Food Goes Down The Rivers!

J. N. (Ding) Darling, the famous cartoonist, put the case for soil conservation in these memorable words: "Beefsteak and potatoes, roast duck, ham and eggs, and bread and butter with jam on it, are being washed down our rivers each year in the form of good rich farm topsoil."

"We have long passed the point where we can afford to let this happen. We will have to feed a population which is growing at a dizzy rate from an agricultural acreage which is virtually fixed. That fact imposes a dual obligation: to get maximum production from our land and, at the same time to save and whenever possible improve that land for the needs of the years ahead."

Basically, soil conservation is not the job of government, even though government agencies are vitally interested and are active participants in the movement. It is the job of the farmer-individually, and collectively with his neighbors. And he has no lack of aids. Agricultural colleges, the conservation service, the service, farm equipment factors, government and other materials dealing with and constructively with the problem. Modern farm machinery provides an efficient means of doing the actual work. Every time an acre of land is properly and conscientiously conserved, the whole country permanently enriched.

State Capitol NEWS
 by VERN SANFORD
 Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas — Texas is moving to clean up its insurance "mess."

A study of reform proposals has been scheduled by the Texas Legislative Council, with a special committee of legislators in charge of the project. Other state agencies will participate.

A. W. Worthy, executive director of the council, said that Lieutenant Governor Ben Ramsey has written to all insurance companies operating in Texas, asking for their co-operation in the study.

Sixty insurance companies have failed in Texas since 1939, Worthy said. The council will look at the records of these companies to see why they went bankrupt.

Another aspect of the council's work will be to examine Texas' insurance laws and recommend changes "to assure a sound and stable insurance industry."

Yarborough's Charges
 Ralph W. Yarborough, candidate for governor, charged that there had been "influence peddling" in connection with the insurance situation. Yarborough recommended:

"A complete investigation looking into retainers, bank accounts, expense accounts, income tax returns, and excessive personal expenditures of state government officials connected with insurance law administration in Texas."

Nearly everybody got into the insurance show. These included: Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, who recommended 29 changes in the state insurance laws, including state control over insurance company stock sales.

Chairman Garland A. Smith of the insurance commission, who denounced "blatant untruths and half-truths" in a Time Magazine article. Smith said the magazine was "joining with jealous big Eastern insurance companies in trying to smear the Texas insurance industry."

Good Business
 Dr. John R. Stockton of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research says that a trade decline is over and recovery has started.

Business activity rose two per cent from March to April in Texas, Dr. Stockton found, representing "a recovery of approximately half of the decline from January, 1953, and January, 1954."

This finding indicates, Dr. Stockton said, "that the decline in business, which has been under way since the spring of 1953, is approaching an end."

Lots of Roads
 A construction program for 1955-56, costing about $211 million, was announced by the state highway commission.

It was the largest program ever approved in Texas.

Involved is the construction of 2,663 miles of roads, but, said commission chairman E. H. Thornton Jr., "it can only eliminate a minor per cent of the critical deficiencies of the (highway) system."

About $43 million of the money will go for highways within cities. Thirty of the worst bridges will be repaired or replaced.

Political Scene
 State political campaigns opened up, with principal interest in the governor's race.

There, the contenders are incumbent Allan Shivers; Ralph Yarborough, Austin attorney; and J. J. Holmes, Austin contractor.

Yarborough opened up with a speech in which he talked about "the need for integrity in state government and a sound program for the advancement of Texas."

Meanwhile, Austin political observers heard reports from the Rio Grande Valley that national CIO leaders are going all-out in an attempt to defeat Shivers. These reports said that the CIO has put up $250,000 to finance Yarborough and already has 300 paid workers in the field campaigning against Shivers.

Holmes, who is beginning to step up his pace in the race, says "I'm not mad at anybody, I just want to be Governor of Texas."

Shivers' Race
 Shivers, returning from Korea, said that the thing for Texans to do is to keep our government at home, and not turn it over to outsiders.

At a press conference, the governor said he expected some opposition from Democrats who supported Adlai Stevenson last time.

Shivers pointed out that he led the fight for Eisenhower because the Republican nominee saw eye-to-eye with him on the tidelands issue, whereas Stevenson thought the tidelands ought to belong to the federal government.

Since the return of the tidelands to Texas a year ago, Shivers said, this state has collected from them about $32 million in mineral rights, and this money goes to the state school fund.

Lieutenant Governor
 Opposing Ben Ramsey for lieutenant governor were State Representative George T. Hinson of Mineola and C. T. Johnson, Austin business man.

Hinson announced in favor of legislation which would require lobbyists to register with the state and force lawmakers to file a list of all the sources and the amount of their income.

Johnson plugged what he termed the need for "new men" to strengthen insurance laws for the protection of policyholders. Said Johnson: "It's interesting to see those who have been in a position for years and years to clean up the insurance mess suddenly get stirred up about it."

Brewster Starts
 Campaigning for the re-election of Few Brewster, associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court, began with the appointment of Franklin Spears of San Antonio as campaign manager.

William B. Carsow, Austin lawyer, heads up a statewide campaign committee. Brewster is opposed by Robert B. Keenan of Gladewater and Alfred M. Scott of Austin.

Civil Appeals
 I. N. Williams retired as associate justice of the Texarkana Court of Civil Appeals, and his place is being sought by Otto H. Atchley and Mat Davis.

Fourteen other judges on Texas civil appeals courts, up for re-election, are unopposed.

Executive Sessions
 State executive committees of both the Democratic and Republican parties will meet here June 14 to prepare the July 24 first primary ballot and select sites for the September state conventions.

Republicans will choose a state chairman to succeed Alvin Lant, who resigned. George Sandlin of Austin has been chosen Democratic chairman, replacing Wallace Savage, who resigned to run for Congress.

Park Visitors
 Four million people will visit Texas' parks this summer, says Gordon K. Shearer, executive director of the state parks board.

The number will be a record, biggest year heretofore having been 1952, when park visitors numbered 3,803,147. Various improvements have added to the attractiveness of the parks, Shearer said.

More Milk
 Texas' big dairy industry opened a 30-day campaign, whooping it up about how much dairy products mean to the state's people.

Included in the program were guided tours through model dairy farms, speeches, menus on the newspaper food pages, exhibits, and advertising.

Formula for Grads
 Note to June graduates: Do you want to succeed? If so, you must love work.

So says L. L. (Tex) Colbert, president of Chrysler Corporation, who addressed 1,300 in graduation exercises at the University of Texas.

Himself a Texas graduate — in 1925 — Colbert said, "I believe that for most Americans there is a deep moral satisfaction in turning out a good job."

Duval Jury
 In Duval County, "the oppressed may take new hope," said Attorney General John Ben Shepperd.

His comment was made upon the appointment of a new jury commission and grand jury panel in the violent South Texas domain.

Insurance Scandal
 Looks like the big news this week will outline the political spotlight. Scene of the drama: The 98th District Court room in Austin.

Stars in the show: Public Relations Man John Van Cronkrite; Maurice Acers, executive assistant to Governor Shivers; Attorney General John Ben Shepperd; State Insurance Board Chairman Garland Seib; and Chief Insurance Examiner L. W. Blanchard.

The five were ordered to appear for the trial in connection with the state's suit for a permanent injunction against the operation of Lloyd's of North America.

Fraud is the charge against Lloyd's of North America.

You can bet your bottom dollar that this case will echo and re-echo through the present political campaign.

The nine 16-inch guns of the Iowa or North Carolina class battleship can throw accurately in a single broadside more than 10 tons of steel and explosives against a target 20 miles away.

What About Profit?

The president of one of our leading oil companies recently had something noteworthy to say about profit.

"Today the American people have new faith in the profit system," he observed. "They recognize out of their own experiences in war and peace, that fair profits make our economic machine go, keep it in good repair and enable us to enlarge it, as the need arises. 'Business — every business, large and small — must bend its every effort to do the best it can profitwise. The more businesses that make profit, the more everybody will benefit.

"Plainly and simply, the activities stirred up by profits from all kinds of businesses have meant, and will continue to mean, better distribution of money throughout the economy in the form of wages, taxes, dividends, new investments. After all, business can't lock the profits away in a strong box—it pumps them back into the life stream of the economy."

Oil is one outstanding example of the progress that comes from the right to make a profit, and the incentive to achievement that the profit motive creates. Without profit, our much vaunted living and working standards would swiftly decay to the Iron Curtain level.

tion in Indo-China and the shipment of Iron Curtain arms to Guatemala are pieces of a pattern—a pattern designed to keep the United States off balance in the months ahead.

More pieces of this sinister pattern will be revealed as the communists unravel the web they have spun. We have got to keep an alert eye on other "soft spots" in the world.

Course of Action: Obviously, we cannot police the whole world. American soldiers cannot act as fire brigades rushing to stamp out flames spurring up at isolated corners of the globe.

That would be a fruitless undertaking. It would exhaust both our economic strength and our manpower.

We have to pick and choose. We must select the ground upon which we will stand — and know clearly just who will stand with us.

We do not want to abandon any unwilling people to communist tyranny—nor should we. We do not want to break relations with countries that are our friends and allies—nor should we.

Nevertheless, we must take a long, cool look at the realities of the world today.

Hard Task: Our foreign policy is a complicated network of alliances, pacts and understandings which have been put together in the last few years. Some parts of that network have worked well. Some parts have been severely strained. Some have failed altogether.

We must examine this network and determine the strengths and the weaknesses. Perhaps some parts should be propped up. Perhaps others should be abandoned altogether.

It is not a job to be accomplished in a day or a week. It is a hard, plugging task that will take time—even though we cannot afford too much time.

But it must be done. And the first step in doing it must be the promotion of national unity.

The times call for a bipartisan review — in a nonpartisan spirit — of our whole foreign policy.

Reason Together: We need to recall and act upon the Biblical injunction from Isaiah: "Come now and let us reason together."

As Americans, we have our agreements and our disagreements. Regardless of that, I am convinced practically all Americans hold one objective in common.

That is peace and freedom for our country.

It is not an abstract objective. It means an opportunity to plan for the future. It means security for our children. It means liberty in thought and in deed for our posterity.

Most Americans, I am confident, want these things for themselves, I believe they also want them for their fellow-Americans.

We can attain them by uniting in mutual confidence and trust—in holding to a steadfast determination that the lamp of freedom shall ever burn brightly on this earth.

Texas Tin Smelter: The Senate acted favorably on my two resolutions, expressing the sense of Congress that the Texas City tin smelter should remain in operation at least until June 30, 1955, and directing a congressional inquiry into the whole question of a domestic tin-smelting industry.

Texans have a double interest in this matter. First, the tin smelter is an important economic asset to the area in which it is located. Second — and more important — its continued operation is a potent force for the defense of our nation against communist aggression.

Some 65 per cent of the free world's tin comes from Southeast Asia. We cannot depend with confidence upon that source of supply. If we were cut off from Southeast Asia, we could turn to only one place for tin. That is the South American country of Bolivia.

Only one installation in the Western Hemisphere is capable of handling the low grade tin ores of Bolivia. That is the smelter at Texas City. Its continued operation is vitally important in the maintenance of the security of the United States against any possible enemy.

Social Security: In recent Social Security program, I certainly do not favor extension on a compulsory basis to members of the medical profession.

The doctors have made it clear that they do not want to be self-employed physicians. The self-employed physician is the average self-employed physician does not retire at age of 74 years.

As one Texas doctor who is a compulsory member of the Social Security program "would be" retirement of all doctors would be worked day and night for years to establish a living retirement fund of their own.

Milo Maize: Producers of maize in South Texas face a storage problem. Out of wheat, under Government plan using most of the existing facilities in Corpus Christi the surrounding area.

The result is that the maize producers have no place to house their bumper crop. Faced with the necessity of to sell on the current market which would cause them a loss.

I am doing everything I get the Agriculture Dept. to move out the wheat—let it from Oklahoma—so the own farmers will not be sized in this fashion.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK
BY TED GOULDY

Fort Worth — Stocker and feeder cattle and calves of good or choice quality moved out at Fort Worth Monday at steady prices, and quality and fills considered. Some spots were firm to strong. The desirable kinds of steer calves cleared at $20 to $22 readily, with a few to $23. Last week some 327-pound steer calves reached $24 which were consigned by Joy Lina White of McCulloch County.

On Monday some feeder steers of 991 pounds cashed at $20. Stocker cows find a rather quiet trade, but most observers agree this is due in large part to the scarcity of good cows in the runs that are made up largely of cut-back, culls and aged cows.

In view of the approaching summer season the good outlet for high grade stockers is considered exceptional by most interests on the market. However, of great importance has been the steady demand for huge quantities of beef over the country.

Mature steers, cows and bulls sold at prices about in line with the low side of last week's close at Fort Worth Monday. Good and choice fed steers and yearlings drew $18 to $23, some 811-lb. Foard County yearlings at $23. Plain to medium grassers drew $12 to $17 while canner yearlings ranged down to $9 or below.

Fat cows drew $10 to $13, a few higher. Canners and cutters brought $6 to $10. Bulls sold at $9 to $14. Good and choice fat calves cleared at $16.50 to $21, a few fancy heavies to the butcher trade at $22. Common to medium butcher calves drew $10 to $15.50 and culls earned $8 to $10.

Mrs. Bob Thompson and two daughters of Fort Worth are visiting in the home of her mother, Mrs. R. J. Thomas, and family.

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

One of the most interesting things that has come to light recently dealing with what the Communists intend to do in the world is the message that was sent last year by Mao Tse-Tung, ruler of Communist China, to the heads of the Russian government in Moscow. This message, according to the information that is available to us, was carried to Russia by Chou En-Lai, the man who is now representing Communist China at the Geneva Conference. This message or letter was an outline for the world revolution of Communism.

In this message Mao Tse-Tung said that the time had come when the Communists must look upon Asia as their immediate goal for conquest. His reason for this conclusion was that there was a better chance for revolution in Asia and that the time for collapse in Europe was not yet at hand; further, that forceful means applied in Europe might bring on war which the Communists did not want at this time.

The message went on to say that the United States must be isolated, and the plan laid out the blueprint for driving a wedge between the United States and her Allies. It specified that Britain must be convinced that there is a possibility of settling the differences between the East and the West and that the capitalist countries can live in peace. To give world trade, according to Mao Tse-Tung, was to be used as a bait for the British. In the case of France, her historical fear of Germany was to be thoroughly exploited, and France was to be made, by Communist propaganda, to feel that her greatest security would lie in full cooperation with the countries behind the Iron Curtain rather than with the free world. According to this Communist document, Japan is to be convinced that her rearmament endangers, rather than guar-

These troops were to be used in such a way that they would force the free countries to keep increasing their defense expenditures until economic collapse overtakes them.

The Chinese leader's advice to the Russian rulers in the Kremlin was that they should agree to an armistice in Korea until such time as a navy could be developed because of the fact that lack of a navy was now the communists' greatest weakness in the Far East. He further stated that the Chinese Communists must take Formosa, and he said that the war in Indochina could be successfully concluded by the Communists in about two years. After Indochina, the Communists would then move to Burma, Thailand and Indonesia which would complete a circle around the Malay Peninsula held by the British. When this is accomplished, the Chinese leader said that the British would realize the hopelessness of putting up a fight and would withdraw and that this whole process should be completed by 1960. In concluding his letter, Mao Tse-Tung scheduled the fall of Japan and India also by 1960, after which he predicted the Philippines and the Arab countries of the Middle East would collapse. STANDARD OF LIVING SHOWN BY COUNTRY'S USE OF OIL

A good barometer of a country's standard of living is in its use of oil per capita. In the United States, oil consumption per capita ran over 735 gallons last year. In France, the per capita use was 104 gallons. Income figures run a close parallel, for the average American's income is three times that of a Frenchman.

SPANIARD HAS OWN METHOD
A Spaniard named Mena brought the second printing press to Texas in 1817 and set up shop at Galveston. A member of the Liberals in Spain, he left that country for political reasons. Most of his material published in Texas was of a political nature.
His type was very limited, and in some of his printing matter, his supply of needed letters would be exhausted. Whereupon, he simply substituted another letter which most resembled the one needed.
According to plan, the Tower of Babel was to be high enough to reach Heaven.

FINISHED... OR NOT

Recently we heard of a woman—Mrs. Sarah L. Winchester of San Jose, California—who was afraid to die. Her husband died when they were both very young, leaving a vast fortune for his widow to spend as she chose.

Mrs. Winchester became a spirit medium, and during a seance was informed that the reason her husband, president of the Winchester Arms Company, had died, was because his work was finished. She immediately determined to begin a project that would never come to an end, and thus, she assured herself, she would never die!

Within a few days she bought property and began erecting what is now called the Winchester Mystery House. She did not employ an architect, and hired workmen only by the day. She personally planned and supervised the building, which became a bewildering maze of rooms, winding halls and blind stairways. Today the house is a jumble of more than 160 rooms, with five separate heating systems. There are forty-seven fireplaces, many of them ravelous in workmanship. There are thousands of windows... in the floors and roof as well as in the walls, many of them made of Tiffany art glass inlaid with gold, silver and moonstones. One stairway has forty-two steps, each two inches high, with seven turns and an ascension of only ten feet. One chimney ascends through four

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Henry A. Holle, M. D., State Health Officer.

Increasing numbers of cases of a disease called "infectious hepatitis" are being observed in Texas, state health officials say.

Over 800 cases of the debilitating illness have been reported by private physicians so far this year. That's a substantial increase over the number reported for the same period last year, says Health Department Epidemiologist Dr. Gordon Grace.

Most medical authorities believe the disease is spread by person to person contact through nose and throat discharges, Dr. Grace pointed out. But he said a number of cases have been traced to contaminated food and water.

Infectious hepatitis literally means "infectious inflammation of the liver." It is a virus infection which occurs sporadically all year long, but which subsides somewhat during summer months.

Grace said there are no experimental animals on which tests can be conducted, and the virus cannot be "cultured" or grown in a laboratory. Older people, he said, are apparently immune. Subclinical cases—people who have the virus but are not sick—are not uncommon.

The disease is characterized by a flu-like onset, accompanied by a low-grade fever of 99-101 degrees for two or three days. The liver area is tender, and the patient has little appetite.

Later, the skin turns yellow, fever returns, and the liver area is sore and tender. Walking increases pain because the inflamed liver is thus aggravated.

Gamma globulin in the proper dosage gives a temporary immunity, Grace said. The blood fractionation is made available through the State Department of Health to private physicians who administer it to family contacts of patients and to institutional cases.

An outbreak in a community usually lasts two or three months, Dr. Grace commented.

He said the best individual and community defense against the weakening condition is scrupulous personal hygiene and good environmental sanitation.

Approximately 40 per cent of apparel and accessories worn in the U. S. are manufactured in New York City.

17th Annual Football Classic Set for Aug. 20 in Wichita Falls

August 20th is in the distant future, but it became an important date for the Texas-Oklahoma football fans this week.

The 17th annual Oil Bowl Football Classic matching Sooner and Lone Star top drawer talent will be played August 20 under lights in Midwestern University stadium in Wichita Falls.

Announcement of the date made by Maskat Shrine Temple in Wichita Falls, sponsors of established sports spectacle which has drawn standing room crowds nearly 10 years, and produced many thousands of dollars for crippled children.

At the same time the Oklahoma coaching staff for the Oil Bowl game was announced by El Simmons of El Reno, president of the Oklahoma Coaches Association, co-sponsor of the classic.

The Sooner mentors will be Homer Simmons of Seminole, Jacobson of Ardmore and Tom Rhodes of Tonkawa. Each of the well-known Oklahoma tutors lotted his squad to a state championship in 1953.

An overflow crowd of 10,000 plus, inaugurated the handsomely equipped new Midwestern stadium last August in the 10th Oil Bowl game and watched a hard-fought thriller won by the Texans by slimmer margin, 21-20.

The Sooner "swon" the statistics and what some observers considered a moral victory as game underdogs. The struggle was considered the longest of the long series.
