faith regards offense against our fellow being as offense against God and offense against God is a sin in any religion. In our nation the right to worship is reasonably secure though it is not wise to be lulled into false security. Whose country is this? Upon the answer depends the peace and welfare of mankind.

Mrs. Welch stated that now is the time to act for there remains the task of driving home to people the justification and civic rights and the need to end prejudice. It is up to the Christians to make love as positive an emotion in the world as prejudice and hate. There is a way to settle all differences of opinion. A family that cannot agree on all points does not set fire to the roof that shelters them. There are yieldings and adjustments to be made. A world-wide roof shelters us and adjustments and settlements must be made for the good of all. "They that walk upon the Lord shall renew their strength. They shall run and not be weary and they shall walk and not faint."
