Castor Beans Well Adapted As a Crop for This Area

Castor beans have been grown in the Chillicothe Experiment Station during five recent years. Planting was done in the early part of the cotton planting season. The crop was planted and cultivated similar to a cotton crop. Weeding was done by hand very much as cotton is pulled.

Yields per acre of the Connor variety varied from 666 to 1,219 pounds at the Chillicothe Experiment Station. The high yield of 1,219 came from high rainfall and low yield of 1949 from the effect of drought in July and early August, according to Joe Burkett, county agent.

Castor beans are well adapted to the Rolling Plains area. Diseases and insects are not a problem and yields are high enough to be profitable production. They seem to be best adapted to sandy soils.

Castor beans are imported mostly from South America, but the production abroad is not stable enough or adequate to meet the growing use of castor oil in American industry. It is estimated that the beans from a half-million acres in the United States could be disposed of profitably to meet current demands in the manufacture of paint, varnish, lacquers, oleum and numerous other products.

The market demand is for clean beans and hulling facilities must be available to a grower before he can produce them. The hulling machine is a simple one but is used except for hulling castor beans. A few hullers now in the United States belong to castor bean processors, but, as production expands, farmers would want to own their own machines or have easy access to them.

Castor beans are easy to produce and require no unusual equipment except planting hoppers similar to those used in planting peanuts. The seeds are large, come quickly after the soil is warm, and the seedlings grow rapidly for the first few weeks. Annual weeds should be kept from getting ahead of the crop. The crop requires no more labor to produce than to the time of harvest than corn or sorghum. Harvesting has been done by hand but a mechanical stripper has been made and undoubtedly better models will be produced. Since there will be less labor to harvest in 1950, there would be no difficulty in obtaining labor to harvest castor beans.

Man can harvest more pounds of unhulled castor beans than of cotton bolls in the same length of time. Castor beans can be harvested when cotton cannot be on account of dew, but castor bean pods that are damp when picked must be dried before storing. Cotton and castor beans should complement one another rather than compete for labor at harvest time.

The returns from the hulled beans grown on the Chillicothe Station in 1949 would have been about $50 an acre. It is estimated that the harvesting and hulling costs would have been about $15 per acre.

Like other crops, castor beans produce the highest yields on fertile soil. About 700 acres of Connor castor beans were grown under contract with a commercial company in small acreages, in most cases on very light sandy soil, in Wilbarger and Hardeman Counties in 1949. The yields ranged from 303 to 550 pounds per acre and averaged slightly less than 400 pounds.

Connor is the only variety of which there is a large seed supply at present. Higher-yielding, dwarf varieties will soon be available and seed supplies are being increased.

There is a supply of Connor seed sufficient to plant 10,000 acres in 1950 in the area adjacent to Vernon. Now that cotton acreages are to be curtailed, there is need for substitute crops.

Mr. Burkett says that if anyone is interested in planting castor beans to contact him and he will try to locate the seed for them.

C. H. S. Baseball Team Wins Eight Straight Victories

The Crowell High School baseball team made it eight straight victories last Thursday when it defeated the Iowa Park High School team 12 to 4 here. The Cats were out-hit 6 to 5 in the game but three homers by the Crowell team and three costly errors by the Hawks made the difference in the score. Billy Earl Lynch, Clinton Marlow and Jimmy Rasberry hit homers for Crowell. Boyd West and Kenneth Munden hit homers for the Hawks. Crowell played almost perfect ball on the defense with only one error. Roy Whitley struck out nine Hawk batters. Bud West struck out only four Crowell batters.

This was the Wildcats' last exhibition game of the season. They play their first conference game with the Chillicothe Eagles here on Friday of next week. Both of these clubs have two victories over the Quannah Indians, second in the 2AA conference race. This should be the best game of the season on the home field. The Crowell boys are not having a game this week so the track boys might attend the district track meet at Iowa Park.

Box score for Thursday's game follows:

Date of Crowell Flower Show Changed to April 27th

Following consultation with the Executive Board, Mrs. R. L. Hunt, president of the Crowell Garden Club, announces that the date of the second annual Flower Show, originally scheduled for Friday, April 28, has been changed to Thursday, April 27. It was necessary to make this change due to the TFWC District 7, Memphis, which several of the Flower Show committee members will be attending on the original date set.

"It is hoped that all flower lovers in Foard County will attend and submit entries at the Flower Show," announces Mrs. Hunt.

The smallest humming bird found in the United States is known as the Ruby Throat. It would require seven Ruby Throats to weigh one ounce.

Oscar Winners

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF., Olivia de Havilland and Broderick Crawford are shown with their "Oscars" awarded them by the Motion Picture Academy for being best actress and actor of the year. Olivia received her second award for her work in "The Heiress," while Crawford scored in "All the King's Men."

Reseeding Range or Pasture Land by Deferred Grazing

W. Clyde Neel, Secretary of Foard County PMA, has announced that the County Committee has set May 1 to October 1 for deferred grazing. This practice is not applicable to noncrop pasture and range land which is not normally used for grazing. For full payment, acreage must be deferred for five consecutive months. If acreage is deferred for three consecutive months, but less than five months, payment will be calculated by counting two acres for one. This practice is limited to 25 per cent of the noncrop pasture and range land.

The area deferred must be kept free of livestock during the deferred grazing period. The noncrop pasture and range land not in the deferred grazing area must not be pastured to such an extent as will decrease the stand of grass or injure the forage, tree growth, or watershed. No assistance will be given if the county committee determines that any area of the ranch is overgrazed.

Secure written approval of the county committee before beginning of the deferred grazing period. Report performance, using the form on which the practice was approved, after deferring and not later than the date for reporting established by the county committee.

McKinney Church Is Rebuilt After Tornado Strikes

The story of the rebuilding of a Methodist Church in McKinney which was destroyed by a tornado two years ago, will appeal to the ones in Foard County who lost churches, homes and businesses in a like tornado in 1942. The story of plans for restoring the demolished property is inspirational and encouraging.

The Wesley Memorial Church has for its pastor, Rev. Claus H. Rohlf, a German-born American who is educated both in theology and in music, and has held the pastorate of larger churches but prefers a smaller church with a challenge such as the McKinney church.

One of the largest efforts of the church has been a talent program. Each adult of the church was given $8.00, each young person was given $4.00 and each child was given $1.00, using as a basis the scriptural parable of the sower. These people were given five weeks to use for making as much as they could of it. At the close of the allotted time, all of those involved, including the pastor returned their talents with 600 per cent increase. Some sold eggs and dressed chickens, baked pies and cakes, sewed, sold greeting cards, and did various things to help build the fund which was to build a church.

The church recently had a victory service at which time the talent stories were told and it was revealed that the indebtedness was paid with $100.00 over and above.

LIONS CLUB MEETING

The Crowell Lions Club held its regular weekly luncheon Tuesday noon at the DeLuxe Cafe. Miss Betty Barker, Club Sweetheart, was in charge of the program. She presented Miss Rondyn Self who played recordings of three numbers played by the Crowell High School Wildcat Band at its concert last Thursday afternoon at the High School auditorium.

Following the playing of the recordings, a quartet composed of Misses Bobbie Abston and Mary Alice Rader, clarinets and Misses Betty Barker and Frankie Mabe, saxophones, played two numbers, "Stardust" and "I Don't See Me in Your Eyes Any More." Guests included the four young ladies and Bob Gobin of Monahans and Tom Curry of Crowell.

Seven Killed in Plane Crash

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—Seven employees of North American Aviation Corp. were killed when a modified B-25 bomber crashed 15 miles southeast of Phoenix. Reports indicate the disaster was caused by bad weather—a high wind, rain and near-zero visibility.

Three Buildings in Negro Section Burn Tuesday Morning

Three buildings in the negro residential section of Crowell were destroyed Tuesday by fire which raged uncontrolled for several hours and for a time threatened a number of other houses in the area.

I. R. Rashaw and John Ray Rashaw owned and occupied the buildings which were a total loss. A storage building near one of the houses was also destroyed. Fire broke out about 10 a. m. in the I. R. Rashaw home. It was reported a small kerosene heater was overturned by a small child. Flames quickly spread to other parts of the house, then to the John Ray Rashaw home next door.

Firemen were finally able to bring the fire under control though hampered because there were no fire hydrants in the immediate area. Pumper trucks shuttled back and forth with loads of water from town. Hoses connected to a hydrant one-half mile from the burning houses were finally helpful in quenching the flames. All possessions of both families were lost.

Use of Iodized Salt Recommended

Many people think of iodine as a brown liquid and a mighty good disinfectant rather than an essential food. Small but steady quantities of iodine are needed by the body for normal growth and development, healthy skin and hair, mental alertness, physical vigor as well as a preventative for goiter. The simplest, most practical way to make sure that all people, especially growing children, have the iodine they need is the use of iodized salt, says Joe Burkett, County Agricultural Agent.

He points out that fruits and vegetables grown on iodine-rich soil, seafoods and some drinking water contain iodine but many people lack these sources. There are many large areas in the nation that are deficient in iodine and must therefore be supplied by other means.

Mr. Burkett says the USDA, the U. S. Public Health Service, physicians, nutritionists and other groups concerned with national health are cooperating in a campaign to increase the use of iodized salt. He urges homemakers to look for the word "iodized" on the container the next time they buy salt for this is their assurance that they are getting health protection for their families. Only one part of iodine in 10,000 parts of salt is needed for protection and this small addition does not increase cost.

CEMETERY DONATIONS

Since the last report was made of donations to the upkeep fund of the local cemetery, the following have made contributions:
A. W. Dishman ..... $2.00
Mrs. W. O. McDaniel ..... $1.00
Mrs. U. C. Rader ..... $5.00
Mrs. H. D. Poland and Mrs. Rosa Perkins ..... $5.00
Miss Margaret Curtis ..... $5.00
E. P. Bomar ..... $5.00
J. M. Marr ..... $5.00
Mrs. Leon Callaway ..... $3.00
Mrs. G. J. Benham ..... $2.00

Federal census taken in 1950 showed that the population of the United States was 23,191,876 of which 3,204,312 or over 7 per cent were slaves.

Spring Conference of PT-A Held at Seymour April 3, 4, 5

The 22nd annual conference of the Thirteenth District of Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers was held in Seymour on April 3, 4 and 5, with Mrs. V. W. Brownning of Truscott, district president, in charge.

The pre-conference board meeting was held on Monday evening with Mrs. Brownning presiding. Mrs. R. V. Hall of Texarkana, Ark., national representative, and Mrs. A. W. Shackelford of Wichita Falls, state representative, was introduced at this meeting. The state president, Mrs. J. H. Moore, of DePoy, sent greetings.

The theme "We build a world child by child" was stressed during the conference and an address on that subject was given by the national representative. At the Tuesday evening meeting which was a "Life Membership" banquet given at the Club Cafe when a number of life memberships were awarded, a National Life Membership was presented to Mrs. Brownning by the 13th District.

Mrs. Brownning announced that the 1950 records show that there are 9,293 unit members, five new units, two city councils, six county councils and 70 units in the 13th District.

Splendid reports were made from the units, a total attendance of 208 was present and Seymour entertained with various compliments, and provided special musical numbers and other program material.

Awards were made in the different phases of the work and an invitation was extended by the Iowa Park unit to entertain next year's conference. The invitation was accepted.

The conference is numbered as a successful one in all respects.

Mrs. Grady Magee Appointed Chairman Foard Cancer Drive

College Station, Texas — Appointment of Mrs. A. G. Magee, local resident and civic worker, as chairman of the 1950 Cancer Crusade in Foard County, was announced last week by G. B. Gilchrist, Chancellor of the Texas A. & M. College System and state chairman.

As 1950 Crusade chairman, Mrs. Magee will head the April Educational and Membership drive of the American Cancer Society in the county, appointing county campaign workers and joining the year-round efforts of the cancer control volunteers to remind Texans that cancer can be cured if treated in time.

In announcing Mrs. Magee's appointment, Mr. Gilchrist said that the American Cancer Society hopes to raise $500,000 in Texas this year to carry on its support of diagnostic and treatment clinics and cancer research, and to carry on its year-round program of cancer education.

Mr. Gilchrist said that he is very gratified that Mrs. Magee will serve as county campaign chairman. "I feel sure that Foard County will reach its goal this year under her leadership, as it has during each past four years, under Mrs. Magee's command."

Wichita Falls High School Musicians to Be at Benjamin

The senior class of the Benjamin High School will sponsor a unique program in the school auditorium on Friday, April 14, at 8 p. m., it has been announced.

The Booker T. Washington High School Music and Band Department of Wichita Falls will present folk dances, jazz, popular music and Negro spirituals, the announcement stated.

Irrigable Land in Wyoming Opened for Homestead Settlement, Preference Being Given to World War II Veterans

Fifty-four farm units, containing an average of 130 acres of irrigable land each, have been opened for homestead settlement on the Bureau of Reclamation's Riverton Project near Riverton, Wyo., by Secretary of the Interior Oscar L. Chapman, Veterans of World War II are given preference of application.

The homestead units are in an area where irrigation farming has been carried on successfully since 1925. Most of the 6,940 acres of irrigable land contained in the opening is in its native state. However, canals, laterals and farm-distribution ditches to serve the new lands have been constructed

Soil Conservation News of District

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, Lower Pease River District Board: W. C. Howard, Grady Halbert, O. T. Holmes, O. H. Brandon, H. L. Ayers.

Madrid clover in this area is looking good and promises to be an excellent soil building crop for this part of the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District. Several cooperators made plantings of Madrid clover last spring. The clover furnished several months of pasture the first year. This clover is a biennial and is coming back from the roots for the second year.

It greened up early and is furnishing grazing now. These plantings that were made last year will make a seed crop this year and most of the cooperators plan to harvest their seed. Madrid clover is a deep rooted, drought resistant legume and furnishes good grazing as well as being a good soil building crop.

We have a great need here in the district for crops such as this and would like to encourage anyone that is interested to go look at some stands of this clover. It can fit into any system of farming.

Blue Bonnett Laundry of Vernon Will Open Sub-Station Here

Elvie Folmar, owner and operator of the Blue Bonnett Laundry in Vernon, announced this week that a sub-station will be opened in Crowell in the Roberts building on the south side of the square on Monday, April 17. Bert Mathews has been employed to be in charge of the station.

Laundry left with Mr. Mathews will be picked up every day.

ROTARY CLUB

Visitors at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Crowell Rotary Club at the DeLuxe Cafe were Rotarians R. D. L. Killough and Bud Harvel of Vernon and E. R. Blair, Vance Favor, James Baldwin and Jack Cromartie of Quannah. Other visitors were Rev. Frank Collins of Goodlettsville, Tenn., and Ben Barker of Crowell.

With Claude Callaway in charge of the program, Leslie Thomas, county judge of Foard County, told of the progress being made in plans to enlarge the Foard County Hospital.

Absolute zero is found at 460 degrees below zero Fahrenheit. At this temperature all molecular motion ceases and there is a complete absence of heat.

In 1850 the national debt of this country was reported by the President as being $63,452,773.55. Today it is four thousand times that much.

District President

Mrs. Van Brownning of Truscott, president of the 13th District, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, presided at the annual spring conference held in Seymour last week.

by the Bureau of Reclamation and new settlers can secure help from the Bureau and other Federal and State agencies in the leveling of the land and other work preparatory to cultivation.

Public Notice 30, which describes the new opening in detail, and application forms may be secured from the Bureau's Region 6 office at Billings, Mont., the Big Horn District office at Cody, Wyo., or the Riverton Project office at Riverton, Wyo. Completed applications should be returned to the Riverton Project office and all applications received by 2 p. m., June 26, will be considered as simultaneously filed. Applications received after that date will be considered, in the order filed, only if farms remain available after awards are made to successful applicants filing before the June 25 deadline.

Applications from eligible World War II veterans received before June 26 and which are complete will be entered in a public drawing at Riverton late this summer to establish a priority by which the applicants will be considered for the available farm units. After the drawing, applications of veterans who qualified for the drawing will be reviewed by an examining board and if the applications are in order and the applicant can furnish the necessary supporting documents to meet all requirements, he will be allowed to select a farm in the order established at the drawing. Each successful applicant must pass a personal interview before receiving a farm unit.

Minimum requirements for the Riverton Project farms provide that the prospective homesteader must have had the equivalent of at least two years of full-time farming experience after reaching the age of 15, have $5,000 in cash or its equivalent in useful assets in excess of liabilities, must be of good health and character, industrious, and able to meet the requirements of the homestead and reclamation laws.

Construction work is now under way or planned on the Riverton Project to make possible the opening for homestead settlement of about 60 irrigable farm units in the spring of 1951, and about 120 units in 1952 and 1953.

For further information or application blanks, see Joe Burkett, County Agent.

Brother of Local Woman Buried Tuesday in Vernon

Funeral services were held in the First Baptist Church in Vernon Tuesday afternoon, April 11, for Guyton Cato, brother of Mrs. Joe Smith of Crowell, who passed away very suddenly last Thursday, April 6, following a heart attack.

Funeral services had been postponed pending the arrival of a son from Guam, where he is stationed.

Rev. Noel Guice, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, and Dr. E. S. James, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiated at the services. Interment was made in East View Memorial Park in Vernon.

Mr. Cato was a native of Vernon, having resided there all his life. For a number of years, he has operated a wrecking yard. He was born on Oct. 19, 1904. He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include his wife and two children, a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Mullins of Virginia, one son, Guyton Jr.; two grandchildren; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Cato of Vernon; one brother, E. B. Cato of Wichita Falls and one sister, Mrs. Smith of Crowell.

Incubator for Foard County Babies Bought for Local Hospital

Foard County is proud to announce the arrival of a shiny new incubator for infants. This is one of the most modern models, and is equipped to give the controlled temperature, humidity, and oxygen content that are so essential to the care of premature or tiny babies.

It is needed by very few newborn infants, but is a matter of life or death when it is necessary. It will be on exhibit when the hospital holds open house in May to celebrate National Hospital Day.

TO SPONSOR QUARTET
The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Thalia Methodist Church will sponsor the Stamps Ozark quartet in concert at the Thalia High School auditorium on Wednesday night, May 10, it was announced this week.

The farm price support program, it is estimated, will cost two billion dollars this year. The government at the present time has 3 billion invested in farm surpluses.

lications for the whole economy. It has contributed to price levels that have steadily pushed up the whole price level. As a result, Americans — in agriculture and outside the unionized industries — are being priced out of the market.
"If enough people are priced out of the market, it will be felt in a lessening demand for consumer goods. Even a mild depression would be likely to have with the welfare system. Lewis has got out of the coal industry; a system that has little relation to actual soundness."
The foregoing is the big point regardless of what happens any particular strike or shut-down or dispute. The miners, naturally want the best contract possible — the highest wages, the shortest hours, the best benefits and the rest. But what good are these things do them if the market for coal steadily dwindles, because the price to the consumer was too high and, consequently, there were fewer and fewer buyers.
Any group — whether it be labor union or an industry — tries to force extreme demands regardless of the effect on the rest of the nation, is riding the hard destruction. — Indiana News Review.

TH GRADE GIRLS TRAINED AT EASTER

The fifth period class of Home-coming was hosted at an Easter luncheon Tuesday afternoon, April 4, by the future freshmen girls, the grade girls, of Crowell Elementary School.

Guests were met at the entrance to the Homemaking Department where they were directed to the dining room. The dining room decorated with an Easter motif, spring colors were used throughout the room. On the buffet table an Easter bunny carrying a colored straw basket of goodies was covered by a embroidered handkerchief cloth. At one end was a sitting by his nest of eggs and a miniature Easter chick. At the other end of the table a cut glass punch bowl, refreshment of open faced pink cheese sandwiches, dainty yellow and blue cookies, and pink mints were served with the delicious punch. In the punch, pink ice cubes were used to carry out the color scheme.

From the dining room the guests were taken to the main room where they played several Easter games. This room was decorated with Easter egg tress and a gold "Welcome" sign.

SENIOR WILL

The highlights of every Junior-Senior Banquet is the reading of the prophecy and will. The prophecy and will at the 1950 banquet were written in the theme of "Alice in Wonderland." If you were unable to attend the banquet you may like to read them as printed here.

Senior Will
 by Clara Jones

As Alice in Wonderland was wandering through the forest one day looking for adventure she noticed a rabbit hopping along in the grass. She watched him very closely, and noticed that he came to a big hole and then disappeared. She hurried over to the hole in time to see him falling through space. Her curiosity got the best of her, and she decided to follow him. On her way down the rabbit hole she kept passing shelves and more shelves. A few of them were empty, but most of them had papers and books cluttered on them. In passing one unusually dusty shelf, Alice spied a red backed book, which she took off the shelf. She blew the dust off and found that it was entitled "Handbook of Misleading Questions to Ask Mrs. Sloan." Alice opened the priceless book and read the inscription on the fly leaf. It was as followed: "To Joe Howard Williams and Doyle Sparks, may this book help you all as much as it did me. Signed Rouse Todd, Mar. 31, 1950."

When Alice landed at the bottom of the rabbit hole, she had several interesting adventures. Among them was growing into a giant, shrinking to the height of ten inches, and nearly drowning in a pool of tears.

After surviving the pool of tears Alice found herself on an island with several talking animals. A subject of interest to everyone was gossip about the way Violet Rummel was making good use of the rolling pin left to her by LaVerne Farrar Poyner. Score up to that time was three bruises and a skinned chin, suffered by James.

The little rabbit came trotting slowly by as Alice was listening to the gossip. He noticed Alice and called out to her, "Oh, there you are, run home for me and see if Pee Wee Polk has brought over the long tailed shirt given to him by Kenneth Adams, which he promised to let me wear to the Banquet tonight." Frightened Alice ran off in the direction to which he had pointed.

As she was hurrying to his house, several thoughts ran thru her mind. She wondered why the rabbit had picked on her. She soon came to a house that had W. Rabbit on the front door in big letters. She found her way into a room and there on a table she found the long tailed shirt. Also on the table was a package of Dentine chewing gum and red hot. By it was a card and on it was written "To Sweetpea from Betty Lou." Neatly stacked in one corner of the table was a series of cards entitled "Texas History Test Notes for Six Weeks and Mid-Term Exams." A notation on the top card said, "Hack, when you use these, don't forget to keep them well hidden. Signed, James Weathers."

Alice left the house and soon found herself in some thick woods. She had been in such a hurry on her way to W. Rabbit's house that she had not paid too much attention to which way she was going. While she was wandering through the woods, she noticed a pretty little garden in the clearing up ahead. While she was trying to reach the garden, she discovered a ghostly car-like object. She approached the object and asked it what it was. The object replied, "I'm the spirit of Don Wilkins' Model A. I was on my way to the Junior-Senior Banquet when I had three flats and broke an axle. He told me to go to the devil. Excuse me anyway, I've been looking for three hours and I haven't found Wayne Dolan yet."

In the midst of the woods Alice found a house. And the kitchen door being open, she walked right in. The house belonged to a duchess, who looked like Jean Gamble. Jean was wearing Woolworth's diamonds that Joline Lanier had given her. Alice had a headache and asked the duchess for an aspirin. She was directed to the medicine chest where the only thing that she could find was a bottle of Hadaacol for vitality from LaVerne Owens to Betty Barker. Just then H. L. Ayers appeared at the door in a very colorful uniform. Using the vocabulary given him by W. C. Langford, he extended to Alice an invitation to come to tea, from his master, the March Hare. Alice accepted and the servant disappeared.

Alice started through the woods again; this time she had barely gotten away from the house when Ann Haynie wandered across her path. Ann said, "I've lost the book Myrtle gave me. Have you seen it?"

"I don't think so," replied Alice. "What was the title?"

Ann's answer was, "How to Cure Forgetfulness in 10 Easy Lessons," but I didn't get to read any of it."

The next person Alice met in the woods was Ruth McRae moving a water hose around from tree to tree. She explained that it had all started when Betty Joyce Harper left her the job of watering the plants in the typing room.

Alice was beginning to wonder what would happen next. What did happen next was Wanza Spears, walking along talking to herself. Alice discovered that she was only practicing the drawl left to her by Peggy Eavenson.

Finally Alice arrived at the March Hare's house. The tea table was set under a tree at the front of the house. The March Hare and Mad Hatter were drinking tea while the dormouse between them slept calmly on. Alice sat down at an empty place, but as everyone ignored her, she decided to read the paper lying on the table by her plate. It said:

"We, the Senior Class of Crowell High School, being now about ready to cast aside our high school ways and depart forever to that state land of adulthood, and being mindful of the needs of those we leave behind in the Junior Class, do by these presents declare our last will and testament to be:

Bobby Lax leaves his nickname to anyone who will have it; therefore, it goes to Donald Reynolds because he said he'd take anything from a Senior.

wish bones. On rushed the scene. Northward over Canada, and up to cold, frigid Alaska. Here we stopped before an Eskimo Igloo. Playing around the igloo entrance were fourteen little Eskimo children. I say Eskimo children; yet they had a look about them that was familiar. And almost at once I know why, for there issued from the entrance the mother, considerably more plump than when I knew her last, but still the same old Joyce Hinkle. She was at last "Back to New York City, right into a ladies' Athletic Club, and into a Turkish bath. There with only their heads protruding from the tops of steam cabinets, each with three chins but recognizable were Betty Harper and Evelyn Kajs. Just as I thought! I knew when I was back on earth that if those two girls didn't stop getting so much candy from their various boy friends, they would end up like this.

Then I saw the Follies. My, how those girls could dance. And right in the middle of the rest of them were Tommie Meason and LaVerne Owens. Those girls must be nearly fifty years old by this time, but you wouldn't know it to see them. Make-up can do marvelous things in covering up a girl's age. There was a swinget singing with Bob Crosby. "The Three Musketeers and a Mosquito," Buddy Rader, Raymond Carter, Kenneth Adams and Joline Lanier. The next thing I saw was Alan Hinkle, dean of women at SMU. He really enjoys his work. Victor Christian runs one of the finest service stations in Crowell. He is well known by the law for selling water for gasoline. Bobby Lax, the captain of the wingless airplane has made five trips around the world. He made the last trip in five hours.

Texas Employers to Benefit by Recent U. C. A. Amendments

The Texas Employment Commission made public today its initial estimate of savings to Texas employers resulting from recent amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Act. Approximately 21,000 Texas employers will benefit, the Commission said, and of that number 45 per cent will have their total unemployment compensation tax bill reduced 80 per cent. The Commission said its recommendations to the Governor two years ago for revision of the tax rates were enacted into law by the 51st Legislature and would result in a total savings to employers of 8 million dollars each year.

The TEC credited this tax saving to four major factors: (1) that the expanding economy of the States has kept employment and employment opportunities at a high level, thereby keeping the ratio between the amount of money paid out in unemployment insurance to unemployed workers to the amount collected in taxes at an extremely low level; (2) that the job-finding facilities of the TEC have been effectively used by a majority of covered employers; (3) since experience rating is influenced to a high degree by the rate of labor turnover in individual establishments a majority of the Texas employers have achieved a stable work force, and as a consequence received experience ratings at the minimum tax rate of one-tenth of one per cent; and (4) that the TEC has attempted to exert the highest degree of efficiency in the investigation and payment of claims, thereby eliminating to a marked extent fraud, overpayments and excessive appeals by both claimant and employer.

TEC said that a total of 29,609 experience tax rating notices have been mailed to employers licensed dealers and salesmen in Texas, the six members of the Commission representing every section of the State, are endeavoring to push the educational program along by appearing before large groups of members of the profession whenever possible to explain the ethics outlined by the law.

From the enforcement angle, nine field inspectors are being assigned to permanent district headquarters over the State to assist license holders and investigate complaints based on violations of the law which also provides heavy penalties for sales of real estate without license.

Specific ethical violations on which the Commission may cancel, suspend or refuse to renew a license include the following:

Inducing a party to break one contract for the purpose of making a new contract with a new principal; knowingly making any substantial misrepresentations, false promises through salesmen, advertising or otherwise, acting for more than one in a transaction without the knowledge and consent of all parties; failure to account for or remit any fees coming into his possession from others;

Procuring a license for self or salesmen by fraud, misrepresentation or deceit; has been convicted of a felony, knowledge of which the Commission did not have at the time license was issued; demanding a commission which he is not justly entitled to; paid a commission or fee or divided same with any one not licensed as a dealer or salesman; offering real property for rent or sale without owner's written consent.

Veteran Land Loans Being Accepted on Conditional Basis

Austin, Texas — Although the entire $25,000,000 principal of the Veterans' Land Program authorized by March 18, 1942, legislation passed by the 51st Legislature, Commissioner Bascom Giles stated today that additional applications are being accepted "under certain conditions."

"Where both seller and purchaser understand that we cannot complete the purchase until the application is approved on file," Giles said.

The $25,000,000 fund involves one and thus the purchases can be made from time to time as veterans make semi-annual payments, Giles said. Some veterans are retiring their indebtedness faster than their normal demands. One tract in Foard County has already been sold in full.

"Also," Giles explained, "withdrawal enables us to process one of the applications on this conditional basis. It acts upon these new applications and when money is available the order they are received in." The down payments according to a "conditional" application will be deposited in the Treasury, Giles said, and returned if the transaction is completed.

No application has been received since March 18 except on a "conditional basis," Giles said.

The Westinghouse Electric Corporation announced recently that it has undertaken the construction of an atom powered submarine. Scientists say that such a craft will virtually run forever without refueling. Westinghouse scientists are at work on the project in a special research building. Replicas of the Statue of Liberty will be erected on the state house grounds of each state. The first one will be unveiled at Topeka, Kansas, on April 29. The cost is being provided for by pennies given by Scouts as a part of the campaign to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty."

And when the contortion, which stood over against him, saw that he so cried out, and gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Son of God.—Mark 15:39.

Nobody loves a tightwad. People don't like to see a man throw his money away but let the word get out that he is a penny-pinching tightwad and he can't acquire enough virtues to offset it.

Two big domestic problems face this country. One is a nation-wide road system and the other is more financial aid to our education system. We are in favor of financing all cross-state and transcontinental super highways by means of tolls. The Pennsylvania Turnpike in Pennsylvania and the Golden Gate Bridge in San Francisco Bay, have demonstrated that this is clearly practical. Both of these projects are being paid for and no one has felt the burden of an extra tax. The people who use these facilities pay for them in proportion as they use them. We have no suggestion as to how to provide more money for our schools except through taxes—either a new tax or an increased tax. If we are going to continue in the belief that we owe at least a high school education to every boy and girl in the land, we cannot ask the boys and girls to pay for it. That is the obligation that the community owes to the youth.

In the beginning of 1950 there were 43,900,000 motor vehicles in this country, including 35,700,000 passenger cars. It is predicted that in 1970 the number will reach 70,000,000.

A new pastime consists of the making up of lists of the ten persons who should be preserved in a deep cave in the event the country were devastated with atom bombs. A lot of people are having difficulty picking the other nine.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike, a super highway extending from Irwin to Middlesex, Pennsylvania, a distance of 160 miles, may be used as a model in the matter of financing for other stretches of highway construction in this country. The Turnpike is a dual highway with no steep grades or sharp curves. Along its length are eight tunnels which take motorists through mountains instead of over or around them. There are no intersecting highways cutting into the Turnpike, but there are turn-offs where side roads connect. The speed limit on the road is 70 miles per hour. The road is being paid for by tolls which will be continued until it is paid for. Cars pay $1.50 and trucks from $3 to $10 depending on the gross weight of the vehicle. An extension to the highway is under construction at a cost of $239,000,000. Not a penny of Pennsylvania tax money has or will go into the construction of the highway. When completed, the Turnpike will extend from a point near Philadelphia to a point near Youngstown, Ohio, a distance of 327 miles. The experiment has demonstrated that the toll system will work and is a practical and equitable method of financing cross country super highways.

In nature there is no surplus of eggs such as we have in a man managed economy. In her wild state the hen only lays such eggs as she can comfortably cover and hatch. When the required number is laid she quits laying and proceeds to hatch out the eggs. The same thing is true of the quail. In nature the quail lays a few eggs and then quits to hatch them. If the eggs are removed each day the quail like the hen will lay as many as 150 to 200 eggs. The quail like the hen is driven by irresistible urge of nature to perpetuate her species by rearing a family of young.

Ever notice that if an individual does the things that he ought to do and lives according to the Good Book as nearly as he can for the first fifty years of his life he gets so that he likes to live that way, and wouldn't enjoy any other way of life?

What We Think
(By Frank Dixon)

The other day a quiet little Missouri town was shocked by the announcement that a thirteen year old baby sitter had been attacked and murdered by a sex pervert. The news dispatch told how the attacker entered through a window and silenced the girl while she was putting in a call to the police and before she could tell the police where she was.

The incident, while it shocked that whole area of the country was not an isolated instance. Such things happen some place in this country every week. The unfortunate and the indefensible part of it is that most of these attacks and murders could be prevented if the people wanted to prevent them. The public has a way of getting stirred up over the attack and slaying of a defenseless girl. It talks about it for a few weeks, vows vengeance upon the killer, and then lapses into a period of inactivity and silence until the next brutal outrage is committed—as it inevitably is.

The reason that I say that the public, as much as the criminal who commits the act, is responsible for these attacks, is because the records show that most of these attacks and murders are committed by sex perverts who have been released from prison and in most instances paroled before their sentences were served.

The question might be raised what part has the public to play in this? How can the public put a stop to it or lessen the number of attacks?

The public can help by demanding that laws be passed that make the first sentence for an act of sex perversion not subject to parole, and assess a life sentence or the death penalty—the latter is preferable, in my opinion, against all those charged with a second offense.

As long as the people assume an indifferent lackadaisical attitude toward this type of criminal, these outrages are going to continue. We will never curb or abate them under our present system.

It is incomprehensible to me that when the public knows that most of these acts are committed by men who have previous criminal records and have been paroled from prison and turned loose to prey upon society that they would be goaded to the point of doing something about it. What does it take to awaken people from this lethargy and inaction? Is it going to be necessary that everyone view the mutilated body of some girl, now cold, and still, and white in death, who gave her last ounce of living strength in a futile battle to protect her honor and her life?

Is it going to require this before the people of this country assume sufficient interest to do the obvious things that will reduce this hazard?

A few weeks ago a leopard escaped from an Oklahoma City zoo. The whole city and state and nation was at once alerted and concerned until the creature was recaptured.

There are hundreds of leopards loose in this country by the actions of helpless courts and no one will raise a finger to stop them, as they silently, and surely, stalk their kill—some defenseless child or woman. It's time for those who are concerned to cage the roving insane leopards.

A local man who has seen a good deal of life gives this advice to young people. When you seek a job, pay more attention to the kind of person your employer is than you do to the amount of wages he offers you—especially is this important if you intend to make the job your life's work. A greedy, grinding man who has no appreciation for honest effort and an honest day's work is a poor bet and a poor risk. There will never be any future in a job with him. He will pile more and more on you and will never adequately compensate you for your work. It is better to work for a crusty irascible old crab who has a sense of appreciation of honest effort and who is interested in the worker and knows an honest day's work than it is to work for a smooth soft spoken courteous skinklin who will begrudge you every nickel he pays you and keep you screwed down to a pittance. The man who hires you is going to look you over and it is just as important, young man, young woman, that you look him over just as critically. What do his workers think of him? Is he forever changing help? Do people work for him a little while and then leave for other jobs? These are the signs you cannot fail to read and should not fail to heed.

Men of the noblest dispositions think themselves happiest when others share their happiness with them.—Duncan.

Washington Newsletter
(By Congressman Ed Gossett)

Washington 25, D. C., April 7, 1950—Our House Committee on Immigration reports out hundreds of private bills each session. These bills are to adjust immigration matters that cannot be adjusted under existing laws. This week, we had a most interesting case; that of Mrs. Ellen Knauff, Mrs. Knauff was born in Germany. In 1934 she married a Czech and moved to Czechoslovakia. In 1936 she divorced the Czech and went to work for a leather goods firm in Czechoslovakia. In 1938, after Hitler's invasion of Czechoslovakia, she escaped to England, along with her employers, with Czechoslovakian passports. Shortly thereafter she worked for the British Red Cross. In 1941 she enlisted in the Royal Air Force as a WAAF. She was carefully screened by the British Intelligence and had the highly important duty of helping to map bomb targets in Germany. All of her people were exterminated by the Nazis. After the war she was given an honorable discharge and was decorated for her service. She then became a civilian employee of the American Army in Germany. Again, she was screened by Army Intelligence and placed in a highly responsible position. About a year ago she married an American soldier who had a good war record. After being screened by Immigration officials she started for America as a war bride with all appropriate documents. She was stopped at Ellis Island. After being questioned by an Immigration Inspector she was told she could not enter the United States.

To date, she has been held for loose in this country by the actions of helpless courts and no one will raise a finger to stop them, as they silently, and surely, stalk their kill—some defenseless child or woman. It's time for those who are concerned to cage the roving insane leopards.

8 months and has never been told what the charges are against her, or why she cannot enter. The Chairman of our Subcommittee on Immigration, Mr. Francis Walter, of Pennsylvania, introduced a private bill to permit this American war bride to come into this country. Immigration officials and State Department officials refused to tell our Committee why they were going to deport Mrs. Knauff. On Monday we had Mrs. Knauff brought before our Committee. In the presence of the Chief Counsel for the Immigration Service and State Department officials, she made an excellent witness in her own behalf. We asked them to question her and they refused. They again refused to disclose the nature of the charges against her. Our Committee cannot compel these government officials to testify and we have no way of securing testimony detrimental to Mrs. Knauff. We therefore reported out her bill and expect it to pass through the Congress unless these officials who claim they know something, will come before our Committee and talk. We have offered to let them testify off the record in Executive Session. This means their testimony would be confidential. Still, they say in effect, "this is none of your business—we will send her back anyway." We feel that even an alien, especially the wife of an American veteran with a good record, has the right to know the nature of the charges against her.

Two cases were argued before the Supreme Court this week which may make history. One was the Henderson case. In this case, a negro has asked the Supreme Court to outlaw the "separate though equal facilities" doctrine. The second is the famous Sweatt case from Texas. This is the case in which a negro seeks to enter the University of Texas law school. The courtroom was filled with negroes. Able negro lawyers supported by the Department of Justice are asking the court to hold that "separation is discrimination" and violates the 14th amendment. These negroes contend that if the University of Texas had a negro law school on one side of the street and a white law school on the other side of the street, even though the negro school had better buildings and a better faculty, the mere fact that negroes were excluded from the white law school would be a violation of the law. They are asking the Supreme Court to overrule Texas laws and the decisions of Texas courts. If the Supreme Court decides these cases in behalf of the negroes, then all segregation of races anywhere in the United States becomes illegal. These cases grow out of hypocritical politics. They are exceedingly dangerous. Politicians in the government have succeeded in outlawing segregation in the armed forces; they have outlawed segregation in public housing; and the Department of the Interior has just announced that beginning this season all of the swimming pools under their supervision will be operated on a non-segregated basis. This week too, the Armed Services have lifted the quota provisions against negro enlistments. In due time they may mongrelize and destroy the caliber if not the morale of American fighting forces. This is indeed a tragedy for all races. These things would not at this time be happening but for the political power of racial minorities in the big States and in the big cities of the big States. The Yankee politicians in both major parties do these things to get the minority votes in New York City, Chicago and Detroit. This is one of the compelling reasons why I am so anxious to get the Lodge-Gossett amendment submitted and adopted for abolishing the Electoral College system of electing Presidents. If and when we effect this reform it will take away the tremendous political advantage these minorities have and will remove most of the drive behind dangerous movements to mongrelize the American people.

"12 o'Clock High" Starring Gregory Peck at Rialto Sun. - Mon.

Gregory Peck in "12 o'Clock High," Twentieth Century - Fox's mid-century movie which had its triumphant world premiere on the west coast at the tag end of 1949 and is the first major Hollywood product of 1950, has been announced as the next attraction at the Rialto Theatre, where it will be shown Sunday and Monday, April 16 and 17.

The intimate and yet spectacular dramatic story of "12 o'Clock High" tells, through the eyes of a dozen colorful flyers, of aviation's part in the recent war and the rising prestige of daylight bombing. The definitive aviation film of the war, it contains special film staged crash sequences quite unlike any ever attempted before as well as authentic German and American combat footage not previously released to the public.

The picture stars Peck in the role of General Frank Savage, commander of the fictional 918th Bomb Group, which is reportedly based on the actual history of the 305th Bomb Group.

The key part of Savage, whose real life prototype is General Frank Armstrong, Peck has called his finest role. And in it he is said to give his finest performance. One of the longest and toughest assignments Peck has ever drawn, the part calls for him to risk his personal stability for the sake of transforming a demoralized, straggling army group at the outset of the war into a trim, efficient fighting unit that had a great deal to do with the winning of it. To accomplish this, General Savage must adopt a steel exterior and drive his men, like himself, hard. Eventually, as he must, he cracks—but not before his job is done, and done well.

CAN'T BUY UTOPIA OVERNIGHT
A New York Herald-Tribune editorial discusses the government's proposed vast social security program with its emphasis on protection against loss of income for the ill and unemployed, better housing for the people, better health and medical care, an insured income for the aged, and the rest of it. It then says: "No one disputes the desirability of the goals, no one doubts that the American system has within itself the power to attain them to a degree known to no other nation. But to achieve them demands more than mere faith, more than a political formula, more than the denunciation of 'reactionaries' . . . . The program which Mr. Truman puts forth . . . is as complicated, difficult and costly as anything which could well be imagined. Combined with the vast commitments for defense and foreign aid which the United States has undertaken, it would constitute a crushing burden on the productive energies of America. This is not what the will of the people demanded, nor what Mr. Truman told the voters in the 1948 campaign. He spoke then, and he speaks now, as if a goal has only to be stated in legislation to be won, painlessly and finally. The experience of too many countries with his kind of wishful thinking, however, has proved to be futile and dangerous."

What the Herald-Tribune is saying, in essence, is that men of good will, impatient to immediately attain some great end, have unwittingly created economic ruin for millions. In no country in the world has the life of the masses of people been so greatly improved as in ours. That life will, in the normal course of events, get better, happier, more secure. But if we try to buy utopia overnight, the consequences will be disastrous.

W. T. C. C. Water Report Mailed to Washington, D. C.

Abilene, March 27 (Spl.)—A report seeking national acceptance of a proposal that "inadequate municipal water be recognized as a menace to the national welfare and that domestic water be given first use priority and established as a criterion for Federal dam building" has received final approval of the officers and municipal water rights committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and West Texas Domestic Water Association and was mailed this week to President Truman's new Water Resources Policy Commission.

J. M. Willson, Floydada, president of the WTCC, and Homer D. Grant, Lubbock, president of the WTDWA, indicated jointly their companion organizations had compiled the report at the request of Morris L. Cooke, chairman of the Water Resources Policy Commission. Cooke had addressed a personal request to Willson and Grant early in February for "recommendations on a unified program for maximum use of the water resources of the West Texas region."

An amendment and addition to the Federal Flood Control Act of 1936, patterned after the basic law, is also proposed in the WTCC WTDWA recommendation, which would direct "that the several Federal agencies to which are delegated water development functions on the rivers of the United States shall hereafter conserve and utilize such waters in the following order of priority: first, for domestic and industrial uses; second, for irrigation; third, for flood control; fourth, for navigation; fifth, as a by-product and subordinate to all other uses, for generation of electric power; and providing that the accruing benefits shall exceed the total cost."

The WTCC-WTDWA report and recommendation are based on exhaustive studies made in recent months of the problem on developing municipal water. The recommendation is companion to the findings of the Hoover Commission studies which point out needs for better payable returns on government-financed water projects and the possibility of a greater conservation and utilization of water through a greater upstream development of smaller dams. A majority of the Commission definitely recommended that domestic water be given the first use priority on all federal-financed water projects.

The federal government has opened up a war on income tax cheaters. Preliminary action consists of 149 persons charged with evading more than $10,000,000 in wartime taxes. At the same time liberal rewards are being offered to anyone who can supply evidence of income tax evasion. Last year the government paid $449,948 to 97 individuals in rewards ranging from $25.86 to $47,072 for aid that led to the recovering of $8,187,914 in taxes that otherwise would not have been paid.

Debris and bricks torn out of the White House during the remodeling process will not fall into the hands of souvenir hunters. All usable material will be worked back into the building. Some will go to museums, schools and other public institutions. The rest, according to the architects, will be destroyed or burned.

The darkest hour in the history of any young man is when he sits down to study how to get money without honestly earning it. — Horace Greeley.

Weekly Sermon

"EATING" THE WORD OF GOD

by the late James M. Gray, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

The other morning at family prayers I read this verse in Proverbs 18:10: "The name of the Lord is a strong tower; the righteous runneth in to it, and is safe." I at once fastened it correctly in my mind, and as I walked to my office, I kept "eating" it, turning it over and over, and getting such a sense of strength and spiritual satisfaction.

"The name of the Lord," said I, "why that means the Lord Himself! He is a 'strong tower.' And the 'strong tower'? In olden times, that was a place of defense and protection, like our forts today. The righteous runneth into it! Who can the righteous be, save those who are made righteous through receiving Christ by faith as their righteousness?"

'Runneth' — there is a thought of haste because of the pursuit by the enemy, and Paul's words came into my mind, "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against spiritual wickedness in high places." "Runneth into it, and is safe." Oh, the security and peace of the believer who puts his trust in God! And so I kept on "masticating" the Word and finding something new in it at every bite.

Before the day was over, I needed all the strength I got out of it. There were trials that day; the enemy was on my heels, and how glad I was to run, and to know the place to run and be safe!

I think this is what the prophet meant when he said: "Thy words were found, and I did eat them; and the word was unto me the joy and rejoicing of my heart. And this is why I urge every Christian to memorize a portion of the Word of God every day. It gives his soul something to feed upon, and the more he feeds upon it, the greater and assimilates it, the greater is his spiritual strength, and joy, and power, and fruitfulness in the Lord.

C. H. S. Students Are Invited to Hardin-Simmons

Abilene—Students of Crowell High School are among more than 4,000 students of Texas who have been invited to the 27th annual senior day program to be held April 29 on the Hardin-Simmons University campus. Schools within a radius of 200 miles of Abilene are expected to send their seniors for the day of entertainment and education.

"Senior Day has been held on the campus for a number of years in order to acquaint graduating high school students with life on a college campus," Prof. W. C. Ribble, faculty chairman of the program said. "All training and recreational facilities of the University will be open for their inspection."

Visitors will be conducted on tours through the various departments and schools of the University and will be given the opportunity to view exhibits prepared by the campus organizations and units. Dormitories will also be opened to visitors during the day.

Dr. Otto O. Watts, head of the science department, has announced that his department will make experiments for the students. The art department will display some of its work that has won acclaim in recent art exhibits. The heads of other departments will be on hand to meet the visitors. There will be free copies of The Brand, student newspaper, available.

The formal program will include a welcome by President Rupert N. Richardson, music by the Cowgirl and Cowboy bands, a short drama by the University Players club, and the barbecue.

PICK YOUR SYSTEM!

Writing in the American Magazine, Harold G. Moulton, President of the Brookings Institution, says: "The only economic system sufficiently dynamic in character to assure us of enjoying a century of great abundance is free enterprise. . . . It is the only system with the driving force capable of helping this still blessed land realize its great potentialities." That conclusion was not reached by guess. It followed a careful and objective Brookings Institution study of the four major types of economic organization now in existence — communism, socialism, free enterprise, and hybrid types where private enterprise operates under governmental domination. And, when the facts were tabulated, free enterprise came out on top by a huge margin.

Will we Americans be intelligent enough to keep the system that is responsible for both our material abundance and our personal freedom?

Hospitality consists in a little fire, a little food, and an immense quiet.—Emerson.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer.

Austin, Texas.—The Texas State Department of Health's program of teaching food handlers sanitary methods of preparing and serving food continues to be very popular, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is one method of attack on that great group of respiratory diseases which include influenza, scarlet fever, measles, whooping cough and the common cold, the viruses of which are spread from person to person by the excretions of the nose and mouth.

Restaurant sanitation programs have become more necessary because of changes which have taken place in our national eating habits. Once upon a time it was customary for most people in Texas and in the U. S. A. to eat three meals a day at their own table. To "eat out" was an unusual and exciting event. Now, all the family, including the baby, eat out.

In this constant mingling of people to eat and drink there exists a vast and complicated arrangement perfectly designed for exchange of saliva via cups, glasses, spoons, forks and fingers that go in and out millions of mouths. There are few hours in the day in any community when these vectors of respiratory and other diseases are not busy.

The prime purpose of restaurant sanitation is to have all dishes and utensils sterilized and to have all those who handle or serve food understand and practice restaurant sanitation every day and all the time.

The public in every community needs to be concerned about the cleanliness of its public eating places. You can help by demanding cleanliness in the places you eat.

The post office department operates at a loss running into the millions each year. In 1950 the post office reported a profit of $369,986 and proposed reducing letter postage from three cents to two cents.
