Foard County Wheat Farmers Vote By 15 to 1 Majority Favoring Wheat Acreage Quotas in Election Last Friday

Foard County wheat farmers voted heavily in favor of wheat acreage quotas last Friday with 340 ballots cast for the affirmative issue while only 22 voted against acreage quotas for 1954.

As a result of the overwhelming margin, about 15 to 1 favoring acreage quotas, this vote was much more than the necessary two-thirds affirmative vote necessary to merit government controls.

Votes counted in the various Foard County communities which comprised the total balloting are listed as follows:

Thalia, 69 for, 0 against; Margaret, 41 for, 2 against; Foard City, 49 for, 3 against; Crowell and Vivian, 183 for, 17 against.

Since the accrued voting over the entire nation carried by a huge margin, conservatively estimated at 10 to 1, wheat loans at 90 per cent of parity will be available to those who plant within their wheat acreage allotments next season.

In the event the negative issue prevailed, quotas would not be in effect, and the support rate on 1954 wheat would drop to 50 per cent of parity for cooperators.

Approximately one-third of the eligible voters in this county participated in Saturday's election, PMA officials declared.

Fort Worth — While Southwestern livestock movement held about level with a week ago at the start this week, the clamor of late Summer shipments of cattle to the market reached a crescendo of 123,300 cattle and 14,400 calves at the Nation's 12 major markets Monday. This was 28,500 more cattle and calves than a week ago, and 27,700 above the same day last year.

At Fort Worth, canners, cutters, bulls and choice stockers held firm. Most other kinds of cattle and calves were weak to 50c lower.

The strength of the canners and cutters and other boning types reflected to some degree the liquid condition of that portion of the market aided by government purchases of canned and ground meat. Latest reports indicated this program was taking five to six million lbs. per week. (5,375,260 lbs. the week ended Aug. 10).

Vast expansion of this buying is expected soon.

The government paid $38.76 per cwt. for canned beef, and bought nearly a million and a half lbs. of hamburger at $33.34.

(Fort Worth packers quoted hamburger to this writer at $27.00 per cwt. the same week). Frozen carcass beef for Greece was bought at $23.93 and frozen carcass mutton at $14.70, delivered Port of New York.

While these prices may appear stronger than current wholesale levels, some of this is to be delivered in September and after all, it is bought in an effort to RAISE prices. This should do it.

Fort Worth's hog price Monday climbed back to the year's high of $25.25-25.50 for top hogs. This was 25 to 50c higher. Sows were steady to 50c higher, selling $18.00-21.50.

Sheep and lambs ruled steady at Fort Worth. Top lambs at $20, indicated that strictly choice kinds could bring $1 or $2 more.

Medium, good and choice fat lambs sold from $14.00-20.00, cull to medium $10.00-14.00. Feeder lambs were held around $13.00-15.00. Old ewes $5.00-6.00; solid-mouthed ewes $7.00-10.00. Old wethers $7.00-10.00. Old bucks $2.00-3.00. Two's $10.00-12. Slaughter yearlings $10.00-17.00.

Good and choice fed steers and yearlings $18.00-25.00; common and medium grassers and short-feds $11.00-17.00; ratty yearlings $8.00-10.00.

Butcher and beef cows $9.50-12.00; canners and cutters $7.00-9.50. Bulls $8.00-13.00. Good and choice fat calves $13.50-16.50, few higher. Common and medium butcher sorts $10.00-13.00; culls $7.00-10.00. (Grassy calves and yearlings are at the lowest time since the third week in June.)

Good and choice steer calves $13.00-18.00, heifers 15.50 down and good and choice stocker and steer yearlings $13.00-16.00. Stocker cows $8.00 to $14.00.

Some criticism is being made because of their stand against certain practices in the drought feed program. Feed men are being pilloried by some producers for trying to get a program set up whereby the feed making industry can participate.

Much of this is grossly unfair. After all this program will bankrupt many small businessmen (feed dealers) in its present form. We can hardly blame an important segment of our national economy for fighting for its life.

Heavy Rains Fall Over Foard County Monday Night and Tuesday Morning; 3.65 Inches Recorded in Crowell

General rains measuring from 1.5 to 4.25 inches fell within a 17-hour period Monday night and Tuesday morning in Foard County. This moisture reportedly covered all of Foard County with at least 3 inches of precipitation except southwest of Crowell and Foard City which received about 1.5 inches. The U. S. Government gauge at the Crowell State Bank indicated that Crowell was the recipient of 3.6 inches.

Coming down in torrents Monday night and falling slower on Tuesday morning, the precipitation both filled up the tanks and soaked into the ground giving adequate moisture in both places. Water covered much of the highways leading east, north and west of Crowell during the hard downpour Monday night.

Agriculture officials stated this week that the cotton which survived the late spring drought, was looking exceptionally good and prospects for a good cotton harvest are better than Foard County has had in several years.

Registration of High School Students for Fall Term of School to Begin Next Monday; School to Start August 31

The Crowell High School pupils will register in advance again this year as they have done in the past several years. According to Superintendent Grady Graves, this plan gives more time for guidance and also helps to prevent overcrowding those classes where there are more than one section.

Those pupils living in Crowell will register on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday mornings of the same week. Physics and Spanish are the two new subjects being offered this year. The High School band period will be from nine until ten o'clock each morning instead of the last period in the afternoon.

County Agent Recommends Treating Grain Seeds for Smuts and Blights

Planting time for winter grain is at hand, and Joe Burkett, County Agent, reminds farmers that there are several precautions to take in preparing for the grain.

He advises getting good seed, the right varieties, Section 1, he recommends cleaning any weed seeds and smut which might be present in seed, and thirdly, he recommends treating the seeds with chemicals. These last two precautions help guard against noxious weeds such as bindweeds and blue smuts, seed rots and seed-blight.

Burkett states that the disease which wheat growers need to guard against most is stinking smut. This smut is hard to recognize in the field except by its color and the somewhat fuzzy heads of the infected plants change to smut balls, when the grain is combined, smut balls are broken open millions of black spores are scattered over the healthy wheat seed. If the seed with spores on them are planted, a good crop of stinking smut will develop next spring where the grain should be. Smut reduces the yield in the field and smutty grain is docked on the market.

Oats and barley smut, however, is easily recognized by the black, barren heads in the field. According to Burkett, the stinking smut of wheat and also oat and barley smut can be controlled by mixing one-half ounce of ceresan 3M per bushel of seed.

He says that loose smut of wheat also leaves empty black heads in the field. Chemicals do not control this smut, but it can be controlled by a difficult hot water treatment. However, Burkett suggests that it might be better to get clean wheat seed from growers who were not bothered by loose smut last season.

Farmers are now faced with a new oat disease which the plant doctors call helminthosporium blight. Burkett says that this new disease affects the roots and stems of oats, causing weakened stems, which results in lodging. Oat varieties that are attacked by this blight are some of the Victoria crosses, including Fultex, Rustler, Ranger and Victor Grain. The same treatment is recommended for this disease as for stinking smut of wheat and oat and barley smut, however, it may not give as complete control as it does on smut.

Burkett states that treating the grain seed with chemicals is an expensive insurance against losses from grain diseases, and against further losses from dockage on the market.

Plea for Cemetery Funds Gets Results

"Response to our recent plea for operating expenses for the Crowell Cemetery got gratifying results," states Mrs. N. J. Roberts, president of the Crowell Cemetery Association. Mrs. Roberts further states: "Our sincere thanks go to Bax Middlebrook for providing gravel for the new street, and to Dock Borchardt, who drug the street with a county grader. The twenty loads of new dirt just recently hauled will be greatly needed since the recent heavy rains. May we expect others to aid in this, our foremost civic program?"

Dick Todd Leaves for Coaching Job at SMU in Dallas

Dick Todd left Crowell last Friday for Dallas where he was scheduled to assume his duties as backfield coach for the Southern Methodist University Mustangs early this week. Todd accepted this position with the Ponies several months ago and has been very busy since that time getting his 1,300-acre ranch in shape before reporting to the athletic staff at the Methodist school.

The former grid star, a well-known figure in college and professional coaching circles, and his family have established temporary residence in Dallas and will reside there until school begins when Mrs. Todd and children, Denny and Deana, will return to Crowell.

Austin, Texas—If you want to accept the testimony of two observers who expressed themselves here, there is going to be a downturn in business in the immediate future.

That doesn't mean, the commentators agreed, that there is going to be a crash in the 1929 manner. It does mean that business men are going to sharpen their sales techniques if they hope to get as much business as they have been accustomed to in the last 15 years or so.

J. R. Stockton, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

Addressing a group of Austin business men, Dr. Stockton advised tightening of the belt and holding on for times that may be a little tougher.

"You won't go broke," the speaker told his audience, "so don't get panicky. You might have to polish up your sales techniques, though. You'll have to get out and scramble again."

Business will be somewhat less active than it has been in the period since 1938, Dr. Stockton said, adding: "We've had 15 years of boom. We're not going to bust, but all the signs indicate a slight downturn."

As factors indicating the trend, the researcher listed farm income, industrial development, and governmental expenditures.

All of those, Dr. Stockton noted, point to a leveling off in business.

"Watch your inventories," the speaker advised his listeners, "and cut down on your credit a bit. If you keep your business on a sound basis, there's no reason for worry."

—tpa—

Also noting the business trend was Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, who said in a statewide broadcast that, while we are not on the verge of another depression, "certain disturbing signs are becoming evident."

Retail business is off in most Texas areas, the Senator reported, and farm income is down 18 per cent for the first five months of this year.

Home builders' sales are declining, and automobile dealers are finding it harder to move cars, Johnson said.

His answer to the problem of threatening bad times is to line up the full force of the government. The Senator is up for re-election next year. He opened an office here and announced that he would do quite a bit of traveling over Texas in the fall.

—tpa—

Senator Johnson's is one of many political races that will be run next year—but the entries are yet to be posted.

People who try to determine the shape of things to come have their eyes on the Democratic State Executive Committee's meeting at Mineral Wells, September 11.

State Chairman Wallace Savage called the meeting, but did not indicate what subjects are to be discussed.

Likely there will be some discussion of National Committeeman Wright Morrow, who supported Mr. Eisenhower for president last year.

National Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell, during a visit to Texas, said his committee does not recognize Morrow.

George Sandlin of Austin, secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee, put it this way: "You never can tell what might happen when a bunch of Democrats meet."

That's about the way it is—and that's why the politicians have their eyes on Mineral Wells.

—tpa—

Getting back to the political races of next year, and trying to figure out who's going to run for what—the whole thing depends pretty much on what Governor Allan Shivers decides to do.

And if he has decided, he isn't telling.

Some say that the governor will announce his plans at Mineral Wells.

But the best guess seems to be that Shivers will keep 'em guessing.

There is reason in that line of thinking. For example: Should the governor announce that he is going to retire after serving his present term, then his influence with any special session of the Legislature, either late this year or early next year, would be lessened.

As it is, Shivers is in a strong position, whether he intends to run for re-election as governor, seek some other office, or retire from public service.

He can afford to wait. But his waiting bedevils other prospective candidates who will run for one office or another, depending on what Shivers does.

—tpa—

Prime business at the Mineral Wells meeting will be plan-making on the part of the Shivers group, as opposed to the so-called Democratic "Loyalists" who have already perfected their organization with Byron Skelton of Temple as chairman.

The loyalists seek to regain control of the Democratic party machinery in Texas by overthrowing Shivers and those who, with him, succeeded in giving Texas to Eisenhower last year.

Not to be overlooked in the political picture are the Republicans, who have been working earnestly toward making Texas a two-party state.

—tpa—

Hearings on ouster charges against District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice will delve deep into the dark and mysterious politics of that South Texas area where George Parr is reputed to be the big boss.

District Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown was designated master in chancery for the hearings, which will develop testimony as to whether or not Laughlin should be removed from his office.

Twelve South Texas lawyers are leading the effort to remove Laughlin from the bench.

Laughlin's court serves Starr, Duval, Jim Wells, and Brooks counties, where the Parr influence is felt. Parr was a backer of Laughlin at his last election, in which he defeated Sam G. Reams.

Reams is one of many witnesses called to give testimony at the hearing.

—tpa—

Everett L. Looney of Austin, originally listed as one of the attorneys for Laughlin, removed himself from the case.

Looney, newly-elected president of the State Bar, is in Boston for a medical check up.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Geo. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer.

Beat by the heat? Is this torrid weather sapping your energy from every body pore? Then State Health Officer George W. Cox has news for you.

"Observing a few simple hot weather living rules can mean relief from this sweltering heat," the doctor says. For instance:

2—THE FOARD COUNTY NEWS Crowell, Texas, Aug. 20, 1953

Cut down on the amount of food eaten at any one time. Eat a few crackers or some fruit between meals if you get hungry. Many people feel better in hot weather if they eat fewer protein foods such as eggs, fish, and meat. Fruit and vegetables in season makes fine "cool comfort" diets.

Water is constantly being lost through perspiration and has to be replaced or painful heat cramps will result. Office workers probably get enough salt through ordinary eating, but laborers may need 2 or 3 extra teaspoonsful each hot day.

Children who play hard and perspire freely need a little extra salt. Salted nuts or crackers is an agreeable way for them to get it. They won't object at all.

Don't wear clothes that hinder evaporation of perspiration, because that's the way body temperatures are kept normal. Wear loose, light clothing, preferably light in color.

Suit your exercise to your strength. Swimming is unquestionably the best summer sport, since it cools rather than overheats the body.

Take a warm bath before bed time, and get eight hours of sleep regularly. An oscillating electric fan which keeps the air in motion will make sleeping more comfortable and the next day's heat less oppressive.

Sun rays are most intense between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., stay out of their way during those hours if possible. If not, be sure your head is covered.

Observing these rules can make for more summertime comfort. Dr. Cox points out, A June-October vacation in Alaska would help, too.

"BLITZ" CANS

The 55-gallon drum, filled with fuel to power fighting equipment is a vital must for the battle in Korea. The "blitz" cans are filled at a petroleum depot in forward area on the Korean front and transported to American units operating in the vicinity. Without vast quantities of petroleum products, the Korean conflict would be a losing battle.

Peninsula literally means "most an island."

and highways. These signs are so important that often they are called "Signs of Life."
 It's an appropriate name. Traffic signs can, and often do, save lives. Without "Signs of Life"—such as the "stop" sign at intersections, the diamond-shaped warning sign, the round and cross-buck railroad signs—it could become almost suicidal to ride in an automobile.
 But "Signs of Life" can do the vital job for which they are intended only if people read and heed them. For this reason "Signs of Life" are being featured in the traffic safety program being conducted this month in Texas by the Texas Safety Association and the Department of Public Safety.
 It's a program that deserves the support of every citizen, for these signs, if observed, may help you save a life—perhaps your own!
 The slogan for the August program is one to remember—one to live by—"Signs of Life—Know Them, Obey Them."

Signs of Life
 J. O. Musick, Gen. Mgr. Texas Safety Ass'n., Inc.
 America, generally speaking, is a sign-conscious nation.
 We depend on the convenience of signs in thousands of phases of our daily lives. Signs tell us prices in stores, advertise merchandise in shop windows, speed up all our methods of conducting business.
 And signs help us maintain order in countless little ways. For instance, if there were no signs it might be difficult — almost impossible — to keep people from walking on the grass, disposing of trash where they shouldn't, smoking in forbidden places, loitering in busy buildings, posting bills on telegraph poles, talking and shouting in libraries and hospitals.
 Then, probably most important of all, we have traffic signs to guide and protect motorists and pedestrians on the nation's streets

 Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

 You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

 That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine.

Government Should Quit Competing with Nation's Businesses

More and more people seem to be coming to the conclusion that one of the best ways to help balance the national debt, and to make eventual tax reduction for enterprise and individuals possible is to get the government out of commercial business. Former Defense Mobilizer Wilson started the ball rolling months ago, in a speech that aroused great national interest. Herbert Hoover advocated a similar policy in a nationally broadcast major address, in which he stressed the case for disposing of government-owned electric power plants and related facilities. Bills have been introduced in Congress proposing studies and investigations to find ways of returning government commercial operations to private ownership, and to protect the public's investment in them. A House sub-committee is studying federal competition with private business and the resultant loss of tax revenues.

An interesting recent development is found in a plan offered by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. It points out that taxes have now reached the point of diminishing return, and that government borrowing to cover deficits would create still more inflation. It implements these views with a recital of facts. Federal taxes are now at an all-time high, and have actually increased 3,000 per cent since 1933. Taxes are hampering industrial growth—almost 60 per cent of all corporate profits now wind up in the tax collectors' tills. The U. S. consumer's tax bill—federal, state and local—is greater than his food bill. Inflation, which is primarily the result of increasing the money supply in relation to the supply of goods, has made heavy inroads into the living standards of many and the savings of all. The Chamber praises the recent Treasury policy of increasing interest rates as an anti-inflationary measure but believes that it will be ineffective without a balanced budget. Therefore, the plan states, "Like any other business or organization which has been over-extended through bad management and extravagant spending, the new management must liquidate the over-extended operations."

It goes on to point out that government is competing with private business in some 100 separate fields of activity. These include power and aluminum plants, synthetic rubber factories, all kinds of lending agencies, hemp plantations, railroads, housing, fertilizer and synthetic gasoline and sugar factories, etc., etc. Their combined assets are estimated at $30,000,000,000. They are exempt from all federal taxes.

The Chamber thinks that many of these government-owned businesses would sell readily to private enterprise—some at figures above their original cost. Others would take considerable time to dispose of, because of various complications—in such cases, says the Chamber, their operations should be put on a strictly self-supporting basis that would eliminate tax losses and further drains on the Treasury. The larger part of the liquidation, it forecasts, could be accomplished within six or seven years.

In conclusion, the Cleveland Chamber points to four ways in which the sales of these businesses would benefit the public. First, proceeds would assist in balancing the budget and reducing the debt. Second, they would make possible tax reduction in the future. Third, they would provide new sources of tax revenue, running into very large sums. Fourth, their disposal would eliminate the need for appropriating money year after year to meet their operating and expansion costs.

Grass Roots Opinion

Georgetown, Ill. News: "Census and private survey figures show . . . that places under 25,000 population account for 56 per cent of all retail outlets of the country . . . the smaller localities as a whole . . . are the big consumers of goods produced and distributed on a national scale . . . producers and distributors, of course, are aware of that fact."

Catskill, N. Y. Enterprise: "A witness testifying before a House Agricultural Sub-Committee, declared that . . . Russians have moved in with a planned 'dumping' of Russian controlled potash on our domestic market, and that Russian production is a state monopoly, paying no taxes, nor paying labor a fair wage. The communists know that destroying our economy can be more devastating than dropping a series of atomic bombs upon us. It is part of their cold war."

Denver, Colo., Record Stockman: "The American Meat Institute is to be complimented on its research on fats and experiments which may enlarge the market for fat. Experiments have shown that feed rations containing fat will speed growth, improve quality, bring greater feed efficiency and have greater palatability . . . Maybe our cattle as well as our population will eat us out of the present market situation—thanks to research."

However, an insurance agent who had been unable to contribute time or material to the house, had donated an insurance policy which covered the loss.

Plenty of Water for Texas, Great Need for Conservation

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON, U. S. Senator

Drought or no drought, Texas has—potentially—plenty of water. Over the long pull, we would have more than enough water to meet all our needs—if we conserved it properly and if we had a system of distributing it to the places where it could be used most profitably.

When I entered the Senate in 1949, I had back of me some experience with water development on the Colorado River. I knew a little something of the water needs of Texas. I knew something of the benefits that result from solution of water problems. I felt a long-range program of water conservation and use was one of our State's fundamental needs.

Appraisal of Problem One of the first things I did as a Senator was to ask the Department of the Interior to have its Bureau of Reclamation make an appraisal of the Texas water problem.

A report of the Bureau's study shows Texas is using only a relatively small fraction of its potential water resources. That is true despite the fact that we are using water in Texas at a rate two and one-half times as great as our rate of use in 1940.

Believe it or not, water used in Texas amounts to only about 15 per cent of the yearly discharge of streams that border or originate in the State. The remaining 85 per cent makes its way into the Gulf and is lost to Texas.

Texas Drainage Systems Texas has 15 major drainage basins. They may be divided into three groups: (1) those belonging to the Mississippi River system, including the Canadian and Red Rivers; (2) those rising in Texas and flowing into the Gulf; (3) the Rio Grande and its tributaries.

Texas has within its boundaries more streams of appreciable size than any other State. Texas has wholly within its boundaries a greater part of the streams that touch its surface than any other State.

That is where our surface water comes from. It is more than enough to meet all our foreseeable needs—if we will conserve it for our use.

For some years I have been telling everyone who would listen that water is more important to Texas than oil. We will be needing and using water long after our valuable petroleum resources have been exhausted.

All Texans Affected The water problem directly and personally affects every Texan. It affects the mother with a thirsty child—and the rancher with thousands of head of thirsty cattle. It affects the man who wants to wash his car on a Saturday afternoon—and the chemical industry on the Gulf Coast using perhaps 100,000,000 gallons of water per day.

Above everything else, we must have water—plenty of water where it is most needed and when it is most needed.

Coordinated Program Needed Up to now, there has been no coordinated Federal-State water conservation program. We need one—badly. In fact, we must have one if we hope really to solve our water problem.

The Bureau of Reclamation report suggests such a program. This appraisal may not hold all the answers, but it does at least give a basis for action.

It opens a path that can lead to a permanent solution of the recurring problem of water shortages in Texas. That is a path which we in Texas—for the sake of our own future—must follow.

Originally there were four months between presidential elections and the inauguration to allow for slow methods of communication and transportation.

IKE SLAMS BALL "OUT OF SIGHT" — President Eisenhower (right) adjusts glasses as if unable to believe eyes after knocking the ball far down the fairway at first tee of Cherry Hills Country Club at Denver. Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado congratulates President, who is vacationing.

Get Shoe on Right Foot

A large amount of additional water is now available at Niagara Falls for power development, under the terms of a Canadian-American treaty. The sole question is whether it shall be carried out by private enterprise, or by state or federal government. And the advocates of socialized development are offering some astonishing arguments.

They charge that permitting development by private capital, the old United States method, is a "give-away" idea that would rob the people of their birthright, etc., etc. When they talk about a "give-away" program, what do they call the expenditure of billions of dollars of tax funds they have succeeded in having the government hand out for tax-exempt public power plants to serve limited numbers of persons in strictly local areas? That is really "giving away" the general taxpayers' money with a vengeance.

At Niagara, private companies are ready to spend private savings to the tune of nearly $400,000,000 to develop power that would be publicly regulated as to rates, and would pay over a fifth of the total income in taxes.

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

If you are one of the food leaders in your club, you should receive a letter soon about the training meeting on Quick Mix Cakes to be held in my office on August 26. I hope each club will be represented for this meeting.

In September as you know, all clubs will begin meeting again twice a month. Perhaps you live in a community that does not have a club now, but has several women interested in one. We can always organize a new club with as few as eight or ten women who are interested.

Now is the time to start working on your roses for lovely fall blooms.

Clean out all weeds and grass and prune your roses about half as much as should be done for dormant pruning; cultivate them shallowly and thoroughly soak the ground. As soon as the soil is sufficiently dry after the watering, give a stimulation of some quick-acting nitrogenous fertilizer and then a deep cultivation. Continue to cultivate and water in such a way that you will force the plant into strong vegetative growth. But remember you must really water thoroughly or you can burn your roses with so much fertilizer.

By late September the fall blooms should begin to come and quality will be superior to any blooms that were produced in the spring. The plant will continue to produce these lovely blooms until freezing weather comes.

Inoculate and Fertilize Winter Legumes, Says County Agent Burkett

Legumes are fine soil building crops if they are properly inoculated and fertilized. Most fields should be planted to a legume crop at least once every three years, to improve the soil fertility and to make crop production more profitable.

For legumes to be effective in building up soil fertility, it is necessary that the seed be inoculated with the right kind of inoculant, says Joe Burkett, County Agent.

The label on the inoculant container indicates the kinds of legume seed on which the inoculant may be used. The inoculant provides bacteria which live in the nodules on the leguminous plant roots and makes possible their utilization of nitrogen from the air.

Burkett says that inoculated legumes may well be called nitrogen factories. Other crops such as cotton, corn and grain sorghums cannot utilize nitrogen from the air. They have to get it from the soil and, therefore, are soil depleting crops. To make sure that the plants will have plenty of nodules, many farmers now use a double dose of the inoculant.

The other important step in growing legumes, Burkett emphasizes, is fertilizing properly. The application of 200 pounds of 20
