Cemetery Report for Year Made By Mrs. N. J. Roberts

The report of the Crowell Cemetery Association for the year has been released by the president, Mrs. N. J. Roberts, following the annual meeting on June 25. It follows:

"On Monday, June 25, the annual meeting of the Cemetery Association was held as had been advertised and the customary few present.

"Officers were elected or re-elected, some changes being made. Glendon Hays was elected to take the place of Oscar Boman as trustee and Mrs. Roy Ferguson was elected second vice president.

"Reports of the year's work and expenditures were given. The biggest expense item was $380 for the travelling of the cross section streets on the west side. The gravel was donated by Bax Middlebrook, the city superintendent of the spreading and the county built the new culvert. This was done in the winter. A new power mower was bought in the late summer of last year. Extra help was hired in August last year to help the sexton catch up. We pay the water bills and have considerable tool expense, all of which is provided by lot sales and donations.

"It's high time Foard County and the City of Crowell were making better provisions for the care of the cemetery. The responsibility of its care grows as it grows. There are too few coming to these advertised meetings and offering advice and counsel.

"We raised the sexton's salary. He says the cost of living has gone up. The thing we want and need most is a fence. We now have $220 in fence money. That is a mere start. Another item—we are having some dirt hauled for leveling purposes. The sexton is on a salary, house and water furnished. You pay into the cemetery fund and we pay him.

"Most recent donations follow: Mrs. C. T. Schlaegal, $5.00; J. L. Gobin, $5.00; Mrs. Mary Walling, $5.00. Thanks."

Bond Assumption and Maintenance Tax Elections to Be Held Saturday, July 7th, at Crowell and Thalia

At a meeting held on Saturday, June 16, 1951, the County School Board entered its order consolidating the Riverside Common School District No. Twelve, Foard County, Texas, with the Crowell and Thalia Districts, which action necessitated the holding of Bond Assumption and Maintenance Tax Elections in both the Crowell and Thalia districts and such elections will be held this coming Saturday. The Crowell election will be held in the office of the School Tax Assessor-Collector in the court house, while the Thalia election will be held at the Thalia School building.

The Riverside School District, not having maintained a school in its own district for the past two years, became a dormant school district and since the law requires the County Board to consolidate all dormant districts with an adjoining district or districts, such action of the County Board was mandatory. The Board endeavored to divide such district in accordance with the manner in which individual transfers in the Riverside District has been made during the past two years.

The Crowell and Thalia elections are independent of each other and patrons of the former Riverside District are entitled to vote in such election in whichever district their property has been located as well as all qualified, resident tax-paying voters of the Crowell and Thalia districts. Information as to the division of such district may be obtained at the office of the County School Superintendent in the courthouse.

Patrons of both the Crowell and Thalia districts are urged to vote in their respective districts on both of such elections not only as a manifestation of their interest in the school program, but also to extend a hearty welcome to the people of the Riverside District.

Tentative Bids on Construction Work for Foard County Hospital Project Accepted by Commissioners' Court

Tentative bids, subject to the express approval of the Texas State Department of Public Health and the U. S. Department of Public Health, were accepted by the Commissioners' Court of Foard County, on the Hospital Project, Tuesday, July 3rd.

Sanders Walker, Vernon contractor, entered the lowest general construction bid, same being in the amount of $90,000.00 while the Francis Company of Quanah, with a bid of $33,387, entered the lowest plumbing and heating bid.

and the Electric Service Company of Quanah entered the lowest electrical bid at $7,972.89.

Due to Federal and State regulations, contracts for such construction cannot be accepted by the Commissioners' Court until approval has been given by both the State and Federal Public Health Departments which Victor Probst, architect with the Hospital Survey and Construction Division of the Texas State Health Department, who met with the Commissioners' Court when bids were opened, says should be forthcoming within approximately ten days, after which contracts can be entered into.

It is expected by county officials that work can be started on the project within the next 15 to 20 days as the general contractor will be ready to commence work just as soon as ultimate approval of the project can be obtained.

Six general construction bids were received, two plumbing and eating bids and two electrical bids were received on the project.

Weekly Sermon
PROTECTION

from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Parents have tremendous burdens to carry and problems to face in the matter of their sons at war. There are the risks—the awful possibility of a life cut short. And there are the dangers of new temptations to sin.

One of the greatest struggles is in the change of position. Once the parents provided and protected. Now the son is on his own. Of course, even now it is hard for a parent, especially a mother, to realize the child is now a man. We seem to feel he is called upon to play a man's part before reaching man's estate.

Those of us who are parents instinctively took the relationship of a protector toward our children. In the helplessness of infancy we protected them. We tried to stand between our children and anything that would threaten them. When disease struck, we struck back with every resource at our command. Dollars and night hours meant nothing.

How thrilled we were to feel ourselves that boy's protector. But now he is our protector. There he is in a foxhole, on a battlefield, or leaping the clouds, not for his own sake but for ours. And it doesn't seem to make sense. It's all part of a civilization gone mad.

It was a verse of Scripture which turned our thoughts in this direction, for we were reading of divine protection and the result. "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee" (Isa. 26:3).

For "perfect peace" the Hebrew has "peace, peace." Repeated peace. Double peace. Peace in its fullness to those who are kept by God.

Here is a Protector and Provider who can accompany that boy of yours wherever he is. You protected your son because you loved him? Well, He loves him too, and He loved him before you did. Yes, God will continue to love your son after your love has completed its earthly span. We can trust our brave boys to the divine Protector.

The elephant is one animal that cannot get all four feet off the ground at the same time.

State Fair of Texas to Present New Type of Agriculture Show

A unique, new type of Agriculture Show—more of a spectacle than an exhibition—will be presented at the 1951 State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 6-21.

A "Storybook of Texas Agriculture" will tell the glamorous true story of how the soil of Texas is tilled to produce the necessities—and many luxuries—of life.

The mammoth free show in the Agriculture Building will portray agricultural products of prime importance in each of the 14 Extension Districts of the Texas A.

& M. College System.

In 14 colorful sets, simulating giant-size pages of an open book, the story of each district will be told with three-dimensional effect. The districts are the Panhandle, South Plains, Rolling Plains, North Texas, Northeast Texas, Big Bend, Edward's Plateau, Heart of Texas, Piney Woods, Central Texas, Hill Country and Winter Garden Area, South Texas, Gulf Coast and Rio Grande Plains.

The plot of the "Storybook" has been furnished by the people of Texas through their endeavors in growing cotton, fruits and vegetables, harvesting grass and grain crops, breeding and marketing poultry and livestock, and converting products for home consumption.

The "Storybook" material has been compiled and edited by Ray W. Wilson, the fair's agriculture manager, in collaboration with Texas A&M district agents in agriculture and home economics, county and Home Demonstration agents, and farm and ranch leaders.

Theodore Roosevelt was the first American hero to have ticker tape dumped on him as he rode in a parade.

Because pigs, especially white ones, can get sunburned, agricultural authorities recommend the use of sunburn lotion on them.

SOCIALISM BY EVASION

A good many Congressmen are casting cold and critical eyes on the Interior Department—and for good reason.

Interior has shown a strong inclination to disregard the plain intent of Congress, particularly in the field of socialized power activities. As an example, a 1951 appropriation specifically forbade Interior to spend any money on a proposed line between Bonneville Dam in Oregon and a California power project.

Here, of course, is one more outstanding instance of the fact

You may be as good and unselfish as the sermon on the mount requires, but you will need three meals a day, clothing and shelter, and that means money.
The only way to have it to use for yourself and your family or to give away, is to save it. John D. Rockefeller once said, "How can one be ready for the glorious opportunities ahead of him unless he has cultivated the habits of economy and prudence."

Organized Recreation Promoted by A&M Extension Service

College Station — Inauguration of a diversified, statewide organized program of recreation in 1949 by the A&M College Extension Service recognized the benefits of play upon family and community relationships. It was set up under the direction of a specialist with the objective of helping to provide wholesome activities for all age groups and to teach families how to have a good time and thus form a basis for good family relations.

This general basis was grouped into four levels of participation, namely, individual, family, club, and community. However, since the field adaptable to recreation was very wide, the initial need in forwarding the plan rapidly was assistance by youth and adult volunteer leaders. The first step to this end was a series of one-county training meetings in most of the 14 Extension Service districts, particularly with 4-H groups, as a demonstration to the district at large. This work stimulated interest in local leadership, as well as clubs and communities in the value of recreation programs.

The schedule of training in 1950 was expanded to include county Extension agents. It also embraced types of recreational activity for all age groups together with the techniques for teaching them. Emphasis was upon training local leaders and planning. Agents took part in planning of various events favored in their counties.

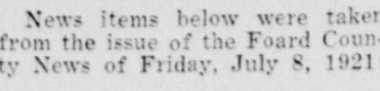

Statewide events in the field of recreation during the year were a Conservation Camp for leaders from all Extension districts, and a Leadership Training camp. Meanwhile, the specialist assisted county Extension agents and leaders to arrange camps for boys and girls which would give the groups opportunity to share wholesome camping experience. She also cooperated with committees in planning recreation and programs at the State 4-H Roundup, including a party, dance, and the final program for the Talent show and pageant.

Perhaps the most outstanding achievement was the organization of the Texas Longhorn Recreation Laboratory, the first of its kind in the state. The Extension Service took the initiative in assembling Farm Bureau, Boy and Girl Scouts, Rural Ministers Association and other interested groups for this purpose. Furthermore, nearly 100 leaders attended the week of recreational experiences at the Christian Youth Foundation Camp near Athens, and organized to hold it yearly.

A MODEL FUEL

Hobbyists who delight in building model airplanes will take heart in the development of an improved fuel for the tiny engines. The new fuel consists of 20-25 per cent amyl nitrate (new diesel fuel additive), lubricating oil and straight run gasoline. It is said to be superior to any model engine fuel used so far.

Austin, Texas, July 2 — For success of a democracy, four factors must be in balance: management, labor, agriculture and government.
The Texas Better Business Bureau and other agencies, believing that statement to be true, sponsored in Austin the Texas Workshop in Economic Education.

Teachers from many cities and towns came, stayed three weeks, and heard a number of outstanding speakers give their views on current problems.
The object was to let the teachers hear what persons familiar with management, labor, agriculture and government are thinking; and to take some of these ideas back to their classrooms.

Dr. Richard J. Gonzalez, Humble Oil and Refining Company economist, expressed the aim clearly when he said that if the nation's economic problems are to be decided by political ballot, then the voters must get more economic knowledge.
The teachers who attended the Workshop, it is anticipated, will give to their students some of the information they gathered during the session in Austin.

The citizens of tomorrow, therefore, will presumably be better equipped to vote intelligently and to understand the workings of their democratic government and of the free enterprise system.
Some of the speakers expressed the view that in the United States today, there is danger of the four factors getting out of balance as government begins to outweigh the other three.

One of the outstanding speakers was D. A. Hulcy of Dallas, who, as president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, is the nation's top business man.
Hulcy is president of the American Gas Association, the Lone Star Gas Company, and the Texas

Understanding and Support of Price Control Is Vital

Fort Worth, July 2 — Price Stabilization Director Michael V. DiSalle has appealed to members of the new Consumer Advisory Committee meeting with OPS officials in Washington to help in setting the facts about the price stabilization program to the American people, and in keeping OPS informed as to the public reaction to the program, and the fields in which additional understanding and information is needed. Mr. DiSalle said that the committee is not intended as a "propaganda organization" for OPS, but instead is being asked to advise with the agency on consumer problems. "We would like you to serve as our liaison with the consumer public through your own organizations," Mr. DiSalle said, "letting us know how the public feels about the various control regulations, and helping them to understand and cooperate with our program." In response to a question, Mr. DiSalle said that the agency is not in a position, and does not intend, to agitate for renewal of the Defense Production Act. The agency does have, however, the responsibility of making the facts about its program, and the economic problems it is attempting to meet available to Congress and the public. The public and Congress must then decide the issues on their merits. He declared that consumer understanding and support of price control is vital if the stabilization program is to succeed, and urged members of the committee to feel free to ask any questions which they felt needed further clarification to the public. He also stressed the need for understanding of the fact that the temporary recession now in progress is due to be replaced by strong inflationary pressures as the defense program continues to accelerate. Asked why OPS ceilings sometimes are higher than actual selling prices, especially in foods, the director explained that many of the pricing schedules now in effect were necessarily based on average industry factors, and naturally varied from locality to locality as far as actual selling conditions were concerned. However, he said, that in the grocery field it is planned to establish community pricing, with prices reflecting actual local conditions and practices, as soon as possible. Again, however, he pointed to the fact that heavy inventories and the temporary slump were causing otherwise tight ceilings to be undersold. Regulation 7 Amended An amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 extended to July 31, the date after which no seller may offer, sell, or deliver CPR 7 commodities without acknowledgement of receipt of pricing charts by the OPS. The date was formerly June 30 for acknowledgement of the charts. Increased Cattle Quotas The OPS also increased cattle quotas for civilian beef consumption during July. The quota for cattle slaughterers will be 90 per cent of 1950 base during that month. This is an increase of 10 per cent over the 80 per cent June slaughtering quota. Slaughter quotas for calves,

For Congress

Doug Crouch of Denton, a fighting soldier turned fighting legislator, has hit the campaign trail in the 15 counties of the 13th Congressional District. Crouch is asking the district's voters to send him to Congress to succeed Congressman Ed Gossett who has announced he is resigning. Date of the special election has not been announced. Crouch has just completed a long session in the Texas House of Representatives where he was a leader in the successful fight for a bigger rural roads program and a tax on natural gas going out of Texas to out-of-state consumers. In his first legislative term, Crouch proved his fighting ability in that battle for rural roads and a tax on gas going into pipelines, just as he had proved it earlier in three bitter campaigns in the Pacific during World War II. Born on an Alabama farm, the young legislator-to-be moved to Texas in 1930. He was graduated from high school in Denton, then

How many "Independence Days" have we left?

"We hold these truths to be self-evident; that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed..."

THESE WORDS are the stones upon which man built history's greatest work — the United States of America. Remember them well! "... all men are created equal ..." That means you are as important in the eyes of God as any man ever brought into this world. You are made in His image and likeness. There is no "superior" man anywhere. "... they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights ..." Here is your birthright — the freedom to live, work, worship and vote as you choose. These are rights no government on earth may take from you. "... That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men ..." Here is the reason for and the purpose of government. Government is but a servant — not a master — not a giver of anything. "... deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed ..." In America, the government may assume only the powers you allow it to have. It may assume no others.

From Concord to Korea, your kinsmen have fought and died for the principles of America's Declaration of Independence: belief in God ... belief in the God-given rights of man ... belief that man is more important than government ... belief in the vital need for morality in all man does. But on this Independence Day, as never before, these beliefs are in deadly peril. There are people in America who would deny your God-given rights, who prefer expediency to morality, and who would make government the master — not the servant — of man. These people are the advocates of an all-powerful, all-providing socialistic government to control your destiny, from cradle to grave. The time has come to answer them with your own "Declaration of Independence" ... Declare that government is responsible TO you—rather than FOR you. Declare that freedom is more important to you than "security" or "survival." Declare again that the rights God gave you may not be taken away by any government on any pretext.

Our founding fathers accepted the truths of America's Declaration on faith alone. Today, our nation is proof — absolute and irrevocable — that these truths work. They are the last great hope for the protection of human civilization. FREEDOM NEEDS YOU On this 175th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, help give the day the spiritual, religious meaning it had to the founding fathers. Renew your faith and allegiance to the immortal truths stated in the Declaration. Make them an active part of your thinking, your acting, your voting. Pray for help in maintaining man's closeness to God, in preserving man's God-given rights and responsibilities against those who would make you dependent upon a socialistic, all-powerful government.

"... we need only to recall that the substance of (America's) formula is continuous, strict and closely guarded limitations upon the power of government. Neither the peril of war nor the promise of welfare must ever serve to relax any item of this formula..." From "The Key to Peace" by Dean Clarence Manion, College of Law, Notre Dame University, published by The Heritage Foundation.

Streamlined Postal Money Order System in Effect July 2nd

Patrons of more than 42,000 post offices found the new and more convenient money order available Monday morning, July 2. Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson has announced.

Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices or it may be collected through any bank in the same manner as the depositing or cashing of a check.

The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the customary paper slip and purchasers will fill out the same form and pay the same fees as has been required in the past.

The regulation that money orders must be cashed at specific post offices has been eliminated. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a post office in another city an additional fee was charged.

The new system makes available to the Post Office Department the most advanced electronic business machines. One machine, the IBM Type 808 Proof Machine, has been especially developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantages of the

The Postmaster General's spread use by banks and large department stores throughout the country. Another of the principal machines to be used with the new system is the Electronic Statistical Machine, workhorse of the 1950 Census tabulation.

A modern proof machine in wide-spread use throughout the country is being used as the largest single accounting change ever made in postal history and said that the development comes after exhaustive study by the Post Office Department, the General Accounting Office, the Treasury Department and the Federal Reserve Board.

The Department urges users to remember that the new money orders must not be folded, stapled, spindled or mutilated in any way since they are to be issued on punch cards and processed by machinery.

Last year more than 300,000,000 money orders, totaling upward to five billion dollars were issued and paid by the Post Office Department.

The new money order system will be under the management and supervision of Assistant Postmaster General Osborne A. Pearson, who directs the Department's Bureau of Finance.

All new money orders will clear Federal Reserve Banks in the same manner as Treasury checks or other cash items. The Federal Reserve banks will then turn over the paid money orders to the proper regional Post Offices.

The new money order system is in keeping with the program to modernize and improve the operation of the postal service, as well as to effect economy and the better to serve the general public.

Lighter constructionment can be used, the pipe does not require preliminary clearing and does not have to be wrapped in much easier to weld than pipe. In operation, aluminum is reported to have less friction than steel pipe. Pipe speed the flow of oil and other products from wells to refinery consumers.

Mrs. F. B. Flesher was hostess to the members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church at her home on Monday afternoon.

Several songs were sung as the opening for the meeting for which Mrs. J. W. Bruce was leader. Mrs. W. C. Erwin was accompanist. Mrs. M. A. Walker presented an inspiring devotional on the theme, "Come Unto Me," using Matt. 11:28 for a scripture basis. To emphasize her talk, verses of "We've a Story to Tell to the Nations" were interspersed.

Assisting Mrs. Bruce with the presentation of the lesson were Mrs. C. W. Thompson, Mrs. R. J. Thomas, Mrs. Hines Clark and Mrs. W. C. Erwin. A playlet which concerned the work of our women in the Philippines was presented with music furnished by a record player.

HENRY CIRCLE

The Henry Circle of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist Church met on Monday at the church with Mrs. Fred Carr and Mrs. Mike Brown as hostesses.

Mrs. Foster Davis was leader of the program which was on "The Pearl of the Orient Seas, the Philippines." Mrs. Collins conducted the devotional based on Matt. 11:28 on "Come Unto Me."

The historical background of the Philippines under its various rulers was given. Many names have been given to the islands. Many schools have been opened for the people hungry for learning. Liberation came in 1946 after American soldiers released the islands. They chose July 4 as their Independence Day due to their love and appreciation for the United States.

The Methodist Church has had an outstanding part in developing the islands. They have a number of churches and schools, among them the Mary Johnston School of Nursing, which was especially considered in the program. There is only one hospital bed for 19,000 people and they really need help. They are scourged with tuberculosis, one life succumbing to the disease every fifteen minutes.

Mrs. Earl Manard closed the program with a talk about the Eighth Ecumenical Conference to be held in Oxford, England, and its importance.

A delicious plate was served by the hostesses during the social hour.

NO BONANZA

Do you think that high prices are a bonanza for retailers? If so, a recent factual report on the experience of American department stores for the first quarter of this year will be enlightening.

In that period, the stores' dollar sales were six per cent better than during the same months last year. But net operating profit—the money the retailer has left after the bills are paid—declined. This was due to a very heavy increase in expenses, including payrolls. Net profits from merchandising operations amounted to only 1.9 per cent of sales.

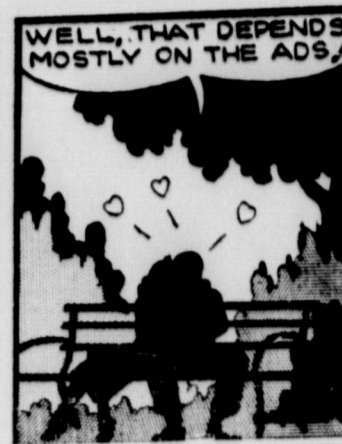

Other types of retailing have had a similar experience. Inflation has hit retailing all along the line. In many instances it has been impossible to raise prices sufficiently to offset the higher costs. So retailing's profits per dollar of sales, which are very modest in the best of years, have gone down.

Moreover, inflation has resulted in tougher competition among retailers. High prices naturally produce consumer resistance, and an increase in "price consciousness" on the part of customers. People tend to "shop around" more and more before buying, in search of the best deal. So the retailer must keep his prices at the lowest possible level if he is to hold his trade.

No, retailing didn't create high prices and it doesn't like them. It's hurt by inflation, just like all the rest of us.

PROTECTION VIA PETROLEUM

Ice and snow held no worries for travelers using the new $24 million bus terminal in New York City during the past winter. The circular ramps carrying buses in and out of the terminal are continually heated by circulation through inlaid pipes of a special petroleum product noted for its heat transfer properties.

Annual Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial at Gallup, N. M., Aug. 9

When Indian summer descends every August upon the sun-baked Southwest, it is ceremonial time in Gallup, N. M., the nation's Indian capital.

The annual Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial, established in 1922, will be held this year August 9 through 12, with approximately 10,000 Indians from some 30 different tribes presenting their breath-taking ceremonial dances, exhibiting their finest arts and crafts and competing against each other in action packed rodeos and other athletic events.

Participating in the four-day extravaganza will be a dozen of New Mexico's 18 Pueblo tribes from Taos on the north to Zuni on the south, the Hopi people of Snake Dance fame, nomadic and primitive Navajos, aloof Apaches, and several Plains tribes including the Kiowas, Cheyennes and Caddos of Oklahoma and the Sioux of South Dakota.

Afoot, in covered wagons and on horseback, the tribesmen will converge on Gallup early in August to set up their great camp on the 93-acre Ceremonial grounds where they will live throughout the post-noon.

Crude hogans, teepees, covered wagons, tents and pickup trucks provide their shelter. In their camp the Indians visit, trade, talk tribal matters, and prepare for competitions held in the Lyon Memorial Park arena each afternoon and evening.

Grand opening of the world-renowned event is scheduled for Thursday night, August 9. During the following Friday, Saturday and Sunday there will be a morning parade, as well as afternoon and evening programs each day.

GAME BIRDS HARD HIT BY NEWCASTLE DISEASE

A serious disease may be eradicating more game birds than all of the nation's hunters put together. Veterinary medical authorities say they are continuing to receive reports of heavy losses in waterfowl due to Newcastle disease.

This virus disease is widespread in domestic poultry, especially chickens, and observers suspect that many game birds and other free-flying birds pick up the virus during flight stop-overs on poultry farms. In some cases, they not only get the disease themselves and spread it through their own flocks, but also may help spread it to domestic poultry in new areas.

Nobody knows how many wild birds have died of Newcastle disease, but the total is believed to be very high and still mounting. In one recent outbreak on a game preserve, where it was possible to make an accurate estimate of the damage, authorities counted up an 85 per cent death loss in a large flock of waterfowl.

ANTI-BUMP MIXTURE

Experiments are being conducted in the use of an asphalt-rubber mixture for pavement at railroad crossings. The mixture is expected to overcome deterioration around the rails caused by pounding and tearing by trains and trucks. Asphalt is a petroleum product.

Home Demonstration Notes

MARY DEEB BROWN

This month the 4-H girls are giving demonstrations to the HD clubs on donut muffins. As I have it now, the schedule is: July 3, Riverside School house, demonstration given by Loretta Lyons; July 6, Gamberville, given by Rebecca Calvin; July 11, Foard City, given by Ann Wishon; July 12, Vivian, given by Kay Rasberry; July 13, Margaret, given by Anne Marie and Clara Fiske; July 17, West Side by Loretta Lyons. I've asked the West Side ladies to have their meeting July 17 because on July 19 Miss Frances Arnold, Assistant Editor of the Texas Extension staff, will be in Quannah to train club reporters. I've written letters to all reporters asking them to meet me at the west side of the court house at 9 a. m. so we can go to this meeting.

We have reserved the West Texas Utilities Club House on Lake Pauline for July 31 and August 1 for the women's encampment. As plans stand now we will go July 31 about 3:30 p. m. and eat a picnic supper. We will eat breakfast and lunch there and return home before dark August 1. The club house is a beautiful place and we were fortunate in getting it, so let's all make plans to come. As further plans are settled, I will let you know and will get a letter out to each of you in plenty of time.

Notice to All 4-H Girls
We have started plans for our summer encampment to be held at Lake Pauline August 6, 7, and 8. The cost will be about $3.00 for your food, swimming and craft. We will try to have transportation over and back for all of you. As further plans are made I will let you know and will send a letter to each of you telling you more about it, but make plans now to come camp.

OIL WEED KILLERS

Farmers are not the only ones to benefit from herbicides (weed-killers to most of us). Almost as soon as these powerful new chemicals came on the market, utility, railroad and highway people began using them to get rid of weeds and brush along the right-of-ways. Farmers also use it to combat vegetation along fences and ditches, as well as in their fields. The sprays—many containing petroleum derivatives, many mixed with fuel oil before application—are used to clean out brush as utility and pipe lines, highways and railroads are built; and to maintain an open right-of-way in succeeding years.
