Harvard Officials Plan Safety Class

Harvard, Ill. — As a result of complaints and a petition to the town council by residents living in the vicinity of the high school, Harvard will conduct safe driving classes before the entire student body.

The petition was presented at a recent meeting of the council by residents who charged that many high school drivers were speeding or were reckless during the noon hour and after school. Residents in the high school area said that with some 75 grade and pre-grade school children living in the locale, the situation had become serious, and it was feared some child would be either injured or killed.

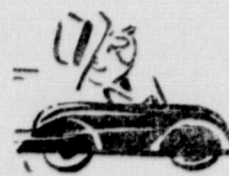

The council decided that the police chief and city attorney would appear before high school students to go over the rules of safe driving, and at the same time warn that unless the violations ceased there would be wholesale arrests and heavy fines.

The council agreed, also, that the talks would be the last warning and after that convictions and fines would be sought.

Harvard, a community of 3,200 people, has been plagued in recent months with increasing teen-age traffic violations, especially at night.

Mayor John McCabe blamed the parents for allowing children to stay out late at night and drive cars at high speeds. He reported special duty police, in private cars, would be hired in order to stop the recklessness, if necessary.

Grass Roots Opinion

Babylon, N. Y. Eagle: "It may be that the administration looks upon the war in Korea, with its 100,000 American casualties, and 8,000 Americans murdered, as a triumph in foreign policy, but it will be hard to convince the American people that this is true."

Lewistown, Pa. Sentinel: "The American public is vitally concerned over the low ethical standard indicated by the scandals in the RFC, the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the Department of Justice. We do not feel that it takes an ethics professor or a student of the Bible to know that acceptance by an official of gifts for special favors is wrong, that using a government position to further his own private financial interest or his business interest or his friends' or campaign contributors' interest is wrong."

Oconto Falls, Wis. Herald: "A talk given over the radio recently contained the statement that graft and greed are not to be found in one political party only. This is true, but when one party is in power for a longer than usual period, naturally, they also accumulate more of this type of person."

Notes and Comments

There is nothing like a little fishing to cure a case of laziness.

Most people who act foolish aren't acting.

Isn't it wonderful when your kids get grown up enough to play at the neighbor's house once in awhile?

If we'd pay the same attention to the weeds as we do to the flowers perhaps they would die like the rest of the plants.

Pop knows he is about to get nicked but good when the wife and kids present him with long-desired gifts.

The big advantage in having more than one child is that they climb over each other instead of over mom and pop.

Businessmen would get along fine if they could just get the government off their payrolls.

Most people would prefer to tell the truth, but would rather be courteous.

'Tis said that twins and triplets are on the increase because a baby is afraid to come into this hectic world alone.

Labor is that part of the human populace which works a specified number of hours a week for a guaranteed sum of money. Capital is that part of the populace which stays on the job after labor goes home and worries about how to pay that guaranteed amount of money.

No matter what the age of a man, woman or child the drama of Christmas thrills the being; the words "Merry Christmas" always carry hope for the days to come, and because of this the godlessness of communism can never win."

Morrison, Ill. News: "Horrible to contemplate, isn't it, that America is running, not walking, toward a totalitarian dictatorship? So what are we who cherish our freedom going to do about it? For one thing, we can lend encouragement to those Congressmen who valiantly are fighting this centralization of power in the hands of the bureaucrats in Washington."

Let The Facts Speak

The advocates of socialized electric power development seem eager to sell the idea that the United States is sadly deficient in power production, and that remedial action can only be taken by the government.

Actually, according to the best available statistics, we accounted for 42.3 per cent of the entire world electric output in 1950. Russia, where the government owns and runs everything, was second with 9.8 per cent, Canada and the United Kingdom, which have followed socialistic policies in power development, were third and fourth, with 6.2 per cent and 6 per cent respectively.

Another favorite charge is that the business-managed electric industry just isn't capable of meeting another big war emergency if it comes, and so the government must go deeper and deeper into the business in the name of national defense.

Here the record speaks for itself. During the last war, the industry was called upon to deal

JACK E. HIGHTOWER Is Candidate for State Rep., 82 Dist.

Jack E. Hightower, Vernon attorney, has announced his candidacy for the office of State Representative from the 82nd district, composed of Cottle, Foard, Hardeman and Wilbarger counties. A graduate of Memphis, Texas, High School, Mr. Hightower served two years in the Navy during World War II and then entered Baylor University where he obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1949 and a Bachelor of Laws degree in 1951. After being licensed to practice law in May, 1951, he moved to Vernon where he began the practice of law and where he is now associated with the firm of John Storey and R. R. Donaghey.

His wife, the former Colleen Ward of Tulsa, is a teacher in the Vernon Public Schools. He is twenty-five years of age.

In making his announcement, he makes the following statement: "As I seek the post of representative it is my firm resolve that, if elected, I will study to the utmost of my ability each problem and issue presented to the law-makers of this state, and make my decision and base my vote on what seems to me would be best for the people of this district as well as for the people of the entire state. I have no cause to serve than the cause of those citizens, who, along with myself, desire that the state government should be administered by men devoted to the cause of good, honest and efficient government. I shall devote my entire time and energies during the sessions of the legislature to the duties of this office. It is my sincere hope that the people of this district will see fit to send me to the House of Representatives."

We've never been able to figure out, "When a doctor gets sick and another doctor doctors him, does the doctor doing the doctoring have to doctor the doctor the way the doctor being doctoring wants to be doctor, or does the doctor doing the doctoring of the doctor doctor in his own way?"

Most people would be kinder to birds if they would just stop and realize that the dove brings peace and the stork brings tax exemptions.

with the greatest productive effort in world history—and it did the job with near-perfection. There was no failure of essential production because of lack of electricity. Most of the war production was centered in the big industrial areas where service is supplied entirely by private companies. The industry's output for the five war years was slightly more than one trillion kilowatt hours. Today, due to the industry's tremendous postwar expansion program, twice as much power could be generated over a five-year span. That expansion program, incidentally, will cost some $15,000,000,000 when completed—and every nickel of it came from private savings, not from the taxpayers.

It all adds up to one thing—there is no justification for tax-exempt socialized power here.

The State of Retailing

Recent factual reports on the state of retail business contain some interesting bits of information. One is that retail volume has been good—but still not so great as many had anticipated. Another is that many items are selling below the legal ceiling—for the simple reason that competition has driven them down. A third is that retail profits, especially in the general merchandise field, have tended to decline on a percentage basis, and are at an extremely low level.

What this adds up to is that we still have a free economy in this nation, where competition benefits the consumer and the law of supply and demand dominates the conduct of business. And, of great importance, the price control laws and related measures are nowhere near as big a factor in holding down prices as many people think.

Most merchants would be tickled to death if they could get the full OPS price for everything they sell. But even if every OPS order and policy and ceiling price were promulgated by people with the wisdom of a roomful of Solomons, that couldn't make the housewife buy an article if she decided it cost too much. And it couldn't prevent other producers and distributors from selling at a price she was willing to pay.

It may be that a good case for controls can be made on paper. But, in practice, it is always found that "tough" controls discourage production and eventually result in scarcity. We can all remember what happened under the old OPA, when goods vanished from store

Grass Roots Opinion What Commies

Corvallis, Ore., Gazette-Times: "The government is like any family. There are many desirable things each wants, but they should not be purchased until such time as they can be afforded. Now is the time to economize, and the sooner Congress and the President realize it the better."

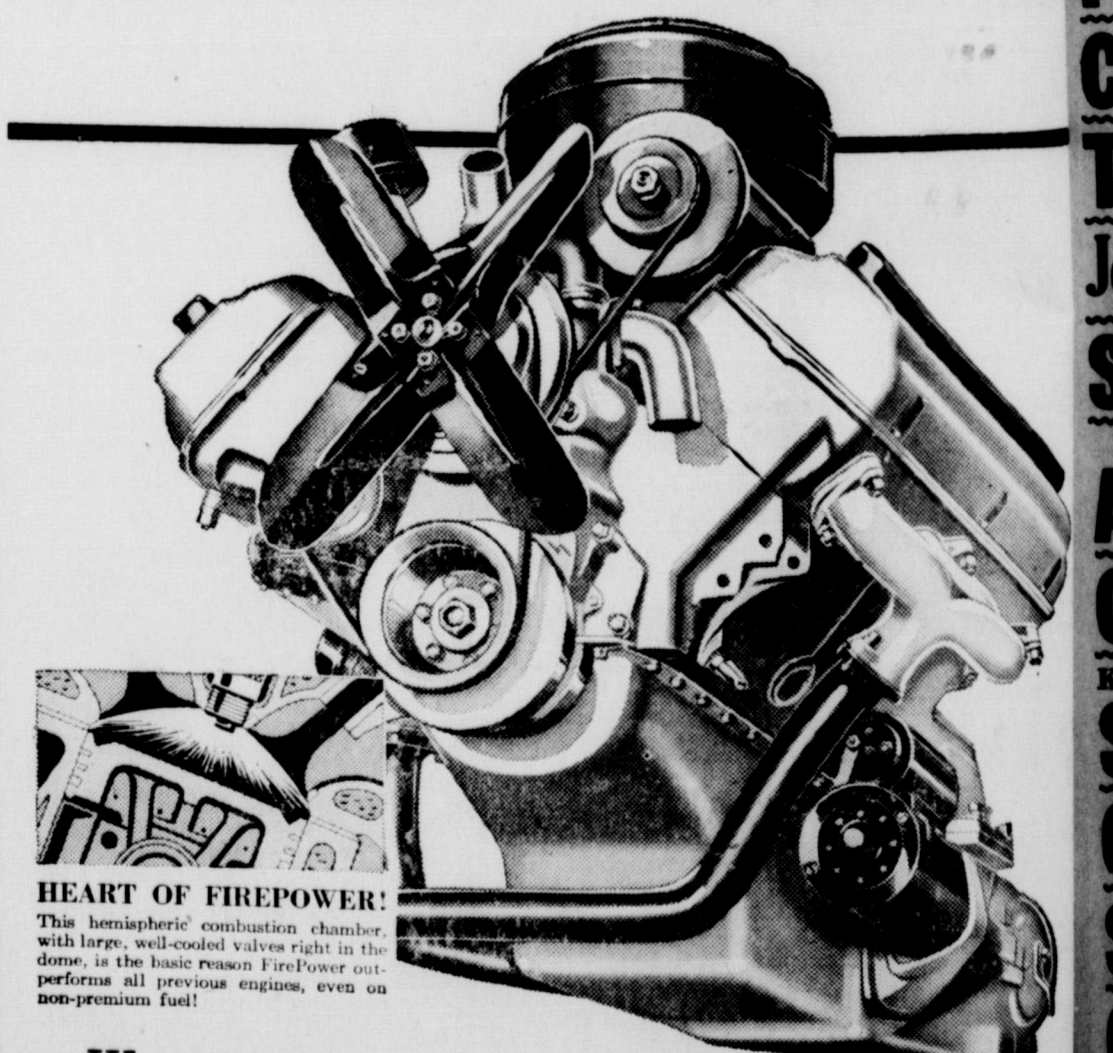

As if this wasn't the new proposed budget, as offered in the new Congress, it envisions a deficit of 600,000,000 during the next year. And apparent Administration solution is to raise taxes—even though that would mean a 30 per cent increase in the national income tax. The usual easy talk about efficiency—but in Administration her comes up with a counter proposition for materially less defense, non-essential, in the long run.

The Communists, who are nothing so much as a collapse in the United States, find this encouraging. A drunkard's government can destroy an enemy can destroy without by military means one bright spot in the future is the coldness of Congress received the Message. Members of said that taxes must be cut deep. Congress can no greater service to than that.

ROTARY CLUB

Crowell Rotarians were entertained at their Wednesday noon luncheon in the space adjoining the DeLuxe Cafe by a male quartet composed of John Risor, Ebb Seales, Tommy Robertson and Ernest King. The cafe served the luncheon.

Mrs. Woodie Lemons served as pianist for the quartet which rendered several religious numbers. In addition to the numbers rendered by the quartet, Mr. Seales played two violin numbers with Mrs. Lemons as accompanist. Miss Jean Hughston was accompanist for songs sung by the club members.

Visitors at the meeting were Rotarian James Baldwin of Quanah and Mr. Seales, Mr. Robertson, Mr. King and Mrs. Lemons.

THALIA CEMETERY REPORT

Mrs. Cap Adkins, secretary of the Thalia Cemetery, announces the following donations: Jim Marlow, $15.00; Ebb Seales, Crowell, $10.00.

Mrs. Adkins says: "We wish to express our appreciation to everyone who has helped us in any way toward the up-keep of the cemetery. Our sexton is on the job now and we would appreciate you visiting the cemetery any time."

4-H FOOD SALE

On Saturday, Feb. 9, the Crowell 4-H Clubs will hold their annual food sale in connection with the FFA and 4-H Project Show. The money made will be used to further 4-H Club work in the county.

SEES FATHER DROWN

Savannah, Ga. — Michael Milton, 9, of Donelson, Tenn., watched helplessly from a boat while his brother and father drowned in a swift running tide. Jerry Milton, 7, toppled from a rowboat, while fishing. His father, William 45, tried to save him, but the current was too swift and both drowned.

SURVIVES SIX-STORY FALL

Fairbanks, Alaska — When the ropes gave way on the scaffolding Richard Beckman was working on six stories up, Beckman plummeted downward, landing on a concrete sidewalk—and live to tell about it. Beckman, ex-paratrooper, suffered only bruises and a possible small fracture of one rib, according to the physician who examined him.

YOUTH REPORTS

BY YOUTH COUNCIL

The Council learned yesterday that the Colored School has started a Teen Canteen. It is held at the school house every Saturday night from 8:30 to 10:30 with parents chaperoning.

Say, have you heard that the tennis courts are finally being repaired? J. M. Crowell, who is the new chairman of the committee to see about it, has made a contract with Bob Gobin to bring the pre-mix in. He announced Monday that the first load would be in the latter part of this week.

The Adelpian Club has announced that it will contribute $20 toward a Recreational Director's salary at the Youth Center. This will take care of a try-out period. The members of the Center hope they can find a willing person in the not-too-distant future.

And, speaking of Center news, the freshmen are down as sponsors, and members of the Business and Professional Women's Club have been asked to chaperone.

Agent Recommends Growing Petunias

Petunias are high-fashion this spring with their wide, frilly skirts and vivid colors. Beds of petunias brighten the outdoor living rooms. Flower boxes and borders can be colorful all summer by planting one or two packets of seed. If the flowers are gathered regularly they will continue to bloom in spite of heat and moderate drought.

Mrs. Mary D. Brown, Acting County Home Demonstration Agent, suggests that the plants be started in flats in which there is a mixture of equal parts of compost and loam soil. This will save 30 to 40 days growing season. When the plants are two to three inches high they may be transplanted into other flats with a spacing of four inches, or they may be put into small pots. After the danger of heavy frost is over, the plants will be ready to put into flower beds. If it is not practical to grow the plants it is likely that the local florist will have them.

The color range of petunias is from white through rose into deep purple. When buying seeds be sure to get the colors desired. The new varieties are easy to grow. Mrs. Brown recommends the new large red single petunia for window boxes or hanging baskets. The double hybrids with ruffled petals are especially showy for flower arrangements.

LIONS CLUB

The Lions Club held its regular meeting at the Liberty Cafe Tuesday, Jan. 5, with a good attendance. A report was made of the basketball game between the Lions and Rotarians, proceeds of which went to the March of Dimes.

The program was a very interesting talk given by Mrs. David M. Thomson of Honolulu, T. H., on the ways and living conditions of that country.

H. N. Lanham of the State Highway Patrol was a visitor.

The West Side Home Demonstration Club will meet on Feb. 12 with Mrs. Guy Morgan, instead of Mrs. S. E. Tate, as was originally scheduled in the calendar.

WHAT GOOD IS EDUCATION?

The day started as usual, but Mrs. Smith felt as if an atomic bomb had been dropped on Jim's security. Her son had just announced that he was quitting school. After serious thought, the only thing she could ask or say was, "Why?"

"Mom, I've gone to school eleven years. I feel I'm a burden to you and Dad. I'm grown now, and I'm ready to make my own path. What good is education? I can work now and make good money."

"Jim, I know you can make money now, but how much? What will you be well qualified for? How can you hold a decent job?"

"Son, if you complete high school, the chances are that you will earn more money than if you quit now. The college graduate has a considerably higher income than the high school graduate, and an educated person is what the world needs. You will be better qualified to vote, and thus you can help our democratic form of government work better."

"Wait a minute, Mom, are you trying to say that education even extends into our social standards? That by impressing the need for cleanliness and prompt medical care on us when we are students, the school may help to prolong our very lives? Gee, I never thought of education doing all those things."

"Jim, what you don't realize is that this modern world is built on education. Schooling gives a liberal education. The knowledge that you acquire of literature, science, and art makes you more interested in the world and in living. If you aren't interested in living, what do you have to offer?"

"Golly!" said Jim, "and to think I nearly missed the biggest advantage of my life. If everyone absorbs the knowledge that education offers, there isn't a limit to how much the next generation will have to choose from. Mom, if you ever hear of someone quitting school, send them to me. I won't have an argument to place before them, but I can say it in a few words, 'Education makes you what you want to be.'

CHS HOSTS TO MASONIC HOME HONOR GRADUATES

Crowell High School had two visitors from the Masonic Orphans' Home in Fort Worth at assembly last Friday, Feb. 1.

They were Patricia Evans and Shirley White, this year's high school graduates from the Masonic Home.

Patricia, who graduated with the highest scholastic honors of any student yet to graduate from the home, spoke on "What Masonry Means to Us."

Shirley, another honor graduate, continued the vivid account of life at the home with "The Influence of the Home."

In their talks the girls gave a general description of the home and the work that is carried on there. The home has its own power plant and both public and private school systems. There are twelve to thirteen students in each class, and each is given much individual attention.

The most popular sport at the home is football, and their football team, the "Mighty Mites," under the coaching of SMU's Rusty Russell, won regional honors this year.

Upon leaving Crowell, the girls, who had never ridden in an airplane before, were taken for a little trip by air in R. H. Cooper's plane.

Next they toured the Waggoner Ranch, and some of their experiences at the ranch included eating their lunch at the chuck wagon and riding "Goldie," one of Waggoners' famous quarter horses.

They continued on to Whiteface where the girls saw their first real rodeo.

How "big" should government be?

Lincoln was President at a time when the federal government had to take away from its citizens more rights and liberties than ever before.

But he didn't like it. He believed, with the writers of the Constitution and the Declaration, that our government should protect people's independence, not push people around.

"In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere," Lincoln once said.

Lincoln never let Americans forget that. He kept reminding the nation that the government's vast wartime powers must be only temporary.

He made powerful enemies. For there are always those who want to see the government run things—and run people—permanently.

We have them today. They think up all kinds of reasons why the federal government should take over this or that business, industry, or service. They never say they want socialism. Maybe they don't even realize it. But that's actually what they propose.

Most Americans don't want socialism any more than you do. The job is to recognize it—and halt it—no matter what disguise it wears!

The people who plan and work for a socialistic U. S. A. know that permanent control of a few key industries and services will give government the power to take over just about everything. One of the key industries that they're trying to take over is electric light and power.

West Texas Utilities Company

strating the art of doing tricks with the large Australian bull whip. Twelve second grade boys helped Regan throughout his entire act. Three of them held strips of cardboard in their hands while he cleanly cut the cardboard into small pieces without touching the boys with the whip.

His next trick drew "ohs" and "aahs" from his delighted audience when, after he explained the technique of the Australian boomerang, he nonchalantly pitched it over the audience's heads, and it immediately fluttered back into his hands.

When Johnny was fourteen with an artist was sent to live with an uncle, who was a cattle rancher in Queensland, Australia. Thru his experience there, he learned to be a showman and was first introduced to the Australian bull whip and boomerang which have done much in furthering the popularity of his act.

Regan devoted the rest of the time to fancy tricks with a rope. In such difficult and intricate tricks as the ones he called the "Butterfly Flying into the Ocean Wave" and "Texas Wagon Wheel" Johnny made his lair on every shoulder to spinning in a perfect circle straight above his head. "The sky is the limit," he cried.

For an example of his loud, humorous, warm hearted stage personality, from which is easily detected a sincere and earnest desire to please his audience, was Johnny's deftness in getting the best desired performance out of his twelve little volunteer assistants or "dogies" as he called them.

In demonstrating speed in roping, Regan had all twelve of the boys run the length of the stage which he calculated to take three and one-half seconds for each. He landed the rope squarely around ten of the twelve boys.

For his finale, Johnny had the boys sitting in a circle around the legs of a table on which he stood gradually twirling out the length of a fifty foot lariat forming the "Cowboy Wedding Ring."

This outstanding cowboy artist has already in his lifetime toured Africa, New Zealand and South America as a bronco rider in rodeos, toured as a special attraction with the famous Hardin - Simmons University Cowboy Band, and while in the British Army during World War II, entertained soldiers in France, Belgium, Holland and Germany.

SUBJECTS ANNOUNCED FOR FIRE THEMES

The annual fire theme subjects have been announced by the Fire Insurance Division of the Board of Insurance Commission for the students in Texas high schools.

The themes are requirements each year for sophomores and seniors.

The following is the list of suggested subjects for 1951-1952: Fire Resisting Building Materials, value of the label of Underwriters Laboratories in selecting fire resisting building codes; advantages of a modern building code, fire safety included in the blueprints of a building, fire hazards resulting from poor construction and a fire-safe building for crowds.

The themes are to be kept on file in the superintendent's office for one year. The length of the theme is 250 to 350 words.

CAFETERIA WALLS GO UP

The walls of the new school cafeteria are being erected this week. Bill Baskerville of Vernon is in charge of this work. Both the inside and outside walls are being made out of Abilene common brick with an air space in between to prevent sweating. This type of wall makes it warmer in the winter and cooler in the summer, according to Mr. Baskerville. The steel windows have not arrived, which might cause a delay in the completion of the walls. The foundation and walks were completed two weeks ago.

Ed McDaniel is in charge of the plumbing for the building and has been working on this for the past week. We all are looking forward to moving into the new cafeteria. Both the women operating the cafeteria and those who eat their lunch at school will enjoy the extra room.

The new cafeteria will seat about 170 people at a time. This should solve the problem of a place to hold a large banquet in Crowell.

CHARLCIA TO MAKE HOUSEKEEPING HER CAREER

She's cute, she's engaged, she's Charlcia Ketchersid, senior of the week. "Charlie," as her friends call her, was born August 5, 1935, in Crowell where she has lived all her life.

This green eyed, brown haired girl has lots of things to do that she enjoys. These include swimming, playing volley ball, watching football games, seeing movies with Piper Laurie, and working in the candy stand with Virginia.

As far as eating is concerned, there's nothing she likes better than fried chicken with all the trimmings and lots of olives.

Whenever there is any spare time, Charlcia fills it by reading a little bit of everything.

In the future Charlcia will make housekeeping her career, but not until she finishes school in Wichita next summer.

NEWCASTLE TIES CATS FOR LEAD IN DISTRICT RACE

The Crowell Wildcats felt the first conference loss of the season

Friday night at Newcastle by dropping an overtime thriller to the Bobcats 47-44 to fall into a tie with Newcastle.

The local quintet found themselves leading at intermission by an 8-point margin, by the climax of the third period the hustling Newcastle dribblers held a 3-point lead. The score changed hands several times in the final stanza and Crowell partisans witnessed a stall by the Wildcats with a 2-point lead for about three minutes before Newcastle gained control of the ball and with only seconds remaining, Lee Otis Clayborn took the ball just across the center line and fixed a desperation shot for 2 markers to tie up the game 44-44 and likewise, send it into a 3-minute overtime.

Crowell was weakened much by the loss of Ginger Johnson and Roy Whitley by the foul-out rule in the fourth quarter.

After two good breaks netting 3 points for Newcastle, the Wildcats were unable to catch up before the time was out.

Whitley lead in the scoring with thirteen points and Clayborn paced the winners with 11 markers.

Tomorrow night Henrietta comes here for what should be one of the best games of the season as they gave Crowell a real run for their money in their previous encounter. Our Wildcats are going to be out to win this game to remain tied for the first place.

CROWELL "B" TRIMS NEWCASTLE 47-19

Crowell's B team did a little better than the A boys. They took their game from Newcastle's B team by a score of 47-19.

Martin Langham was the big gun for Crowell. He scored a sizeable twenty-seven points, G. Whitley and G. Graves tied for second with eight points each.

Once Crowell got in the lead, they were never headed.

Hustling "Audie" Hall kept up his tradition by fouling off. He played approximately nine minutes before he collected that fifth

BECAUSE HE SEES AHEAD
from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Perhaps you glanced at it too—the report of an interview of a prominent cartoon artist. Interestingly enough, this artist—who holds his readers by taking his hero through an endless assortment of harrowing escapes—readily confessed that he seldom knows how he will extricate his cartoon character until he is well along in his imaginary adventure.

How thankful we can be as Christians that in every circumstance of life our Heavenly Father knows the end from the beginning, and with love and compassion limits the forces which seem to beat against us! There is no testing which does not have a purpose, no temptation greater than the power at our disposal to meet it, no trial which is without a purpose.

"In all these things we are more than conquerors"; for God shapes them to His own glory, and with the very fires of trial molds and tempers us that we may be conformed to the image of our Lord. At the end of the way, having been kept by the power of God, we will rejoice and marvel at the grace that has made it so.

JET EFFICIENCY BOOSTED

Greater range and efficiency of jet aircraft engines are resulting from close working relationships between fuel engineers and engine manufacturers. A typical jet engine in 1944 required about 19 gallons of fuel per hour for every 100 pounds of thrust developed. Today's figure is about 16 gallons per hour and a decrease to about 11 gallons is expected in the not-too-distant future.

LOSES SAVINGS

Cleveland, Ohio—Without the knowledge of her husband, Mrs. Freda Krasney, 50, had been concealing money for their old age by placing it in an old vest. When she couldn't find the vest last July, her husband told her that he had placed it in a pile of old clothes she had given away. Since then she has tried without success to trace the clothing.

NORMA'S NONSENSE

Here I am pushin' the poisoned pen for another week. Seems everything is off the beam, including me.

So long folks, friends, and enemies. Put in scandal in locker 15. Oops, left out the most important part. Here we go.

Say, Doyle, how about getting married? This is leap year, you know, Dorothy Wilson.

It's leap year again, girls. Here are a few pointers on how to get your man. After you get one, you can decide for yourself what to do with him.

Lesson 1. Take a look at the left-overs. How many good looking, steady, dependable boys are not married? Don't forget that if you cannot get a whole man, a male fraction is better than none.

Lesson 2. Look for a fellow on the verge of a nervous breakdown. He needs a nice long rest. Convince him that marriage will be just the thing for him. After all, if you can't relax, you can far enough rest when you are six feet under.

Lesson 3. Don't worry if the man you marry cannot hold a steady job.

Two final warnings: 1. Don't marry a man who wears bowties and a crew haircut. He will never grow up. 2. Don't marry an oboe player. You'll never hear the last of him.

Trees Add Comfort to Home Grounds, Says H. D. Agent

Comfort can be added to home grounds by planting trees for shade, suggests Mrs. Mary D. Brown, acting County Home Demonstration Agent. She points out, however, that careful planning should precede planting so that there will be both convenience and attractiveness without crowding.

Mrs. Brown says when planting trees, place some for shade, while others can be used to screen barns and other outbuildings and make windbreaks.

For appearance at least two trees are needed on the front lawn or side front for framing the house. Remember to keep the front lawn smooth and unbroken. Trees with trimmed trunks will not break the contour of the lawn, says Mrs. Brown.

For a background, plant at least one large tree to show above the roof so the long hard lines will be softened. Use two, four, six, eight or even more trees in the back. If the house faces the north, the framing trees may be mimosa or others that give scant shade but are attractive. Shade is not needed on the north side of the house. If the house faces south or west, plant trees that will make heavy shade.

Plant trees close enough to the house to make shade but far enough away so that the limbs of the trees will not scrape. Large trees should be 20 to 30 or more feet away from the building. Small trees may be 10 to 15 feet away. Again, it is important to prune the trees so that the limbs will not scrape the roof.

Trees are the most important and most permanent of all plants used in the landscape. Even though they require the most room and crowd out more plants and shrubs, they more than pay for themselves in shade and beauty.

With good care, which includes watering and fertilizing, trees will grow and be a pleasure forever.

After sundown it is colder on a desert than in a forest. Sand loses heat while trees hold it.

Only one state has been named for a President, that being the State of Washington.
