ke it from Mrs. Jane Y. McInnis, who was secretary of state from 1927 to 1933—things were different 80 years ago.

There are some 200 of them attend to the members' typing, filing, and other secretarial duties. Not only that, but there are four feminine lawmakers.

Senator Neveille H. Colson of Isola is the first Texas woman to serve in both House and Senate. She was first elected to House in 1939, served five years, and was promoted in 1942 to the Senate, where she still serves.

Miss Duff is thought to be the tallest person ever to serve in legislature. She is just under five feet tall and weighs 91 pounds, having gained weight since last summer's campaign.

MONEY FLIES!
Too often money just seems to "fly away" without your knowing exactly where it was spent.

A checking account will give you an accurate accounting of all payments and deposits. Your cancelled checks will then serve as receipts.

her weight went down to 86. Miss Duff says she is "little but loud."

A freshman member of the House is Miss Anita Blair of El Paso who lost her sight in an automobile accident in 1936. Miss Blair has been informed by the American Foundation for the Blind that she is the first blind woman ever to be elected to public office.

The legislature's present four women members were antedated by Miss Margie E. Neal of Carthage, who was Texas' first woman senator. She was elected in 1927 and served until 1935.

Some of the measures in which women are interested at this session are those that would: 1. Permit women to serve on juries. A resolution for this purpose has the support of Representatives Horace B. Houston Jr. of Dallas and Lamar Zively of Temple.

2. Permit women to sell separate property without the consent of their husbands, if the property belonged to the woman before her marriage or was acquired by her through inheritance. Women have long sought this privilege.

3. Abolish the separate acknowledgment requirement for wives. This is the one that chases the husband out of the room while the wife is signing a legal document. Representative D. H. Buchanan of Longview is a supporter of this one.

4. Extend homestead tax exemptions to single persons. Many single women, as well as men, support relatives and should have the exemption the same as married couples, say adherents of this proposal.

5. Keep the motor vehicle inspection law. Officials of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers are behind this proposition. Some changes might be required, the board of managers agreed, to make the law workable. But the P-TA group thought the law ought to be retained.

6. Increase the basic teaching salary to $3,000 per year and give raises to principals and supervisors. This is another goal of the P-TA.

that would lift the present $35 million ceiling on welfare spending.

If passed by both houses and approved by the voters, this measure would permit greater payments to the aged, needle blind, and dependent children.

Two bills were aimed at reducing traffic accidents. Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano introduced one that would impose a minimum five-day jail sentence on drunken drivers.

Representative Thomas R. Joseph Jr. of Waco advocates increasing drivers' license fees and spending the money to hire more highway patrolmen.

Governor Allan Shivers, who owns two newspapers, became a reporter to advocate raising salaries for teachers. Last week many Texas newspapers printed the first of a series of articles, under the Governor's by-line, advocating the increase.

The Texas Prison Board assures the legislature that disaster may result unless $3.5 million are spent for a new prison building at Eastham Farm.

The present farm facilities are "intolerable and indecent," the board's report said, and 1,200 prisoners could easily break out of the Brazoria County enclosure and cover the state in 24 hours.

Eventually, the state prison system is expected to become self-supporting.

The governing board reported that the average daily cost of keeping prisoners has decreased from 99 cents to 49 cents in the

Violators of Game Laws Pay Heavy Fines

The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission said the monthly arrest past five years.

Bronson Morgan of Jasper, a member of the board, said the system will maintain itself as soon as the farm and industrial programs reach maturity.

Representative Bill Daniel of Liberty wants the state to put up its own office buildings on land, near the capitol, now owned by the State.

If authorized by the legislature, the state would issue $6 million in bonds to construct the buildings.

Daniel says the state's rent bill in Austin now amounts to $250,000 per year. Plans to rent the land have been temporarily sidetracked.

Representatives Thomas R. Joseph of Waco and Curtis Ford Jr. of Corpus Christi offered a resolution to give Missouri to the national military establishment, "for such use as they see fit, if any use can be found."

The idea was to get back at Former-President Truman for giving away Texas' tidelands.

The whole thing was a joke, but Speaker Reuben Senterfit solemnly declared that the resolution concerned broad legislative policy. He referred it to the Committee on Federal Relations.

report includes several cases where courts severely punished game law violators.

He cited the cases of a San Antonio man who was fined $200 for headlighting and $200 for killing an illegal buck, plus costs.

A Dallas man was fined $100 for killing a wild turkey hen, and $50 for killing a wild turkey during closed season and $50 for hunting from an automobile, all plus costs.

A San Saba man was fined $100 for hunting at night and $200 for hunting after forfeiture of his license, plus costs.

Most of the 99 trespassing cases listed brought light fines, many being $1, but where trespassing involved game law violations, penalties were higher.

For example, according to the Director, an Abilene man was fined $100 for hunting from an automobile and $100 for trespassing. A San Angelo man was fined $100 for shooting a female deer and $100 for trespassing.

The report covered the last phase of the big game and waterfowl seasons and included such as: 29 cases for killing spike buck deer, 28 for killing doe deer and four for killing fawn deer. It included 50 cases of killing ducks after hours, 20 cases of killing geese after hours, 16 cases of exceeding bag limit on ducks and 11 for exceeding the bag limit on geese.

The Director said a flagrant case involving shooting mourning doves out of season cost a San Angelo man $200 plus costs, while a Houston man paid $100 and costs for buying quail.

The 563 cases netted $18,532 in fines and costs compared with

1953 FOOD PRICES

Food prices in 1953 are expected to hold at about present levels, unless wage, transportation and tax costs increase, according to a food industry spokesman. All indications are that the total overall food supply will be adequate, that the 1952 harvest will rank as the second largest in the nation's history. About 140 pounds of meat will be available per person, as compared with 138 pounds in 1951.

RETIRED MAN RETURNS TO SCHOOL

Miami, Fla. — Retirement, says Orra O. Bishop, 77, is a waste of time. So, Bishop, who is a graduate of Michigan State Teachers College in the class of 1900, has returned to school—he's studying for a master's degree at the University of Miami.

TEXAS TAXPAYERS

Texas taxpayers would be required to pay out approximately $3,355,664,900 in Federal taxes as their share of the cost of the Federal spending program of $76.6 billion proposed by former President Harry Truman for the fiscal year 1953-54. This statement was released by the state and national affairs department of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The WTCC pointed out that the $3,355,664,900 which would be borne by Texas taxpayers to support the proposed budget submitted by Truman to the new Congress is more than seven times the amount of taxes collected by Texas last year to finance the entire State government. Total cost of Texas government was $650 million, of which $185 represented Federal grants.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

School construction is booming, particularly elementary schools, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States reports. Three billion dollars were spent during the years of 1946-49 and the sums spent since have consistently increased. Only a small percentage of the total was federal money. According to the Chamber, the figures indicate states and localities can and will undertake major school building programs, despite predictions to the contrary.

1953 License Plates Went on Sale Monday, Feb. 2

The 1953 Texas license plates went on sale in the county tax-assessor and collector's office in the court house last Monday, Feb. 2, according to R. K. Magee, deputy assessor-collector.

The deadline for buying the tags is April 1 and motorists are advised to buy their license plates early.

Black letters upon an orange background will prevail on this year's tags. Each year the color scheme is reversed from the previous year's combination. The state motor vehicle department says orange and black stand up under the Texas climate better than other colors.

According to statistics provided by the license bureau, some 17 tons of steel are required to manufacture the tags which will number motor vehicles operating on Texas highways this year. These tags are made at the state prison at Huntsville. The bureau also stated that a year's production is equivalent to 28 carloads of plates. The plates are made of 26-gauge cold rolled sheet steel.

Twelve types of plates are sent out annually to the various counties in order to supply the thousands of motorists. These types include plates for cars, commercial vehicles (trucks), farm vehicles, truck-tractors, trailers, house trailers, motorcycles, dealers, motor buses (inter-city), city buses, and factory-delivered cars. The factory-delivered tags are valid for only 30 days.

DDT Spray Protects Rugs from Moths

A simple spray treatment with a 5 per cent DDT solution will protect your rugs and carpets from damage by moths and carpet beetles.

Since wool rugs and carpets attract clothes moths and carpet beetles throughout the year, it is well to realize that these insects recognize no season in a well-heated home.

Joe Burkett, County Agent, says experience with this treatment at the United States Department of Agriculture laboratory at Savannah, Ga., has proved successful. Results show the 5 per cent DDT solution spray will protect rugs and carpets from damage by moths and carpet beetles for more than a year.

To protect your rugs apply a 5 per cent DDT oil spray uniformly over both top and bottom surfaces, sufficient to moisten the fibers. A common household spray under a variety of trade names, are available, but purchasers are urged to check the label describing the ingredients for the 5 per cent DDT oil contents.

Burkett says a hand sprayer does a good job of applying the spray to the rugs and carpets. Be sure to moisten them uniformly on the top and bottom to get longer lasting effects of the 5 per cent DDT oil spray," he adds.

A recent order transferred the administration of Tinia and Saipan in the Pacific Trust Territory from the Department of Interior to the Department of the Navy.

Instead, they agreed on a simple solution: All farmers suffering drought losses, and needing financial assistance, were instructed to borrow money from the local banks. The banks, in turn, agreed to charge no higher interest rate than the Federal Government would charge.

Other businessmen cooperated, too, so that the stricken farmers could get cattle and poultry feed and other supplies at the lowest possible cost.

Self-Reliance at Work

The farmers of Wythe County, Virginia, are at it again—facing up to their own problems in their own way, without calling on Uncle Sam for help.

Two years ago, they whipped a severe polio epidemic by raising funds locally to fight the disease. Today, they are fighting back the same way from the ravages of a drought which destroyed about 75 per cent of their corn and 65 per cent of their hay.

The Southwest Virginia citizens refused to seek loans from the Federal Government to soften the blow of prolonged dry weather, although their county was on the verge of being declared a disaster area by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Other businessmen cooperated, too, so that the stricken farmers could get cattle and poultry feed and other supplies at the lowest possible cost.

New Class Starts at Printing School on February 9th

A new class will begin Feb. 9 at the Southwest School of Printing in Dallas for young people of Texas and other states in the Southwest interested in learning a profitable trade, it has been announced by Robert Gleason, School registrar.

Courses offered by the non-profit institution, which is owned and operated by the publishers and printers of the Southwest, include a 16-month course in general printing. In this course, the youth interested in making printing his career is taught hand composition, presswork, bindery principles, and machine composition.

"More and more young men of the Southwest are learning trades today than ever before," Gleason pointed out. "This is true because there is an increasing demand in this area for skilled labor and also because such skilled craftsmen in many instances receive higher pay than so-called white collar workers."

The registrar of the Southwest School of Printing said that more than 260 young men have graduated from the School's General Printing Course in the past six years, and now are occupying well-paid jobs in newspapers and commercial printing plants throughout the Southwest.

The School annually receives many more requests for graduates to fill jobs in the area's printing shops than it has graduates.

It also was pointed out that the average weekly income of production workers in printing plants in Texas is higher than that of all other manufacturing industries except one and is considerably higher than the general average income of workers in all manufacturing industries in the state.

Big Opportunity

Michigan State College's School of Business and Public Service offers a comprehensive course in food distribution. In a recent publication, the College points out that the food and grocery industry is the nation's largest business—the American people spend over $100,000,000 every day, six days a week, in our more than 600,000 retail food stores. It observes, "No industry offers any greater challenge than that of bringing the world's food supplies economically and efficiently to your dining table daily. . . . No segment of business offers greater opportunities than the American food industry."

What is true of the food industry is true of retailing generally. At the present time, stores of all kinds and sizes, including both the independents and the national and regional chain systems, are taking an intensive interest in employee training and employee-customer relationships. In the retailing profession, the demand for capable people, with the proper aptitudes and background, is tremendous. Those who are hard-working, talented and ambitious go far. It is a matter of record that the top executives in most of the big stores and the chains began in minor positions as clerks, bookkeepers, warehousemen, and so on. And many people who learned retailing in big stores left them to found successful stores of their own.

Yes, a career in retailing can offer much to young people. The retail store is the show window of America—it is the symbol of our resources, our craftsmanship, our skills as a nation.

BOY FINDS BROTHER

Buffalo, N. Y. — Jerry Estes, a lonely 15-year-old boy in the Randolph Children's Home, wrote a plaintive letter for some news of his parents, last heard of in Chicago. An alert Buffalo postman read the letter, printed in a Chicago newspaper, remembered there was a family by the name of Estes on his mail route. Daniel Costello, the mailman, took his information to Buffalo police and detectives contacted Douglas Estes, 29—who was Jerry's brother. The brothers had not seen each other for twelve years.

A single food catalog, listing all food items which may be stocked, purchased, and issued, has been published for use by all military services. It contains 1,131 items, reflecting a 42 per cent reduction in the number of items originally cataloged by the three services.

Agent Gives Pointers on Buying Freezer

Are you and your family figuring on a home freezer for 1953? If so, you'll be interested in the figures on the costs of the freezers which Mrs. Mary Brown, Acting County Home Demonstration Agent, says should be included in your plans.

The freezer itself represents a substantial investment for most families, but in addition, the agent says, there are additional costs for operating, repair and depreciation as well as the cost of packaging food for freezing.

The purchase price of a home freezer is roughly dependent on its size. At present, a freezer of 18-cubic-foot capacity cost on the average about $30 per cubic foot. As size decreases below 18 cubic feet, cost per cubic foot increases. As size increases, up to 30 cubic feet or so, cost per cubic foot decreases. To a quoted purchase price are sometimes added freight, delivery, and installation charges.

You will need to decide whether interest on the investment will be included as a cost. If interest is included, the rate used to compute the amortization charge should be based on the return that could be obtained from some other investment.

The agent says depreciation is a cost not to be overlooked. The life expectancy of a home freezer has not yet been definitely established, but a common estimate is 10 years.

The annual cost of repairs also can be only an estimate because of the limited period in which home freezers have been operating. Two per cent of the initial cost is suggested as a fair estimate.

Cost of packaging materials runs around 2 cents a pound of food, even when outer wrappings are used more than once.

Operating costs vary, depending on such factors as size and design of the freezer, capacity of the compressor, freezer location, and the local electric rate. To freeze a pound of food and lower its temperature to zero degree Fahrenheit for storage, about one-tenth of a kilowatt-hour of elec-

Bearded Turkey Hen Stirs Nimrod

A wildlife version of the bearded lady has been pinpointed by a post-hunting season query to the Game and Fish Commission.

The oddity was spotlighted when a Central Texas man wrote that he suspected that a wild turkey he had bagged as a gobbler, because of its beard, apparently was a hen.

His letter stated:

"This was a small bird and the feet were smooth, with no signs of spurs. The head did not have a long snout. In fact, it had all the looks of about a two-year-old hen, but there was attached a beard that measured seven inches long."

"I have heard of occasional incidents where doe (deer) were found with horns. Do turkey hens grow beards, and if so does it happen very often?"

In reply, Eugene A. Walker, Wildlife Biologist on the Commission staff, wrote:

"The description of the turkey you refer to leaves little doubt that the bird was a bearded hen. You can verify the fact by examining the tips of the feathers of the breast and lower neck. Gobblers have a jet black margin on the tips of these feathers, while the breast feathers of the hen are tipped with white. It is not uncommon for wild turkey hens to have beards. My observations

"Insanitary places do not make the person but the person makes the places." If you have been lax in maintaining cleanliness of your surroundings during the past few months, now is a good time to start an intensive clean up. Greer announced that the new map is available to the general public for the asking. For the convenience of the public, a special addressed card is available in the County Tax Collector's office upon the registration of your automobile. These map cards will expedite the handling and mailing of the maps, Greer added. The maps are also available free of charge at any Texas Highway Department District office, Travel Information Bureau, or by writing direct to the Texas Highway Department, Austin 14, Texas, Greer concluded.

Quail Wing Survey to Give Information About Recent Season

The Director of Wildlife Restoration said quail wings sent in by hunters during the recent quail season may be of unusual aid to wildlife biologists.

He explained the wings will show the percentage of young birds as compared with old birds. Furthermore, the proportion of hens and cocks was recorded by those who collected the wings.

The data, according to the Director, will be particularly timely since the fall shoot was generally poor in Texas. This apparently was because the quail were at the bottom of the cycle.

The Director estimated that 5,000 quail wings have been received. Last year the receipts were 11,553 wings. Then the quail shoot was good in several regions, particularly in the Panhandle where the quail reached the peak of the cycle. From the harvest, 4,336 wings were sent in by sportsmen in the Panhandle region.

"We will not analyze the field reports for some time," said the Director, "but we expect to find a high percentage of old bird wings from last season.

"Ordinarily, in a normal season, we would find a higher percentage of wings from birds hatched the same season in which they were harvested.

"With this data, and showing the area where the quail were shot, we hope to be able to piece together the story of what happened. Then in areas governed by regulatory authority under the Commission, efforts can be made to adjust 1953 season dates and bag limits."

Quail wings are collected through cooperation of quail hunters, game wardens, sporting goods stores, game technicians and other persons and agencies.

HEALTH LETTER

From Texas State Dept. of Health

Reports of a vaccine capable of preventing polio and the use of gamma globulin for minimizing the effects of the disease are heralded as major achievements in the research against this great crippler and killer of children. Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns that both are still in the experimental stage. While they hold great promise much study will yet have to be done before being available to the general public.

In the meantime, Dr. Cox advises that everyone observe the known rules of sanitation. These practices have proven their value not alone in the prevention of polio, but of other diseases such as typhoid fever, dysentery and malaria. Even when a definite preventive of polio is available to the public they should not discontinue their efforts toward maintaining sanitary surroundings.

Sanitation efforts should be carried out every month and every day in the year. Household, business houses and industry are responsible for keeping their property in a sanitary condition. Cities must furnish an uncontaminated water supply, maintain an efficient sewage disposal system and proper garbage collection and disposal.

Dr. Cox placed the responsibility on the individual when he said,

The biggest in town!

Five cents worth of electric service... it's the biggest nickel in town... and it buys lots of service... comfort and entertainment. For example, here's what 5¢ worth of electric service can do for your family:

- A penny's worth makes toast for all your family for three meals...
- Another penny swishes clean three tubs of laundry
- A cent's worth of electric service vacuums six large rugs...
- Then there is enough left out of the nickel to furnish refrigeration for the family's food for hours

• AND
• Bring you and your family an evening's radio or recorded entertainment!

Where else could the average family get so much value for one small nickel... a nickel that's now worth only 52% of its 1939 value, but a nickel that buys 17% more electric service than it did 14 years ago?

Let your local electrical appliance dealer show you how easy it is to put electric servants to work for you.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer

More than half of the children in this country have as many as six cavities in their teeth before they begin school.

That's the estimate of Texas dental authorities and state health officials as they announced February 2 as the date for the fifth annual observance of Children's Dental Health Day.

The day has been set aside in an attempt to call public attention to these startling facts:

Ninety-eight per cent of all 15-year-old boys have one or more teeth missing, decayed or filled.

Over 284 million cavities are afflicting the teeth of American children, with teeth decaying six times faster than they are being filled.

One-half of the children between the ages of three and nine have never in their lives had dental treatment.

"One of the biggest hurdles to be overcome," State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox says, "is the seemingly widespread attitude that baby teeth are insignificant."

He believes the attitude stems from the fact that baby teeth are only temporary, with most people thinking there is no need for concern until the child gets his permanent set.

But dental scientists say that the care given baby teeth has a direct and vital bearing on the condition of permanent teeth, Dr. Cox points out.

The Texas State Department of Health and the State Dental Society are sponsoring the state observance of the day.

They are appealing to all parents to pay attention to the plight of youngsters' teeth. And they make this prediction:

"The children will be grateful... especially when they are no longer children."

The Italians originated the custom of wearing masks at a fancy dress ball.

All of Mrs. Self's children were present with the exception of two sons, Ed Self of Walnut, Calif., and Gordon Self of Seagraves.

HENRY CIRCLE

The Henry Circle held its February social on Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Andrew Calvin. Mrs. J. C. Prosser was co-hostess with Mrs. Calvin.

Mrs. Virgil Smith opened the meeting by playing a medley of religious songs and Mrs. Moody Bursey gave the opening prayer.

Mrs. Doyle Kenner, study chairman, acted as program leader. The circle had voted to continue the study of Africa instead of the program as scheduled in "Proclaiming the Good News."

Mrs. Henry Borchardt gave "Communism versus Christian Community" from African Heritage by Emory Ross. Highlights of her report were "There are 20 million Christians in Africa—more Christians than the rest of the so-called non-Christian world put together. Africa need never become communist if Christians in Europe and America live up to what a Christian really should be, but our bad actions can turn them against us, also our attitude toward color. (In the event of another world war, Africa will figure in it. Trouble in South Africa could seriously affect our supplies of what has come to be the most important mineral in the cold war—uranium)."

Mrs. M. S. Henry told the story "To Honor and Obey," of an African girl who became a Christian. The story depicted marriage customs and practices of the witch doctor versus the medical missionary.

A beautiful Valentine arrangement of red carnations and candy-tuft was on the table of the home and an attractive arrangement with the same motif decorated the piano.

Refreshments of Coke, heart-shaped sandwiches, pickles, olives, and dainty cookies were served to 12 members. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Miss Rebecca Calvin.

FOARD CITY H. D. CLUB

"A good workman is known by his tools and it might be said that a good seamstress is known by the contents of her sewing box," Mrs. Ray Brown, acting County Home Demonstration Agent, told the Foard City Home Demonstration Club at the recreation room Tuesday afternoon, Jan. 27.

The things essential for a well equipped sewing box and suitable boxes were shown and discussed by Mrs. Brown.

The council report was given by Mrs. W. M. Cox, delegate. There were also reports from the marketing chairman, Mrs. J. M. Barker; the recreation chairman, Mrs. Fred Traweck; and the chairman of education, exhibit and expansion, Mrs. Virgil Johnson.

The club voted to make a game book from material contributed by members.
