Walleyed Pike Planted in Two Texas Lakes

Even greater variety for Texas' fresh water fishermen is expected from the release recently of walleyed pike in two widely separated lakes, according to the Chief Aquatic Biologist of the Game and Fish Commission.

The historic event took place at Lake Travis near Austin and in Devils Lake near Del Rio. These two lakes were found to provide suitable habitat for the walleyes which prefer clear water and sandy bottoms. The one million pike provided by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, were hatched at the San Marcos Federal Hatchery.

Walleyes, which heretofore have occurred mainly in northern lakes, are among the better fish for food purposes. In fact, explained the Chief Aquatic Biologist, they rate as the epicurean's delight in the areas where they are prolific.

Furthermore, he added, fishing for walleyes is considered superior sport. They may be caught either trolling or still fishing and have been caught easting.

The Chief Aquatic Biologist suggested that Texans learning to troll for walleyes may have to learn a new technique. The preferred bait is a large minnow. A long leader is desirable and some walleye experts use a medium sized spinner and some even use a double spinner.

They may be caught around the clock but the Chief Aquatic Biologist said the best luck ordinarily is just at dusk or later when the walleyes move in to feed along the shore or along the sand bars.

He said the actual testing of walleyed fishing techniques will have to be delayed a year or two until the newly hatched fingerlings attain some growth. He said that if the species thrives, the first general results should become known by the spring of 1955.

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

Washington, D. C., May 22, 1953 — The President's signing the Tidelands Bill brought to an end the ten year struggle on the part of the States to have their historic boundaries recognized by the Federal Government. The bill that the President signed vests title in the States to all of the lands that lie within their historic boundaries. This means that in the case of Texas and the West Coast of Florida that the title of the States extends ten and one-half miles seaward from low tide. In the other States, the boundary is three miles out. While this bill gives to the States all that they can rightfully claim as far as ownership is concerned, it did not touch upon the highly controversial question of who shall exercise police power over the area that lies immediately beyond the States' boundary or on the so-called Continental Shelf. I feel that the States should have the right to regulate production on the Continental Shelf through the enforcement of their conservation laws such as proration orders issued by the Texas Railroad Commission and that they should have the right to exercise ordinary police power over that area such as making their criminal laws applicable; however, many others feel that the Federal Government should control this area. If their viewpoint should prevail, it would mean that there will be a new federal bureau set up to control the production and to regulate and enforce any ordinary police laws or regulations that might be adopted by the Federal Government. It seems to me that it would be much more economical and much more efficient to let each State deal with this problem just as the States with large tracts of public lands within their boundaries now do.

This week Congress adopted a resolution that it would admit Ohio into the Union which would take effect as of March 1, 1803. This may sound rather strange, but it was brought about by the fact that when Ohio first attempted to come into the Union in 1803, the Congress, through an oversight, did not give final approval to the Constitution of the State as was required at that time. The result was that Ohio thought they were legally in the Union for years until this mistake was discovered.

The House passed the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and Department of Labor. There was an effort in the House to seriously cripple the Soil Conservation Program. This was defeated, however, in an extremely close vote of 201 to 196. It seems to me that we should all become more interested and more conscious of the importance of soil conservation for as I pointed out two weeks ago, as a nation, we have probably wasted our lands more than any other people in history, and if we don't take immediate steps to institute the most effective programs of re-building it, in another generation, we may wake up and find that most of our good soil is gone.

This week Joe Ward of Wichita Falls has been visiting in Washington.

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Are you motion minded yet? The June club meeting will be the last work simplification program you will have this year, and by now you should begin to be conscious of the unnecessary steps you take and jobs you do. So many times we say, "If I just had a little more time I could do more reading—or sewing—or visiting—or just resting. Well, if you will observe the 6 rules of work simplification and actually make an effort to follow them, you can have this extra bit of time you've been wishing for.

It looks as if hot weather is here to stay a while so our recipe this week is a cool salad made from fresh pineapple called Fruit Salad Boats.

Fruit Salad Boats
2 pineapples, 2 cups strawberries, 2 large bananas, sliced, 8 ozs. cottage cheese, 1/2 cup chopped celery.

Cut pineapple in half; scoop out center. Remove core; cut in bite size pieces. Mix pineapple, strawberries, bananas, and celery. Pile into pineapple shell. Divide cottage cheese in four balls and place one on each salad.

FOARD CITY H. D. CLUB

When the Foard City Home Demonstration Club met at the recreation room Tuesday afternoon, May 19, Mrs. Ray Brown, the Acting Agent, demonstrated making cookies.

"Actually there are but three kinds of cookies, rolled bar and refrigerator cookies, which come under the same classification, and drop cookies," stated Mrs. Brown. Many cooks make bar and drop cookies most often as they are so quickly and easily made. Rolled cookies are a favorite with children as they can be cut in so many different shapes and there are so many ways to decorate them.

Mrs. E. V. Halbert and Mrs. Miller Rader gave the second work simplification program after several members showed with drawings how they save time and energy by using the simplified methods.

Visitors at the meeting were Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Pitman of Weatherford, who is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jack Welch, Betty Ann Welch and Mrs. Willard Traweck. Members present were Mesdames Glen Jones, W. M. Cox, Tom Callaway, Virgil Johnson, Floyd Borchardt

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK BY TED GOULDY

What was probably a record number of cattle for the date appeared around the major market circle Monday. The total of 101,200 cattle at 12 markets compared with 84,831 a week ago, and only 78,650 head a year ago. Twelve markets had 9,400 calves, against 7,800 a week ago and 6,800 a year earlier.

At Fort Worth the cattle run was about 80 per cent cows and grassy steers, yearlings and heifers. These classes sold around $1.00 to $2.00 lower. Dry lot fed steers and yearlings were very scarce and were 50c to $1.00 lower. High grade stocker kinds and high grade fat calves were $1.00 lower and others were $1.00 to $2.00 lower.

Sheep and lambs were uneven. Most sales of sheep and lambs were 50c to $1.00 lower. Some sales were off more.

A strong contributing factor in the lower prices was the less desirable slaughter quality on both cattle and lambs. The percentage high grade and high yielding animals in the run was relatively small.

Hogs sold steady to 25 cents higher. Top was $24.75 Monday. Sows were 50c lower, selling from $19 to $21.50. Pigs were steady at $21 down.

Good and choice yearlings sold $22, and common, plus dium butcher sorts sold to $17. Stocker and feeder yearlings sold $18 down, and compared sold from $16 down.

Fat cows drew $13.50, a few heifers $14 and above, Canners drew $8 to $10, sheels down to $7. Reported mostly from some outside that reported choice fat calves to $20, a few top to Common and medium calves $10 to $16, and $8 to $10. Stocker calves drew $14 to $20, and calves sold at $17 down.

Good and choice lambs drew $21 to $24, medium and good lambs $10 to $21. Stocker and spring lambs drew $14. Shorn fat lambs of the choice grades drew $11 with common to medium kinds from $12 to $14, from $8 to $12. Feeder lambs sold from $15. Old wethers drew $8. Slaughter ewes drew $15.

Austin, Texas — Is Governor Allan Shivers going to run for a third term?

That question came up at the fall end of a legislative session which has failed to accomplish major parts of the governor's program.

Governor Shivers has said that he wants to see his program completed.

Questioned by reporters, the governor replied that he "might some day" make another political race.

Asked directly whether he planned to run for another term as governor, Shivers responded: "I don't know. But there have been lots of people nice enough to suggest it. I have always said that I want to do whatever the majority of the people want."

It may seem a long time until the next statewide election, but the prospective candidates are already preparing their campaigns.

If Shivers should decide to try for a third time, the plans of other hopefuls would have to be revised.

Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey, who has been considered a gubernatorial candidate, said that he will ask for re-election to the office he now holds if Shivers again seeks the chief executive's job.

It is problematical if others thinking about the governor's race would get into it if Shivers did.

These include Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, Speaker Reuben Senterfitt, and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles.

An exception might be Ralph Yarborough, the Austin attorney, who campaigned hard for the office last year and has indicated he plans to run again.

One part of Governor Shivers' program that failed in the Legislature was a pay raise for teachers.

The solons were ready to give the pedagogues an additional $300 per year, but the teacher lobby held out for $500 or nothing.

Their hope now is that a tax on natural gas, passed by the Legislature two years ago and now being tested in the courts, will be finally approved.

Should that happen, it is expected that the governor will call a special session of the Legislature to appropriate the money that the state has been collecting under the terms of the tax.

The money has been piling up, unspent, pending the final outcome of the court action.

The state now has $15 million of this money, and collections are continuing at the rate of about $1 million per month.

Last week, attorneys for some of the gas companies involved asked the state supreme court to reconsider its opinion upholding the tax.

If the court stands by its original decision, the gas companies may either drop their suit or take it to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Governor Shivers has predicted that the state can begin spending the money later this year.

He wants to use it for teacher pay increases, salary boosts for state employees, and construction of needed state buildings.

Whether teacher and state employee retirement credits shall be interchangeable.

Whether county hospital districts with taxing powers may be created.

Whether the terms of local elected officials shall be lengthened from two to four years.

Whether a $5 million surplus in the Confederate Pension fund may be used to build a state courts building and a state office building.

Whether women shall be required to serve on juries.

All these proposed constitutional amendments were voted by the Legislature.

After two filibusters in the Senate and a storm of opposition in the House, the legislature finally passed a bill to set up a state toll road authority.

The original bill would have limited the authority to the construction of a Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike, but as finally passed, the bill carried no such limitation. The Dallas-Fort Worth road, however, gets first priority.

After the bill becomes law by virtue of the governor's signature, he will implement it by appointment of six persons who will constitute the authority, along with members of the state highway commission.

The authority will have power to issue bonds and use the money to build roads. When the bonds are retired, the roads will become the property of the state.

500 SAVED AS SHIPS COLLIDE—In an epic of seamanship, more than 500 were saved when American freighter Haiti Victory (left) sliced bow off British steamer Duke of York (right) off Harwich, England. Five, trapped in English vessel, lost lives. Duke resembles half a ship following crash in fog.

The Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike, first to be constructed by the authority, will cost about $30 million, or nearly $1 million per mile.

Department of Public Safety investigators have filed charges against six persons, all Negroes, in connection with a fraudulent college diploma racket.

The inquiry was made by the department at the request of the Texas Education Agency.

A. C. Cason, a department investigator, said that the probing is still going on and more charges may be filed.

J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education, said local school districts have lost some money because of the higher salaries paid teachers with fake college degrees.

Three Texas officials returned from Washington, where they testified before a Senate committee in regard to the states' claims to the continental shelf.

The Texas representatives were Land Commissioner Bascom Giles, Attorney General John Ben Shepperd and Railroad Commissioner William J. Murray.

They all expressed gratification that President Eisenhower had signed a bill returning title to the tidelands to the states.

As he signed the bill, the President said, "I will always resist federal encroachment upon rights and affairs of the states."

As a result of the bill, Texas keeps its "historic boundary," which extends 10 1/2 miles into the Gulf of Mexico. Oil wells have already been drilled in this submerged land.

from silt stirred up by the cold wind.

This deduction contrasts with the previous assumption that the cold alone destroyed the spawn resulting in the eggs being killed. These conclusions were based on observation at the Huntsville State Fish Hatcheries and Mountain Home State Fish Hatcheries.

The official findings stated in part: "It is probable that the parent, male bass, whose function is to guard and fan the nest during the egg stage of the embryo, deserts the nest with the lowering of the water temperature (during a norther). This results in the eggs being left without aeration and death follows." (New spawning techniques are now being studied to prevent such losses in the future.)

The motivating cause for bass production research was the fact that the new Murrel L. Buckner Hatchery located below Possum Kingdom Dam had failed to produce any appreciable numbers of bass fry since its construction two years ago.

After discarding the egg freeze theory, other possible causes of egg loss were investigated. Biologist Leo Lewis of Wichita Falls found that the bass nests were being invaded by a fungus attack resulting in the eggs being killed. Through experimentation, it was found that a copper sulphate solution could be introduced into the pond water that would kill the fungus, but not destroy the eggs, fry or adult bass.

Since the ponds have been treated, normal hatches are now being obtained and the hatchery has produced over a million bass fry with more hatching daily.

The pioneering temperature controlled spawning pond project has been successfully carried out this year at the San Marcos Fish Hatchery.

Incidentally the Chief Aquatic Biologist said that maintaining a favorable water temperature in the six-tenths acre pond this spring permitted a production equal to all other ordinary ponds at the hatchery.

One major objection to controlled hatching ponds is that they permit releasing bass into streams before they begin to spawn. In the game fish feed on the species, instead of the species which is true under conditions.

Health Officer Warns Texans to Guard Against Food Infection

The coming of warm weather brings a warning from Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, for all persons to be on the alert regarding food poisoning. Most cases investigated by the State Department of Health disclosed that improper food handling was responsible for the illness.

Food poisoning is commonly caused by bacteria in food. In general there are two types, food poisoning and food infection. Food poisoning is caused by bacteria in the food that produce a poison and usually the symptoms appear within a few hours. In food infection, the bacteria do not produce a poison, but attack the body. This takes longer so symptoms usually do not appear for 12 to 24 hours after eating.

In both kinds of illness the symptoms may be similar: nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain and fever may all occur. In food poisoning nausea and vomiting may predominate while in food infection diarrhea may be the prominent symptom.

As a prevention Dr. Cox suggests that all food be protected against flies and other pests. Refrigerate all perishable foods including meats, poultry and cream-filled pastries. Many outbreaks of food infection are caused by leaving food out of the refrigerator. Also, avoid handling food if you have a sore or an infection on your hands or if you are sick.

CLEVELAND HAD CANCER

President Grover Cleveland was secretly operated on for cancer of the jaw in 1893. Because such operations were rare then, it was kept secret to avoid public alarm. Today, the American Cancer Society points out, thousands of patients are cured of cancer by surgery every year.

Recommendations Made for Home Food Preservation

Each year since 1944 the State Nutrition Council has made recommendations to Texas families concerning home food preservation. Mary D. Brown, County Home Demonstration Agent, says the 1953 information includes special directions for canning snap beans, white potatoes and emergency drinking water.

The Council, a committee representing 25 departments, agencies, organizations and institutions in the state concerned with nutrition, attempts to assist the people of Texas achieve optimum nutrition by informing them concerning production, conservation, distribution, selection and consumption of foods. The food preservation committee of the Council coordinates the research and latest information each year in order to present uniform methods.

Mrs. Brown says the one step method of canning snap beans in glass jars has been approved by the committee in the 1953 recommendations. The raw snap beans are packed into glass containers, covered with boiling water and sealed for processing in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure.

Detailed information on these and other recommendations for home canning of food, is available at Mrs. Brown's office.

Miss Kirkpatrick and Mr. Cassie Marry Here Last Saturday

The marriage of Miss Frankie Kirkpatrick, daughter of the late W. F. Kirkpatrick, and William Arlie Cassie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cassie of Hamlin, was solemnized at the home of the bride in Crowell Saturday afternoon, May 23, at 5 o'clock with Rev. Miles B. Hays of Hamlin officiating with the double ring ceremony. Her maid of honor was Mrs. Paul Shirley furnished the music for the marriage and played "Indian Love Call" throughout the ceremony. The couple stood before an altar formed of two wrought iron candelabra flanked by baskets of gladioli and stock. The candles were lighted by Misses Roma Jan Spikes and LaTrelle Duckworth. The bride was attired in a dress of ice-blue nylon with which she wore pink accessories and her flowers were gardenias and carnations. Her maid of honor was Miss Kathleen Whittington of Fort Worth, her cousin, who wore an iridescent blue nylon dress with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. H. O. Cassie Jr., of Wichita, Kansas, served as best man to his brother. For going away on a short trip, Mrs. Cassie wore a yellow shantung suit with brown accessories. Upon their return, they will reside in Hamlin where the groom is associated with his father in the real estate and loan business. Miss Mary Ermine Cooper presided at the guest register. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Self, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Manard and son, Mike, of Crowell; Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Cassie Sr. of Hamlin, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Recent Bride Honored with "Coke" Party

Mrs. Kenneth Halbert was hostess in her home to a Coke party and kitchen shower on Thursday, May 20th, at 3:30 p. m. to honor Mrs. Joe Billings, the former Ann Wishon. The chosen colors of the honoree, pink and white, were used as the colors of the decorations. The table was laid with a lace cloth over pink. A white styrofoam Maypole centered the table and pink streamers led from it to a hand-painted card reading "Ann—Joe, March 14, 1953." Tall white candles flanked the arrangement. Pink and white ribbon sandwiches, pink frosted cake, pink mints and Cokes were served. Tiny pink net bags of rice were plate favors. Guests for the afternoon were members of the Sub-Junior Columbian Club, Mrs. Charlie Wishon, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. Grady Halbert, ex-sponsor of the Sub-Junior Columbian Club. The honoree received many nice gifts.

Two hurricane lamps adorned with large, gay bows beckoned the guests and soft music and the murmur of voices directed them down the driveway to the back yard. The picture they saw there was by the light of a single large floodlamp placed over the entrance trellis and small hurricane lamps placed intermittently along the garden fence. A large mimosa tree centrally located with many flowers blooming at its base and a bird bath near by commanded the scene. Flowers were blooming around the entire yard. From a small table frosted punch, sandwiches, and butter cookies were served. Members of the class realizing that this might be their last together enjoyed even more the company of their teachers and reviewing the happenings of previous high school years. In addition to the hostesses, other special guests were Vernon, Rev. and Mrs. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Rashberry, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Kincaid. Dancing on the driveway ping pong, and other forms of entertainment were enjoyed by the ex-sponsors. Mrs. Edgar Jones and Mrs. Abston, also former teachers, assisted Mrs. Kincaid in her hostess duties.

The further north a bird summers, the further south it will winter. Thomas A. Edison was dismissed from a job as a young man for sleeping while on duty.
