NATIONAL WARNING System, or NAWAS, of the Federal Civil Defense Administration is activated at the control center in the Continental Air Defense Command headquarters at Colorado Springs as Gen. Earle E. Partridge (above), CONAD commander, uses the new 28,000-mile net for the first time on May 1. From this control center, or one of two similar centers on the East and West Coasts, information on an impending attack can be relayed directly to 200 warning points throughout the nation. From these points, local warning nets would take over. By a simple switching process, State civil defense directors can also use the net locally to transmit detailed warning and survival data to CD forces in the field. (U. S. Air Force Photo)

With Clinton Davidson

Nearly 2,000 years ago the Master Teacher — Christ, asked: "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"

About 1500 years before Christ, Esau, the grandson of Abraham, sold his birthright—his inheritance—for one meal, called in the Bible, a mess of pottage. Through the centuries, millions of mortals have answered the question asked by Christ by exchanging their souls for alluring promises which turned out to be merely "messes of pottage."

Powerful labor leaders who have sold their souls are finding that Judgment Day is here for them. They are accused of the abuse of the power and confidence entrusted to them by Congress and by millions of workers.

Today, millions of labor union members are asking two questions: "Have our leaders sold their souls and the souls of our unions?" and "if so, what price will we have to pay?"

Dave Beck is paying a big price. Apparently he has done great damage, not only to himself but to the Teamsters Union which he has headed for many years. If he

CHANGING NATION

Albert L. Kraus of the New York Times describes our changing nation in these words: "In grandfather's day, the typical American consumer paid rent for a flat, rode to work in a street-car, sent his starched collars to a laundry and for entertainment took his wife to a vaudeville theatre occasionally. Today he owns a house in the suburbs, drives an automobile to work, gives his wife no-iron shirts to process in an automatic washer-dryer, and watches television for entertainment—all largely because of consumer credit."

RECORD HIGH DIVIDENDS

Companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange paid their common share owners $2,124,608,430 in cash dividends during the first quarter of 1957—a record high for any past comparable period.

The dahlia is named for the Swedish botanist Dahl.

had violated the law, if he has caused his Union to lose its integrity, not only he but millions of honest workers will also suffer greatly.

If the investigation reveals that leaders of many unions have sold their souls, the entire labor union movement may have to join in paying the price.

What is the price? Let's be specific and try to answer the Master's question that was asked at the beginning of this column. The price could result in setting the labor movement back to the pre-Franklin D. Roosevelt days. Does that seem impossible? Well, let's examine the situation.

Congress vested great powers in labor unions. Most important of all, it gave them the special privilege of acting as national monopolies. Because labor unions are exempted from the monopoly provisions of the Anti Trust Laws they are able, through nationwide strikes to halt such vital national functions as steel production, gasoline production, railroad transportation, international shipping, etc.

Such powers are not entrusted to the owners and managers of those great industries. It is doubtful that even the President of the United States has such power. But labor, you will remember, used this power to practically close all steel production in the United States during the Korean War. If Congress becomes convinced that labor officials and labor unions have lost their souls—their integrity, their morality—then Congress may withdraw labor's special privileges, principally the legal right to act as monopolies. If this were done, nationwide strikes would cease to exist and the sanctity of the picket line would become a theory.

It appears, however, that Congress will not be forced to take such action. George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and other labor leaders of unusual integrity already have taken positive actions to clean house of racketeers and other dishonest union officials. They will not stand idly while other officials sell the souls of labor. They are taking positive action. For example, the AFL-CIO Executive Council, on recommendation of an Ethical Practices Committee, has ousted Beck as an AFL-CIO Vice President, suspend-

CUT TAXES—BUT SPEND MORE MONEY!

In a report to Congress, a Congressman from Oregon said: "The proposed Federal Budget for 1958 has brought a flood of letters to my office. Almost without exception, the letters are to vote to repeal the income tax and to cut the Budget—by 10 percent to vote for a pension for citizens over 65."

This is simply an example of a widely-held attitude—that economy is confined to "the other fellow" long as it prevails, we will grossly swollen budgets, heavy taxation, and we will see the specter of more inflation.

Stain Removal from "Special Finish" Fabrics

Best rule to follow, according to USDA Agricultural Research Service, is to look for directions regarding use of bleaches on the garment. If no information is given, avoid use of chlorine bleaches on fabrics with special finishes.

Some stains cannot be removed without bleaching. In such cases use sodium perborate or a powdered bleach that contains it. Soak washable colorfast fabrics for several hours, or overnight if needed, in a warm solution containing one to two tablespoons of sodium perborate to a pint of water. Another method is to sprinkle dry bleach on the dampened spot, then dip in a pan of very hot water for a few minutes.

This reminder from the clothing specialists—always check garments for stains before laundering, and remove. Otherwise, hot water may set stains.

Stain Removal from "Special Finish" Fabrics

Special finishes now being used on many cottons, linens and rayons give wrinkle-resistance, extra sheen and body to these fabrics.

Problem now is, how to remove stains from fabrics that have these special finishes. Chlorine bleaches may be used on some, according to extension clothing specialists. Other finishes are damaged by such treatment because special resins in the finish absorb and retain chlorine.

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Last Monday morning, 11 girls enrolled in the 4-H Clothing Workshop. They voted to start next Monday, July 8, and meet from 9 to 11 on Mon., Wed. and Fri. for 2 weeks. The girls will make skirts, blouses, or dresses.

The following girls enrolled: Linda Smith, Marcia Carroll, Margie Rasberry, Janie Bowers, Wanda Moore, Judy Trawek, Beverly Thompson, Paula Sparks, Arcina Ann Garrett, Gail Rader and Ginger Rasberry. I believe a few more plan to meet and start with us next Monday morning. We are meeting in the home economics building of the school and all 4-H girls are eligible to attend.

Our recipe this week is:

Waffle Peach Shortcake
2 cups flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 eggs, 1 and 1/2 cups milk, 6 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, sweetened sliced peaches, whipped cream.

Measure and sift together the dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks, milk and melted butter or margarine together. Add to flour mixture, stirring until flour is moistened. Beat egg whites until stiff and fold into batter. Bake in hot waffle baker. Place one waffle on serving plate, cover with sweetened sliced peaches and whipped cream.

FARM POLICY DEBATE

Secretary of Agriculture Benson and Representative Whitten of Mississippi recently engaged in a rather heated debate on farm policy. It ended, however, in a lighter note. Secretary Benson: "When we get on the other side, if you and I meet, we will probably still discuss the farm problem." Mr. Whitten: "Mr. Secretary, where I hope to go and I trust you will go, I understand there are no problems."

FACT AND OPINION

No priority for the purchase of federal electric power should be given to any local governmental agency, in the view of Harold B. Say, of the Portland, Oregon, Chamber of Commerce. He told a House subcommittee that there is no logic in a preference clause which says "those citizens who choose to obtain their power from public utility districts should be favored."

NATIONAL WARNING System, including some 25,000 miles of wire, is shown with its intricate connections to 200 civil defense warning points across the nation. The new network may be used to sound a single national attack alarm from the Federal Civil Defense Administration's National Warning Center at Colorado Springs, or if necessary, from similar warning centers at Stewart Air Force Base, N. Y., or Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif. From the warning points, State and local civil defense hook ups would pass the word along to the people to evacuate or take shelter.

Time to Ask for Refund on Federal Gasoline Tax

Farmers are reminded by Joe Burkett, county agent, that they may now apply for a refund on the 3-cent Federal tax on gasoline used for farming. The amount claimed must be based on the quantity of fuel used for farming purposes on individual farms and ranches during the period from July 1, 1956, to June 30, 1957.

Burkett says that all claims must be submitted to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, and claims for the past year must be in by September 30, 1957. Only one refund claim per farm operator will be permitted and each tax claimant is cautioned to make certain that his refund request includes all eligible fuel used.

Each farm or ranch operator who applied for tax refunds in 1956 will be mailed Form 2240 for filing the 1957 claim. An instruction sheet for preparing the application will also be provided, says Burkett. For new fuel users or those who failed to file last year, copies of the filing form may be obtained from the county agent's office.

Too, Burkett suggests that a copy of Publication 308, Farmers Gas Tax Refund, prepared by the Internal Revenue Service, be obtained from the county agent's office or from the nearest District Internal Revenue Service office.

The specialist advises agricultural producers who used an appreciable amount of gasoline last year in their farming or ranching operations to check into their eligibility for a refund. The legislation which makes possible the refund was passed by Congress in the spring of 1956 and farmers unfamiliar with the procedure should contact the county agent or Internal Revenue Service for details.

Simple One-Nozzle United Best for Cotton Insect Control

Simple one-nozzle spray attachments will control cotton insects as effectively as the more complex arrangements and often tend to produce higher yields, according to Joe Burkett, County Agent. Tests conducted at the Brazos River Valley Laboratory with nozzles producing hollow cone patterns and others producing flat fan-shaped patterns favor the one-nozzle-per-row treatment over a five-year period. No spray arrangement has shown a consistent advantage other than the simple operation and low initial cost of the one-nozzle-per-row system.

Tests were conducted with a six-row rear-mounted tractor sprayer using detachable drops and arrangements varying from one to four nozzles per row. Spray solution was applied at the rate of 4.5 gallons per acre. More details on the tests are given in the Progress Report 1906 which is available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, or the county agent's office.

A New Threat . . . The Imported Fire Ant

Texas entomologists are becoming concerned over the introduction into Texas of the imported fire ant. And they're anxious for Texas farm people to be on the look-out for this new invader. Joe Burkett, county agent, describes the ant as less than one-half size the common red ant in Texas, but its sting is much more vicious giving rise to the name, fire ant. The mounds which are usually taller, and smaller in diameter, are 10 to 12 inches high and about 12 inches in diameter. When the tops are kicked off these mounds they're honey-combed with the living quarters of the ant. While they prefer open sunny sites in pastures or uncultivated areas, they may be found just about anywhere.

The fire ant does considerable damage to vegetable crops. They also attack new-born calves and pigs or newly hatched quail and poultry. Burkett says the ants are believed to have entered the United States as cargo stowaways from South America and have spread rapidly from the Mobile, Alabama, area to other parts of the south. They've been reported in 11 counties in Texas.

The fire ant is firmly entrenched in the black belt of Alabama centered around Selma in Dallas county. Burkett believes that unless drouth or other natural hazards slow down the ant migration,

Unbalanced Diet of Mesquite Beans Can Cause Cattle Disease

Mesquite beans have long been considered "life savers" by ranchmen, especially during drought periods. But a condition, which was first noted in 1941 south of Pecos River in Texas and New Mexico and in many other parts of Texas and Oklahoma. The condition known as "jaw and tongue trouble" has been reproduced by feeding large quantities of mesquite beans, says Joe Burkett, County Agent.

Dr. J. W. Dollahite and W. V. Anthony, both of the Marfa laboratory of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, have found through continued studies that mesquite beans was the one food consistently eaten by all affected animals. Too, the pastures usually contained either dry alkali saccaton or tobosa grass. Taking their cue from these facts, the research workers started feeding trials in 1955 to determine if jaw and tongue trouble could be produced by feeding mesquite beans. It was.

It is the belief of the research workers that apparently, the rumen bacteria which digest cellulose and synthesize vitamin B are destroyed when cattle consume large amounts of mesquite beans over a considerable period of time. The resulting malnutrition and vitamin B deficiency produce the serious malady in cattle.

The saliva of affected cattle hangs from the mouth in long strings and superficially resembles mesquite. The feed trough or salt box will contain several quarts of saliva. Animals chew continuously, often holding their heads to one side as if chewing was painful. In some cases, about 25 per cent, animals protrude their tongues a half inch to four inches while from 10 to 50 per cent of the animals may have swelling under the jaw and throat. These swellings may come and go. The salivary glands often are enlarged.

Animals are usually anemic and become emaciated, often losing 50 per cent of their weight. Their hair coat may be very long, but after summer shedding, large denuded areas appear. Too, animals are nervous and some have muscular tremors, especially around the face and muzzle.

When symptoms of jaw and tongue trouble appear, the damage has already been done, say the scientists. Often the ranchmen does not realize that he is in trouble until the mesquite beans are gone and he starts feeding hay.

The animals will gain weight on a good concentrate ration, but they cannot utilize hay. If lush green pasture is available, sick animals will apparently recover, but should be sold as soon as they are in good condition. Most, point out Dollahite and Anthony, will not be able to again digest dry roughage. It is advisable, therefore, to market cattle as soon as possible after the first symptoms appear.

Attempts at treatment have been discouraging, say the scientists. They are, however, continuing their work in an effort to find remedies. It is hoped that additional studies will suggest supplements which can be fed with mesquite beans in order that this excellent source of range feed may be utilized without affecting the health of the animals.

Complete details of the investigations are given in Progress Report 1931 issued by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. It is available from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station, Texas, or the County Agent's office.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our appreciation to our friends who so lovingly stood by with words of sympathy and love during the illness and death of our sister and aunt, Mrs. M. W. Hagler, who passed away in the Foard County Hospital June 28. For the prayers, flowers, food and everything that was done for our comfort and here, we say thank you and we love you. To Dr. Kraliecke and the wonderful nurses who worked untiringly and did all that could be done, we thank you and may God bless you.

WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

How to make a trash burner was the very interesting demonstration given by Mrs. Henry Ross when the West Side Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. S. E. Tate June 25.

The meeting was opened with two poems. Business was discussed and the next meeting planned to be held July 9th at Mrs. E. A. Dunagan's home.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames H. Ross, S. E. Tate, O. Gentry, J. T. King, B. Mathews, L. G. Simmons, J. B. Weathered, and 3 visitors, Miss D. Bowley, Mrs. W. B. Griffin and Mrs. Wm. E. Wells.

Shakespeare, according to estimates, never made a continuous journey as far as a round trip from Boston to New York.

School Students Learn of Conservation in Classroom Studies

How 56 pupils in a country school learned about conservation in a real way is told in an article in the July issue of Texas Game and Fish, according to E. T. Dawson, director of Education and Conservation of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. The article was prepared by Mrs. Cordelia Oates, teacher at the I. W. Popham School at Del Valle near Austin.

The school is modern, with spacious grounds, but water for the drinking fountains must be hauled from Austin. It is placed in an underground cistern for use through the fountains.

"When we talked about not wasting water, and 'saving' the water, the term 'conservation' was introduced to the boys and girls," Mrs. Oates wrote.

"Our general objective was to learn the meaning of conservation. We had to learn how to maintain and protect natural and human resources to prevent waste; how to improve human and natural resources to make them more beneficial and protect them for future use."

"Why should we practice conservation? In answering this question the students decided to make a survey of their community to determine what conservation practices were being carried out. They reported on the number of farms which were terraced and the amount of land which was apparently wasted. They noticed soil erosion, planting practices and the amount of cover made available to wildlife."

Assignments were given each student, according to Mrs. Oates. Studies were made by some on water, wildlife, birds, soil, forests and health. Representatives of the Game and Fish Commission visited the class and told of the benefits of conservation to wildlife. In the language classes the students wrote stories on the history of conservation and developed a conservation vocabulary.

"We had many opportunities to use arithmetic in building our bird feeding stations, dividing the mural into different sections, measuring the soil and water in the erosion experiment and figuring losses caused by forest fires and floods," Mrs. Oates wrote.

DON'T BUY ANY CAR BEFORE YOU DRIVE A CHEVY... ITS BEST SHOWROOM IS THE ROAD!

Beauty in motion—Chevrolet Bel Air Sport Sedan with Body by Fisher.

Here's why Chevy's best showroom is the road!

Because Chevrolet's sleek good looks, its advanced features, are only part of the story. The big bonus is its remarkable roadability, the crisp precision handling that has posted an entirely new standard for cars in every price class. There are reasons for this, of course: Chevrolet's balanced weight distribution that takes excessive loads off the front wheels, the wide stance of outrigger rear springs, Ball-Race steering, spherical-joint front suspension. Sure, you can admire the sculptured lines in the showroom. But Chevy's a car specifically designed for beautiful motion—you have to travel in this one to know just how terrific it is. Try it, this week!

Soil Conservation News of District

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, Lower Pease River District Board: W. C. Howard, Grady Halbert, O. T. Holmes, O. H. Brandon, H. L. Ayers.

Water under the bridge is seldom a problem but water over or through a spillway almost always causes damage. Spillways are primarily emergency structures designed to protect dams against floods of prolonged duration or extreme intensity—both types of storms are common in the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District. As such, spillways are designed to carry the expected maximum runoff from the watershed that will normally occur only once in 50 years. Abnormally hard short showers or a prolonged series of light showers will produce flow through a spillway but usually much less than the maximum designed capacity. It is desirable, however, to select a pond site and watershed combinations which do not produce frequent flows through the spillway, thereby avoiding many of the maintenance jobs that usually are needed from such flows.

Since farm-pond spillways are principally of the vegetated type and usually on very steep slopes they require special attention both in establishing and maintaining an adequate cover of grass. It is seldom possible to select a naturally vegetated spillway site that will not require maintenance. When it is not necessary to shape a spillway, adequate vegetation can usually be obtained by fencing the spillway area in order to control grazing. Fencing is also necessary in many cases to increase the stand and vigor of existing grass cover since increased grazing usually results near watering places. Fencing also keeps cattle from trailing up the spillway, thus causing gulleying and eventually a major repair job. Roads should never cross spillways except at the top or entrance to the spillway.

In many cases it is necessary to cut and shape a spillway. Spillway construction can be done at the same time the dam is constructed. In all cases, topsoil

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

This week the House Committee on Foreign Affairs approved a resolution which would direct the President to revise the existing Executive agreements with foreign countries as well as existing treaties in a way that will assure American service men overseas trials in American courts in a way that is guaranteed to them by our Constitution. This whole question was brought to a head by the Girard case in which the President agreed to surrender an American service man to the Japanese for trial in Japan. A Federal District Court has recently held that it was a violation of Girard's Constitutional rights to surrender him to the Japanese. The matter will finally be decided by the Supreme Court during the week of July 8th. It seems to me that from a legal standpoint the holding of the Federal District Court is a correct one.

Repairs to vegetated spillways should be made immediately after rains if possible and preferably while the surface soil is still wet. Holes or overfalls developing in the spillway should be repaired by filling holes with compacted soil and sodding, or by reshaping the overfall to stabilized grade and covering with new sod. Net wire staked flat over newly placed sod has proven a valuable aid in retaining sod in the event of additional rains which produce flow through the spillway. A "trickle tube" placed through the dam below spillway level and emptying to the water course below the dam will prevent most of the scour damage to spillways, reduce maintenance cost, and eliminate the need for fencing in some cases.

fact one, and I hope it is affirmed by the Supreme Court. The resolution that was approved for House consideration will probably be on the floor of the House during the week of the 8th of July. I hope that it can be favorably acted on and that this whole matter can be settled at the earliest possible date. There can be little question but what it is a gross injustice to draft men and send them overseas without assuring them that their Constitutional rights will be protected.

The heavy rains in Texas so far this year have again pointed out the need for the development of some comprehensive and adequate water conservation programs for our part of the State. The activity of water conservation between municipalities and States and the Federal government should be better coordinated. Due to the fact that we have not adequately planned to trap water in our part of the country, it is now necessary that over fifteen million acre-feet of water, which is enough to cover the whole State of Connecticut to a depth of five feet, will have to be released from existing reservoirs. This is necessary in order to maintain enough capacity in these reservoirs to control more excessive rainfall that might occur in the future.

The House has approved a bill authorizing the sale of surplus agricultural commodities for foreign currency. This program has worked very well in the past in moving a considerable volume of our agricultural surplus.

HOLES IN THE GROUND

According to the Associated Press, the gas utilities and pipeline companies have so far spent $500 million on holes in the ground. These holes amount to warehouses, in which gas is stored in the warm season for delivery when winter sends demand soaring.

COST OF INFLATION

Inflation note: The Wall Street Journal reports that a company decided to tear down an unused smokestack built in 1921. The original cost of the structure was $8,740—but it cost $13,470 to dismantle it.

The Government Never Gets Out

Senator Byrd has a going to the heart of his public statements. In this in his analysis of the $71.8 billion federal budget for 1957. Much of the increase is accounted for by an increase in civilian domestic spending. The budget would provide grants to states in 1957 bringing to 67 the number of states in which the federal government is involved. Contributions would be $4 billion more than in 1956.

This has much more than its inflationary impact on one year's budget. Senator Byrd states, "Our federal government gets out it never gets out and it increases its contribution year to year." So, if the proposals are approved, we have established a precedent for ever-increasing contributions in the years ahead.

On Memorial Day, should be displayed at least from sunrise to noon and from noon to sunset.

Game Harvest in Panhandle Proves Good

The Texas Panhandle provided a satisfactory game harvest in 1956, according to a summary report made by employees of the Texas Game and Fish Commission. The report covers 28 counties, according to William S. Jennings, assistant director.

The report shows a kill of 254 deer, 397 turkeys, and 229 antelope, checked in by the hunters. The antelope hunts were staged on 29 ranches which had contracts with the game department to permit hunting.

There were 305 antelope hunt permits issued, with a kill of 229, or 83.27 per cent. The average antelope checked out at 75.3 pounds. The average weight of the mule deer killed was 124 pounds, against 120 pounds on the white tail deer.

Hunters from the area also contributed 4,708 bob white and 899 scaled quail wings for study. The quail kill was said to be as good as the previous year.

In a check of dove hunters, 564 reported a killing of 2,616 doves, or an average of 4.6 doves per man. These results equalled the previous year's hunt.

Austin, Tex. — State Highway Patrolmen are on the lookout for careless drivers.

Ten Texans are scheduled to die on the highways during the holidays, according to Homer Garrison Jr., Department of Public Safety Director. Twelve died on July 4 last year.

DPS fatality predictions usually are frighteningly accurate. However, state law enforcement officers are doing their best to cut the traffic toll and thereby prove themselves wrong in their estimates.

Gov. Price Daniel has made a personal appeal to Texans to join together to "curb the senseless slaughter on our streets and highways."

Colonel Garrison reports 120 extra units will be added to the patrol for the holiday "Operation Deathwatch." Their job will be to spot the speeders, drunks, or reckless drivers and take them off the roads before accidents occur.

Texas Safety Association has joined in the push for better citizenship on the highways. TSA says last year's traffic accidents in Texas cost $275,000,000, took 2,611 lives and injured another 115,000 persons.

GRAND JURY DIGS IN—Travis County grand jury touched off a rash of speculation by issuing summons to a new group of witnesses.

What they found out about the affairs of the bankrupt ICT Insurance Co. of Dallas and former Ins. Comm. Chmn. J. Byron Saunders will not be known until later in the summer when the jury reports.

Colorful ex-Ranger Manuel T. (Lone Wolf) Gonzaulas was the headline witness. Gonzaulas once was vice president of a Ben Jack Cigarette enterprise, making purse-size alarms for women to summon help. He said he had nothing to do with ICT, also managed by C. Gage.

Others called to testify were Mrs. Mae Swadner of Dallas, longtime secretary to Saunders; Paul B. Kelly of Austin, personal friend of Saunders; and Dick Mallard, Tyler CPA who was asked to bring Saunders' financial records.

CAGE PROMISES TO RETURN—Meanwhile, Ben Jack Cigarette, kingpin of the controversy, announced from Brazil that he'll come back to Texas "in about a month" and straighten everything out.

Cage, former manager of ICT, is under indictment in Dallas for embezzlement of the firm's funds. Governor Daniel had tried to get Cage forcibly returned to Texas for trial, but found the U. S. has no extradition treaty with Brazil.

Cage terms the Texas talk "hypocrisy," blames his successors at ICT for the company's collapse. But, he said, he plans to set up a corporation under which 75 per cent of his earnings for the rest of his life will go to repay ICT shareholders.

"NEW LOOK" LAUNCHED—Texas' long-heralded "clean slate" Insurance Commission is finally a reality.

The "New Look" was officially launched with the appointment of Assistant State Auditor William A. Harrison as Commissioner of Insurance. Under the reorganization law passed by the last legislature, the commissioner is to be a $20,000-a-year executive who will run the department.

Although it will be one of the highest-paid posts in state government, Harrison is serving without pay. Through oversight the legislature neglected to make the commissioner's salary effective un-

Our Weekly Sermon

Spiritual Surgery

At the municipal hospital of Shizuoka, Japan, recently, Dr. Sadao Ohmura took out his own appendix in a 50-minute operation.

Assisted by a fellow physician who gave an anesthetic and helped suture blood vessels, Dr. Ohmura undertook the successful surgery to prove his contention that "we Japanese are more skillful with our hands than Westerners."

Medical history records at least two similar operations. An American surgeon removed his appendix in 1932 and a Mexican doctor repeated the performance in 1946.

Few people, even though trained and skilled in medicine, would be willing to go to such lengths to establish a thesis. In our inability and helplessness, we gladly turn our case over to someone competent to perform needed operations.

A great number, however, attempt self-surgery in the moral or spiritual sphere, seemingly unaware of the grave danger and certain failure. Take for example spiritual heart trouble. The Bible gives the diagnosis: "Out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies" (Matthew 15:19).

But who of his own effort can make his heart sound and perfect again? "Who can say, I have made my heart clean, I am pure from my sin?" (Proverbs 20:9). "Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean?" (Job 14:4). The answer: "Not one" (Job 14:4).

Only God can perform moral surgery successfully. "And the Lord thy God will circumcise thine heart, and the heart of thy seed, to love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, and with all thy soul, that thou mayest live" (Deuteronomy 10:6).

Let us pray, "Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me" (Psalm 51:10), and submit our spiritual illness into the hands of God.

Higher Bids Are Received on Small Tracts of Land

Higher bids on smaller tracts of land were the trend in the June 6 sale of forfeited land by the Veterans' Land Board. These higher figures are a result of many things, with rain the primary factor, says Land Commissioner Earl Rudder.

The influence of water was most noticeable in Medina County, where nine tracts had been offered several times before, but bidders showed no interest.

"Recent rains filled up nearby Medina Lake, however, and we experienced vigorous bidding on seven of the nine tracts," Commissioner Rudder says.

For the first time, the Veterans' Land Board in the June 6 sale, named the minimum amount acceptable on any tract.

"This eliminated many small bids from speculators," the land commissioner notes.

The sale brought in 164 bids on 37 tracts. Total bids amounted to $919,846.63. The total of high bids was $228,702.52. Highest bidder was Elnor S. Irby of Fort Worth, who bid $8,237.56 on 147 acres in Hamilton County. An excess in high bids over the previous principle invested amounted to $8,036.25.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Boren spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hrabal, of Black.

Those from this community attending the Carroll reunion at the YMCA boys camp in Dallas Saturday and Sunday were Mrs. J. A. Marr, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sandlin, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bowley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wiley and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Haynie and children, Jojlyn, Sharla and Joe.

Mrs. Reagan will remain with her mother in Crowell until he has completed his basic training.

Visitor in Truscott Honored with Coffee Last Wednesday

Mrs. Jack Henderson of Tulsa, Okla., was introduced to friends in Truscott by her husband's aunt, Mrs. Irene Gerald, at a coffee last Wednesday morning, June 26, at 9 a. m. Mrs. Edgar Jones was hostess for the party in her home near Truscott.

The table was covered with a dark green cloth and centered by an arrangement of white shasta daisies in a crystal compote. Mrs. Q. D. Williams of Floydada poured coffee from a silver coffee service. Mrs. Newell Looney served iced cakes at the opposite end of the table. A crystal and silver triple-tiered server offered chilled pineapple chunks, ling cherries, and white grapes. Other trays featured banana nut bread and hot butterscotch rolls. Twenty ladies visited and reminisced during the hour.
