Crowell Wildcats Defeat Holliday Eagles Friday Night, 27 to 13, in First Conference Game of Season

The Crowell High School football team came from behind in the second half of last Friday night's game at Holliday to win its first conference game of the season 27 to 13. The Eagles were leading 13 to 6 at halftime. The Wildcats came back on the field during the last half looking like a different ball club and scored 21 points to Holliday's none, to make the final count 27 to 13.

It was partly bad breaks and partly a heads-up and charging Holliday eleven that placed them out in front during the second quarter of the game. The Cats knew they were supposed to win the contest and there could have been a slight trace of over-confidence on their part in the early stages of the game. However, both Crowell coaches, Thayne Amontt and Gordon Erwin, had warned them of this very thing. Led by co-captains, Jim Paul Norman and Don Gobin, the Crowell boys came back during the second half with the determination that paid off.

Crowell led off in the scoring in the first quarter when they took the opening kick-off and marched 73 yards for a touchdown. Coy Payne led in the ball-carrying department during this drive and he finally carried over from the two for the score. Crowell's line did some splendid blocking on this 73-yard march. The extra point was a good leaving the score 6 to 0 for the Cats.

An intercepted pass by Holliday on Crowell's 29-yard line gave them the needed break to score their first touchdown. Wayne Loyd, Eagle left halfback, passed to Bobby Lancaster, fullback, for twenty yards that set the score up. Loyd made a six-yard run for the tally. The try for conversion was no good to leave the score tied early in the second quarter.

Late in the second quarter, fullback Lancaster dropped back to pass from his own 47-yard line, but found no receiver open and galloped down the middle of the field for Holliday's second touchdown. Jerry Walker kicked the extra point to make the halftime score 13 to 6 for the Eagles.

A fumble cost Crowell on its first drive during the second half. However, the Wildcats were soon on their way again when alert Coy Payne intercepted a Holliday pass in midfield and returned it for what looked like a touchdown. However, a clipping penalty brought the ball back out to Holliday's 33-yard line. An Eagle roughing penalty gave part of this yardage back to the Cats. Raymond Halenack made the final two yards that gave Crowell its second touchdown. A pass from quarterback Don Gobin to left end Jim Paul Norman was good for the extra point to tie the game up 13 to 13.

Guns of Game Law Violators Can Not Be Held Indefinitely

Austin—The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game & Fish Commission has reminded game wardens that guns of game law violators cannot be held indefinitely in all cases.

Here are recent instructions on this subject:

"Any gun lawfully seized by the game warden may be held and used as evidence in the trial of the person arrested. If, pending trial, the prosecuting authorities decide it will be unnecessary to introduce the gun in evidence at the trial, the arresting officer or the prosecuting attorney should, on his own initiative or upon demand of the owner, return the gun to the owner as soon as it is determined that the gun is no longer needed as evidence.

"If the gun is introduced in evidence, it cannot be returned to the owner pending final disposition of the case without a court order permitting its return. A case on appeal has not been finally disposed of.

"After the case has been finally disposed of, the better practice is to obtain the court's permission for return of the gun which has been introduced in evidence. Permission may be obtained either by the prosecuting authorities, including the game warden or the owner.

"In those cases where the gun is introduced in evidence, it remains in the custody and control of the court pending appeal. Where the gun is held as evidence, but no court order is necessary to authorize its return to the owner. However, the gun should be returned as soon as necessary for retaining it no longer exists. For instance, if the gun was seized and is being held to prevent escape, as soon as the arrested person is released under bond or otherwise, the gun should be returned."

The Director of Law Enforcement pointed out that getting guns returned might not mean much to violators since abuse of the game code brings automatic suspension of hunting privileges.

ALL TO THE GOOD

A profound revolution is taking place in our American economy. People in the middle and lower income brackets are succeeding the rich in owning and enlarging American enterprise through investment in the securities of corporations.

That highly important development is emphasized in a recent article by G. Keith Funston, the new president of the New York Stock Exchange.

As Mr. Funston observed, the wealth of the rich, after taxes, "has shrunk to a spectacular degree." By contrast, the number of people with $5,000-$10,000 incomes after taxes has vastly increased. In 1929, there were 660,000 of these individuals with a combined net income of $4,500,000,000. In 1946, the last year for which such figures are available, there were 2,300,000 with incomes totaling $11,200,000,000.

An even greater growth has occurred in the aggregate net income of people in the under-$5,000 brackets.

Today about 15,000,000 individuals own stock. A large stock-brokerage firm recently found that one-third of the investors it served had incomes of less than $5,000. The "capitalist" of the present is a far cry from the bloated plutocrat who was a pet subject for the cartoonists of long-past days.

The New York Stock Exchange and other exchanges are now doing much to inform the general public of how these market places work, and how the prices of stocks are determined solely by what individual owners are willing to sell them or pay for them. The result is that the ownership of American enterprise is being spread through more and more hands—which is all to the good.

UNREMITTING KINDNESS

The son in college was applying pressure for more money from home. "I cannot understand why you call yourself a kind father," he wrote his dad, "when you haven't sent me a check for three weeks. What kind of kindness do you call that?"

"That's unremitting kindness," wrote the father in his next letter.

Weekly Sermon

Crime Control the Bible Way
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Few persons realize the vast—and largely untouched—resources of knowledge which lie between the covers of the Bible. Included in its store of wisdom are answers to problems which baffle the wise and puzzle statesmen.

A reminder of this comes with word of an unusual penalty imposed in the case of a Long Island, N. Y., man who had cashed worthless checks totaling more than $18,000. This penalty included not only a suspended sentence of from one to five years in jail, but also strict injunctions to repay the stolen amount in full at the rate of $10 every week. On this basis, such repayment will require more than thirty-five years, continuing until the sentenced man has reached the age of seventy.

In a general way this penalty follows the pattern of restitution given by God to His people and recorded in the book of Moses. Under its rigorous but wise provisions, the man who stole an ox was required to repay five oxen, and a stolen sheep was to be repaid fourfold (Exod. 22:1).

Somewhere along the way, the principle of restitution has been abandoned. Sentences too light and criminals are frequently able to serve their terms and then emerge from on walls to enjoy what the stolen. But God's principle of justice provides for restitution, which follows more frequently today, perhaps the number of crimes in many categories be substantially reduced.

CROWELL WILDKITTENS DEFEAT MUNDAY

The Crowell Elementary Wildkittens defeated the Munday Moguls 13-2 in a hard-fought contest last Tuesday night.

The Moguls' two points were scored on a safety when Paul Glover, Crowell fullback, momentarily fumbled the ball and was tackled behind his own goal line. Crowell's first six points were made on a 7-yard scamper by Paul Glover in the second quarter. The try for extra point failed. The second touchdown came early in the fourth quarter when Paul made a 40 yard run behind some excellent blocking. The extra point was made on a power drive by Crowell's fullback.

Edward Daniel's blocking stood out on the Crowell team's offense. Jackie Walker and Dwain Boren were outstanding on defense.

THE MOST DANGEROUS SPORT by Jimmy Stinebaugh

Is it boxing or football? Both sports have been argued pro and con for many years. The argument has been based on which sport has the most injuries and deaths. However, according to a survey made by Dr. Thomas Gonzales of the New York medical examiners who has made a 32-year test in the New York Sport Association proved football the roughest with football ranking second.

From 1918 to 1950, baseball injuries brought death to 43 persons, whereas football took only 23 players, 104 deaths were taken during this 32-year period. They were baseball 43, football 23, boxing 21, basketball 7, handball 3, soccer 2, wrestling 2, cricket 1, golf 1, polo 1, and relay race 1. Almost all the baseball fatalities were caused by action in amateur baseball and semi-pro ranks.

"Glad to do it."

They entered the room, and the passerby asked the other to lie down on the bed.

"Why must I lie down? Can't you tie it with me standing?"

"Sorry, sir, I can't, I'm an undertaker, and that's the only way I can do it."

CATS RALLY TO TROUCE HOLLIDAY 27-13

The Wildcats of CHS overcame the high spirited Holliday Eagles in the second half and produced three last half touchdowns, to clip the opposing eleven 27-13 in the first conference game.

Coy Payne crashed over for the first touchdown. Local fans witnessed a let-up by the Cats for the remainder of the half, watching the Eagles push across two scores. However, the CHS eleven literally "caught on fire" the last quarter and behind beautiful blocking sent Crowell's speedy backs into the end zone.

The Crowell offensive line consisting of Robert Brock, James Pittillo, Leon Pechacek, DuWayne Elliott, Rat Latimer, George Scott and Jim Paul Norman, deserve credit for opening up gaping holes for the three last-half markers on a three yard quick opener by Haleneak and two short gallops by Ginger Johnson accounted for the other touchdowns.

NORMA'S NONSENSE

Well, here I sit and the question of the week is what shall I write? The news is dropping off to nothing and I wonder how we will fill Norma's Nonsense. I suppose the best way is to just say "Shall we begin?" and answer by saying "Let's."

Sight of the week: last Thursday when the school had a practice drill. Professor Solis got his tractor and was trying to figure out which door he should go out. He made it out of the building in one minute and 45 seconds.

"LADDER OF RIVERS"
 The magazine recently ran a feature article on the "ladder of rivers" which is being envisaged by the high-level planners of the Bureau of Reclamation. It is to "exchange waters" from one part of the country to another. The Bureau wants to take water from the Columbia in the Pacific Northwest and the Department of the Interior. But the fact is that this scheme, if ever put into effect, would be one of the surest ways to finally and completely destroy the rights of the states to break down local control over local resources, to subject agriculture and all other enterprise to the mercies of power-hungry bureaucrats, and to extend the deadly disease of socialism through the country.

 Whoever controls water, controls any region's destiny. The political planners, naturally, would tie in their water scheme with flood control, irrigation, navigation—and last, but certainly not least, socialized electricity. In all truth, there is a good reason to believe that the last goal is paramount. The valley authorities, existing, and proposed, the Federal generating and transmission systems, the constant political attacks on the business-managed, heavily taxed light and power industry—all add up to the fact that there is a concerted, well-planned campaign to replace in the electrical field, and to replace it with a socialized, tax-supported monopoly based on the British model.

 In an editorial on the "ladder of rivers" idea, the Salem, Oregon, Capital Journal said, "The fact that the Federal debt of the nation is now over $257,000,000,000 does not in the least phase our bureaucrats who given leeway would direct our rivers into the ocean of debt, inflation and national bankruptcy, leading to the serfdom of a totalitarian state." That is a strong statement, but all the available evidence supports it. Today the electric industry is the prime target of the socialists—and if their campaign succeeds, other free enterprise will be destroyed in turn. The grandiose "ladder of rivers" proposal is just one part of a master plan to create an iron-clad political dictatorship right here at home. — Industrial News Review.

Health Letter
 Texas State Department of Health,
 Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer

Austin, Texas — Rheumatic heart disease is now the first cause of death among children aged ten to fourteen, and is second only to tuberculosis at ages 15 to 25. Despite the importance of this disease its cause and spread is not completely established. No vaccine such as those that prevent typhoid fever, diphtheria, smallpox and whooping cough has yet been developed. For its prevention and control, we do know, however, some of the danger signals and with the physician's accurate diagnosis some of the damaging results of the disease may be prevented.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, points out that in general the danger signals of rheumatic fever are pain and swelling in the joints of the knees, ankles, elbows or wrists. The pain is usually felt in one of these centers and spreads to the others. Often times a child will get irritable and cross without visible signs of a good reason for this attitude; he may cry easily or develop habits of nervousness. A physician should be consulted at once in such a situation, for these symptoms may be the beginning of rheumatic fever. Exposure to frequent chilling, damp or overcrowded living quarters, a poor diet, an attack of scarlet fever, a bad cold or other infection caused by certain streptococcus germs are likely to be predisposing factors in the appearance of rheumatic fever.

According to Dr. Cox the best safeguards against this disease are to have each child and adult examined at least once a year by a physician, to have the right kind of food, for an adequate diet and to have plenty of rest, when the disease is suspected of being present, a doctor should be consulted at once.

Farmers Who Borrow from FHA to Benefit from Public Law 123

Farmers who borrow from the Farmers Home Administration will be better able to make adjustments in farming operations, increase production and work out balanced farm and home management plans under the newly enacted Public Law 123, Jewel Daugherty, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration, announced this week.

The law, amending the Farmers Home Administration Act of 1946 enables the agency to make loans for farm operating expenses up to $7,000 for an initial loan and places a ceiling of $10,000 on the indebtedness outstanding at any one time. The maximum repayment period is seven years. Previously the initial loan was limited to $3,500, the maximum indebtedness to $5,000 and the maximum repayment period to five years. "In amending the loan terms, Congress recognized that the costs of farm operating expenses have increased sharply in recent years," L. J. Cappelman, State Director of the Farmers Home Administration, explained. "A farmer who required a $3,500 loan in 1946 for annual operating expenses and the purchase of machinery and livestock would have required a loan of $5,900 for the same purpose in 1951."

"The main objective of the Farmers Home Administration is to help family farm operators make the most efficient use of their land and family labor supply. The new loan terms will be of great help in achieving this goal. In the past we have had to turn down many young veterans and other farmers who came to us for assistance simply because we could not provide them with adequate financing under our previous loan limitations to enable them to work out a balanced farming system."

A sound farm and home management plan is drawn up with each family who receives a loan, and no loan is made unless the plan shows that the family will receive enough income to pay operating and living expenses and retire their debts, Cappelman pointed out.

BIOLOGICAL WARFARE ON POULTRY DISEASE

Infectious bronchitis, a virus infection that kills chicks and cuts deep into egg production has resisted nearly every usual preventive measure designed to stop poultry disease spread, according to the American Journal of Veterinary Research.

Baby chicks die by the hundreds wherever it strikes, and laying flocks not only produce fewer eggs but also misshapen, rough, and thin-shelled eggs. Losses in laying flocks have run as high as $1.00 per bird in some outbreaks.

Once the virus gets into a flock, it spreads so rapidly that little, if anything, can be done to stop it. Exposed birds may begin to show signs of respiratory illness within 24 hours, although sometimes it takes as long as six days to develop.

Dr. H. Van Roekel and associates in the department of veterinary science at the Massachusetts experiment station reported in the research journal that artificial exposure of chicks at an early age is the poultryman's biggest hope of preventing egg-production losses. The idea is to give chicks a mild case of the disease so that they will build up immunity to it before they start to lay.

Best age for such exposure is 10 to 14 weeks. It is accomplished by artificially infecting about three out of every hundred birds and then letting them spread the disease through the rest of the flock. The exposed flock gets sick and consumes less feed for a while but few die. The method is recommended for use only on farms and in areas where infectious bronchitis has been causing heavy losses and seriously interrupting egg-production schedules.

The technique, which amounts to biological warfare for beneficial purposes, is far from perfect, Dr. Van Roekel's group cautioned. Sometimes the youngsters fail to come down with the disease, due to uncontrollable factors, or they may not develop enough immunity to resist an attack during the laying period. However, in the majority of cases, it has worked satisfactorily.

"ENGEN-UIY"

When serious delay in the delivery of new boiler equipment threatened to curtail an East Coast refinery's ability to produce vital military aviation fuel, a dozen steam locomotives were run onto an adjacent siding and hooked through manifold lines to the refinery's main steam system. The locomotives generated steam around the clock and enabled the plant to meet its commitments to the military. This is another example of the ingenuity displayed by the oil industry to serve the military and the American people.

Peter Minuit purchased Manhattan Island from the Indians. Sir Francis Drake was the first Englishman to travel around the world.

Agent Gives Recipe for Making Cookies

Cookie making begins in earnest about this time of year in homes where youngsters make a bee-line for the cookie jar on returning from school. The cookie-dough that used to be kept in the refrigerator, ready for hurry-up baking when the after-school supply ran low, now often is put in home freezers.

Either the dough or the baked cookies may be frozen successfully if properly packaged, but the dough is easier to wrap and takes less space in the freezer. Baked cookies require careful packaging to avoid being broken when foods are moved around in the freezer. Though cookies or cookie dough may keep well for six months to a year in the freezer, Mrs. Mary D. Brown, Acting County Home Demonstration Agent, advises not more than three months' storage for freshest flavor.

Mrs. Brown's recipe for "refrigerator" cookies which can also be "freezer" cookies follows:

Ingredients for 6 dozen cookies:
 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour;
 ½ teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon salt;
 1 cup shortening; ½ cup granulated sugar; ½ cup brown sugar;
 2 eggs; 1½ teaspoon vanilla.
 To make: sift flour, soda and salt together. Cream shortening, add sugars gradually, and cream thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly. Add vanilla and mix well. Stir in dry ingredients. Shape dough in rolls 2 inches in diameter. To freeze before baking, wrap rolls of dough closely in moisture-vapor resistant wrapping, seal with pressure tape, and freeze. Before baking, thaw slightly in the refrigerator and slice. Bake on an ungreased baking sheet in a hot oven (400 F.) for 8 to 10 minutes. To freeze after baking, chill dough until firm. Slice and bake on ungreased baking sheet in a hot oven (400 F.) for 6 to 8 minutes. Cool. Package in moisture-vapor resistant container and seal. Freeze immediately. Before serving, thaw cookies at room temperature before unwrapping.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Beverly Hills, Calif., Citizen: "As recently as June 11, Dave Beck, executive vice president of the AFL's International Brotherhood of Teamsters, warned in a nationwide broadcast on 'Government Medicine—Danger Ahead!' 'Labor unions are in the forefront of voluntary health insurance development. There are now more than 72 million people insured under one or another of the prepaid medical plans. It is compulsion and interference with our individual freedom and initiative which lead to state control—dictatorship, Fascism, Communism. We want none of these things in America.'"

Athens, Texas, Daily Review: "An individual . . . knows to avoid fire—after having been burned. But the American government, after dabbling time and again into economic controls and regulation of industry—apparently is coming back for more. And the next generation will be called upon for the same."

Clafin, Kansas, Clarion: "New Zealand and Australia have sold some of the government-owned businesses to private individuals or companies and are getting out of business as fast as possible. Every attempt at socialism in government has resulted in less production, lower wages and higher taxes and prices."

FEDERAL TAXES

Six states — California, Illinois, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, accounted for 56.42 per cent of all the taxes taken in by the Federal government during the fiscal year which ended on June 30. The total tax collection from all 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico amounted to $50,445,686,315 and included corporation income and profits taxes, individual income and employment of levies and miscellaneous collections including excise taxes.

YOUTH REPORTS

BY YOUTH COUNCIL

From reports of various churches our "Go to Sunday School" campaign started off with a bang. Let's all remember that it is for four Sundays—from October 14 to Nov. 4. We would like to see it a real "nip and tuck" race among the churches.

The Council wants to thank Rev. Franklin for his services and use of his equipment to print the door-knob circulars for this campaign. We feel it was this reminder that got the people out for Sunday School.

Christmas will be here before we know it, so we are starting our Christmas toy repair shop at the Community House this Saturday afternoon. Saturday morning we will have a drive to collect old toys. We plan to pick them up after 10 o'clock, and would like everyone to have them boxed and out at the curb.

Officers of the Youth Center asked us to announce that it will be chaperoned by members of three Home Demonstration Clubs this Saturday night, with the Juniors as sponsors.

Support our Sunday School campaign. Go, and take your parents and friends, to the church of your choice.

CARD OF THANKS

I want to sincerely thank each person who remembered me so kindly in so many ways during my stay in the hospital. For the cards, letters, gifts and visits and every expression of friendship, I am deeply appreciative. I would also say a special "thank you" to the doctors and nurses.
Mrs. Rude Magee.

MONDAY NIGHT BIBLE CLASS

The Monday Night Bible Class met Monday evening at 7:30 at the First Baptist Church with Bernard Franklin as teacher. "Things to Come," as recorded in Revelation was the study. Approximately 40 people were present.

The class meets each Monday night at 7:30 with the exception of the following Monday nights, Oct. 22 and 29, due to the absence of the pastor on Oct. 22 and for the Methodist revival on Oct. 29. The next meeting will be at 7:30 on Nov. 5.

Everyone is invited to attend this continued study of Revelations.

OPS Has Issued New Regulation on Beef for Home Consumption

Fort Worth—The Fort Worth Office of Price Stabilization has announced an amendment to its beef regulations to permit the keeping and handling of ungraded and ungraded beef which has been certified to be for home consumption by resident farm operators or livestock raisers.

The amendments, effective Oct. 1, are No. 4 to Distribution Regulation 2, and No. 1 to CPR 26, revised, Kasher beef sold at retail. The retail beef ceiling price regulation, CPR 25 revised, contains a similar provision as the amendment to CPR 26 revised.

Under these regulations every person who slaughtered livestock or had livestock custom slaughtered for him was required to grade and grademark all beef produced. OPS explained this placed a burden on resident farm operators and livestock raisers who were permitted to slaughter or have slaughtered, cattle for home consumption. Although all of the meat was to be used for home consumption, and none of it would enter commercial channels, they were required to grade and grademark all the meat they produced.

The amendment DR2 eliminates a requirement that meat produced by resident farm operators and livestock raisers for home consumption be graded and grademarked.

The revision CPR25 and the amendment to CPR26, revised, permit retailers to store and keep this ungraded and ungraded beef in locker plants and other places of storage for home consumers. The amendment and revision also provide that the retailer who keeps this meat must identify by wrapping and marking these meats placed in his establishment.

The grading exemptions provided for in the amendments are in

13,500 Chryslers Equipped with New Hydraguide Steering

Production of the 13,500 th Chrysler equipped with Hydraguide, the revolutionary new power steering device pioneered in passenger automobiles in the 1951 Chrysler models, has been announced by Joseph A. O'Malley, General Sales Manager of the Chrysler Division, Chrysler Corporation.

"Demand for Hydraguide power steering is phenomenal and as more cars are equipped with power steering and put in the hands of owners, the demand increases rapidly," O'Malley reported.

"He feels that the demand for Hydraguide will continue to increase because it is 'the greatest contribution to driving safety since the introduction of four wheel brakes.'"

"Power steering makes handling a car a brand new experience in safe driving," O'Malley said, "because the manual effort required is only one-fifth of that previously needed with conventional steering. Even at a standstill, the wheels can be turned with one finger, a feature gaining great favor with women drivers."

"An unusual development in connection with the introduction of Hydraguide has been the recommendation by doctors that patients with heart conditions and others under orders to avoid strains drive only if they can obtain cars equipped with power steering units," O'Malley said.

Hydraguide steering is standard equipment on Chrysler Crown Imperial models and is available as optional equipment on Imperial, New Yorker and the newly-introduced Saratoga models.

Production of Chryslers with Hydraguide units has reached the rate of approximately 150 per day and this will be boosted as material supplies permit.

VERSATILE CARGO SHIP

An ore carrier-tanker has been contracted for by a Norwegian shipping line. The vessel, scheduled for delivery early in 1954, will be almost unique in the field of naval architecture and marine engineering. The ship will transport ore from West Africa to Norway. When this trade slackens, it can be diverted to oil cargoes. Such versatility and efficiency in ocean transport are one means by which consumers throughout the world can be supplied with oil.

CIVIL EMPLOYEES

About one-half of the 2,605,000 civilians who work for the government are employed by the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, according to the Civil Service Commission. The Army Department now employs 528,000 civilian workers—21 per cent of the government total. The Post Office is second, with 503,800, or twenty per cent. Third and fourth are the Navy with 453,000, and the Air Force, with 265,000.

Research Program May Lead Farmers to Increased Yields

A fundamental research program into the mysteries of trace elements in the soil, which may lead to increased yields and greater nutritional value in farm crops, is underway by Dearborn Motors Corporation and the University of Michigan.

Announcement of the project, known as "Operation Tracer," was made this week by Thomas A. Farrell, president of Dearborn Motors, and Dr. Alexander Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan.

Dearborn Motors, national marketing organization for the Ford Tractor and Dearborn Equipment, has made a grant of $100,000 to establish and finance the research for the first four years as a part of the Michigan Memorial Phoenix Project. Results of the research will be made available to the public, Farrell said.

Commenting on the program, Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, said: "The teamwork between an important industrial concern and a university research staff which is contemplated by the project is exactly the kind of mutually beneficial program that we envisioned when we launched the Phoenix Project. That the study of tree and plant physiology should result in immense benefits to mankind will be the common goal toward which both of our institutions will strive."

Scientists know that the presence or absence of trace elements—iron, boron, copper, zinc, manganese, molybdenum—is of tremendous importance to the growth of virtually everything humans eat. Beyond that, little is known definitely.

"Operation Tracer" will attempt to discover how plants assimilate trace elements, and determine which elements, how much, and in what form they should be applied to make corn, potatoes, wheat, trees, etc., grow faster and better.

Although only small amounts of these nutrients are needed by plants, spectacular increases in yields have been obtained when they were added to deficient soils.

Iron sulfate sprayed on soy beans in Iowa doubled the yield.

Without zinc sulfate, sweet corn cannot be grown on some muck soils in Michigan. But with the application of 100 pounds per acre, yields of more than 8 tons per acre are possible.

Seventy-two per cent of the earth's surface is water.

NO BARGAIN

Just how cheap is socialized electricity?

An answer to that can be found in the Pacific Northwest. The Bonneville Power Administration, which was put over largely on the "cheap power" argument, serves at wholesale a number of municipal plants, public utility districts, and co-ops. Last year these BPA distributors charged an average of 1.41 cents a kilowatt-hour for residential service, and 1.20 cents for all service. By comparison, a private utility in the region charged a fraction more—an average of 1.42 cents for residential service and 1.24 cents for all service.

However, here is the sticker. The BPA distributors pay nothing in Federal taxes, and the sums they pay in state and local taxes, or in lieu of these taxes, are estimated at 5 1/2 to 6 cents out of each dollar of revenues. By contrast, the private utility cited pays 23.2 cents out of each revenue dollar in taxes, of which about 10 cents goes to state and local government.

Assume that the BPA distributors pay the same state and local taxes—10 per cent, as the private utility. Then adjust the kilowatt-hour figures to show the cost of service less all taxes. The result is illuminating. The cost, on this basis, to residential consumers of BPA power averages 1.27 cents, and the average for all service is 1.08 cents. The private utility's average, on the other hand, becomes 1.09 cents for residential service and 0.95 cents for all service.

Socialized power is "cheap" only because it dodges all or the larger part of the taxes paid by private enterprise. When the tax factor is figured in, the illusion of United States Army and Air Force veterinarians stationed in the Far East had a head-scratching assignment on their hands when the Korean war broke out.

Their biggest year-around job, wherever stationed, is to inspect meat, poultry, and dairy products to insure health safety and wholesomeness for troops — but they were stumped when told to inspect dried cuttlefish and some of the Oriental seafoods eaten by South Korean troops.

Top brass at the Pentagon in Washington, mindful that bad food can fill hospitals with Koreans as well as Americans, ordered Veterinary Corps personnel to inspect perishable foods procured mostly in Japan for shipment to the Republic of Korea army.

Inspection standards for most items in the Korean diet were non-existent, because the majority of people in the Far East have been too concerned with getting enough to eat, let alone worrying about whether their food is healthful and of acceptable quality.

The veterinarians quickly developed inspection standards, however and are now reported to be quite expert in spotting bad shipments and in making sure that their government gets full value for the dollars it spends on Korean rations.

All of which has given Oriental food merchants a fresh respect for American health standards—not to mention, also, that the South Korean army is having fewer cases of stomach cramps.

A town must have a population of 12,000 before it can be a city.

The Mason-Dixon Line is now the boundary line between Maryland and Pennsylvania.

JETS HAVE BIG APPETITE

The jet airplane is a fuel guzzler of colossal proportions. It consumes along at moderately high altitudes and altitude the jet consumes a little over a ton of fuel—about 333 gallons—an hour. When speed is boosted and the altitude held low, fuel consumption goes to three tons an hour. Smaller than that roughly one-third ton take-off weight of a jet is fuel. Also, the jet plane is on high altitude. The range (miles per pound of fuel) is almost three times as great as flying at an altitude of 40,000 feet as at 5,000 feet. The jet pilot can extend his radius of action several hundred miles.

BILL BURNS, FABLE KILLER

Bill Burns, the oil industry's fable killer, emphatically says the rumor that oil men hold inventions that will cut the cost of products. Bill says the oil industry spends more than any other industry on research—more than $100,000,000 a year. It employs 15,000 men and women for sole purpose of improving products and methods, and developing new ones. As soon as an act has thoroughly proven its value in the laboratory, it is placed in the market. Results of this industry research are a constant stream of improvements to the American way of life.

Clean Cooling System for Cars Needed for Winter Driving

Preparation of the cooling system for cold weather is an important part of automobile maintenance too often overlooked, advises E. L. Harrig, manager of the service department, Chevrolet Motor Division.

"Car owners usually see that oil is changed, lubrication performed, tires inspected and brakes and batteries checked," Harrig says, "but often neglect the cooling system until overheating develops."

Harrig points out that overheating does not develop suddenly. Causes of overheating build up over a period of time, during which the efficiency of the engine gradually is reduced. Iron rust particles in the water form 90 per cent of the material which clogs the cooling system, with water-scale and grease also contributing. In hard-water areas, water-scale is a more formidable consideration.

"A small amount of rust — enough to fill the top quarter-inch of the water tubes — will cause serious restriction of flow," Harrig explains. "To prevent this formation, a suitable cooling system cleaner should be used."

Washing soda and other alkalies, or kerosene and other organic solvents are not entirely successful. They cut grease and loosen rust, but do not dissolve the rust nor remove it from the radiator core, block or head. New cooling system cleaners have been developed which contain both a liquid and a powder. The liquid dissolves the grease which holds rust and scale together. The powder emulsifies the oil and grease, allowing it to be flushed out with the loosened rust particles.

To prepare the car further for winter driving, the battery should be checked, brakes adjusted, lights inspected and wheel alignment examined. Be sure the heater, defroster and windshield wiper are in working order. Harrig says, and replace windshield or windows that are cracked, because of interference with vision. Smooth tires are a menace on slippery streets or roads. Continue lubrication and oil-change on a regular schedule.

"Bluebells" of Texas Are Money Crop

The Texas bluebell is a native purple-blue gentian known as "prairie gentian." The long-lasting blue flowers are generally found on hills and slopes in East Texas, and valleys and depressions of West Texas. The flower opens to full bloom in sunny places offering color to landscapes and a money crop to the farm or ranch family.

Mrs. Mary D. Brown, Acting County Home Demonstration Agent, says the bluebell seed begin to ripen in August or September and can be planted as soon as ripe. The longer the seed dry, the longer it takes for them to grow. The agent suggests starting the seed in boxes, cans or flower pots in good garden soil, packed firmly. Smooth the soil with a board or other flat object and spread the seed, mixed with a little sand or dry soil, evenly without covering. The agent says water slowly and evenly to keep from washing the seed together.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer.

Austin — "Obesity" is a class word meaning hefty, overweight, or plain fat.

Over 25,000,000 people in the United States are overweight. In Texas the number is probably close to 1,000,000, causing what State Health Officer George W. Cox calls "a significant public health problem."

Obesity, the doctor declares, brings on a predisposition to diabetes and high blood pressure, and adversely affects arthritis. He says diabetes occurs two and one-half times as often in obese persons as it does in people of normal weight. High blood pressure occurs three times as often.

The answer to obesity? Reduce. But do it right, Dr. Cox cautions. This is what State Health Department nutritionists recommend as a good reducing diet:

A daily quart of skim milk or buttermilk taken during or between meals. Milk is high in protein, minerals and vitamins, and helps prevent hungry feeling.

One serving of lean meat each day, cooked without added fat. Eat liver frequently for its high nutritive value and low calorie count. Fish and poultry can be used for variety, if prepared by steaming, broiling, or baking to avoid excess fat.

One egg daily, preferably more. They can replace some of the lean meat, but be sure to cook them without fat.

Vegetables, the leafy, green, calorie-short type, should be used generously for their bulk, seasoned with vinegar, lemon juice, chopped onions, or sour pickles, rather than fatty oils. Cauliflower, carrots, and cabbage — both cooked and raw — are beneficial, too.

Citrus fruits and tomatoes are the best food in the fruit department for the heavyweight. Eat them unsweetened.

All cereals and bread should be of the whole grain, enriched variety. Three servings daily are safe, eaten without cream, sugar, butter or gravy.

Tea or coffee may be used as beverages, provided no sugar or cream is added. Skim milk could be used, however, and saccharin makes a good substitute sweetener.

Desserts, the doctor says, are out-of-the-conscientious reducer.

William Henry Harrison was the oldest U. S. president to take office. He was 68.

Texas Farms Are Under-Insured by Forty Per Cent

West, Texas — The average Texas farm is "seriously under-insured," according to Geo. E. Kacir, West, Texas, executive secretary of the Texas Association of Mutual Fire and Storm Insurance Companies. He said a bad barn fire would cause many Texas farmers a serious financial loss.

"They would not collect enough insurance money," he explained, "to rebuild at today's high building costs."

Kacir also said there are still many farmers who do not have enough money saved to rebuild from their own funds.

"Fire is a serious threat to farmers," Kacir said. Farm fire losses throughout the nation were more than $100,000,000 last year, and an estimated 3,500 persons lost their lives. Despite this, he said, many farmers are simply not "insurance minded."

"The average good barn," he pointed out, "will cost about $2,000 to build in Texas. Some, of course, will cost considerably more. A $2,000 barn can be properly insured for about $5 a year. Other farm properties — residences, tool and machinery sheds, garages, etc. — can be protected at comparable cost. Yet most Texas farm properties are under-insured by at least 40 per cent."

Farm mutual insurance companies carry on extensive fire prevention programs. Fewer fire losses mean lower insurance costs, since savings developed by these programs are passed on by the companies to their policyholders.

Kacir said the answer to the danger of under-insurance is an immediate appraisal.

"Farmers should get an estimate of their property values from a competent source — their insurance representative, or the local banker or real estate man — and increase their insurance accordingly. In today's era of high prices, adequate insurance is of utmost importance."

Among the patents he has been granted in the past few years are a new type of design, a paint spraying device, a paint stripping device, an apparatus for burnishing metals, ventilating and heating systems, apparatus and methods of testing surfaces, a rubber-paint spray mask, speed controls for engines, a tube-forming apparatus, power transmissions and a plastic moulding device.

With the outbreak of World War II and the suspension of automobile manufacture, Wallace, who devoted his mechanical ingenuity to conversion of Chrysler Division plants for the production of war materials, came up with some other spectacular inventions.

Included in this list was a "Sea Mule" marine tractor, a "Sea Mule" tug which could be shipped knocked-down to the point of launching, a device used to couple the tug units together, and a high-successful anti-submarine net device.

Let his acquaintance think he devotes all of his time to inventions used in heavy industry, Wallace points with pride to a patent he secured on a better ski harness. This invention was inspired when his leg was broken a few years ago in a skiing accident. Elsewhere along the line, Wallace has invented a hot-dog cooker and restaurants have gained further by his development of a fast-acting fruit juicer.

A practical engineer with 40 years service in the automotive manufacturing industry, Wallace is used to translating engineering ideas into finished products. He is an inventor whose inventions work and as an indication that he hasn't stopped thinking about how to make a better mouse-trap, he now has 15 or 20 patents pending.

Home Demonstration Notes

MARY DEEB BROWN

The Achievement Day, October 27, will be held at the Farm Bureau Office at 113 North Main. Please remember to have everything set up there by 9:30, as the judges will be ready to start then. Each club will need to bring card tables to show their display and exhibit on. I think most of the clubs voted to bring a lunch-dish and stay all day, so don't forget that. Also you will need to bring your own plate, glass, and silver to eat with. I do hope you all plan to have an entry in the bake show.

October 24 is the sixth anniversary of the United Nations. Last year the women of Foard County's various organizations made flags. This year we will not have a special program, but I do hope we will all take time to stop a minute and reflect on the goals and aims of this organization. Are you doing what you can to support it?

"Keep Fruit Salads Pretty," Says Agent

Fruit salads are popular with most families, especially when they appear fresh and colorful.

Mrs. Mary D. Brown, Acting County Home Demonstration Agent, points out that fruits often discolor rapidly and for this reason they should be prepared just before using.

If a fruit salad must be prepared a good bit ahead of time, Mrs. Brown recommends following this procedure: In cutting up the pieces of fruit, use a stainless steel knife. Sprinkle the fruit with a tart fruit juice or dip each piece into a salt and vinegar solution. This solution is made by mixing one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon vinegar, and two and two-thirds cups of cold water. Drop the fruit into the liquid, allowing it to remain there for about one minute.

Mrs. Brown suggests this combination for a tasty fruit salad. Place three slices of apples on a salad plate. Top them with slices of peeled oranges. Cut grapes in halves. Remove seed and place the halves on top of the orange slices. A small bunch of grapes may fill the center of the plate. Lettuce and dressing may be placed to the side as a garnish.

A printing press was set up in Williamsburg, Virginia, in 1682, but immediately suppressed by the royal governor, Sir William Berkeley.

Electric Ranges Require Care

Housewives who are lucky enough to have a shining new electric range in their kitchen, might like to have a few tips on keeping it in good condition. Mrs. Mary D. Brown, Acting County Home Demonstration Agent, stresses cleanliness as the most important item.

Clean the heating elements by brushing off any spilled food and brushing with a soft brush, she says. Never scrape it off or use water to clean the unit. The agent suggests keeping the drip pans beneath the surface units clean, too, to prevent burning of wires which lead to the surface units.

The porcelain top should be cleaned after it has cooled with warm, soapy water or whiting. Be sure to wipe off lemon, vinegar or other acids immediately, use a dry cloth if the range is hot. The oven may be cleaned with soap and water, followed by rubbing the inside with unsalted fat to prevent rusting. The boiler pan should be stored clean in a utensil drawer when not in use.

The agent recommends rotating the use of surface units, just as an automobile owner rotates the use of tires. Use the largest unit when a large pan is being used, and protect the porcelain around the unit with an asbestos sheet which has a hole in the middle.

Avoid using higher heat than is necessary, the agent urges and be sure that the deep well cooker has water in it before turning on the switch.

New Drug Helps to Combat Deep Chest Infections Quickly

Pearl River, N. Y.—Use of a new drug which liquefies pus, blood clots and dead tissue, promises to prevent many deaths from deep chest infections which are so prevalent during the winter.

Made available to doctors only a few months ago, Varidase streptokinase-streptodornase is an enzyme product which has proved extremely useful against empyema (deep chest infections).

Previously, such infections almost always required major surgery, which often endangered the patient's life.

One group of investigators used the new drug on fourteen patients, one of whom was 92 years old, who had developed empyema following a siege of pneumococcal pneumonia. All had received extensive penicillin treatment without favorable response. Within a few hours after injection of the drug, the deep-seated purulent material was removed from the chest by a needle. General improvement in all patients was noted in a short time.

After further treatment with this new drug, they all recovered.

In another group of patients suffering from empyema following pneumonia, Varidase, combined with aureomycin, acted quickly not only to liquefy the pus, but also to effectively stop the infection.

The drug has also proved helpful in combating gangrene, osteomyelitis, tuberculous meningitis and certain types of arthritis.
