Complete with a circus atmosphere and entertainment for all, the annual membership meeting of the Gate City Electric Cooperative will be something different this year, according to R. A. Yarbrough, manager of the co-op.

For the first time, entertainment and an electrical exposition are being combined with the usual business session to form the annual meeting and Electric Fair.

The show promises to be pleasing, educational and entertaining, says Yarbrough, and some of the co-op members will go away richer, too, with some of the valuable electrical prizes to be given away.

The meeting will be an all-day affair in Childress, Friday, August 15th.

Headline attraction of the entertainment is the amateur talent contest, which is open to all in this area, is sponsored by a major appliance company. The winner here will receive a table-model radio and will also be competing for a valuable statewide prize to be awarded this summer.

Interest in the contest is expected to be high, and those interested in participating are urged to contact the office of the co-op at once.

The Electric Fair is brand new and is co-sponsored by the Gate City Electric Cooperative and local dealers and national manufacturers of electrical appliances, along with the state association of electric cooperatives. Childress is one of seventeen locations in Texas which will have the Fair this year.

C. H. S. Coaches Are Attending Coaches' School

Ticket Sales Going Good for Wildcats' 1952 Home Games

Coaches Thayne Amonett and Gordon Erwin are attending the annual Texas Coaches Association School that is being held in Fort Worth this week. All phases of high school sports are being covered by some of the outstanding college coaches of the nation at this clinic. However, football and basketball are the two sports that are being stressed. There will be a basketball game Thursday night between the high school stars from North Texas and the high school stars from South Texas. There will be a football game between the stars from these two sections played on Friday night.

Much interest is being shown in the prospective football team for Crowell High School this season. Supervised practice will not get underway until September first, but the Crowell coaches will insist on all of the boys running and taking other exercises the latter part of August as the first game of the season is September 12.

Most of the holders of last year's season tickets have bought their's for this season. Those who have not should attend to this matter before August 15, the Athletic Department requests. All local fans should take advantage of the 75c per game rate for these season tickets as the price will be advanced to $1.00 after the season starts. However, the general admission price will be 75c as it has been in the past. Quannah School officials have already requested all of the reserved seats possible for their game here on September 26.

Markham Spencer Subject of Article in Amarillo Paper

The Sunday morning's edition of the Amarillo News-Globe contained a feature story of Markham Spencer, son of Leo Spencer of this city.

Included in the story was a picture of Markham, trying out one of the News-Globe's linotype machines prior to a printing test of which he was to be entered. Markham, 37 years old, is an expert upholsterer and excels as a printer and linotype operator, despite his handicap of being a deaf mute.

The story also related his winning personality and willingness to learn, which, among other fine assets, dominate this ex-Crowellite.

HEADS RUSS A-PROJECT— Few secrets will leak out of Russia's atomic bomb projects under the new boss. He is grim Lavrenti Beria, who as former chief of the dreaded Soviet police knows well how to seal lips by terror. London intelligence reports say he directs five "atomgrads" or atom cities, with work on the H-bomb going forward at No. 5, near Utkin, Siberia.

Foard County Old-Age Assistance Checks Increased

Beginning with the month of October, old age assistance recipients and recipients of aid to the needy blind will receive an increase in their warrants of $5.00 monthly, according to an announcement made here Monday by James C. Wood of Munday, old age assistance representative for Foard County.

Mr. Wood stated that the increase in available funds is permanent and it has been brought about as a result of recent legislation enacted by the Federal government, which provided for the release of this money to the states.

"In those instances where a person is receiving Social Security compensation and concurrently receiving a supplemental check through the State Welfare Department, the State Welfare check will not be increased if the $5.00 raise is received in the check issued by the Federal government," Mr. Wood continued.

It will not be necessary for anyone to write the state office in Austin or to contact the local office in Munday, since all raises will be automatically incorporated into the October warrants.

Construction of Curbs and Gutters on North Main Street Underway; Highway Department to Widen US 287

The process of constructing curbs and gutters for the pavement widening project is now in progress. By every indication, the work will be completed soon and the State Highway Department will be at liberty to commence the street widening which will extend from the signal light, intersecting Main and Commerce Streets, north just beyond the St. Joseph Catholic Church.

In charge of the curbs and gutters for this street broadening project work is the Bill McGann Construction Company of Turkey, Texas. This company will remain in Crowell for awhile after the current contract is fulfilled to provide curbs and gutters for individuals who do not already have them, according to city officials.

This is definitely an advantageous project and since the State Highway Commission is rendering materials and services in the amount of $16,400, it is an excellent opportunity to enlarge the pavement and materially add to the traffic safety of our town.

Foard County Motorists Lag in Vehicle Inspection

A recent check-up by the News has revealed that Foard County motor vehicle owners are far behind the state average in the number of vehicles that have been checked for safety stickers.

There are 1910 vehicles registered in Foard County, according to figures released by County Tax Collector J. L. Gobin, and there remain some 900 vehicles to be tested before the deadline Sept. 6th. Most Texas counties have checked from 65 to 75 per cent of their vehicles at this time, while Foard County lags with slightly more than 50 per cent checked.

There remain only 27 working days for these delinquent motor vehicle owners to have their cars repaired and checked. One test station owner told the News that since so many people have put this matter off, it will be impossible to take care of everyone before the September 6th deadline.

The three test stations serving Foard County motorists will have to work to capacity if everyone gets their vehicles checked before the deadline. The Texas Department of Public Safety is insisting that all cars have stickers by Sept. 6th.

A Better Place to Shop

It is axiomatic that a successful retailer, small or large, chain or independent, must devote much of his time to thinking about his customers—about what Mr. and Mrs. American like and don't like, what they will buy and won't buy. The consumer, after all, is king—he can make or break any store by giving or denying his patronage.

Of late, a great many retailers have been giving increasing attention to ways and means of making their stores more attractive to the customers. This work is taking two forms. One is to get certain facts better known, and to offset such widely held misconceptions that retail prices are unnecessarily high and that retail profits are exorbitant.

The second phase of the work lies in recognizing the fact that the importance of employees to the success of every retail enterprise cannot be over-stated. The employees are the people who come

In direct personal contact with the customers—and a rude, inefficient, or indifferent employe can drive armies of people right out the doors and down the street to another store. Moreover, employes are customers too, and they are members of all kinds of far-reaching, influential social groups.

In many cases, store managements have awakened with a start to the unhappy fact that their employes are doing a poor job. In some cases, that is the fault of the employe himself—he may just be unfitted to retail duties. In other cases, it is the fault of management, which has failed to train and educate him properly.

Today retailers throughout the country are concentrating on correcting this condition—in the interest of attracting consumers, and making their stores pleasanter places to shop in.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, urges the parents of all children who will respond to the school bell for the first time in September to be sure the child is physically ready for school duties.

"First and foremost is the need for vaccination against smallpox. Parents should see that children are vaccinated before they are one year of age; at school age vaccination becomes absolutely necessary," Dr. Cox said. "If your child has not been vaccinated, have it done immediately for his own protection and that of others."

Immunization against diphtheria is also highly important, Dr. Cox declares. This disease which causes serious illness and deaths among young children can be prevented with toxoid. The child who has never been protected should be given this safeguard against a dreaded killing disease. Even though he may have been immunized as a baby, doctors and health officers usually recommend an additional dose of toxoid to strengthen immunity before entrance into school.

"In addition, before you take your child to school you are to take him to your family physician and dentist for a thorough examination," Dr. Cox adds. "You will want to know that he is in good physical condition and to compete with the other children on equal terms. If the check-up reveals any weakness or defect, they should be corrected at once. Don't let your child start his school life with any avoidable handicaps."

TB and the X-Ray Bus

Time was when the TB victim innocently walked the streets of his town undetected—and undetectable.

For who had the millionaire's pocketbook to pay for examining a whole town of a thousand people to sieve out one possible victim?

Now comes the x-ray bus, able to be TB detective for whole cities, for a few pennies a person. Millions of people now have their TB worries erased when the doctor says "Okay."

How long did it take to get the x-ray bus? Well, for its part, General Electric had been working on x rays for 57 years. Costs of diagnosis have come down by better and better equipment. No year passes without some new development. So this was another big chapter in a long book of events.

Notice the nice way these buses get into service. They are usually purchased by voluntary contributions of plain people trying to get a job done.

It is always hard to write a definition of the "American Way." But this hand-in-hand achievement of state and national health associations, General Electric, and the local communities comes close to being a perfect example.

Question of Relativity

A short time ago the Senate Agricultural Committee reported that "the average manufacturing employe today can buy as much round steak and 29 cent more pork chops with an hour's wages than was possible in 1947-48. It also said, "Today the average worker in manufacturing can buy more of all the important foods at retail prices with an hour's labor than in any earlier peacetime period such as 1947-48, 1935-39 or 1925-29."

"Press reports have given city people an impression that farmers increased their incomes in recent years at the expense of urban consumers. The facts do not support this popular impression."

Since that was released, the wholesale prices of many classes and grades of livestock and meat have declined, and consumers have been finding more attractive buys. This, as the American Meat Institute pointed out, is the result of the operation of the law of supply and demand — production of beef by the packers, for example, has been running well ahead of last year.

Here is the answer to those who believe that meat prices are out of all reason. The fact is that the average family's income has increased a trifle more than prices have increased. So it can buy as much or more meat for a given percentage of its household budget than it could in past times.

This is borne out by Department of Agriculture figures which show that meat accounted for six per cent of the average consumer's disposable income during the 1930-39 period and five-and-one-half per cent during the 1948-51 period. The only sound way to evaluate the price of any article is in the light of the amount of money we bring home each payday.

A lady who wrote a letter to the government asking for some simple information received six pounds of government material. She weighed it on her kitchen scales. At the time she wrote to the government, she asked the same question of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and received the answer in a one-page letter.

In addition to the mass of material the government sent the inquirer, she tells the Chamber, she received an offer from one bureau to put her on a list to receive a monthly publication on population growth, a monthly retail trade report and a monthly wholesale trade report.

Now the lady suggests slyly that she might make a neat sum by obtaining all the government printed material available and in turn selling it to the paper dealer in her town who picks up her old newspapers and magazines.

A Lot of Push

There's a new frontier out in South Dakota and once again the American oil industry is right on the spot to do the pioneering. Nine major oil companies and hundreds of independents have more than 15,000,000 acres leased in the state. It is believed that the state has a good chance of becoming one of the nation's great oil producing areas. But it's going to take a lot of time and money to prove it one way or the other. Last year nearly 7 out of 8 of the 16,500 exploratory wells drilled in this country turned out to be dry. A great many such drillings will be needed to determine the exact positions of oil bearing traps in the new South Dakota area.

Grass Roots Opinion

Hankinson, N. D. News: "The newspapers of the United States welcome the long awaited court decision completely vindicating the Lake Charles, Louisiana, newspapermen who were charged with and tried for allegedly defaming the characters of known gamblers and public officials who were in cahoots with them. . . Newspapers have been bucking a quite though persistent trend of officials throughout the country, from the President clear down to village halls and school board meeting places, to do business behind closed doors without public scrutiny."

Somerville, Mass., Journal: "He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance. Thus the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776, indicted King George III, citing these 'tax-eaters' as one of the causes of the Revolution. Even in 1952, one might say that the plaint of the Colonists has a familiar ring."

Central Valley, N. Y., Orange County Courier: "The American public has . . . invested a billion dollars in the TVA and is still contributing through taxes each year to sustain its various activities. The public is gradually getting wise to the fact that slightly lower rates from government-owned utilities are only made possible by paying the difference out of taxes—so, 'what we make on the peanuts, we lose on the bananas.'"

This familiar story of gambling on an informed hunch is found in the history of every producing oil field in the world. And with the discovery of oil, the troubles may just begin. The odds are heavily weighed against finding an oil field of significant size. There's only one chance in 43 of recovering 1,000,000 barrels—enough to last the U. S. just four hours. A 50,000,000-barrel field, big enough to supply this country for eight days, turns up only once in 966 tries. This indicates the vast volume of work that must be done to support this country's immense crude production and at the same time boost our proved reserves. Despite the record 1951 output of 2,214,321,000 barrels, estimated crude reserves at the end of the year totaled 27,468,031,000 barrels, an increase of 2,199,633,000 barrels over the previous year.

It takes real push to do a job like this and keep doing it year after year. Under our free enterprise system, thousands of competing oil companies seek to outperform each other in efficiency and productivity. That's why this country produces the finest oil products, at the lowest cost, and in the greatest volume that the world has ever known.

Important to Know the Poisonous Snakes, Says County Agent

Someday your life may depend upon how quickly and accurately you identify a snake. Only four of the 193 species of snakes known in Texas are considered dangerously poisonous, says Joe Burkett, County Agent. He urges people to become familiar with these poisonous snakes so that positive identification can be made quickly in case a member of the family is bitten.

The four species of snakes that are poisonous are the rattlesnakes, copperheads, cottonmouth moccasins and the deadly little coral snake. Rattlesnakes are easily identified by their rattles; the copperhead by its chestnut-brown hour glass markings over light brown or brownish gray background color; the cottonmouth moccasin is a dirty brown in color and is usually found around water—on old logs or driftwood and they can bite under water. The coral snake is the beauty of the group, but adds Burkett, it's also the most deadly. Don't confuse it with the more commonly found king snake because the mistake could be fatal. The color rings of the coral snake are red, yellow and black and completely circle the body and if the red ring touches the yellow, you've found a coral snake. Treat him with care.

Fangs for ejecting the poison are common to all poisonous snakes. The marks left by the fangs are a sure identification sign. The venom injected by the rattlers, copperheads and water moccasins is known as hemotoxic venom because it effects the blood cells. The coral snake, on the other hand, injects a neurotoxic venom and it effects the nervous system. Antivenins, which are available at most drug stores, are ineffective for treating the bite of the coral snake.

Burkett on what to do in case a person is bitten by a poisonous snake. Keep the victim quiet; don't let them walk, become overheated or take alcoholic stimulants. Don't cauterize the wound with strong acids nor inject potassium permanganate. Get the victim to a doctor as soon as possible, but first aid measures will help. Apply tourniquet above the bite and make cross cut incisions at bite and on to the advancing edges of the swelling. Apply suction with the mouth or a suction cup but release the tourniquet every 15 minutes to keep up circulation. Inject antivenin, if available, as soon as possible. After the injection, release the tourniquet and continue the suction. In the meantime have the patient on the way to a doctor or the doctor on the way to the patient.

Hunters and campers should never go to the woods without a snake bite kit. Burkett urges home owners to keep their premises clean and to be on the look-out at all times for the poisonous snakes. All except the rattler strike without warning—and the rattler sometimes does his biting before sounding off—so the safe thing to do is stay out of the way of all snakes and discourage them to stay out of your way.

OBSCURED VISION CAUSES ONE OF EIGHT ACCIDENTS

Obscured vision was a factor in one out of every eight of the fatal automobile accidents last year, according to the National Safety Council.

"Accident Facts," the Council's statistical yearbook, which is just off the press, shows that nearly half of the usual obstructions were rain, snow or sleet on the windshield. A fourth of the obstructions were trees, buildings and other things along the highway or adjacent to it. The remaining fourth resulted from parked and moving cars.

Glare from headlights or the sun was reported infrequently. Out of 20 states reporting interference with vision, 11 reported no drivers blinded by headlights—and these 11 states had more than 9,000 drivers who were involved in fatal accidents.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

How can the government's huge current expenditures be financed? Make the rich pay the bill? The Chamber of Commerce of the United States estimates that if all incomes above $10,000 a year were confiscated in taxes the additional yield would finance government spending for only about two weeks!

A PROUD NAME IN THE TELEPHONE INDUSTRY . .

The name of Southwestern Associated Telephone Company was changed on August 1, 1952, to General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

This change is in line with that taken by other subsidiary operating companies of the General Telephone Corporation. It is designed to make the public aware that the General Telephone System is one organization, strong and growing.

As you know, the General Telephone System is the largest independent (non-Bell) telephone organization in the industry. The new name clearly distinguishes us from all other telephone companies and unites the General Telephone System more closely.

Here in the Southwest our Company serves more than 120,000 customers in the states of Texas, New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Oklahoma.

Very truly yours,
Ray Tuttle

1952 State Fair of Texas to Feature Many Major Attractions

More major attractions than ever before have been booked for the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 4 through 19, and they all add up to a fair that's a lulu in '52. General Manager James H. Stewart has announced.

America's biggest fair for its 67th annual exposition will present a whopping program that will include:

1. Entertainment highlighted by the lavish Dean Martin-Jerry Lewis revue in the Auditorium; the brilliant Ice Cycles of 1953, the daredevil Aut Swenson Thrillade in front of the Grandstand; the tuneless Music Circus version of Jerome Kern's beloved "Show Boat"; the three-ring Variety Club International Circus and the Stan Kramer puppets.

2. The Pan-American Holstein Show, Oct. 10-17, featuring a livestock exposition embracing 27 breeds of beef and dairy cattle, horses, sheep, swine and goats. Premiums total $80,374 for livestock and poultry.

3. Exhibits reflecting everything that's new—100,000 square feet occupied by farm implement exhibits, a huge Electric Show featuring the "House of Magic," the Story Book of Texas Agriculture, the all-new Science-Engineering Show.

4. The biggest Automobile Show ever held in the Southwest, with displays of antique "horseless carriages," futuristic experimental models, and the latest models on the market today.

5. An action-packed Cotton Bowl gridiron program of big-time college and professional football: SMU vs. Georgia Tech; the professional Dallas Texans vs. the San Francisco 49ers; Austin College vs. University of Mexico, Texas vs. Oklahoma; and the Dallas Texans vs. The Green Bay Packers.

6. A number of unusual contests in the Women's Department include some typically Texan, like the chili-making contest, a big Dahlia show and many other events.

7. Special exhibitions by the Museum of Fine Arts, Museum of Natural History, Health Museum, Aquarium and Hall of State.

8. The million-dollar Midway, with the spectacular "Sky Wheels," dozens of other rides and side-shows, the Magnolia Sky Revue.

9. More than 200 free special events including fireworks, music festival, state baton-twirling contest, Koshare Indian dancers and free Cotton Bowl shows.

Forty-Day Mourning Dove Season in North Texas Starts Sept. 1st

The Executive Secretary of the Texas Game & Fish Commission has been notified of U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service approval of recommended mourning dove hunting regulations for Texas.

He also was advised by telegram that the fall waterfowl regulations for Texas will be approved probably on August 8.

The Federal agency has final authority over dove and waterfowl regulations since doves, ducks and geese are migratory.

It approved a 40-day mourning dove hunting season for North Texas beginning September 1 and a 40-day season for South Texas beginning October 1. Shooting will be restricted to afternoons, beginning at 12 o'clock noon and ending at sunset. The limits are ten birds per day and ten in possession.

The Game & Fish Commission has recommended Texas be zoned for waterfowl, with a proposed north zone season beginning October 31 and a proposed south zone season beginning November 21. On the theory that a longer season than the 30-day 1951 season may be allowed if the zoning request fails, the Commission asked that statewide waterfowl hunting begin October 31.

Texas had a 50-day waterfowl season last year, beginning November 9 and ending December 28.

"Do you want to know about regeneration? Ask your grocer. Do you want to hear about people who are robbed of their property without a day in court? Ask your grocer. Do you want to see the lifeblood running out of a business by government order? Ask your grocer.

"Just ask your grocer about the OPS.

"What do you think about a condition in which a government agent can set prices on a nationwide basis, yet no individual business can get in to him and ask for personal, local relief?

"Do you realize that is how the government, today, is running the nation's grocery business? Do you realize that the OPS fixes grocery prices, but the grocer whose price is fixed, cannot complain?

"If he tries, he is told to go out and bring the whole grocery business back with him to show that all are damaged.

"If he doesn't like what he gets, can he go to the nearest judge and invoke the ordinary protection of the law? He cannot. He can be deprived of his property by OPS decree, but ordinary due process of self-defense is not permitted. In the whole USA there is just one 'emergency court of appeals' open to him and that is hedged all around.

"Your grocer is the victim of discrimination, prejudice and unfair employment practices, all exercised by the OPS. Do you care? Have you given it any thought? Do you realize what it all means?

"The cure for the evils of price control is repeal, flat out. Sen. Taft has properly described the TPS as nothing but a hangout for loafers and wasters who are living at the public's expense without giving back anything in value.

"Price control is a fraud on the public, and in the interest of common decency, must be ended. Now."—Washington, D. C., Times Herald.

Wildlife Wisdom

Hunters sometimes are puzzled why game harvest limitations vary. The reason is that one county's maximum production of deer may be lower than the adjoining county's. Yet the county with the smaller production is entitled to a legitimate harvest of game under proper game management, because the area can maintain just so much. For example, one farm may raise one quail on ten acres while a nearby farm may raise one quail to the acre. The contrasting production of game is comparable to the contrasting production of crops. One farmer's soil may yield many times that of a neighbor's.

YOU ARE IMPOITANT

from Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Every person is important in the Lord's sight. The greatest proof of this is the death of Christ for every man. God earnestly seeks the salvation of every person. He gave the best He had to make this possible.

Real joy and satisfaction is ours when we realize we are valuable in God's sight. A feeling of being wanted lies deep in the heart of every human being. This desire to belong reaches its fullest meaning in knowing we belong to the Lord.

Many people seek to be impor- tant in man's sight. They want to be looked up to, to be highly re- garded, to feel they are big wheels in the social framework. To them, every ounce of human praise is worth its drop of blood.

But feelings of inferiority, frustra- tion, and defeat must go with this vain struggle to please men. How can we ever hope to please the masses when they are so di- vided against themselves?

Seeking to be great in man's sight can only lead to slavery. For he who seeks to please men must be a slave to their every whim. What have we gained if we do succeed in winning human esteem and only meet God's frown on judgment day?

Knowing we are valuable in God's sight will give us a feeling of security and worth. It will in- spire our faith and help us to walk erect in a world struggling for vain glory. The flattering lips of men will soon be found empty clutter. But the praise of God is always a rich and rewarding experience.

It's good to know we are im- portant in the Lord's sight.

Phone Book Revelation

The extent to which the federal government now sprawls across the land is disclosed by an examination of telephone book listings in cities and towns.

Senator Homer Ferguson revealed the fact that in most places those of the states. His hobby is federal agency listings exceed to check federal and state listings when he has idle time on his hands.

"Once," said the Senator, "I happened to be in the moderate sized city of Bangor, Maine. In looking up a number I saw a long listing of federal government num- bers. They counted up to 45. I turned to the state government listing and found that they num- bered only 17."

"My curiosity was aroused. When I returned home the first thing I did was to open the Detroit telephone book so as to make the same comparison there. I found 214 federal listings and 119 for the state of Michigan. I next pick-

In the Right Direction

According to an American Medical Association report, American hospital service last year reached an all-time high. In 6,637 registered hospitals, 18,237,118 patients were admitted—one every 1.7 seconds.

There was also a very marked gain in extending accident and health protection among the people, as measured by the accurate yardstick of premium income. This income for accident and health insurance increased almost 28 per cent over 1950. Blue Cross, Blue Shield and similar plans reported an increase of 14 per cent. Group accident and health insurance jumped nearly 41 per cent.

What is the significance of such facts as these? They show that we are making substantial and steady progress toward solving the financial problems that come with sickness and accident. And we are doing it voluntarily, as individuals and members of organizations. We aren't doing it because the govern- ment tells us we must and taxes us to pay for it—as would be the case under Federal compul- sory health insurance.

That we still have a long way to go is evident. So is the fact that we are going in the right direction. In those nations, such as England, which have attempted to solve all the problems at one fell swoop by saying, "let the govern- ment do it," medical standards have dropped alarmingly and the public health has suffered. In the United States, by contrast, more people have more and better care than in any other major nation. The record speaks for itself.

Grass Roots Opinion

Norwalk, Conn., Hour: "When will we grow up economically, and institute a system of labor courts that will settle natural controver- sies over wages, hours and condi- tions of employment just as all legitimate differences are settled judicially . . . ?"

Carlsbad, N. M., Current-Argus: "The Office of Price Administra- tion's state office at Albuquerque has 68 employees, and the Albuquerque office's annual payroll is $324,000, which does not include office expense or expense ac- counts . . . A check of the pay- roll records discloses that many of those with soft OPS jobs are state politicians . . . It should be re- membered that the state OPS of- fice in Albuquerque is only one of 48 scattered around the United States, in addition to local offices . . . This is just one indication of how the Federal government spends the billions of dollars col- lected in taxes from the American citizens."

Adams, N. Y., Jefferson County Journal: "In 20 years . . . the Federal Debt has multiplied 13 times; Federal spending has multi- plied 15 times; national income (the money we earn to pay these costs) has multiplied less than seven times."

New Sharon, Iowa, Star: "Con- servatives in Congress fear that Federal spending has reached the point where voters receiving govern- ment checks will be the major factor in electing Presidents."

Who Won Oil Strike?

Who won the oil strike? The oil workers' union? Ask the average worker in a struck refinery if it was worth being out of work for four weeks. Did the oil companies win? Ask the stockholders who own the refineries that were shut down by picket lines. And, of course, long-suffering John Q. Public never wins anything!

Although remarkably few people seem aware of it, oil refinery workers are the best paid industrial employes in America today. They were close to the top even before the strike, and had been offered still another pay boost. The current round of wage settlements in the oil industry has elevated the average weekly pay of refinery workers to an estimated $91 a week, for a 40½-hour week. That figures out to $2.24 an hour, the highest average hourly wage in the nation.

It cost the average oil worker who walked out approximately $340 to participate in that strike. Simple arithmetic will show that it will take the employe who was on strike for only a week, about 70 weeks—well over a year—to make up the pay he lost. If he joined a strike for a month, he will have to work for nearly six years to regain his lost pay.

In view of the high wages in refineries, and considering that the oil unions had rejected substantial wage increases offered by the oil companies months before the strike, it seems obvious that the unions could not have had any serious complaints about their wage rates. Then what was all the shouting about? It couldn't have been about other employe benefits, for the oil worker has a very liberal measure of these, just as he has top-quality working conditions. It wouldn't have been about the right of collective bargaining, which has long been guaranteed him.

The only conclusion we can draw is that the unions' real objective is the creation of one big "super-union" that would hold the whip hand over the whole industry without industry-wide bargaining through industry-wide bargaining without regard for local conditions.

Did the oil workers win their strike? As the man who lost $340 in pay? The oil companies? Hardly, with their sales off 50 million barrels during the strike period! What did you win? Who won the strike? You're the public—oil strike? Nobody.

HE DIDN'T GET A BRAKE—Driver Gilbert Faust was testing the brakes on this big bus near Baltimore—and take his word, they needed testing. Out of control, the vehicle spun into pole, climbed part of the way up it. Faust escaped injury.

Proven Failures

Some time ago, Marion B. Folsom, chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, said, "If the controls we have had for the past year and half have had one good result, it is that fewer people now feel that prices and wages should be permanently regulated by the government." Since then, Congress has extended the controls for a ten-month period, though in a somewhat modified form. It is generally believed that at the end of that time, barring some very grave emergency, all or practically all of the controls will be allowed to pass into limbo.

In any event, the consuming public has had an excellent opportunity to witness the dislocations and damage political controls cause—to business, to agriculture, and to the consumer. Some months ago, for instance, there were severe shortages of various kinds and cuts of meat in many areas—and this was the direct result of OPS policies and regulations that made normal operation of the meat industry, all the way from producer through the packer to the retailer, impossible. The situation cleared only when Congress passed an amendment to the law which forced OPS to moderate its stand. Had that not been done, the shortages would undoubtedly have grown still more severe, and more and more of the available meat supply would have found its way into black markets.

The recent potato shortage is another example of the folly of trying to run the economy by bureaucratic edict.

There is no such thing as a good control—some are merely worse than others. We can maintain a dynamic economy of abundance only when the regulating is done by the natural law of supply and demand.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer

Are you packing too much fatty beef for the size of your frame? If so, you're probably one of the 100,000 or so Texans contributing to what State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox calls a "significant public health problem."

The number of obese (dangerously overweight) people in the state is growing, the doctor says, and they're laying themselves wide open to trouble.

For instance, if you are carrying too much fatty tissue you're twice as apt to get diabetes, and three times as likely to have heart trouble. Furthermore, if you get arthritis it will hurt you a good deal more because of your obese condition.

Many other conditions are made worse by a person's being too fat.

"Obesity is just as serious a form of malnutrition as starvation in the long run," the health officer will tell you. Ask why some people get fat while some don't and he'll tell you that usually the simple reason is that usually the fat ones eat more than their systems need or want.

"Obesity is exactly the opposite of starvation. Overweight people eat too much. Emaciated people don't get enough. Both types are malnourished."

But why do they eat too much? There may be many causes. The glands may not be working just right. They may be having "dietary habits perhaps lashed in childhood. Part of the reason might be that a full stomach gives them a sense of emotional relief. They are trying to satisfy an emotional hunger as well as a physical one.

The best way to fight obesity is to cut down the calorie intake. But to do this you have to have a real desire to lose weight.

"This means," he explains, "underlying emotional factors which created the obesity be corrected by a greater such as avoiding an early

When you get this desire be willing to have your doctor prescribe a reducing diet and if necessary and you follow his advice, you'll probably be "If you don't," Dr. Cox tioned, "you'll probably be early grave."

Fat people should get a physical examination by the doctor before they start on a reducing diet.
