Subjects in School Children Should Be Directed at Once

The schools of this section have been in session for several weeks. The routine work of the schools is being carried on by teachers and nurses. The physical examinations of the children by physicians have been completed. They are complete as far as the nurse, teacher, or parent is concerned, but the school physician should be called in to correct any abnormalities disclosed in yet to be made. To make these screening examinations the follow-up examinations of the greatest value, the care for correction of defects should be available. This is the responsibility of the parents of the child in order that a maximum of health may be his lot.

C. of C. President Asks Co-Operation of Citizens in Keeping Unworthy Solicitors from Operating in This Community

Business men in Crowell this week received a letter from Alton B. Bell, president of the Foard County Chamber of Commerce, asking their cooperation in dealing with transient solicitors who have been working this area.

Mr. Bell, in his letter to Crowell business owners and managers, pointed out that in the past week a number of solicitors attempting to sell magazine subscriptions and advertising have come to the Chamber of Commerce office seeking a permit for a general solicitation campaign in the city. These requests were rejected by the Better Business Committee and the solicitors were refused permission.

The Chamber of Commerce president said, "Through this office we are trying to protect the interests of all our merchants as well as the citizens of Crowell and Foard County. We believe that the cooperation of all will eventually rid the city and county of these people who take us as 'easy bait' for their money-making schemes."

"We know that some of the solicitors worked the residential section of Crowell after they were refused permission," Bell stated. "We feel it is our duty to warn

Crowell Wildcats Lose Hard Fought Game to Burk Burnett Bulldogs Here Last Friday Night by a 19 to 12 Score

The Crowell High School football team put up an excellent fight before yielding to the undefeated Burk Burnett Bulldogs here last Friday night by the score of 19 to 12. The Wildcats were only one point behind at halftime and five points in the lead during the third quarter, but two touchdowns by the Burk boys in the late stages of the game gave them victory and left them tied with Holiday for top place in District 9A. Crowell had a good chance to tie the game had it lasted another two minutes as the home boys were on the march with the ball down on Burk's twenty-yard line as the game ended.

JOINS AIR FORCE

Ray Douglas Gable, 20, Mrs. Ruth Hammonds of Crowell, has reported to Lackland Air Force Base at San Antonio, "Gateway to the Air Force," to begin the AF basic airman information course, according to information furnished the News by the Public Information Office. Gable is the world's largest wheat base.

DECLINE OF BUCKWHEAT

Although it is still popular, the wheat cake in America had a decline in part to the development of prepared flours mixing wheat with wheat, corn or other grains. The decline also can be charged to the fact that buckwheat is left after the major crops are planted. It matures so rapidly and grows better in the soil than other grains. Hence the amount of buckwheat planted in June and July often depends on planting conditions for other crops in April and May. Improved machinery has helped spring planting conditions.

The Why of a Large Vocabulary

Five years later those who had passed in the upper ten per cent, ALL, without exception, had executive positions, while not a single man of the lower 25 per cent had become an executive.

The extent of your vocabulary indicates the degree of your intelligence. That may be a hard statement particularly for high school students with a sixth grade vocabulary. However, it has been found by Professor Lewis M. Terman of Stanford University, that a vocabulary test is as accurate a measure of intelligence as any three units of the standard and accepted Stanford-Binet I. Q. tests.

Words are your tools of thought. You can not even think without them. Without words you could make no decisions and form no judgments, whatsoever. A pianist may have the most beautiful tunes in his head, but if he had only five keys on his piano he would never get more than a fraction of these tunes out. The more words you have at your command the deeper, clearer, and more accurate will be your thinking.

The wrong words used by a campaign orator have lost an election. Words have changed the direction of history.

What you say to others is important. A girl may be ever so beautiful, but once she speaks, she registers her class, and no expensive dress can cover her bad grammar or faulty pronunciation. Your words are your personality. Your vocabulary is you. — From Sul Ross Skyline.

Queen Myra Don Self Crowned at Burk Game

Ever want to see some royalty? Well, now you can because we have some right here at CHS.

They are Myra Self, Queen of the Wildcat Squad for 1934, and her two princesses, Maurine Youree and Betty Barker. Myra was crowned just before the Crowell-Burkburnett game last Friday night.

After the singing of "Dear Old Crowell High" by the pep squad, the royal party entered the field through the west gate.

Leading the procession were Betty Barker and her escort, James Weathers. Betty complemented her dark hair and eyes by wearing a tailored brown checked suit with a chocolate colored cloche-type hat and matching accessories. Next came Maurine Youree, escorted by F. L. Ballard. Maurine was smartly dressed in an Empire waist dress with a skirt of grey wool jersey and a short jacket of plaid grey, red and green wool jersey. She wore a mist gray hat with pearl white buttons sewed on the hat band of red grosgrain.

Last, came her majesty, friendly, petite Queen Myra, escorted by co-captains Rouse Todd and James Bice. Myra chose a coronation dress of pink gaudine, a color which was a perfect complement for her blonde hair and fair complexion. The dress was styled with a smartly-gathered full skirt of ballet length, a fitted bodice with long, fitted sleeves, and small high collar tied with a brown velvet ribbon. Her hat was a broad brimmed pink cloche with a knot of fine pink veiling on one side. She wore pink gloves embroidered in brown and brown suede pumps.

The party stopped at the fifty yard line with the Princesses and escorts facing one another on either side of the line, and the Queen and her escorts between them. After assuming their positions, the Princess' escorts then presented them with corsages of bronze mums. The Queen was presented with a bouquet of white carnations from co-captain James Bice and was crowned by co-captain Rouse Todd with his helmet. After saluting her with a kiss, the co-captains escorted the queen off the field, followed by the princesses and their escorts.

Leaving the field, the co-captains said, "We had a beautiful queen."

"It was wonderful," said the Queen.

Speech Spotlights

CHSites are soon going to see some very good plays, with their own friends playing the parts. Miss Turney has both Speech II classes busy rehearsing for the production of three plays.

Two of them, "Sparkling" and "Sugar and Spice" are one-act comedy plays which will be presented during school hours with a small admission charge to pay for buying some new stage equipment, that is, flats for our three-act play, "Mountain Justice," a hill-billy comedy full of laughs. This play will be produced in a few weeks, but since it is a full three-act play this performance will be at night.

We should all encourage these CHS amateur actors with our attendance at all performances.

Thanks Given for Hallowe'en Carnival Success

Credit for the success of this year's carnival goes to every student, faculty members and friends of the Crowell Grammar School and High School who participated. Miss Cora Carter, general chairman of the event, said this week, Miss Carter's note of thanks is as follows:

"I should like to take this opportunity to pass to the students and faculty the many compliments I have received for the excellent job you did in staging this year's Hallowe'en parade. We have received congratulations on the floats, precision and clever ideas of parade, the shows, games and food booths. You have won the right to share in a job well done. Thanks again for the hard work, the cooperation and service rendered to your school."

Rotarians See Student Talent

Three students, Maurine Youree, Billy Johnson and Montez Laquey, entertained the Rotary Club members Wednesday, November 2, at the DeLuxe Cafe.

Entertaining the Rotarians with humorous readings, Maurine gave "Seven Ages of Man," Montez gave an imitation of an "English Woman's Impression of America," and Billy gave "The Cost of Marriage" and "Colored Patriotism."

The entertainers were accompanied by Mr. Graves, Miss Beulah Turney, speech director, and Rouse Todd, Junior Rotarian.

Bayless Speaks at Assembly

Monday, Nov. 7, Brother J. F. Bayless spoke to CHS students at the nine o'clock assembly.

The topic thought brought to the students was "What do we mean by God?" There is a distant difference in religion and Christianity. Although all nations have some form of religion, not all have Christianity. In the beginning, God was the word, and the word was God. Some people try to get along without God, others say there is no God, while some try to think there is a God to ease their conscience. While Hitler wanted no other god but Germany, Russia tried to make the common people her god. Others try to make their own gods from gold or other material things. Christianity recognizes man's duty to his government, moreover, at the same time it teaches a higher authority. God is the power beyond ourselves and teaches everlasting life.

After this inspiring message by Bro. Bayless, an educational film was shown on "How to Use the Library."

Remaining in the auditorium, the Home Economics classes saw an interesting film portraying the typical day of a Latin-American family in Montevideo. The Montevideo mother has a full-time servant and no automobile.

Senior Stand a Success

This year the seniors have had exceptionally good weather for working in their stand. They have averaged about $100 profit every night, and with the help of other projects in the spring they will be able to make their annual senior trip.

Candy, chewing gum, peanuts, coffee, cake, pops, sandwiches, and cigars were sold at each game.

Many faithful seniors have contributed their time and money each Friday night. The sponsors, Henry Black and Charles Sylvester, have worked untiringly at this job; however, the room mothers, Mesdames Veatrice Brock, Charles Bartley and M. A. Wilkins, are due the most credit. The class wishes to thank the sponsors and class mothers for their time and effort.

DEAR EDITOR:

Has anyone else noticed the additions to the water fountains? We are speaking of the gum. Who wants to graze upon a disgusting wad of gum while drinking? Will everyone please throw their gum into waste baskets and not in the water fountains?

Thank you.

A Senior.

Wildkittens Tie Panthers 0 to 0

The Crowell Wildkittens journeyed to Seymour Thursday, Nov. 3, to battle the Panthers to a 0 to 0 tie. Crowell's backfield was weak because of the absence of Wayne Borchardt. Absent in the line was Fred Barker who received a knee injury before the half.

Expert kicking was done for Crowell by James Pittillo, one punt going for 45 yards. Passing for Crowell was done by Graves and Barker and received by Barker and Harper. The Crowell line did an excellent job in this game. For Seymour running the ball was Barker, who did an excellent job in this game. Players saw action from Crowell were Barker, Scott, Everson, Elliott, Caddell, Pittillo, Harper, Gordon Graves, Denton, Halencak, Borchardt, Whitley and Polk.

Wildcat Purrs

It may be just our warped sense of humor, but we could swear that in a recent rehearsal of the play that is being presented by Speech II class, Pa went a little too far when he pushed the scenery over on Aunt Betsy.

Rusty, Rusty, is our cheer. No, that's not right. Cheer, cheer is our welcome. No, no, no, no. Well anyhow, we are glad to have you back, Rusty.

Seems as though everybody was having a good time Saturday, especially the boys!

We hear that Mary Beret's heart beats for Bobby Rainsback only.

We wonder who Jean, Lana and Lois were waiting for Monday night.

Seen after the bonfire Thursday night were Jean and Jim Paul. Doesn't everyone agree that Miss Turney and her boy friend made a cute couple Friday night?

Naida King and Bobbie Daniels were seen at the game Friday.

We wonder who Charlie's secret admirer is? All the other girls wish they had someone to send them a corsage.

We wonder who chauffeured for R. C. Thursday night. More fun!

Peggy and Floyd, Nile and Josephine were seen having quite a time at the game Friday night.

I suppose Dorothy W. will probably be visiting Childress quite a bit now. Her OAO has moved there.

Camille, Pat, Mary C. had a wonderful time over the week-end. Could it be because of three soldiers from Wichita Falls.

Norma Jones and Hickey Brown seem to be getting along wonderfully together.

We hear that Leta, Mary and Evelyn had a good time at Thalia Monday night. What's cooking, girls?

Martin and Marcia were certainly in a hurry Sunday night. It seems that Martin thinks time runs backward.

I guess the love bug has finally bit Joe Howard and Marion. It is none other than Deeda Ann Logan and Helen Richardson from Quanah, the two girls that visited school Friday.

Have you seen Elvin or Tommy? They say they are quite a pair. Just ask Virginia, Patsy, Mary C., Lucille. This could go on and on and on.

Billy Bond has a message for James W. pertaining to Saturday night if he intends to go with Jean Gamble.

There were names put down in history after Thursday night. Joe Williams became famous for crossing spark plugs. Jon Sanders for borrowing keys. Jerry Whitlock for discovering the spark plugs are crossed. J. C. Everson for uncrossing the spark plugs and Mrytie and Betty F. for their nice crisp roasted "taters."

Boys, beware! There are four or five girls who have already reached 100. You might be the unlucky date.

Betty Lou and Presley were seen after the ball game.

Betty Fern and Rusty were seen "sprussing" around Saturday night.

We wonder why LaVerne turned around to Joline Friday night and said, "Come on Joline. We're heading for the ditch."

Everyone please save all of your pep this week so we will really have what it takes when we journey to Olney next week.

BEAT OLNEY!

Side Splitters

Rusty was just coming out of the ether when he demanded to know why the shades were down in his room.

The doctor replied, "There was a fire across the street, and I didn't want you to wake up and think the operation wasn't a success."

Martin Langham: Marcia, will you marry me?

Marcia Kincaid: Yes, Martin.

Martin did not say anything for a while, so Marcia asked him why he didn't say anything.

Martin: I think I have said too much already.

Jimmy Stinebaugh: Forty-eight hamburgers, please.

The clerk looked worried and surprised so Jimmy explained.

Jimmy: Oh, I'm not going to eat them all myself. I have three friends outside.

It seems that Mr. Myers is very absent-minded at times. Take this instance for example.

Mr. Myers: I forgot my umbrella this morning.

Mrs. Myers: How did you remember you had forgotten it?

Mr. Myers: I missed it when I raised my hand to close it after it had stopped raining.

Cold tea is one of the aids for cleaning paint, panes and mirrors.

THROWING YOUR MONEY AWAY

If a private utility ignored good business practices and wasted money with a lavish hand, it wouldn't last long. State and Federal authorities would crack down hard, on behalf of the consumers who must pay the bills.

But when government goes into the electric business, it is free of such restrictions. It can throw you tax money around with the abandon of a drunken sailor.

This point has been emphasized by Congressman Jensen, of Iowa, in a discussion of the 1950 Interior Department appropriations bill. Mr. Jensen said: "Millions of dollars of taxpayers' money could be saved had not this bill provided for the construction of hundreds of miles of needless transmission lines where private industry is willing and ready to build lines with its own money and in addition thereto pay millions of dollars in local, state and Federal taxes for the privilege of doing so, as against government ownership and control and loss of tax revenues so desperately needed to ward off national bankruptcy for America."

As a matter of fact, the government power projects, existing and proposed, are about as conspicuous an example of inexcusable waste as we can find. The nation is now collecting tremendous taxes which discourage enterprise, investment and opportunity. Federal revenues are enormous. Even so, the government cannot make both ends meet and will run a large deficit during this fiscal year. Yet, in the face of that, there has been stubborn resistance to cutting costs in any direction, and waste of the kind which Congressman Jensen described grows greater and greater.

Government should do nothing which can be done by taxpaying private enterprise. That has long been an underlying principle of our governmental system. The insane craze to have the government do everything, regardless of need, will ruin us as a free nation in the long run.

THINGS ONE REMEMBERS by R. M. Hofer

There is an old saying that some men grow while others merely swell as they meet with worldly success. One of the men who grew is William R. Boyd Jr., retiring president of the American Petroleum Institute. A lot of nice things are being said about him all over the country—his tireless energy and initiative during his 29 years with the Institute that helped in guiding the oil industry through a most critical period; his record as a lawyer, city mayor, bank president, and international peacemaker; his ability in composing difficulties between individuals and groups; his receipt of the Medal of Merit for outstanding service to the United States, and citation by the President for directing the oil industry's participation in the greatest government-industry partnership in the history of the United States.

Some of Mr. Boyd's human characteristics, however, should be mentioned. He grew steadily in the esteem of the hundreds of persons who came to know him personally. He never forgot his love for the small Texas town from which he came. He liked to read his local newspaper and see what the home folks were doing. He always had a smile when you met him in his big city office. He never was high-hat with those who wished to call on him. He didn't forget his old friends as he made countless new ones. He expressed optimism and enthusiasm. He had a firm belief in the obligation of business to serve the public well and in the responsibility of government to refrain from circumscribing individual effort and enterprise.

"Bill" Boyd was always ready to extend a helping hand to a friend. Maybe these less publicized traits are the background of his business success and for the fact that wherever the petroleum industry is known, he is known. This would be a happier world in which to live if there were more men like Mr. Boyd in government and business who could mix ability and understanding with a little larger measure of human kindness.

DANISH HOLIDAY LAW

All Danish workers and salaried employees are guaranteed a statutory annual holiday of 12 days, with full pay. The holiday act requires the employer to credit the employee with four per cent of his wage or salary. Stamps covering the value of the holiday money are affixed by the employer in a special book. At the beginning of his holiday the employee cashes the amount due to him at any post office. This procedure obliges the employers to contribute a share of the holiday benefit even though the employee may change his job.

It is becoming more and more evident that the solution to the farm problem is far from being solved. True at the present the government is spending millions subsidizing the farmers by pegging prices at high levels and then digging up the difference between the actual market price and the pegged price.

What We Think (By Frank Dixon)

I was talking the other day to a friend of mine who has fallen into the habit of drinking intoxicating liquor to the extent that it is injuring his health and his business.

I talked to me about the habit and expressed the wish that he had never started. I asked him how he came to get the habit.

"I realize now that it would have been much better to have had that feeling and continued to abstain even though it might have meant being left out of the party, but I wasn't as wise then as I am now."

I have heard that there are two kinds of people in this world, those who can drink liquor or leave it alone and those who once they start, do not seem to be able to leave it alone after that.

"In my own case," he said, "I have sworn to myself that I will quit at once and from now on will refuse to take another drink. But when the opportunity presents itself, my good resolutions seem to sink into insignificance and this thing that I would fight looms up as the biggest and most important thing in the world."

AMERICAN INNOVATIONS

It has been said that the function of the private enterprise system is to produce abundant merchandise and distribute it to consumers as quickly as possible.

That idea, as a general rule, always characterizes the American economy. There have been periods of great scarcity, as during the last war, when our energies were directed in other directions and the rule did not apply. There have been government policies, such as rationing and price control, which virtually did away with competition as we understand it and closed the traditional free channels of trade. At any time, in any field of endeavor, there are always a few who are afraid to take chances, and who look for ways and means to make a great deal of money without risking or venturing anything. But in the long run, the successful manufacturer and the successful merchant are those who do the best producing and retailing job and constantly keep in mind that the welfare of the consumer always determines their own.

Today, we have returned to highly competitive conditions and we have a buyers' market for almost every kind of commodity. The retailer is looking for the best and most reasonably priced product — from manufacturers — and he is doing that because his customers are doing the same thing when they come to his store. The main effort is to keep the goods moving, even if profits must be pared to extremely low levels. The amount of money and merchandise that moves back and forth across the counters of stores is what determines whether times are good or bad in this country.

Mass production and mass distribution are American innovations. They represent private enterprise at its best.

BIG TASK CONFRONTS SCIENCE IN TRACKING DOWN POLIO

Infantile paralysis as a public health menace can be eliminated, scientists are convinced, but not until three basic "musts" are completed, according to an article in Hygeia Magazine.

The author, Roland H. Berg, staff member of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, points to the following as the three polio problems:

"The first imposed task is to identify completely the tiny virus causing the disease. Scientists have yet to discover its physical appearance, chemical structure and growth requirements. Given this knowledge, researchers may be able to find the specific chemical, drug, serum, vaccine or antibiotic to halt the virus without injuring the body.

"The second laboratory trial is to unlock the mystery of the nerve cell that acts as a host and sustains the virus. The chemical changes that occur in the routine life processes of this highly important structure must be learned. Scientists must have these facts before they can alter the cell and make it resistant to virus attack without intrinsic injury to the cell itself.

"The third and final laboratory task is to develop a rapid and accurate method of diagnosis or identification of the virus. At present, an acute case of polio is not difficult to diagnose by an experienced physician. But recent scientific evidence has disclosed that for every patient with the frank, recognizable symptoms there may be a score or more children and adults with the mild, vague symptoms attributable to other diseases or with no symptoms at all."

Weekly Sermon

GOOD NEWS

by Alfred Martin, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

There is one theme that never grows old, no matter how many times repeated. That theme is the gospel—the good news—the word of the Lord Jesus Christ.

It may be mentioned in theological language as the vicarious atonement; or it may be spoken so simply that a small child can understand—Jesus died for you. Either way, it is still the good news.

Good news for people lost in sin; good news for people giving way to despair; good news for the spiritually dead; good news, in short, for everybody!

And not only good news, but power; the cure for sin; the antidote to despair; life out of death. Power! "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ, for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth, to the Jew first and also to the Greek" (Rom. 1:16).

People are eager for good news. Yet the best news of all is strangely yet neglected or even refused. Good news! "Christ died for our sins... and... rose again the third day" (I Cor. 15: 3, 4). What are people's reactions? "Unbelievable," "Fanciful," "Fanatical," or just "I don't care."

Good news refused; good news spurned; good news sneered at; good news ignored. The result is tragedy.

"For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through him might be saved. He that believeth on him is not condemned; but he that believeth not is condemned already, because he hath not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God" (John 3:16-18).

Luncheon Featured In Flower Clinic at Garden Club Meeting

The Crowell Garden Club had an all-day meeting at the Community House on Friday, Nov. 4, which featured a covered-dish luncheon given by the members with members of the Quanah Garden Club as honored guests. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mesdames O. R. Boman, Fred Youree, B. W. Self, Edell Penington, E. R. Roland, Leslie McAdams, Claude McLaughlin and Homer Zebbig. Mrs. Ed Keshalo of Quanah was guest speaker for the day's program and also director of the clinic.

The guests were greeted at the door and asked to register in the guest book by Mrs. L. A. Andrews and Mrs. Glen Goodwin. Thirty-one local Garden Club members and twenty guests from Quanah were present for the luncheon and other guests were present for the afternoon session.

The entire room was decorated with evergreens and ferns. The dining table was T-shaped with bronze and gold chrysanthemums, pyracantha, abelia and fruit arranged down the table's length. A table in the rear which was used for the clinic arrangements was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a blooming begonia in a bronze bowl.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. R. L. Hunt, president of the local Garden Club, introduced Mrs. Keshalo, an authority on flower arrangements who stated that she loved flowers like they were her children, she lived with them and worked with them each day. She gave a history of flower arrangement. She further said, "Let us have fun with our flowers. We may expect to make mistakes but have no fear, correct the mistake and enjoy it. In making arrangements for your home, do not overdo it, let it be as part of your furniture. Large arrangements are for large rooms or for the floor. Begin with the dark colors at bottom and three times as much light as dark color. The container is part of the arrangement."

She prefaced her clinic with general remarks which were helpful. She was assisted in the clinic and arrangements by Mrs. C. B. Graham and Mrs. J. B. Harlan. Her golden wedding tea table was centered with a long basket and she used florist's products. Yellow glads and yellow roses were featured and the handle of the basket represented the wedding ring. Gold-dyed rubber plants and bronze mums completed the arrangement which was placed on a lace cloth between gold candelabra with yellow tapers.

For a bridal shower table, a container about two feet long was used. Three hoops, a large one in the center, with silver ribbon, were used and silver bells dangled from the hoops.

A number of Christmas arrangements were shown by the speaker. Set in a red tinfoil covered container was a large red candle, with red carnations, red artificial lilies, red cattails, and golden Christmas bells, all being placed on a linen cloth. Another suggestion was a red container with silver cattails on beaded sticks, silver grass and silver leaves centered around Santa Claus.

Christmas door arrangements were next on the program. One was made of cedar, holly, pine cones with Christmas bells hanging from it.

For Thanksgiving, she suggested a black square container with golden wheat, yellow pom-poms, 2 yellow ears of corn, mock orange, pomegranates, persimmons with a bunch of grapes in the center. This was flanked with black candle holders with yellow candles. Another plan was a rubber plant painted black, with okra pods also painted black, and white chrysanthemums in a white oblong vase.

A number of other arrangements were made by the speaker, all beautiful and practical.

Weldon Moody Weds in Lewistown, Mont.

In a beautiful ceremony performed Thursday, Oct. 20, in the Presbyterian Church in Lewistown, Montana, Weldon E. Moody, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moody, former residents of Crowell, and Miss Marjorie Kay Hain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Hruska of Lewistown, were married.

Mrs. Pauline Lausch played on the organ "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer." The church was decorated with tall baskets of fall flowers on each side of the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a blue satin afternoon dress with three-quarter length sleeves and fashioned in princess style. Her accessories were gray and she wore a corsage and a headdress of Talisman roses.

The bride was attended by Mary Jane Mackenzie as maid of honor. She wore a gray satin afternoon dress with navy blue accessories and a corsage and headdress of yellow pom-poms. Edmond E. Swindell was best man and Chas. Hruska and Herb Morris were ushers.

The mother of the bride chose an aqua afternoon dress with brown accessories and a yellow mums corsage. Mrs. Moody wore a green afternoon dress with brown accessories and a bronze mum corsage.

A reception was held at the home of the bride, after which Mr. and Mrs. Moody left for a short wedding trip. They are now at home in Lewistown.

The bride is a graduate of Ferguson County High School while the groom attended schools in Texas and New Mexico and is a graduate of Clayton, N. M., High School.

Former Resident Weds in Milwaukee, Wis.

The wedding took place on October 10 at Washington Park Presbyterian Church in Milwaukee, Wis., with Rev. Charles P. Scott, associate pastor of the church, reading the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a suit of teal blue gabardine with pink blouse and black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. Miss Jeanette Caspan of Milwaukee, maid of honor, wore a wine gabardine suit with black accessories. W. J. Harris Jr. of Milwaukee was best man.

Following a wedding trip to Evanston, Chicago and Paris, Ill., and Springfield, Mo., the couple are residing in San Angelo, Texas, where the bride is employed at Goodfellow Field and the groom is an appraiser for the wool division of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

RUTHLESS MONOPOLY

Last year, when the contract between the United Mine Workers and the soft coal mine operators was signed, John L. Lewis declared that it was the best labor contract ever negotiated. He was completely correct—no comparable labor force on earth is so well paid or has so many other valuable benefits.

That is the identical contract that the operators wish to renew—if the union chiefs will give assurance that the miners will be allowed to work every day on which business is available.

What then has caused the present bitter and destructive controversy?

The answer is that the mine owners are not willing to give Mr. Lewis the powers of management, or to let him decide when coal may or may not be produced regardless of public demand or the economics of the industry, or to let him further cement and extend his one-man monopoly power over an industry which is essential to the internal and external security and welfare of the United States.

A spokesman for the Operators' Negotiating Committee has said, "In his mad race for power, John L. Lewis is impoverishing our employees and is willing to destroy the coal industry." Those are hard words—but how else can Mr. Lewis' policies and actions be described? The country needs the coal. The high-paid jobs are waiting for the miners. But no industry can accept a ruthless labor monopoly that attempts to dictate every decision.

VERY EXAMPLES

"The world sorely needs honest and courageous leaders who will truthfully tell the people that 'something for nothing' is a slogan-mirage luring them to economic and physical slavery and degradation," declared Ernest E. Norris, of Washington, D. C., president of the Southern Railway System.

"Our country grew great and strong," he points out, "because it has been a land of opportunity without a ceiling on the heights that could be achieved by anyone willing to work and save and invest. The pioneers' slogan 'Want not, Want not,' is one that needs to be put before the swarms of bureaucratic locusts now devouring the people's sustenance, and bankrupting the nation's moral and spiritual values. If we are to survive and continue to progress and prosper, there must be an end to the sacrilegious, screwy school of economics that throws pigs in the rivers and pours kerosene on mountains of potatoes.

The "something for nothing" delusion is reaching its peaks in the welfare state. According to the theory behind it, the government should meet the costs when we are born, furnish "free" medical care all our lives, see to it that we have retirement pensions shortly after middle age, and take care of practically any other exigency that may arise. What this means, of course, is that government must take most of our incomes to pay the bills, and so make individual thrift and saving impossible. It has happened in England and other countries. We seem bent on following such sorry examples.
