Texans Blast House Proposal on Tidelands

Reaction in Texas to the bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Congressman John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) was immediate and scathing. Representative Kennedy's proposal would give the Federal government complete control and earmark all tidelands revenues for hospitals, medical services, doctor training, a miniature socialized medical program. Attorney General Price Daniel was quick to point out that the Kennedy proposal is just another example of Federal fumbling in an attempt to justify the theft of property from the school children of Texas.

Continuing his stinging lash at the Kennedy bill, Daniel said, "First, it was for national defense, but when the facts showed that more oil is produced under state operation, that argument was dropped. Next, the Federal land-grabbers said, 'Let's divide the swag up among all the schools.' They soon found that they were robbing state school funds so they had to seek another excuse. Now, Congressman Kennedy wants to use our tidelands for federal hospital and medical care. It all gets down to further socialization of the country by stealing from the States and their school funds. It must be stopped by Congressional action restoring the lands to the states."

The House of Representatives passed the Walter-Gossett bill in the last session of Congress by a vote of 265 to 109 to ratify full ownership by the states. The reaction of Guy C. Jackson Jr., Chairman of the Statewide Tidelands Committee, to the Kennedy bill followed the same line of reasoning pursued by the Attorney General. Said Jackson, "This is another handfull of Federal hay held out till they get the rope on the fattened calf of tidelands revenue. Our Federal busy-bodies couldn't whip the medical profession on the merits of socialized medicine, so they are going to try to get the job done by a barefaced steal of our tidelands if we don't fight back with every weapon at our command."

Jackson said that the Statewide Tidelands Committee has plans made to work on a national within the near future to the true facts of the states. Currently, the Com is carrying on a fund-raising paign to finance the national gram.

Gas Blasts Damage Illinois Town Recently

Mattoon, Ill.—The town of Mattoon was seriously damaged recently by a series of gas explosions. Damage was estimated at $1,000,000.

Fortunately, only one person was injured in the succession of blasts that wrecked a block of business houses and started half a dozen fires.

The first explosion occurred in the heating plant of the City Drug Store. In quick succession at least five more blasts ripped through the downtown business section. Fifty guests fled the Byers Hotel which was damaged.

In 1936, an explosion at the site of the City Drug Store killed three and injured six. Ten years ago, three died in a fire in the Byers Hotel.

Tunnel Holds Key to Future for Small Town in Colorado

Leadville, Colo. — The little town of Leadville, which made history back in the eighties with a silver boom that rocked the nation, is holding its breath over a new tunnel that is being bored into its fabulous mountains.

The tunnel, if successful, will let water, now standing in the interlocked shafts, flow out of the mines that once produced fortunes. If that should happen, then the community would boom again and make new fortunes. There is still fabulous veins of ore in the mountain, but the mines have been unworkable because of the water.

The whole thing is $2.5 million gamble to get lead, zinc and manganese needed for defense. The work is being done by the Utah Construction company under the supervision of the Denver office of the federal Bureau of Mines.

The tunnel was first started during World War II, but funds were exhausted and peace came before it could be driven into the mountain an effective distance.

When work ceased, hopes of Leadville's new boom died with it. Then along came Korea and work was started again.

It's an unusual tunnel, its mouth is a mile and seven-eighths above sea level. It taps first one mine shaft and then another through which sponsors hope to drain a multitude of old workings.

The tunnel stops now just short of the long-unworked Emmet mine. Work is in progress on side tunnels.

Water from deep inside the mountain, 3250 gallons a minute, flows into a concrete ditch that carries it to the Arkansas river.

Leadville's old timers say the tunnel is a gamble, but if the mountain drained, the community will be as prosperous as the days when the mines were turning out fortunes in silver and other metals.

NEW GI BILL OF RIGHTS

A bill has been introduced in Congress which would entitle veterans of Korean action to one and one-half days of free schooling for each day of service. The maximum would be thirty-six months, enough time to get a college degree. Students would be allowed to change courses only once, but could not study vocational or recreational subjects, could not enroll in schools held subversive or if it did not have at least one-fourth non-veteran students. The new bill is an effort to eliminate some of the abuses of the present G. I. Bill of Rights.

3,000 DRILLING RIGS

The rotary method of oil-well drilling has come a long way since it was first used at Spindletop, Texas, in 1901. For the first time in North American drilling history, the number of active rotary drilling rigs exceeded 3,000 during the week ending Oct. 15, 1951. Rotary drilling has not changed basically in 50 years, but today's equipment is improved in design, strength of materials and size. This plus the "know-how" of American drilling crews has made possible the drilling of wells to depths of 20,000 feet plus.

No Thanks to OPS

Lawrence Fertig, a well-known syndicated writer on economic affairs, recently produced a column on the highly important subject of "meat and economics." He pointed out that cattlemen, Department of Agriculture experts, and others believe that the price of beef will tend downward—as has already happened in the case of pork. Then he made this significant observation:

"When the great day comes, and hamburger sells for 10 cents a pound less, the housewife will owe no thanks to Michael V. DiSalle and the OPS. On the contrary, it should be realized that if the price controllers had their way, beef would become more scarce and the price would probably be higher. It is due to the fact that Congress refused to agree to a further rollback of prices in the fall . . . and the fact that they would not follow Mr. DiSalle's urging to establish specific slaughter quotas on the meat industry, that there will be plenty of beef at more reasonable prices . . .

"The turnabout in the meat situation ought to make many thoughtful people understand that advocates of the free market, as opposed to controls, are recommending policies that lead to more production and lower prices for the consumer in the long run."

Congress didn't put the brakes on OPS in the hope of holding prices up—that's the last thing any member of Congress wants, especially in an election year. The lawmakers simply read the writing on the wall, and saw that existing and projected controls were discouraging meat production, encouraging black and gray markets, disrupting the meat industry as a whole, and generally raising a hob. A great many people think Congress should go farther yet and abolish controls altogether. The changes and upheavals that characterized the meat situation last year are a potent argument for the free market system of doing things.

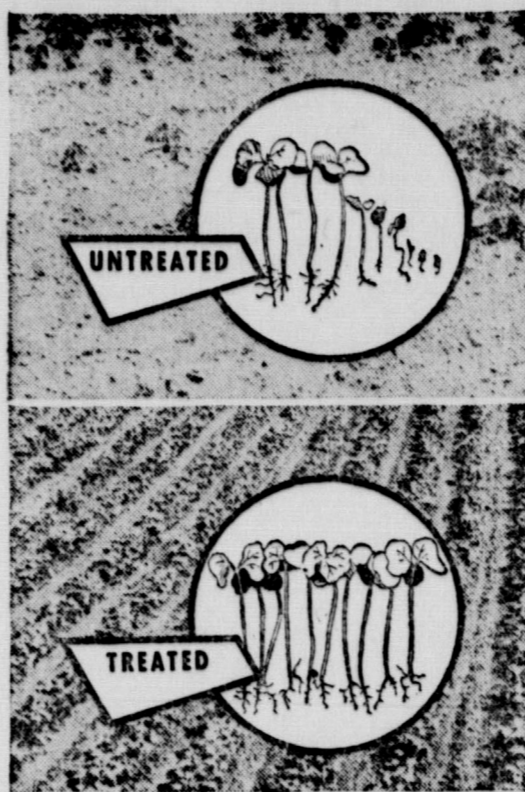

The Records Fall

In 1951, the American oil industry faced the greatest demand for its products in history—and met it by achieving the greatest output of all time.

The total was 2,724,000,000 barrels—an increase of almost 10 per cent over the former high established just a year before. And it indicated the mounting pressure under which the industry has been operating for the past decade.

Record after record fell by the wayside, in such matters as well completions, refinery capacity, processing, and production. Three main factors contributed to the

PLANT PROPERLY TREATED COTTONSEED

The chance for a good stand of cotton with the first planting can be increased greatly when seed that has been treated properly with a recommended seed disinfectant is planted.

The circles in the picture above illustrate the difference seed treating may make. Treated seed and seedlings are less apt to suffer from seed decay, damping-off or sore-shin.

The small cost of treating is unimportant when compared with the expense of soil preparation, fertilizers, labor and equipment needed to produce a good crop. Less than 10c per acre spent for seed protection can often mean many dollars profit when the crop is brought to the gin.

For information about treating your seed and the name of the cottonseed dealer nearest you consult your county agricultural agent.

tremendous demand—first, the mobilization program; second, the fact that the people are now using more oil products than ever in their homes, offices, factories, automobiles, farms and elsewhere; and third, the shutdown of the Iranian oil fields which created a global production loss that had to be offset by other sources, largely American. The swift and efficient manner in which the industry met this last problem was in itself an achievement of the first order.

Oil's great record is a tribute to the character of the enterprise—to its aggressiveness, ingenuity and know-how. But, above and beyond all that, it is due primarily to the competitive system under which the oil men work. We have about one-third of the world's oil resources—yet last year we accounted for 56 per cent of the globe's production. A free economy outstrips all other kinds.

The question of incorporating the City of Crowell is now under discussion. Among the reasons advanced why Crowell should not be incorporated are that the expenses of a city government at present will be too heavy, and the depot has not been located and we should wait until that time and take it in.

J. EDD McLAUGHLIN

J. Edd McLaughlin of Ralls Named Director of Cancer Society

J. Edd McLaughlin, Ralls banker and civic leader, has been named lay director for District 3-South of the American Cancer Society, Texas Division, which includes 18 Northwest Texas counties.

His selection was announced by Frank C. Smith of Houston, president of the Texas Division of the Society.

In accepting the appointment, which entails a year-round responsibility for men's activity of the Cancer Society in this area, as well as for the conduct of the district's April Cancer Crusade, Mr. McLaughlin emphasized the pressing need for public acceptance of cancer education as a positive means of controlling the disease.

"Latest statistics show that one person in every five now living will develop cancer. But if the public learns the facts and acts quickly when a symptom occurs, many of those stricken can be saved," Mr. McLaughlin said.

Their work is cooperative and is directed toward the eventual control of the cancer menace through the American Cancer Society's comprehensive programs of research, education and service to cancer patients.

The district directors also insure that county committees are enlisted and function year-round. Too, they represent their area on the state board of directors.

The district includes the following counties: Bailey, Brisco, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Cottle, Crosby, Floyd, Foard, Hale, Hall, Hardeman, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock, Motley, Parmar and Swisher.

Mr. McLaughlin will enlist Cancer Crusade Chairmen in each of those counties.

Federal Government "Grants" Texas Two-Thirds of Road Money

With strings attached, the Federal government "granted" Texas this fiscal year two-thirds of the road money they paid in taxes to the U. S. Treasury, according to an article that appeared recently in the Austin American-Statesman that is reproduced in a recent issue of West Texas Today, the magazine of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

"The Editor's Notebook" in the Austin newspaper contained the following:

"Several weeks ago the Texas Highway Department announced that the federal government has "granted" Texas $26,681,000 for highway aid in the coming fiscal year.

"The state's program, including $15 million direct appropriation for lateral roads, regular state gasoline-tax supported work, and federal matching, runs a little over $100 million a year.

"But the point is that the federal government takes a great deal more than any $26 million out of Texas in road-use and motor vehicle taxes every year, and thus the state gets back a lot less than it contributes in taxes designed to support the highway program.

"Texas fared well in the generous federal 'grants' with only New York getting more refunds of the money collected from citizens of a state.

"But the federal money comes back with a lot of strings. For one thing, no matter what the state's needs, nor its local road financing program, it is limited to $14,305,046 for construction of primary highways. It is required by a federal fiat to limit secondary and feeder roads to $9,577,321; and it is graciously permitted to ask the government to apply $2,799,612 to expressways and urban projects.

"To get any item of the federal grants, Texas must prepare plans according to federal specifications, award contracts and supervise construction, all subject to federal approval.

"The allotment itself was made in proportion to area, population and mileage of postal roads, mileage and population of rural areas, population of urban areas and so on.

"Based on the state's collection of gasoline taxes, the federal government took more than $37 million out of the state in gasoline sales tax levies alone; besides which it collected a lot of taxes on motor vehicles, tires, automobile accessories and Texas will get back probably thirds the amount it paid that with strings attached.

"This is a perfect example of the type of thing the Texas and the United States ought to wipe out next year, and ought to be mighty sure to vote they cast will be in that direction.

"It is no generous boom-nevelent grant to give to Texas half the money taken from it in road-use taxes to support a horde of federal bureaucrats out of the money away from motorists in the of federal taxes.

"It is no compliment to intelligence of Texas highway planners and construction supervisors to them to come into some agency for approval of phase of projects in state puts up money, to support a horde of federal bureaucrats out of the money away from motorists in the of federal taxes.

"It is no compliment to intelligence of Texas highway planners and construction supervisors to them to come into some agency for approval of phase of projects in state puts up money, to support a horde of federal bureaucrats out of the money away from motorists in the of federal taxes.

"Texas has a highway commission and department which spent more than a billion dollars in highway construction. Except for one political misadventure, this has been administered with efficiency or complaint, and the highway program now for years has been the most efficient, honest administration and supervision.

"The point now is why Texas be taxed $13 million million this year for the privilege of federal support its highway work. Why 50 per cent tribute in the of bureaucracy be imposed then Texas be called to acknowledge in humble attention the generous 'grant' federal government of of the money taken away citizens for the ostensible purposes of highway construction.

"Federal 'grants' with strings attached, and every instance with the of giving back a dollar less than taken away from taxpayers, run into other of governmental projects.

"No wonder state officials and many other states be let alone to carry on their own improvement program that their citizens be not by the back-breaking federal taxes used in hordes and hordes of massive federal red-tape.

Poor health is an often than a fact.

Not every dog that man is to blame.

JUDSONIA, ARK.—Their homes among more than 2,000 Arkansas and Missouri homes destroyed or damaged by March tornadoes, these men, like thousands of storm victims, turn to the Red Cross for help. After emergency needs for food, clothing, medical care and shelter are met, Red Cross workers will stay on the job until rehabilitation needs of more than 1,800 families registered for help in these two states are determined. Based on need, Red Cross will assist in repairing and rebuilding homes and providing furniture. Of the nearly 500 persons hospitalized by tornado injuries, many will need Red Cross help with medical bills. All this Red Cross help, expected to run into millions, is a gift given by the people through the Red Cross fund campaign.

4-H Club Roundup Is Set for June 9-10

The annual Texas 4-H Club Roundup will be held at Texas A&M College on June 9-10. The statewide gathering, sponsored by the Agricultural Extension Service, for years has been recognized as one of the highlight meetings for 4-H Club members.

According to information released by Extension Director G. G. Gibson, each county may send as official delegates two boys, two girls and two local adult leaders. This number does not include members who will participate in the many judging and team demonstration contests. Only one team from each Extension district may participate in each of the 14 announced contests. District winning teams are to be selected in district contests.

Since the annual Extension Conference will be held later in the year, only a limited number

MR. AND MISS AMERICA

Watch Your Manners
 Do you have a date for the banquet? If not, what's holding you back? No junior or senior in his right mind would miss this annual affair. Do you have an inferiority complex or is it financial trouble? Just brush those troublesome thoughts from your mind and lend an eye to the rules of etiquette.

Masculine Musings!
 Money, Hm, if that gal is the right one for you, she'll understand about the easy cash that you don't have to spare. This dream girl won't expect an expensive corsage, but she does appreciate the gent that she can depend on to ask what shade (not just to guess) of posies will go with her dress. If you can't afford a corsage, that's o. k. too. It is no longer a necessity to buy a girl that added attraction.

Why be shy, guy? If you can't get the nerve to meet her face to face, remember that wonderful invention, the telephone. Self assurance is the main course of popularity, but unfortunately you can't buy it in a store. So pick up that little black box and give your gal a ring. Whatever you do, don't get cold feet at the last minute, nothing irritates a girl like a meaningless call does.

You've got your date now, but do you know how to act when

The cost of living went up + up
 It's a Fact!
 For the average West Texas family, a kilowatt-hour of electric service costs less today than it did 20, 15 — even 10 years ago!

Although the cost of materials, manpower, fuel, and everything else needed to provide electric service has gone up in price, your local rates have stayed low.

Your electric service is still the biggest bargain in the family budget — your most dependable, low-cost servant.

The price of electricity went down + down

The cost of your electric service has remained low because you use a lot of it and because of the skills and efficient business methods used by the men and women of this company.

BATISTA WINS "BLITZ" REVOLUTION—Gen. Fulgencio Batista (arrow) talks to Cuban nation by radio from Havana after deposing President Carlos Prío Socarrás in almost bloodless 77-minute revolution and taking over the office. Batista was president once before, after leading 1933 "sergeants' revolution."

you are out with others? It's simple. Just quit wondering and worrying about yourself and think of others when you're out. When at the banquet, don't sit there like a dead-head who seems interested only in the food. Join in the conversation, and take an interest in your partner. Add something to the conversation — even if it's only "Oh, really?" The guy with the blank stare will be left alone with his thoughts, so keep on the beam. A light veneer of snappy chatter is not the loyal road to making a success of the evening. Don't try to rate the reputation of a charmer, because running around flashing your teeth at people isn't the proper thing to do. Instead, cultivate a genuine interest in your date, but at the same time be helpful and considerate of your other friends.

Well, boys, I've been talking about "you" and how "you" can make the banquet a successful evening for you, but my best advice is to forget this very subject when you're out with others. Your evening will start on the golden track the minute you stop talking and thinking about Y-O-U.

Misses' Manners.
 So that date still isn't made, what does it take to get one? Charm? Brains? Good looks? Clothes? Money? Sense of Humor? If you think that's what it takes, you might as well fold up, because you probably have everything. Girls, you may not be perfect, but you certainly can make the most of what you've got. So start doing it now, and watch those offers roll in.

To get started make sure that you are known as a nice person. Not the gooey, syrupy type, but a sincere person who never has an unkind word to say about anyone. What boy wants to go with a girl who spends her time looking for other people's faults? Not any of them, believe me. So, girls, develop a sense of humor instead of a sense of humor, and you'll find that guy coming back for more dates.

The big wheel has finally come across and asked you to the banquet? Now that presents a new problem. What to wear? As we all know, money doesn't grow on trees, so don't go into tantrums when the parents set their foot down on an expensive formal. It does take a lot of money to dress well, so there shouldn't be anything wrong with your eye appeal. A simple way to solve this money problem is to learn the art of sewing. Learn to wear the proper things at the proper time. A sleeky, dark satin formal would not be the right dress for a banquet. There are many new shades of pastel on the market now. Be wise when you choose what to wear. And, remember, don't ruin the whole effect by smearing on an awful lot of makeup. Males usually prefer natural beauty.

To make your evening a success, my advice is to follow the boy's rules. Forget about you, and concentrate on him.—Thaxton.

SENIORS, HERE IS YOUR MILLION-DOLLAR CHANCE
 To you members of the senior class we would like to direct a foolish question. Does an all-expense-paid trip to New York City which includes transportation and accommodations at the Waldorf Astoria for one week sound good to you? Would you enjoy being escorted to the United Nations building to be welcomed by officials and representatives of many countries?

Wait a minute! Please don't go away. I'm not making fun of you and neither am I just spinning a beautiful unattainable dream. I know what I'm talking about when I say it is very possible for you to earn this dream trip, or if you prefer, $250 in US Savings Bonds.

Lawrence S. Mayers, president of L. C. Mayers Co., New York, is launching an annual Peace Essay Contest for high school seniors in the United States. Now that stands between you and a chance to win the trip or the bonds is an essay dealing with the subject, "How differently would I plan my future if I knew world-wide peace were assured for the next fifty years?" This essay is limited to 1,000 words or less, and the deadline for this contest is May 1, 1952.

Just suppose this essay wasn't for a contest at all. It might be your Thursday's assignment for English class. Nine times out of ten you would do your best to write an essay worthy of an A. Well, all you have to do to have a chance of being worthy of a trip to New York is putting forth just a little initiative and thought into your writing.

There is not only the trip to New York or the $250 in savings bonds offered, but also those winning 2nd through 11th prizes each receive a $100 savings bond. Those winners of the 12th through the 30th prizes receive a $25 savings bond.

The best essay written by a senior of this school will be entered in the contest.

It is our sincere wish that a good percentage of the seniors will take interest and enter the contest. Their chances are better than they may think.

CROWELL TAKES FIRST PLACE IN ONE-ACT PLAY CONTEST AT ELECTRA
 "Fog on the Valley," Crowell High School's contest play, placed first in competition with eight other schools at 11A District meet held at Electra, March 28. Honors also went to Maurine Youree as first place actress and Billy Johnson as first place actor. Camille Todd placed second as actress on the all-star cast.

Other schools represented on the selected all-star cast were as follows: Archer City, third place actress; Chillicothe, second place actor; and Holliday, third place actress. Two actresses from Olney also received honorable mention for their work in Olney High's play, "So Wonderful in White," which ranked in second place. This one-act play is a story depicting a cross-section of nurses' lives during hospital training and of one particular nurse's unselfish devotion to her profession.

Chillicothe placed third with "The Bishop's Candlesticks," a play based on the story of Jean Val Jean's theft of the French bishop's candlesticks in "Les Misérables" and the impressive outcome of the incident.

Seymour opened the contest with "Madame President," which was followed by Iowa Park's presentation of "Sailing at Midnight." Holliday's clever play, "Circumstances Aliter Cases" kept the audience laughing throughout.

"Goodnight, Please," Electra's offering, was a humorous play concerning a bank president who de-

the girl who worked on the Wildcat Staff during her high school days and afterwards became well known as a Girl Scout counselor. She did a great deal of work toward the success of the first ex-senior banquet.

After her graduation from West Texas State College, Mrs. Smith taught school at Claude and Phillips, Texas. Throughout the war years she was executive secretary of the Girl Scouts of America at Hot Springs, Ark., until she married and moved to South Carolina.

Texas Teague is her second son and we, in CHS, like to believe that part of the honor of his name goes to us because there has been at least one Teague in school here since 1913.

HOW IS YOUR HEALTH?
 Maybe you don't know it, but health experts say that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. You may say, "Oh, heck, I just don't have time to eat," but in later life, you may have to find time to go to the hospital with some incurable ailment because you didn't eat breakfast as a teenager. Improper eating at any meal can cause a nutritional "time bomb" which can go off in later life. If you skip supper or just drink a Coke for supper, this could also be serious.

In a poll made over the high school last Monday, we found that 67 per cent eat a good breakfast, 15 per cent eat a light breakfast, and 18 per cent eat no breakfast at all.

If you eat no breakfast at all, you'd better change your habits. For a healthy future, this country needs healthy citizens.

TEXAS TEAGUE SMITH ARRIVES IN SOUTH CAROLINA
 There's a new addition to the national census in Mullins, South Carolina, since March 17. He is the son of Mrs. William Gause Smith, the former Maymie Lee Teague of Crowell, and his name is Texas Teague Smith.

Mrs. Smith, of the class of '34, is the sister of Mrs. Clyde Cobb and Mrs. Sollis. She is well remembered in the halls of CHS as the girl who worked on the Wildcat Staff during her high school days and afterwards became well known as a Girl Scout counselor. She did a great deal of work toward the success of the first ex-senior banquet.

After her graduation from West Texas State College, Mrs. Smith taught school at Claude and Phillips, Texas. Throughout the war years she was executive secretary of the Girl Scouts of America at Hot Springs, Ark., until she married and moved to South Carolina.

SPORTS CALL
 The CHS sprinters showed up fine in the two practice tilts that they competed in the past week. These two pre-district meets gave the locals a good chance to gain valuable experience. The cinder men of CHS gave local fans an indication of what to expect for the current track season.

Last week our thin-clad out-pointed Chillicothe here in a two-team contest and edged Quannah and Chillicothe to win the Quannah track meet last Friday.

At the present time the 440-yd. relay team looks the best of all the teams while the mile relay quartet shines also. As for the high jump Lee Roy Bice should be a real threat for that event as he tied with Dan Morrison of Chillicothe for first place honors in both meets last week. Ginger Johnson waltzed away with the 880 yard title in both meets and should go a good way in this race. Jim Paul Norman should come through on the broad jump to help Crowell in that department. He capped first place honors in the discus throwing division at Quannah. Robert Graves, the miler, came out first in the initial meet, but was second in the Quannah affair. He also should be a contender for the district title.

The district meet will be held at Quannah Saturday, and we are expecting Crowell to return with some of those blue ribbons; so let's all go to Quannah and cheer those Wildcats on to victory.

Glancing now to tennis, the netters of CHS will go to Electra tomorrow for the district tournament. Representing Crowell will be Grin Stinebaugh, Glyndon Johnson and Billy Abston. Grin will be trying for the singles crown while Glyndon and Billy will be walloping the ball in the doubles circles. We think CHS has some good talent in these three because they emerged winners in the tough

Weekly Sermon

TOO LATE
from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

A man arrived at a railroad station just as the train was pulling out. He ran after it as fast as he could, but was not able to gain on the train.

"You don't run fast enough," cried a man who was watching him from the rear platform.

"Ah, no," he answered, "I didn't start soon enough!"

Everyone in this community, probably, if not in this country, knows something about how to get to heaven. The gospel of Jesus Christ has been preached so universally that everybody must have some knowledge of it. But one thing many do not know—when to start for heaven. They put off starting until the last train, and then they rush down to the station, they might say, to find that they are too late.

If you do not start soon enough, the door of light will be closed. What a cold, bleak world this would be without light! How could we ever get along without the sun? But what the sun is to the world, Christ is to the lives of men. We are told that in heaven Christ is the light in the midst of his glories. Christ is the light of the world. It would be a dark and miserable place if the light of Christ did not penetrate the gloom of death and the grave.

Some time ago, a gospel service was held in one of our coal regions. When the audience was dismissed one of the miners stayed in his seat. An elder of the church approached him and asked why he remained. He said he had made up his mind not to leave that place until he was saved. They talked and prayed until near midnight, and at last the earnest seeker found his Saviour.

On the following day this happily saved man went down into the mine as usual, but before night there was a terrible cave-in and he was horribly crushed. He was taken from the scene of the calamity just as life was fluttering out, and was heard to whisper, "How glad I am that I settled it."

Mine Granted Loan

Village in Michigan Plans for Boom

Ontonagon, Mich. — The 2,500 people of Ontonagon are bewildered and a little breathless. They are expecting a boom that will pour millions into the community. The reason is the announcement by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of a 57 million dollar loan for a copper mine near the community, a sum equal to six times the official assessed value of all Ontonagon county.

The loan is to the White Pine Copper Co. which will produce an estimated 75 million pounds of copper a year. The company will build an entire new town for 5,000 people, with stores, a hospital, theater and everything else a community of that size needs.

A multi-million-dollar steam power plant in Ontonagon that will employ about 100 men when finished. A smelter, a copper mill and mining installations. A 20 mile railroad extension to the mine site.

Improved harbor facilities to handle coal for the power plant. Three Years to Build
During the three years all this is going on the village of Ontonagon expects a boom that will probably mean new homes, restaurants and stores for the community. Many of the community's merchants believe the effects will be felt much longer than the three years of the construction program because of the nearness of Ontonagon to the mine.

Businessmen also agree that the town will face numerous problems during the coming years from the influx of workers.

At the present time there are hardly any vacant houses and unemployment is almost nonexistent. The village has a large paper and pulp mill employing more than 300 persons. There are two smaller mills and another small one is being built.

Three years ago the community suffered an economical reverse when the biggest lumber company employing up to 600 persons, closed down. Some of the workers moved away, but most stayed and were eventually absorbed by other firms after being without jobs for some time.

Faith in the Town
Ontonagon's seven restaurants, one theater, two hotels and eight taverns will feel the pressure of expansion.

"It's going to turn the town upside down," said John J. Clark, who runs the theater. He added that he would show movies all day and all night if there were enough customers.

For over a year people of the community knew the mining company was seeking an RFC loan and most of them held on to their property. They are still holding on until they see what the real estate market is going to do.

Old timers of the community report they have seen mines and lumber mills come and go during the years and it hasn't made much difference. "Something always takes their place," said C. J. Crook.

After Five Years Illinois Village Gets Water System

Mendon, Ill.—It took five years, but the village of Mendon, population 700, finally has its water system.

The move to secure a water system for the village started back in 1946. The state of Illinois had set up a fund whereby municipalities might receive a sum to enable them to begin some project of benefit to the entire community. Mendon used its portion of the fund to conduct a survey to locate possible water sources within the village.

The next step was to gain 150 property owners who would guarantee using the water if and when the system was completed. In November of 1947 a special election was held for approval of selling general obligation bonds in the amount of $20,000 to help defray the cost of building the system. The balance was to come from the sale of water revenue bonds.

That Mendon wanted the system was demonstrated on election day when the proposition carried, 140 to 16.

The contract for building the system was awarded to the Rees Construction company of Quincy. A well digger from Hatchtown moved his rig into the village and tried several locations, but failed to develop a well supplying the required amount of water to meet state specifications. Later, another company tried without much better success.

Despite discouragement the people of Mendon, in a mass meeting, gave the mayor and village council a vote of confidence. A well digger from Kansas City was contacted in the summer of 1950. He moved into Mendon, prepared to stay until he was successful. During the winter of 1950, he was able to develop four wells in the south part of the village.

In the meantime, construction costs had increased above the limits of the $20,000 bond issue previously approved. Local voters again went to the polls on March 3, 1951, this time to get approval on a bond issue of $40,000. The issue carried by 276 to 6.

The Rees company went to work early last spring and com-

MARY DEEB BROWN

As you know this month we are refinishing furniture. Let me remind you that this can be a messy job—and if you plan to help with it at club, do wear old clothes. If you are hostess for this refinishing program, you will need to have lots of old newspapers and rags handy. We will try to work outside whenever possible.

If it is your piece of furniture we are refinishing, remember to have all repair work done in advance.

I have received in my office an excellent bulletin on home canning. It is the most complete home canning bulletin the Extension Service has ever put out as it covers canning all types of fruits and vegetables as well as containers, storage, etc. If you plan to do any canning at all, don't take chances in your food spoiling. Call for my office for one of these bulletins which will give you the latest and most up-to-date method.

Agent Gives Hints on Household Tools

Homemakers can save time and trouble by keeping a select number of household tools where they can be found, Mrs. Mary D. Brown, acting county home demonstration agent, suggests a household repair kit or a tool board for every home.

A fishing tackle or similar box makes an excellent container for all small tools and supplies. Tacks, nails, hooks, screws, glue and other such articles may be kept in the box. In the bottom, store such tools as the hammer, pliers, screw driver, small wrench, putty knife, awls, files, assorted bolts, washers, friction tape, sandpaper and a spool of wire. Large tools such as the saw and plane may be hung on a tool rack or kept in a special place.

If you prefer a tool board, Mrs. Brown suggests there be a place for each tool. If one is missing, the empty space shows the tool should be found. The board may be hung on the wall and brass hooks may be used to hold the tools. The appearance of the board is improved by giving it a coat of stain or paint.

A few essential tools can be hung on the board. A medium-sized claw hammer is a tool often used. A pair of pliers is needed, plus a pair of diagonal cutting pliers which are useful in cutting

Love Overcomes All

Long Beach, Calif. — Love has conquered the Pacific Ocean and the U. S. Coast Guard, in that order. Boatswain's Mate 3-C Byron C. Officers pardoned Wimp.

wire, string rope and smaller nails and screws. Mrs. Brown has found that two sizes of screw drivers are convenient and that an ice pick or awl will come in handy for punching holes in wood when starting screws. A semi-flexible steel tape in a case is handy for taking measurements. Have the board large enough, she says, for a dagger-shaped hack saw for cutting both wood and metal.

Tools should be properly cleaned before storing. Keep them bright with a film of oil. Mrs. Brown says that it is best to start with a few tools of good quality, and add others as needed.

TRUSCOTT H. D. CLUB

On March 28 the Truscott Home Demonstration Club met in the club room of the community house. Work which was on the room was covering chairs and divan, also washing venetian blinds. Mrs. W. O. Solomon presided over the business meeting. Mrs. J. R. Brown gave a report on the school of instruction which she and Mrs. Solomon attended at Benjamin Thursday. A Negro minstrel which is to be given by club ladies, was discussed and parts given out. Refreshments were served to ten members by hostess, Mrs. J. R. Brown. The next meeting will be April 10 with Mrs. Charlie McNeese as hostess.

Rev. and Mrs. M. A. Walker arrived at home Monday from Arlington where Rev. Walker had been holding a meeting.

Miss Rodyn Self is home from Stephens College at Columbia, Mo., spending the spring holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Self.

Midwestern Hospital Council to Hold Meeting April 9th

The meeting of the Midwestern Hospital Council will be held at the Wichita General Hospital in the Assembly Room, Wednesday, April 9, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. The Council embraces District 1 of the Texas Hospital Association including 13 counties. Administrators and other hospital members are invited to attend the meeting.

Joe Hayes, Blue Cross district representative of Wichita Falls and Walter L. Langston, Blue Cross Director of Hospital Cases with offices in Dallas, invited four other representatives from the Blue Cross office in Dallas, to conduct a workshop for better understanding of case problems and to discuss the Blue Cross Manual. There will be a round-table discussion on Blue Cross case problems.

Luncheon will be served to the attending groups in the new General Hospital cafeteria.

"Look Out for Clothes Moths," Says Agent

Officially it's spring and soon it will be time to store winter clothing. Warmer weather means that more clothes moths will be on the hunt for food.

Moths like dirty clothes best. Every garment should be cleaned before it is stored, states Mrs. Mary D. Brown, acting County Home Demonstration Agent. Dry cleaning kills all forms of moths at the time of treatment, but does not insure permanent resistance. However, garments placed in moth proof paper bags at the cleaners and sealed airtight will not become reinfested.

Most dwellings have clothes moths, regardless of location. For further protection before storing clothes, the specialist suggests spraying closet walls, around the baseboards of the room and in drawers with a five per cent DDT solution. Garments may be lightly dusted or sprayed on both sides with DDT.

The small moths seen flying lazily in dark corners are the parent moths and do not eat fabric. The female moth deposits eggs on the clothes. The eggs hatch over a period of three or four weeks depending on the temperature. The newly hatched larva immediately starts feeding and spinning a shelter of silken threads in which it conceals itself. Most of the life of the moth is spent in the destructive stage.

The clothes moth feeds on animal substances such as wool, hair, feathers, fur and a wide range of commodities made from these materials. For more information,

Schools for Texas Gin Operators Scheduled

In order to improve one of the steps in the 7-step cotton program—pick and gin for a high grade—Texas cotton gin owners have requested assistance. It will be given in a series of 2-day ginners schools which are scheduled for the latter part of April and early May.

According to E. H. Bush, cotton gin specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the schools will give gin owners and operators an opportunity to pick up practical information on the function, construction, adjustment, operation, repair and maintenance of gin machinery and equipment. He says the schools are sponsored by the Texas Cotton Ginners' Association, various manufacturers of cotton gin machinery and the Extension Service.

The first school is scheduled for April 28-29 at the Murray Company of Texas plant in Dallas. On April 30 and May 1, the second will be held at the Lummus Cotton Gin Company, Dallas. The third will follow on May 2-3 at the Centennial Cotton Gin Company, Dallas, and on May 7-8 the series will be completed with the school at the Continental Gin Company plant, also in Dallas.

Because of a lack of facilities, the Hardwick-Etter Company of Sherman and the Gullett Gin Co. of Dallas will not participate in the 1952 schools, says Bush.

Each piece of machinery and equipment will be completely torn down and rebuilt, points out Bush. Instructors will be top-flight gin machinery engineers who will explain during their lectures the finer points that make for high quality ginning. Such machinery and equipment as gin stands, driers, overhead burr machines, cleaners, extractor feeders, fans and pneumatic systems, lint cleaners and lint conveying and pressing systems will get major attention. A question and answer period and a tour of the plant will wind up each school.

Bush adds it is the hope of the sponsors of the schools that the men who actually operate gin machinery will attend. In addition to the lectures on machinery and equipment, the latest research findings from the U. S. Cotton Ginning Laboratory will be given. Fire and accident prevention will be discussed and hints given for cutting the losses caused by both.

Better ginning, points out the specialist, results when operators fully understand the finer points of construction, adjustments, maintenance and repairs of the machinery they are operating. Bet-

Mrs. Brown suggests a copy of L-156, "Clothes Moths," which can be secured from the extension service.

Where Freedom Is The Watchword

Some people still think that stock exchanges are mysterious, secretive institutions, where a favored group of "insiders" on financial machinations.

That may have been so in the past, but it certainly isn't the case today. As an example, the president of the New York Stock Exchange recently announced the opening of a new reception and office room where, through films, other media, anyone who wants can learn how the organization works, and get a graphic insight into the part played by the market in building the nation's wealth. His announcement, he said, would like to extend a personal invitation to every visitor to New York City, to look in on us, Exchange and watch one of our great free markets in operation.

"The story of the stock market change is the story of a free industry growing up, of the industries owned by a great number of people which produce our time wealth and the wealth of freedom."

"Freedom is the watchword of these rooms. Here is the contest between the totalitarian communist state and the democracy of capitalism. Here is the struggle of a free people to be ruled by a free people and not by a free people."

"There is no Stock Exchange in Moscow, Prague or Berlin because behind the Iron Curtain the very concept of the free ownership is being erased from men's minds. I'd like to take of the Soviet's propaganda through these quarters and them what public ownership industry really is, how it is controlled and its productive power. It is perfectly logical that communists should direct of their venom at 'Wall Street and the stock exchanges—these institutions, which stand man's right to choose and property, are the absolute basis of the totalitarian idea."

SINGING AT BENJAMIN

Rev. B. R. Nall, pastor of Free Will Baptist Church at Benjamin, has announced that he will be singing at 7:30 o'clock, on Sunday, April 6, from 7:30 o'clock, and every first Sunday thereafter. Everyone is invited to attend.

Mrs. Crockett Fox and daughter, Laurie, of Abilene, are visiting in the home of their mother and grandmother, Mrs. C. Thompson.

ter ginning also means more grades of cotton, more income to the producer and better customers, says Bush.
