Reddy Ideas

by REDDY KILOWATT

"The kitchen is a country in which there are always discoveries to be made," said a famous French chef. And bride or matron, you've probably found that out.

Want to dress up that whipped cream pie? Run your potato peeler over a chocolate bar (almonds and all) and make fancy chocolate curls over the whipped cream topping.

Freezing? Line casserole dishes first with aluminum foil. Be sure there's enough to fold over the top. Once frozen, the wrapped food can be lifted out of casserole, freezing it for other dishes. Put foil-wrapped food back in casserole for reheating. (Just a nickel a day keeps a freezer full of food!)

Steaks freeze very well. Freeze roast poultry unstuffed because of the danger of bacteria. Freeze pastries or meat or chicken pies unbaked. Under-cook vegetables when adding to steaks and casseroles so when reheated they won't have that warmed-over taste.

To press dark garments, put a black cloth over your ironing board. This prevents dark materials from picking up white lint, saves brushing later.

Just count the ways you use electric service every day. On the job around the clock, around the calendar—can you think of anything else that does so much yet costs so little?

Here's another use for the spray attachment on your vacuum cleaner: use it to apply liquid wax to linoleum or asphalt tile.

Your sewing machine needle won't stick when sewing plastic materials if you sew a strip of waxed paper into the seam. When finished, tear off paper; seam will be perfect.

Something to think about! It has been estimated that in the course of his lifetime an individual eats 64,000 meals, more or less. And somebody had to plan, buy and cook 'em!

In the average American home electricity does in one day what it would take 228 hours to do by hand. Nothing else does so much for so little! And you'll never run out of electricity, because your electric company plans and builds to keep the supply years ahead of the need. Do you wonder why we say electric service is the biggest bargain in your family budget?

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—In an effort to "prevent confusion to occupants, mailmen and the public" when the second of two sleek, pink marble State Office Buildings on the Capitol grounds is completed soon, the State Building Commission re-named them after famous Texas patriots.

First State Office Building—generally referred to as "S. O. B. No. 1"—now is designated as the Sam Houston State Office Building; the second, called "S. O. B. No. 2," was named after John H. Reagan, first chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission and Postmaster General of the Confederacy.

LICENSING STUDY SCHEDULED—House Speaker James A. Turman named Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont chairman of a new committee to study operations of Texas' Examining and Licensing Boards.

Reps. Sam Collins of Newton, Ben Atwell of Dallas, Don Gladden of Fort Worth and Travis Peeler of Corpus Christi will serve on the committee.

Study group was set up to effect "an even greater understanding between the licensing boards and the Legislature," Turman said.

Objects of their research will be the 23 State examining and licensing boards organized for the purpose of testing every prospective practitioner of plumbing, law, cosmetology, medicine, barbering or hairdressing and 18 other professions and trades in Texas.

TEXTBOOKS PUBLICIZED—State Commissioner of Education J. W. Edgar sent a list of 293 textbooks, offered for adoption by Texas schools, to all county and independent school district superintendents, and recommended that the list be publicized so the public will know it's available.

Textbooks are those which the State Textbook Committee is studying for the 1963-64 school term. Number will be sifted down to 82 by October. This approved list then will be turned to the State Board of Education.

Between September 1 and 15, the committee will hear any objections private citizens may have to the books. Last fall, there were plenty of protests.

Major complaint was that the objectors didn't know which books were being considered in time to examine them fully.

STRONG VOICE SILENT—When the Texas Railroad Commission held its monthly hearing to determine the August oil allowable, representatives from the major companies and independents were heard, but the strong voice of Commissioner Gen. Ernest O. Thompson was missing.

As one oilman after the other went up to urge a low eight-day allowable, no member of the Railroad Commission challenged them. If "the General" had been there, he "might have done so, but he was seriously ill in his home in

Would Stimulate Favorable Climate for Industrial Growth

"Historians may well list inadequate depreciation as a major factor contributing to the decline of our industrial facilities unless the situation is remedied. American industries have been lagging for some time in the necessary plant expenditures for new equipment. Certainly a more liberal and realistic tax depreciation will stimulate a more favorable climate for industrial growth."—Hills, Ore., Argus.

News Receives Congratulations on 72nd Birthday

In connection with the beginning of the Foard County News' seventy-second year of publication week before last, two letters have been received by the News, which are reprinted here: Mr. T. B. Klepper, The Foard County News, Crowell, Texas.

Dear Mr. Klepper: Noticed in the News last week of the 72 years of publication. Also noted your thanking the public for their support. This thanksgiving business goes two ways.

This Teague household thanks you for:

1. Always the kindness in which you report the news.

2. For the many, many fine young men that you have hired in these past years. We think they have been a credit to you and the community.

3. For being conscious of the importance of the school in the community. For the importance given to scholastic achievements. We know you have contributed much to the success of many fine young people in this way.

4. We enjoy the "Thirty Years Ago." It brings back many happy memories.

5. We have noted that personal feelings in political issues are never reflected in your paper. We know this is a most difficult thing to do as you have the power at your fingertips if you wished to use it.

6. Sometimes, the news as it happens, is very raw, bitter and sour. Thank you for the "sugar" you sprinkle on it before it goes to publication.

Again, let us say "thanks" for the finest paper anywhere. We look forward to its arrival each week.

Very truly yours,
Henry Teague,
McAdoo, Texas.

Mr. T. B. Klepper, Editor, Foard County News, Crowell, Texas.

Dear Mr. Klepper: I believe it is time for "us to thank you" and your fine staff for the exceptional weekly newspaper you have so capably kept in publication over the past thirty-three years.

Although Crowell has not been my home since the year 1946, I, nevertheless, am, and have been, continuously gratified in the processes of being kept informed, by means of your journal, of the many changes that have occurred, and continue to eventuate, there in Foard County.

Again, may "we thank you," Mr. Klepper, for the many unselfish contributions, the educated techniques, and the consistent good quality of news which you

Economist Takes a Look at the Cotton Situation

Consumption of cotton by domestic mills during the season ending on July 31 is up but a little from 1.6 million bales to about 1.6 million bales. Exports is expected to add 500,000 bales to the carryover, says John G. McNeese, extension economist.

Total disappearance of American cotton during the 1962 marketing year—August 1, 1962 through July 31, 1962—is expected to be about 14 million bales, or about 900,000 below last year, points out the economist. Supply for the current season is estimated at 21.7 million bales, or 400,000 less than for the 1961 season.

Mill consumption is greater a year ago primarily because of a higher level of economic activity, says McNeese. Average received by farmers for all cotton up to April 1, 1962, 2.6 cents per pound above the 1960 average, and with the exception of 1958, was the best since 1954. The average lint and cottonseed was 27 cents above that for the 1959 and the highest since 1950.

Haney says. Current prices, adds, are largely a reflection of Commodity Credit Corporation loan redemptions.

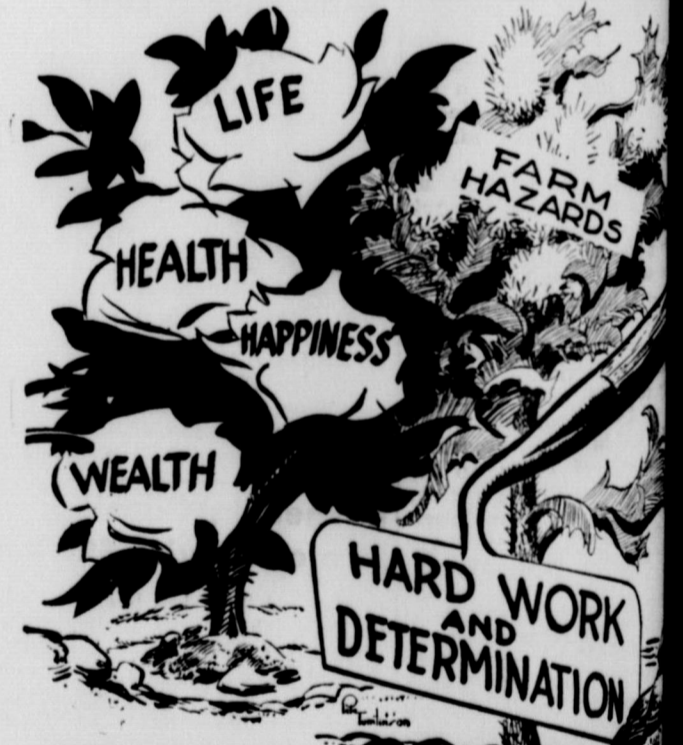

During the first quarter of imports of cotton textiles at a record level and representing 179,000 bales of raw cotton. S. exports of cotton textiles during the same period represented 113,200 bales and were about 10 per cent below those for the quarter of 1961.

In commenting on how well American and especially the cotton producer is faring, McNeese says the efficient production at current prices, is doing well. Cost of production, especially labor, continues to make the cost-price squeeze for most cotton growers.

expenditure of foreign aid money by the U. S. government.
I hope that other nations of the free world will soon begin to pick up more of a share of this burden. As Europe begins to really prosper, I hope that our allies will do their share to help the underdeveloped nations of the world. In the meantime, I feel that we cannot afford to abandon a program that has done a lot of good toward maintaining our position of strength and stability in the world.
The House has now passed a farm bill. The vote came this past Thursday, and the final vote on the measure was 229-163. The new bill, which is basically another one-year extension of the wheat and feed grains program enacted last year, won bi-partisan support of members of the Committee on Agriculture.
In the way of changes over the present bill, the new bill provides a new method of figuring price supports for feed grains. It eliminates the so-called "floor" price on feed grains and price supports will be set at 80 per cent of the last three years market average price of the commodity. The bill also contains a new voluntary dairy program.
This bill will now go to a conference committee. The committee, made up of both Senators and Representatives, will try to solve the differences between this bill and the bill passed by the Senate. The Senate passed the Administration program which was defeated by the House on June 22. It is believed that the House conferees will not compromise the House position on the Administration bill. They will hold fast with the stated opposition of the House to the Administration program. My efforts will continue to be directed at a serious and lengthy study of this whole problem. It is my sincere desire to try and find the solution which is most acceptable to all concerned and will do the most to solve the many problems that face us in the field of farm legislation. I am not committed to any basic program, and I will continue to approach this task with an open and inquiring mind in hopes that the right answer can be found.

REPORT FROM CONGRESS

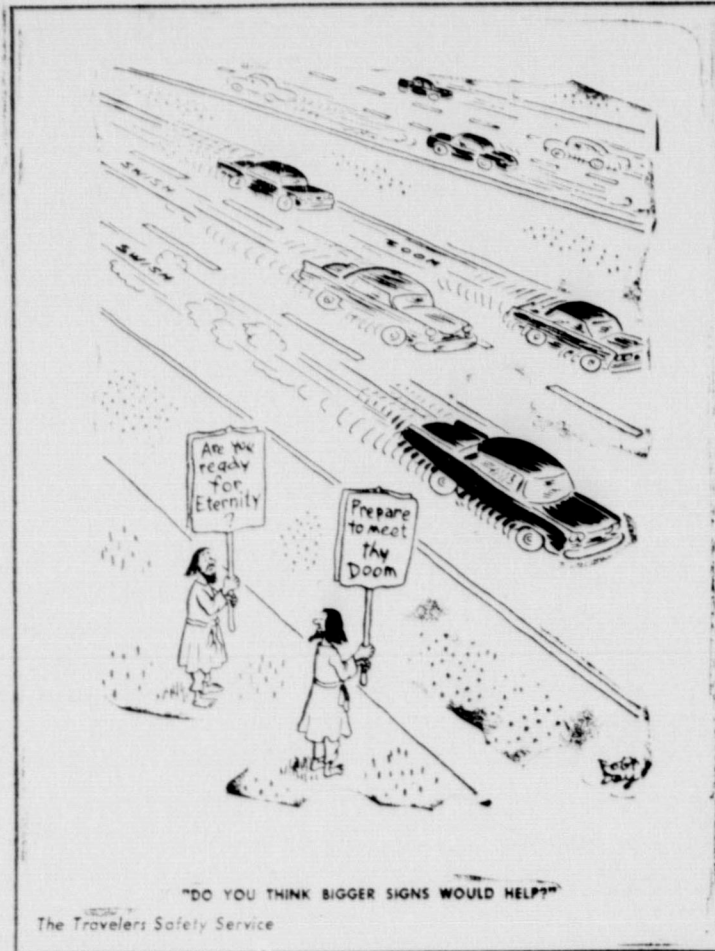

by Congressman Graham Purcell
The House of Representatives has passed this year's foreign aid bill. The proposal calls for the expenditure of $4.6 billion to aid our less fortunate neighbors in the world. I voted for the bill, as amended, on final passage.
The bill was amended to restrict aid to communist countries such as Poland and Yugoslavia. An amendment was introduced by my colleague Bob Casey of Houston to eliminate all forms of aid to all communist and satellite countries. This measure was amended before it was brought to a vote. I voted for the Casey amendment. In its final form, it provides that there shall be no aid to a country such as Poland or Yugoslavia, unless "the President determines it to be vital to the national security," that the recipient country was not dominated or controlled by the international Communist movement and that aid would promote its independence.
The bill, in its final form, and the Casey amendment drew widespread bi-partisan support.
Of course, I am opposed to giving aid and comfort to any nation which is our avowed enemy. But I would hesitate to "slam the door" in the face of any nation now under the communist thumb which wanted American help to throw off the shackles of communism.
There are some other interesting facts about our foreign aid money which most people are not generally familiar with. Almost 50 per cent of the money is used for support of military operations overseas or for support of military operations of friendly nations. Over 80 per cent is in the form of loans, not grants. This means that four-fifths of this money must be paid back by the nation which receives it in dollars, not in worthless foreign currency. Also, more than 80 per cent of this money is used to purchase goods and services in the United States. In other words, when the U. S. gives loans or money to a nation for a highway program, for example, the large part of that money is spent with American business for steel, asphalt, concrete, construction equipment, etc. I have learned that for the past ten years, almost $50 million per year in foreign aid money has been spent in Texas. Greenbelt Bowl Classic to Be Played in Childress August 4

Childress—Saturday, August 4, in Fair Park Stadium, the 13th annual edition of the Greenbelt Bowl Football Classic will unfold. Report of players who have accepted the invitation to attend indicate that it will be a hard-fought, head knocking brand of football. The 44 boys who will make up the two squads, the East team and the West team, are the best talent in this area. Each of them has been either an all-district, all-regional, or all-State selection. They are experienced and will show a lot of speed.

This classic will be the first of the bowl games to be played in North Texas and the Panhandle and will attract a number of scouts and coaches from all over the area.

Morris Higley, president of the classic, states that he feels it is going to be the best game ever played in Childress. Mrs. Carolyn Bowen, in charge of ticket sales, reports that tickets are going good and that large blocks of tickets are being purchased in surrounding towns.

Jack Lawson, in charge of promotions, states that he has a big surprise this year for the customers and urges a good attendance.

Each of the players has selected a young lady as a queen nominee and these young ladies will be entertained at a tea at the Women's Department Club on Friday afternoon. On Friday evening Buddy Wilcoxson will be in charge of entertaining the players, their parents, the queen nominees and their parents at a picnic in Rotary Bowl in City Park, after which the young ladies will go to the Elks Hall where they will be presented to the people of Childress and the parents and visitors. After this presentation, there will be an informal party for the group.

Alton Landrum has extended an invitation to all players and their queen nominees to be his guest at the swimming pool in Childress during the entire week. R. J. Cordell will entertain the players at the Palace Theatre at one showing.

Golf will be available at the Country Club and fishing in Lake

Childress and Baylor Lake. A full week of work and entertainment is in store for the players of the Greenbelt Bowl.

Dub Nelson, the originator of the classic and now a resident of Dallas, has worked up a high school reunion of all students that have graduated from Childress High School.

Crowell boys who will play in the game are Jerry Setliff and Jim Mac Gafford, members of the East team.

You Will Need a 1962 Hunting and Fishing License Thru August

It's nearing the time when fishermen and hunters will need to purchase their new 1962 licenses. August is the last month in which the 1962 licenses can be used. Many people still haven't used their vacation time, but probably expect to do so before September 1. When they finally take off on this long anticipated period of rest and relaxation, much of their time will be spent attempting to fill their ice chests with fish. J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Game and Fish Commission, reminds these people that even though the 1962 license will be good just through August, they will have to have one.

Last month, 211 fishermen failed to buy the proper license and were arrested by game wardens. "Don't be one of those who will be apprehended by our officers in July or August," advises Phillips. "If you plan to fish during these two months, get that license now while you are thinking about it. The reason why most fishermen fail to have a license is simply because they wait until the last minute, and then forget it or decide to take a chance."

In June, a total of 289 persons were charged with violating the game and fish laws of this state. Of these, 68 cases were dismissed, 3 persons had their fines suspended and one was found not guilty. Fines and court costs amounted to $5,987.27.

One Hundred and Fifty Positions Open in State Law Enforcement

An invitation has been issued state-wide by the Texas Department of Public Safety to any and all high calibre young men in the state who wish to compete for one of the 150 positions now available in State Law Enforcement. "The challenge of the rigid qualifications for patrolmen in the four field services: Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Driver's License, and Motor Vehicle Inspection, is expected to attract many outstanding young men," Major Harry Hutchison, Commander of Region No. 5 of the Department of Public Safety, said this week.

Assignment to one of the above services will be made on the basis of aptitude, interest and ability at the conclusion of a period of basic training, then specialized training in the assigned service will be given in the field and in the classroom after which a home station will be designated. Applicants must be between 21 and 35 years old, between 68 and 76 inches tall, weigh not less than 2 pounds or more than 3 pounds per inch of height, and be in sound physical condition. They must have a high school education or the equivalent and their record must be able to stand rigid examination as pertains to character and citizenship. Selection procedures will include written and oral examinations.

"Any young man who wants to measure himself against these high standards is urged to pick up or write for the necessary forms from any D. P. S. Field Office throughout the state," Major Hutchison said. Formerly, examinations were given only three times per year. They are now being administered monthly, the second Saturday of each month, at each of 17 centrally located examination centers throughout the State.

"In addition to offering a challenge which separates the men from the boys," Major Hutchison said, "the Department of Public Safety offers a rewarding career to men who want to follow law enforcement as a profession. There is always an opening and room for advancement for this type of men in the Department," he concluded.

Texas A&M Research Scientists Literally "Reaching for Moon"

Texas A&M College researchers literally are reaching for the moon these days.

A research group on the Texas A&M campus is at work on a project planned to help scientists analyze the elemental composition of the moon, once a package of scientific instruments is landed safely.

Formulating samples of artificial moon material is the first goal during coming months. The A&M College researchers also will be at work determining the feasibility of remote automatic activation analysis and developing a prototype of a miniaturized analyzing instrument.

Activation analysis acts upon the principle of irradiating a sample consisting of unknown materials, the few radioactive atoms thus created serving to identify the chemicals present in the sample.

Dr. Richard Wainerdi, head of Texas A&M's Activation Analysis Research Laboratory, directs the research program. The project will involve some 25 research engineers, scientists and graduate students during the coming year.

The college's nuclear reactor and the data processing center will be utilized. Both facilities are among the largest such installations on a college campus in the United States.

The scientists from 13 nations who met on the A&M College campus in December for an international conference on activation analysis heard of how the process has been used to identify less than one-hundred-billionth of a gram of gun powder in a sample. This example, incidentally, came from the growing file of criminal cases in which the activation analysis process has proven valuable in identifying a suspect through minute traces of substances found on his clothing or body.

The "moon project" at Texas A&M recently drew an $84,800 grant from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The NASA grant supplements a $125,000 grant from the Division of Isotopes Development of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission to develop neutron activation analysis techniques.

Cool and Refreshing Foods Dominate August Plentiful List

Farmers are providing homemakers with a "bonus" list of plentiful foods for August, points out the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The "bonus" comes from the built-in "cool and refreshing" appeal of these foods—that is, their color, their texture and their natural goodness when served chilled.

Fresh peaches and cantaloupes top the August plentiful foods list, based on a survey of food stocks in this area by the Agricultural Marketing Service.

Fresh and processed lemons and limes as well as fresh pears and frozen orange juice are in much heavier supply than last year.

Turkey, always a star in cool and refreshing menus, is about as low in price as it has been in 20 years—especially at the farm level.

Both large turkeys for roasting and young turkeys for barbecuing are plentiful this month.

Many summer vegetables plus vegetable fats and oils complete the August plentiful foods list for this area. It will be to your advantage to shop often for the plentiful foods, concludes the Service.

Some 40 million people will take boats. The American Medical As-precautions that all boaters should know and observe. Among them are these: Don't overload the craft. Don't stand up or change seats while the boat is underway.

Watch your wake—waves can cause damage. Avoid boating too close to swimmers, fishermen and water skiers. Don't jump or dive from a moving boat. Be sure ev-

LITTLE LEAGUE NEWS

by MARION CROWELL

Well, it's all over for the season, as the All-Stars were defeated in the finals at Munday. Didn't you think the kids played fine ball? This group went father than any Little League team we've ever had and climaxed the fourth year of play since the league was organized with this fine tournament effort.

YOU'LL NEVER FORGET DEPT.: In the first game, Saturday night against Rule: Rule, who was expected to be one of the weak teams of the tourney, coming up with one of the stronger ones (with Charlie Westhrope hurling a fine, four-flitter) Ronny Eavenson's long fly ball to left field in the first inning, caught by Rule's Crawford, against the boards, with a one-handed stab . . . Larry McBeath (the Little Tiger) with two base and scoring both Crowell . . . Buddy Myers driving in runs with an infield out in fourth, a single in the sixth win the game . . . Bob Eavenson diving tag of Vermilion in fifth in an oh-so-close game that triple play that blew at the plate . . . and, of course game wide open, Buddy Myers to Lynn Rader to Steve Gray.

In the second game, the fire's call of balk on Ronny Eavenson . . . the Eavenson-Rader for an out at the plate in the end . . . a Steve Gray-Rader fine play in the fourth. Steve made the difficult ones like routine . . . Ronny Eavenson's fielding of a short pop-up . . . and his stout-hearted calling all the way . . . the complete failure of the screwy curve of Johnny Martin . . . Buddy Myers' double in the fifth . . . Ronny Eavenson and Gary T. then scoring himself after ball had been thrown into Crowell dugout . . . Rocky Eavenson's sensational catch of Cliff's pop fly into short in the fifth . . . and, finally the rally that fell three runs short in the sixth!

MY THANKS to all you teen workers who did so much to make this season's greatest of 'em all. All of managers, mothers, grandmothers, preachers, league officers just everybody have done a terrific job!

Enormity of Budget Illustrated

"Here is an illustration circulated in Capitol Hill to show the enormity of President Eavenson's $92,500,000,000 spending program for next year: If give your wife $1,000,000, tell her that she can go and spend it at the rate of $1 per day, she would be back three years broke and asking more money. But if you give $1,000,000,000, and tell her spend it at the same rate of $1 per day, you would not see again for 3,000 years."—L. A. Bad, N. M., Current-Angus.

Ever-Increasing Price Spiral

"For years we have been on an ever-increasing price spiral. It would be difficult to say where it began, or its cause, but as the cost of goods went up, labor demanded more pay. Although government profited by increased business, it demanded more spending and so taxes increased. The cost of unemployment benefits were increased to meet the rising costs of living, so the extra cost on business made the cost of goods increase. And so on and on and on. Of course, while all this is happening, thrifty people, retiring on their savings and those on pensions and fixed incomes, are the victims of the squeeze." — Melrose, Mass., Free Press.

Mortgaged Wealth and Fruits of Labor of Our Forebearers

"We have mortgaged the wealth and fruits of labor of our forebearers who worked so hard for themselves and our free way of life. Yes, we have mortgaged our wealth and our children's children's wealth and work. Now the question is, 'How long can one continue such a policy without bankruptcy and dire results?'" — Cumberland, Md., Citizen.

In the Beginning, the United States Was Underdeveloped

"In the beginning, the United States was certainly what would today be called an underdeveloped country. Every day life in the towns and cities of the colonies that had gained their independence from Great Britain was not much different from life in the towns and cities of the Roman Empire. Tools and methods had changed little in two thousand years. The new Nation had no net capital; in fact, it was heavily in debt and operating on borrowed money. There were no railroads, no factories, no steel mills. Many other countries were far ahead of us in the principal economic assets of the time. The United States had only one asset of major importance—and that was not an economic asset at all but a political one. It was the idea of a strictly limited government."—New Haven, Mo., Leader.

Paul Tells Others About His Gospel

It is true that NOW there is but one gospel and God's anathema is pronounced upon any who would presume to proclaim any other (Gal. 1:8,9) but those who suppose that Paul proclaimed the same good news which the twelve before him had proclaimed, should carefully read Gal. 2:1-9.

The twelve had been proclaiming our Lord's kingdom rights in "the gospel of the kingdom." The kingdom having been rejected, however, God raised up Paul to proclaim "the gospel of the grace of God" (Acts. 20:24). In Gal. 1, 11, 12, this apostle declares: "But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man, for I neither received it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ."

This is only one of many passages in which he declares that he was commissioned to proclaim a special message by the glorified Lord Himself (Eph. 3:1-4, Rom. 16:25, etc.).

Now, in Gal. 2:2 the apostle states: "I went up by revelation (God sent him) and communicated unto them (the apostles and elders at Jerusalem) that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles..." But was he not merely

Loose Smut of Wheat Subject of New Publication

Loose smut in recent years has become increasingly important as a wheat disease in Texas. Harlen Smith, extension plant pathologist, reports that losses ranging from 5 to 10 per cent are common in humid areas of the state and in 1962 fields were observed with losses up to 15 per cent.

Smith says the release and production of susceptible varieties has been a major factor in the disease increase. Loose smut is caused by a fungus, and the normal wheat head is replaced by a powdery mass of fungal spores. These spores are blown and washed away at flowering time, leaving only the bare central stalk of the head. The disease can be noted during heading time and fields should be checked during this period for the black spore masses.

Chemicals commonly used for seed treatment for other wheat seed borne diseases are not effective, explains Smith, because loose smut is an internal infection. Seed wheat should not be planted unless the seed are treated. Because several steps are involved in the treating process, Smith suggests that wheat growers contact the local county agent for a copy of a recent publication, L-564, "Controlling Loose Smut of Wheat."

The treating process is simple. Household bleach (sodium hypochlorite) is the chemical used.

Smith points out that the varieties of Ponca, Pawnee, Triumph and Austin are resistant to the disease. Comanche, Wichita, Westar and others are susceptible but usually do not develop high percentages of smut under field conditions. Quannah, Concho, Kiowa, Knox and Bison are highly susceptible and often become heavily infected, Smith adds.

Moisture Situation Not Favorable for Aerial Spraying of Brush

Present soil moisture and growth conditions in most sections of Texas are not favorable for a continuation of aerial applications of chemicals for the control of brush, oaks and mesquites, advises G. O. Hoffman, extension range specialist.

For the chemicals used in aerial spraying to be effective, the plants being treated must be growing vigorously and soil moisture must be fully adequate for this kind of growth, Hoffman explained. A survey of moisture and plant conditions over the state and results from experiment tests formed the basis for Hoffman's recommendation that aerial spraying be discontinued at this time.

Depending upon local conditions, he added, individual tree treatment may continue to prove effective as will mechanical means of control. He suggests that the local county agent be consulted about brush and tree control practices which have given the best results for this and later seasons of the year.

We Must Not Impose Our Ways on People With Other Ideas

"Americans generally seem to hold the notion that democracy is not democracy unless it follows our pattern... We must not... willfully impose our ways on people who have other ideas. Yet at the same time we must be careful not to strengthen the anti-democratic forces in any country. The general truth operative here is that the situation in Latin America, as elsewhere, cannot be viewed in terms of black and white. We can neither insist on exactly our kind of democracy, nor can we let our aid fall into the hands of those who want no kind of democracy at all."—Terre Haute, Ind., Tribune.

Health Department Says Suntans Are Not Worth the Trouble

It will arouse the wrath of sun worshippers, but this must be said: The healthful effects of a suntan aren't worth the time and trouble it takes to get one. After all, a suntan—like any other burn—is a manifestation of a skin injury.

True, a sensible bask in the sun makes a fine mental pick-me-up, and there is no denying the supple appeal of a tawny lifeguard. But to overdo it can lead to trouble. In fact it can kill you. More than one person has succumbed to prolonged and unaccustomed exposure to the sun.

Even at best, overexposure can mean two or three miserable days when a mere shirt or blouse is torture, and a friendly pat on the back can end in murder.

The medical term for sunburn is "erythema solaris." It's the ultra-violet light in sun rays which does the damage. And since clouds don't remove all ultra-violet rays, it is possible to get burned even on overcast days in mid-summer.

Some people are physically unable to tan. Known medically as "heliophobes," they could spend the entire summer on Padre Island, and all they'd get would be blisters on their blisters. The reason: Their skins lack the pigment necessary to produce the tan tint. They never had a tan and they never will, so they ought never attempt one. Each new exposure will only mean a new burn.

Assuming you are the type who can tan—a "heliophile," that is—the well-known rule about doing it by progressively longer exposure times is valid and should be followed.

Sunshine is a source of vitamin D, as most people know. What is apparently misunderstood is that ordinarily healthy people can get all the D vitamin they need through routine activities such as hanging out the family wash, mowing the lawn, or walking to the store. For persons suffering from pellagra, lung tuberculosis, high blood pressure, or hyperthyroidism sunlight may be definitely harmful.

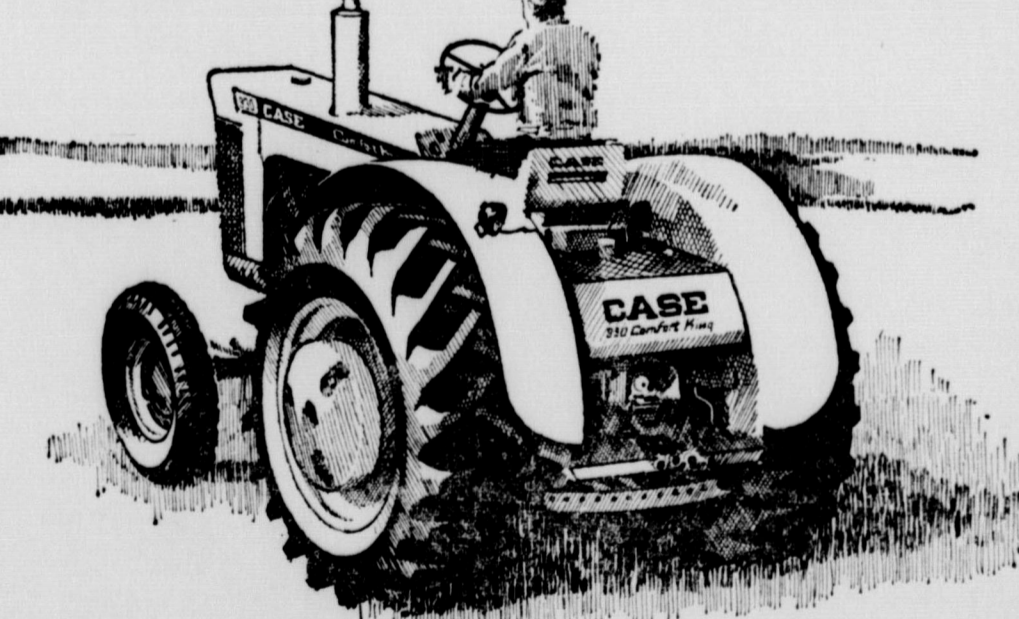

In case you have wondered about the source of freckles, here's the answer: The color of

Try Begets Triumph

Don't ask the government to do it for you. When people develop the idea that they cannot prepare for their own well-being, they handicap and hinder their own progress as well as the progress of others. Without "try," how can there be any triumph?—Ralph Lyne, Taylor, Mich.

NEW COMFORT • NEW 50-GAL. FUEL TANK NEW CASE 930 "COMFORT KING"

The Case 930... world's fuel economy champion* of all current model 6-plov diesels, and equally as famous for low maintenance and brute lugging power... hardly needs added laurels. But it will earn them soon. For there's a new and greater 930... the 930 Comfort King... to give you new operating ease, new operating efficiency—

"CONTROL TOWER" VISIBILITY — you sit high and forward, well above the dust and heat zone. COMPLETELY ADJUSTABLE SEAT positioned ahead of the rear axle for a smoother ride. BIG ROOMY UNCLUTTERED PLATFORM with plenty of leg room to sit or stand in comfort. 15 HOURS WITHOUT A REFUEL under average conditions — thanks to the new 50-gal. diesel (48-gal. LP-gas) rear-mounted fuel tank. We're ready to demonstrate!

everyone's skin is determined by the amount of pigment in skin cells. Dark-complexioned people have considerable, blondes have little, and albinos none at all. Under a microscope the pigment in skin cells looks like tiny flakes of brown paint. Sometimes, especially in children, it is manufactured unevenly and collects in the spots we know as freckles.

Ultra-violet rays can be filtered out, fortunately, by smearing a thin film of olive oil over exposed skin. So if you're a heliophile, and if you just have to have that golden sheen this summer, you might pay you to try it.
