However, Crowell's ground game looked a little superior to the Tigers.  May we extend a special welcome to all new students and freshmen.

Although many obstacles will arise for awhile because of the heat, we will make the best of it.
 We hope you will consider the following as your immediate efforts:

1. Begin now to work for and to support CHS and all of its activities.
2. Resolve now that you will make a personal contribution to maintain the record of citizenship and scholarship which students before you have established.
3. Plan now to engage in some school activity which will develop you as a student and help CHS excel as a school.
4. Decide now to contribute your part to maintain the excellent spirit and sportsmanship which have been so outstanding in recent years.
5. Determine now that you will always conduct yourself in such a way that you will reflect credit on your parents and on your school.

Plans have been made for the very best year in the history of the school. We want you to set for yourselves a standard of achievement which is equal in every way to your record size as a student body.

Let's all join together to make this an outstanding year.
 Grady Graves, Supt.
 Henry Black, Principal.

WARM WELCOME EXTENDED BY WILDCAT STAFF

Dear Wildcats,
 We, the staff of 1954-55, extend a warm greeting to you, the faculty and student body of Crowell High School.
 The "Wildcat" advocates democracy, sportsmanship and progress, and is constantly striving for the betterment of the school. We hope that this newspaper will become a necessary part of your school life and enhance into each individual a rich, full high school career. Please feel free that this is your newspaper and any suggestions or constructive criticism you may offer will be welcome.

 Thank you,
 The Wildcat Staff.

IT'S THE LITTLE THINGS THAT COUNT

Have you ever been classified as "the new kid"? If so, this title probably places a goal before you. If not, maybe it will add achievement and honor to your character.
 "The new kid" appreciates any attention or kind word from his would-be fellow classmates. The friendly "hi" you give to the girl in geometry may break the barrier for others to follow in your footsteps. The hint of appreciation in his or her face should and will put a warm feeling in your heart. By this consideration of another, you finish the day with a new and better attitude. Isn't it wonderful?
 With this in mind, let's each do our part in the greeting of new students. Let's see who can spread the largest welcome mat and the most cheerful "hi" to our new-coming friends.
 It could be you.

the faculty members? That's Clark Hitt, the new grade school principal.
 Mr. Hitt, who graduated from Lancaster High School in 1943, and holds a degree from Howard Payne and TCU, will take over the job that Miss Cora Carter has so ably held for the last eleven years.

Mr. Hitt has previously held positions at Forney, Lancaster and Griener junior high school in Dallas. As athletic director at Lancaster, Mr. Hitt was voted Coach of the Year twice by the Dallas Morning News. During this time, Lancaster won district championships twice in basketball, twice in baseball, and once in football.

Mr. Hitt, his wife, the former Miss Jo Zeisig, a Crowell High School graduate, and their two young daughters are welcomed by the students and faculty of Crowell High School.

CHS ANNUAL OF '55

Out with the old; on with the new. This applies to the new Roundup of '55. This year, unless plans are changed, a summer edition will be published. During the previous years we received our annuals in the spring, which made it impossible to cover all of the spring activities. A summer edition will make it possible to cover the gala Junior - Senior banquet, Senior Day, spring sports and other events.

The annual staff this year is composed of the following members: editors, Frances Kincaid, Betty Sue Bartley; business managers, Chun Gafford, Joe Don Brown; art editor, Doris Cates; typist, Ann Riethmayer; sponsor, Mrs. Doyle Kenner.

What will the theme of the new "Roundup" be? Who will get what? To find the answers to these questions, buy an annual.

BAND DIRECTOR INSTRUCTS AT BAND CAMP

E. L. Rickard, Crowell High School Band Director, worked on his master's degree at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls during the summer months. While attending college there, he directed classes at the Midwestern Summer Band Camp.

Mr. Rickard has literally three hands working at different levels at the present time. There is the Senior High School band which has been building up its instrumentation, getting new music, and doing much band practicing. The band has new uniform pants already and has hopes of getting the jackets and caps before the end of this school term.

The Junior High band is composed of members working at a less advanced level. Some of these members will advance to the senior band before the year is over. Mr. Richard also has a beginner's band which is the band all members start out in. They learn the fundamentals of music along with their instruments.

DRAWING AND GIRLS FAVORITES WITH GAFFORD

A shock of unruly brown hair, a friendly smile, and a flash of warm brown eyes characterizes Chun Gafford.
 Chun's likability is proved by his having been elected president of the senior class and having a job on both the annual and Wildcat staffs.

Next to watching a good football game, he likes to listen to jazz music, watch his favorite actress, Marilyn Monroe, or eat barbecued chicken or pizza pie.

The girls most likely to laugh at his jokes and resent a crew cut is to be found yet, so he says! True to popular tradition Chun does not work, but he plans to enter either Texas University or some good engineering school in the Eastern states.

After college he plans to go into the field of planning or designing; however, he is undecided as to exactly what he wants to plan or design!

SEWING SAVES THE DAY

"Oh, I don't know what I'll wear tomorrow night. I've worn my only good dress to the last three parties." This girl needs to join home economics.
 One of the main objects of Mrs. Doyle Kenner's home economics class is to teach girls how to sew. To some, sewing is old fashioned, but it is truly an art and will be worth one's time, besides being so very economical.

The girl mentioned above joined the home economics class, and she was the belle of the ball in her stunning "original."

CROWELL ROUTS FLOYDADA AND ELECTRA IN SCRIMMAGES

The Crowell Wildcats have met two strong AA ball clubs in the last two weeks while preparing for the coming '54 season.
 On August 27, Floydada's whirlwinds scrimmaged the Crowell lads here at the Wildcat stadium. The game proved to be a very hard fought contest with the Wildcats coming out on top with a score of 18 to 12. Gordon Graves counted for two TD's while Jimmy Thaxton chalked up the remaining six points.

On Sept. 3 Amonett's boys journeyed east to scrimmage Electra's strong team. The two ball clubs were very evenly matched and fought to a 12-12 deadlock.

The hard blocking Wildcat line paved the way for the fleet footed lads with Gerry Knox and Gordon Graves going the final yards for the tallies.

The ball club is coming along fine, and it looks as if they will open on Sept. 17 when the Crowell boys meet the Matador Bull-fighters at Matador.

Hoe Hands Own Board and Free Gratis

Hoe hands who work their own board pay 345 acres of cotton in Motley county farmer, when Billy Hand un- squawking geese in his

"careless" weeds which geese won't destroy, the field was cleaned—just as if regular hoe hands had done the job.

"One week convinced me," said Hand, "as long as I plant cotton I'll keep geese." His inspiration came after watching three of the fowls "mow" grass on the front lawn. Hand and a neighbor, Charles Long, traveled to Las Cruces, N. M., to get the birds. Long also has found them extremely satisfactory.

"The geese work at night when the moon is shining. They stay in the shade of the water wagon when the sun is hot and usually begin work about five o'clock. They seem to be singing all the time," Hand said.

The only cost of running the geese has been 100 pounds of barley each day. The efficiency of the fowls is not limited to their capacity for food, says Pallmeyer. They apparently eat only a small portion of the grass they destroy. They pull it up, leaving it to die in the middle. They attack tall Johnson grass at the top and cut it to the ground, eating some in the process.

In a few instances the geese nip the cotton, especially around the water wagon, as if they might be appeasing some form of restlessness, notes Hand. No insects were found in fields where the birds worked—to make geese even more attractive to farmer Hand.

QUICK THINKING SAVES 3

Covington, Ky. — The quick thinking of Mrs. Howard McKinney, saved three little children from death when their apartment caught fire. Mrs. McKinney led two of the children out and put the third child, 3 months old, in a suit case which she kicked across the floor to the doorway. One of the children saved was her own — the other two were children of a friend.

You're Working for the Government!

Citizens Public Expenditure Survey defines a taxpayer as "one who doesn't have to pass a civil service exam to work for the government."

The average man in the $4500 bracket works one day in every three to earn tax money alone! If he is employed on the usual 40-hour, five-day week basis, he works more hours to pay his taxes than he does to meet both his housing and clothing needs.

That's a bleak picture. But a ray of sunlight is found in the fact that the new federal budget marks a reduction from its predecessors—and that the tax cuts proposed by the Administration and authorized by Congress have provided us with some measure of relief.

Now the hope is that larger cuts in both spending and taxes will be possible in the future. Practically everyone, in and out of government, wants that. But the goal will be impossible of attainment unless it is honestly supported by the public at large. That means we must do much more than just advocate economy as a vague general principle. We must be willing to approve economy moves when they directly affect us—not the other fellow only. Long ago it was said that the people get the kind of government they deserve, and that goes for fiscal affairs as well as everything else.

An Amazing System

More and more economists are agreeing that the key to high employment and good times in this country is consumption—the sound kind of consumption that stems, not from government pump priming or any other such inflationary activity, but from progressive free enterprise coupled with high employment at good wages.

Our magnificent productive machine would grind to a halt in short order if the goods didn't move in huge volume into the hands of consumers.

This simply means that the job done by our retail industry—chains and independents, big stores and little stores, city stores and village stores—will decide how our economy and the living standards of the people will fare. Luckily we have the finest retail establishment on earth—and an amazing system of mass distribution, pioneered by chain stores, that is the full partner of mass production.

Barnacles are small shellfish which attach themselves to the bottom of a ship.

An Oil Well

Many a property owner has dreamed of striking oil on his land. But what a shock he would get today if he had to drill the well himself.

First, the cost of drilling a 10,000 foot well would range from $250,000 to $1,000,000, depending on widely varying conditions. Equipment needed would be a complete rig, weighing about 200 tons; 10,000 to 12,000 feet of drill pipe; 12,000 feet of casing; 25 to 100,000 feet of casing; 1,000 tons of drilling mud additives; 2,000 to 50,000 sacks of cement; 48,000 barrels of water and 3,000 barrels of fuel oil, plus the services of 125 skilled workers, working full- or part-time. Then he might wind up with a nonproducer.

According to the record, of 49,325 wells drilled in the U. S. in 1953, 25,748 were oil wells; 3,801 were gas wells; 18,509 were dry holes; and 1,267 were service wells. Total footage drilled amounted to almost 200 million feet, four times the earth's diameter.

Fortunately for land owners they don't have to risk drilling a well—they can lease to oil companies if they so desire and if prospects seem favorable.

Scientific knowledge and courage are prerequisites for any drilling venture. Risk taking based on the hope of profit is the incentive that spurs American oil companies to keep pace with oil demand and add to the nation's reserves for the future.

Anti-Socialist Policy

A definite step forward has been taken in an effort to end federal activities which compete with private enterprise.

This is found in a measure which was unanimously approved by the House Government Operations Committee. It makes this statement of policy: "The Federal Government shall not engage in business-type operations competitive with private enterprise except where it can be demonstrated that it is necessary for the government itself to perform such operations in the furtherance of national programs and objectives legally established."

This policy can save the taxpayers billions. Now let it be backed up with concrete action.

Admiral George Dewey was called the "Hero of Manila."

The "Bad Lands" are waste lands in the Dakotas and Wyoming.

Each state is entitled to as many electors as it has senators and representatives.

Two Questions

A leader in the financial community recently said that he was repeatedly asked if, in his opinion, the stock market will continue to rise, and if there is any possibility of a major bust of the 1929 order.

He then said that no one can give categorical answers to such questions. However, he added, to most people away from the 1929 market, and there are many important safeguards existing now, set up both by the stock exchanges and government agencies, which did not exist in former days. Finally, he made this important observation: "Each investor is urged to seek out a reliable broker who will assist him in getting the facts and in tailoring the risks he assumes to his capacity to bear them. History shows that investors who have followed this policy in the past and who have invested in well managed companies have weathered intermediate storms, and have gone on to profit from owning a share of American business in our expanding economy. Similarly in the present the person who invests prudently will, by owning his share of American business, stand to profit from the tremendous growth which lies ahead for America."

More and more people of moderate means are investing a part of their savings in stocks—in the first three months after a new installment-payment system of buying stocks went into effect, 15,000 such accounts were opened. The broader the ownership base on which free enterprise rests, the stronger it will be over the long pull.

Socialized Medicine

We don't hear as much as we used to about socialized or government-bossed medicine. But those who seek these goals haven't given up—they are waiting and hoping for a more favorable climate in which to act. And one of their arguments is that some such step is particularly necessary if we are to have adequate medical service in the rural areas.

A year ago a group of Wisconsin farm women decided to investigate this idea, and to learn more about socialized medicine. The results have been published in a late issue of the Wisconsin Agriculturalist and Farmer, over the byline of Mrs. Willard Murray, the wife of a farmer. The whole article is a strong and reasoned condemnation of socialized medicine. Its main point is expressed in these words: "More progress is made where a free initiative is in power than where it is stifled by a lot of government red tape and huge debts."

So far as rural health is concerned, very marked progress has been made in recent years, and this no doubt has strongly influenced thinking in the grass roots. The American Medical Association has sponsored state and national conferences on rural health, in which problems are pinpointed and solution produced. There can be no doubt that rural health and rural medical care are both better than ever before—and are continuing to get better, under our free system. The best case maintaining that system, in medicine and everything else, is found in the plain facts.

Where All Can Agree

There are two schools of thought among top experts concerning the future of electric power production on a commercial basis from nuclear energy. One school believes that the problems can be solved in a relatively short time. The other believes that both the technical and the economic problems are so complex and so difficult that, at best, many years will pass before widespread use of such power will be feasible.

The layman is lost in such scientific controversies as this. But there is one other big item in the picture where there are few differences of opinion—and which the layman can understand as well as any scientist or engineer. It is this: Private enterprise must be encouraged to participate to the maximum extent in peacetime atomic development if the nation is to get the maximum benefits in the minimum time.

Progress is always stifled by monopoly, whether that monopoly be governmental or other. Progress is served most fully by competition, and by cooperation among all interested and qualified groups. With private enterprise participating in atomic development, we will be assured that all possible resources—human and material—will be brought to bear on the manifold problems.

Top Atomic Energy Commission officials have said this in effect. Such a policy points the way to eventually making the atom a marvelous tool of peace, instead of being only a weapon of incredible destructive power.

Profits, Wages and Income

Industry has earned good profits in late years—a fact that has been widely publicized. What needs equal publicizing is the fact that other factors in the economic picture showed much greater gains.

For example, in the 1939-53 period corporate net profits rose by $15,000,000,000. But wages and other compensation to employees rose by $160,000,000,000 and the national income increased by an amazing $235,000,000,000.

Generally speaking, even the best years a corporation's profits are much less than its wage costs. And in many cases they are much less than its tax payments.

Unique Problems

Contrary to the belief of many people, the profits earned by the meat packers, measured as a percentage of their sales, are among the lowest for a major industry. That isn't because the packers are any more charitably-inclined than the rest of us. It is the result, for one thing, of the fact that packing is a highly competitive enterprise which is 100 per cent dominated by the natural law of supply and demand. And for another thing, the packing business involves some unique problems.

A packer, unlike most manufacturers, has no stock pile of raw materials to fall back on when needed. He doesn't know from day to day how many animals will come to market or what he will have to pay for them. Such an unpredictable factor as weather

Game and Fish Commission Urges Caution with Firearms

H. D. Dodgen, Executive Secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission cautioned Texans against blighting the fall hunting sport by carelessness with firearms.

He said safety forces have been reducing the casualty toll in recent years, particularly in Texas in the last two years, but added that as long as loaded guns are taken into the field the hazard exists.

The Executive Secretary said deaths from firearms during the fall game harvest has been cut from thirty-two in 1951 to nineteen for both 1952 and 1953.

He pointed out that in addition to the nineteen fatal accidents from firearms reported to the Commission in 1953, there were six fatalities to duck hunters through drowning.

It was considered significant that twelve of the nineteen firearms casualties listed for last fall, were not caused by the victim. In other words, the fatal accidents were from guns held by someone else.

Of the self-inflicted wounds that proved fatal, according to the Executive Secretary, most of them were from the causes "as old as man." Leading reasons given for the hunters' accidentally killing themselves included: crawling under a fence, taking loaded gun from automobile, pulling gun toward self, muzzle first.

"It is urgent," he said, "that everyone treat a loaded gun with the utmost care. The hunters simply have to realize that the shotgun, which is the most common of the harvest weapons, is deadly when fired at close range."

He also cautioned hunters to be careful about keeping the gun barrels clear of foreign obstacles since earth and other obstructions oftentimes cause guns to explode when fired, but concluded: "Hunting is as safe as any sport when done with reasonable care."

When Grazing Is Short, Livestock Supplemental Feeds

Because more cattle slaughtered this year, will enter 1955 with fewer than a year ago. The large killings are due partly to weather and partly to interest in expanding beef herds in some regions, said Burkett, County Agent.

Beef production is running record levels. Prices for fat are not likely to change this fall while prices of lean cattle can be expected to trend seasonally downward to continue considerably the rather high prices of last season. Prices for hogs are expected to be higher in price than in a more favorable position those in drought areas which is short and higher in price since mid-July, more hogs are being slaughtered than ago. There now appears to be prospect for any substantial recovery until the fall season is past, the agent said.

15th ANNIVERSARY

Fifteen years ago in September, W. R. Wornack bought his first butane truck and installed his first domestic system. Very little was known about the industry at that time. It was in its infancy.

Today, we of the W. R. Wornack Butane Co., wish to take this opportunity to thank each one of you, our customers, for the part you have played in helping us bring a better way of life to the rural residents of Ford and surrounding counties.

Your faith in our honesty and integrity has helped us add from year to year the necessary equipment and personnel to serve you better and, during the trying years of the war and after when things were so scarce, even butane was limited, your patience enabled us to stay in business.

We feel a keen sense of responsibility to each customer to serve you better each year. Thanks for your business.

We appreciate your loyalty and by the grace of God and your continued support we hope to serve each of you with SAFETY, HONESTY, AND ECONOMY.

State Capitol NEWS

by VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Texas — Texas' conservatives, with a champion in Governor Allan Shivers, are now looking confidently toward the September 14 state Democratic convention at Mineral Wells.

Control of the convention is already assured the Governor by July precinct and county conventions which were largely captured by the state's conservative element.

In the Mineral Wells move to set up a solid conservative state organization for the next two years, Shivers is expected to:

1. Name a successor to Wright Morrow, conservative Democratic National Committeeman who has been denied a seat by the national committee. Morrow had agreed to step aside, but the state organization refused his resignation.
2. Lend impetus to the move by conservative elements to replace liberal Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell with someone acceptable to Dixie and Southwestern conservatives.

Judge Broadfoot of Bonham was chosen by the Supreme Court after Judge Laughlin was removed. His 7th District Court includes Starr, Brooks, and Duval Counties.

Indications are, however, that Judge Laughlin may soon be back at his old bench. He has successfully campaigned for Democratic renomination for the two years remaining on his term.

Until his assumed return to the bench January 1, Governor Allan Shivers or the Supreme Court Chief Justice will appoint a successor to Judge Broadfoot.

Business Record
Texas business may break all previous records this year.

Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, says his prediction will be true if the remainder of 1954 looks like the first seven months.

Stockton reported that Texas' business for the first seven months was the highest of any year's similar period.

School Increase
A 22.5 per cent increase in the state public school attendance is forecast by a school survey, just completed.

The 308,000 daily jump in numbers of students was predicted by the Texas Research League, now preparing research reports of the Gilmer-Aiken financing program for the State Board of Education.

Enrollment in the school year ended last June was 1,569,000, the league reported.

Liquor Revenue
July revenue of the Texas Liquor Control Board climbed $35,000 over the July, 1953, mark, the Board's report shows.

Totals for the month showed $1,375,582.53 in revenue, filing of 254 criminal complaints by enforcement officers, and the seizure of one moonshine still by inspectors.

Over 850,000 people commute to New York City daily.

Democrats . . . to return the favor."

New Judges
Shivers will appoint, sometime after September 14, an associate justice of the Texas Supreme Court and 10 new district judges.

Appointed to fill the position of the late Associate Justice Graham B. Smedley during the remainder of 1954 will probably be the same person nominated by the state executive committee September 13 for the job.

The name will then go on the November 2 ballot, as the Democratic nominee for the post, which is a 1955-59 term.

Highway Award
Highest safety award presented by the National Safety Council has gone to the Texas Highway Department.

The Award of Honor is given for accident prevention achievement. Of 905 eligible organizations, only 12 received the pat-on-the-back.

Drought Help
Four more Texas counties have been recommended for the state federal drought program by Governor Allan Shivers.

Drought relief was asked to be extended to ranchers and farmers of Brazos, Dickens, Kent and Montague Counties. Seventy-five have previously been approved for the aid.

Broadfoot to Retire
Called from retirement five months ago to replace District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin in George Parr's South Texas kingdom, Judge A. S. Broadfoot has again announced his retirement.

Judge Broadfoot of Bonham was chosen by the Supreme Court after Judge Laughlin was removed. His 7th District Court includes Starr, Brooks, and Duval Counties.

Indications are, however, that Judge Laughlin may soon be back at his old bench. He has successfully campaigned for Democratic renomination for the two years remaining on his term.

Until his assumed return to the bench January 1, Governor Allan Shivers or the Supreme Court Chief Justice will appoint a successor to Judge Broadfoot.

Business Record
Texas business may break all previous records this year.

Dr. John R. Stockton, director of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, says his prediction will be true if the remainder of 1954 looks like the first seven months.

Stockton reported that Texas' business for the first seven months was the highest of any year's similar period.

School Increase
A 22.5 per cent increase in the state public school attendance is forecast by a school survey, just completed.

The 308,000 daily jump in numbers of students was predicted by the Texas Research League, now preparing research reports of the Gilmer-Aiken financing program for the State Board of Education.

Enrollment in the school year ended last June was 1,569,000, the league reported.

Liquor Revenue
July revenue of the Texas Liquor Control Board climbed $35,000 over the July, 1953, mark, the Board's report shows.

Totals for the month showed $1,375,582.53 in revenue, filing of 254 criminal complaints by enforcement officers, and the seizure of one moonshine still by inspectors.

Over 850,000 people commute to New York City daily.

There were only 13 cases of smallpox in the U. S. in 1951.

Thousands of Free Exhibits Slated for State Fair of Texas

Thousands of free exhibits at the 1954 State Fair of Texas, Oct. 9-24, will mirror modern progress for today's fairgoers just as surely as the spices, fabrics and costumes brought the glamor of faraway places into the lives of visitors to ancient market fairs in Old Testament times.

The exhibits panorama this year is more colorful than ever at the State Fair in Dallas, America's biggest annual exposition.

Two important modern industries will celebrate anniversaries at the 1954 fair. The Diamond Jubilee of Light will commemorate the harnessing of electric power and the 75th birthday of the telephone in Texas will be marked by an historical exhibit of oldtime instruments.

The magical "Kitchen of Tomorrow," whose miraculous workings were recently shown on Arthur Godfrey's television show, will be seen for the first time in the Southwest in the Electric Show. The dream kitchen has cabinet doors that open with a wave of the hand, new type refrigerator, freezer compartment, and electronic range. The Electric Building will be lit by the world's largest electric light bulb, a 75,000-watt bulb especially for the Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Fairgoers will be able to look into the crystal ball of the automobile industry and see what is in the future for the motorists of tomorrow at the colorful 38th Southwestern Automotive Exposition. The most advanced experimental cars in the world will hold the spotlight in the mammoth auto show.

The new air-conditioned Women's Building will house a glamorous array of precious gems, couture gowns, exclusive millinery, custom-made footwear, fine furs, lingerie and perfumes. There will be daily free style shows of "made in Texas" fashions, and more of the popular traditional displays of needlework, foods and other household skills than ever before.

Boots, saddles, seeds, farm and ranch machinery will share space in the Agriculture Building with the "Research for Texas Agriculture" show which dramatizes the work of Texas A&M scientists.

The outdoor exhibits of farm machinery, valued at well over two million dollars, will include everything from tractors to heavy earth-moving equipment.

The Antique Auto Show will feature the old machines that pioneered the automobile's struggle to replace the horse and buggy.

Need Cited to Identify Tractors on Highway

Death is a silent rider on the farm tractor. Whether the "Grim Reaper" strikes depends upon many things, but most are man-controlled. Failure to properly identify the farm tractor when used on the highway is a chief cause of automobile-tractor wrecks.

A single white light was the only rear end identification on this farm tractor. The driver, traveling in pre-dawn darkness on a busy Texas highway, was overtaken by a fast-moving automobile. The white light on the wrong side of the road confused the auto driver. He swerved when he finally saw the tractor but too late. The tractor driver lay dead. The other critically injured. A new automobile and a farm tractor were scattered along the roadside. A terrible price to pay for improper lighting.

According to Joe Burkett, County Agent, this is no isolated example of what happens many times every year. Rear end collisions account for 36 per cent of the tractor accidents and 14 tractor-driver fatalities occur for each auto fatality from highway tractor-auto accidents.

Here is Burkett's answer to the problem. Be sure you can see ahead, to the side and rear of the vehicle you are operating. Be sure that others can see your tractor. Use flags during the day and proper lighting at night to identify it. Be sure the steering mechanism is in good shape. More than two inches of play in the steering wheel is too much. Be sure you can stop. Keep brakes equalized and in adjustment for quick stops. Be familiar with the tractor you are operating and don't carry passengers.

And finally, says Burkett, remember, the life you save may

Health Department Needed in Average Texas Community

What the average community needs is a well organized health department to protect the health of the people, says Dr. Henry A. Holle, State Health Officer. Such a department will emphasize at least five types of activities to safeguard child health.

"These activities are: (1) the safeguarding of child health and motherhood; (2) the control of contagion; (3) accurate recording of births and deaths; (4) support of public health laboratories; and (5) sanitary control of diseases spread from human waste and by vermin and insects."

"The full time local health unit gives due emphasis to each of the above mentioned activities. To illustrate how these five essential functions are inter-related, the interest of the various divisions in the new born baby, pre-school and school child may be cited as an example. Child health is safeguarded by providing information and instruction to the mother. Through the use of vital statistics, complete and accurate birth registration is kept, as well as records indicating deaths which occur among children from preventable diseases.

"Contagion is prevented or controlled against further spread through the encouragement of immunization early in life, through the prompt reporting of infectious disease. Public health laboratories and sanitary engineers provide additional bulwarks of protection for child life.

"Adequate health organization and wholehearted support on the part of various state and local agencies are essential if these activities are to be successfully maintained."

be your own. The 14 to 1 odds strongly emphasize this fact and the importance of preventing tractor-auto collisions on the highway.

How the Preference Clause Works

Much criticism has been made of the "preference" clause which governs the sale of government-produced electric power. It is important that everyone understand just how unfair the clause is, and how it works.

To take a typical example, suppose the government builds a flood-control dam and has as a by-product a large amount of power to sell. It would seem logical that the government, after establishing a price for the power, would sell it without discrimination to any distributor who wanted it—whether municipalities, REA co-ops, or the taxpaying, publicly-regulated private utilities. But the preference clause won't permit that. As interpreted, it makes it obligatory that this power must go first to customers certain "public bodies."

What this means has been described in these words by an authority: "Thus, the 'preference' clause has been used to make sure that certain consumers (distributing companies)—are allowed to buy electricity while all the taxpayers who do buy their electricity from electric companies (about 80 per cent of all the consumers) have only what's left over."

This is a manifest injustice to consumers. It is also a manifest injustice to all taxpayers— "public bodies" pay little or nothing in taxes, while the publicly managed utilities pay more than 20 per cent of all their revenue in taxes.

Our Weekly Sermon
BEAT THE CLOCK!
Whee, what a run that was! Never again can any say that the English are "slow," for did not Roger Bannister run faster than any man has run?
In 3 minutes, 59.4 seconds he covered one mile. The eyes of all the world were on this race against time, for none other had ever matched such speed!
But why was he running? Did he have a message to deliver? Did he save a life with this extra burst of speed? No, he ran just to see how fast he could run. He has his reward—he outdistanced all the pursuers of his generation.
There is another race, which does not claim speed, but endurance. "The race is not to the swift," we read in Ecclesiastes 9:11. I am not as interested in the fellow who runs the fastest, in the man who is always ready to run, in the chap who is always ready to run when called upon to do so.
You and I may not think of ourselves as "racers," yet many of us are engaged in the most serious race man ever set himself to. We are lined up as gospel messengers. Sunday school teachers are in our ranks, ministers are here, and officers, too. Believers all, we are scheduled not against pursuers, not against one another, but against the hands on the clock. Time is running out—what are we to do, we must do now!
We have a message to deliver, a story to tell of God's love. We must do it while we have time, health and strength. We must run well and impress these holy truths upon men's hearts while they are still with us.
When we have completed our mission, when age has slowed us to a walk, we will say, "The race has been worth that which they run in a race run all!"

$1.00 Buys a Lot of Information From Soil Testing Lab

Getting the most production from every acre on the farm is just good business.

To do this, says Joe Burkett, County Agent, more information is needed than can be gleaned from actually working the soil and watching crops grow on it.

The chemical laboratory with its test tubes and machines and expert technicians is needed to get information which can be used by the farmer to increase yields and the returns from farming.

The basis for soil building, says Burkett, should be a soil testing program. Fields on which winter pastures and legumes will soon be planted should be tested now.

Burkett points out that several weeks are required to complete the laboratory work on the soil samples, to analyze the results and write up the recommended practices and get them back to the farmer for his use.

For the soil testing dollar, here's what you get... an analysis showing the amount of organic matter in the soil; nitrogen (computed); soil reaction; available phosphoric acid; available potash; available lime and soluble salts. Recommendations will cover such items as the type and amount of fertilizers needed for particular crops and cropping practices.

Since the soil testing laboratory at A&M College commenced operations in the fall of 1950, the volume of samples submitted for testing has steadily increased. Last year 10,497 samples were handled by the laboratory. Three other such facilities have been established in the state to speed up the program and to get the laboratories closer to the farm.

"It is next to impossible to diagnose some diseases without a laboratory," says Burkett, "and knowing what ails an unproductive soil requires the same study." For the soil's sake, get it tested. Then follow the prescription offered for its improvement.

CROWELL GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. L. A. Andrews was speaker for 14 members of the Crowell Garden Club Friday morning in the home of Mrs. Glen Fox. This marked the opening of the club term. Hostesses were Mrs. Fox and Mrs. Grover Phillips.

Distributed at that time were the new yearbooks which have been devoted to "Operation: Flowers; Conversation; Horticulture." Included in the course of study are program on flower arrangement; factors; flower show horticulture; Christmas decorations; propagation; drought resistant plants, and at least one and perhaps two pilgrimages to be made in the spring.

Of outstanding interest is the fact that Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Phillips became Nationally Accredited Flower Show Judges in July of this year.

Projects of the club include enlarging the shelf of garden books in the Foard County Library; Memorial Park landscaping at the cemetery, and Christmas decorations for the local hospital.

Mrs. Grover Phillips is to be general chairman of the spring and fall flower shows for which officials will include Mrs. Jack Roberts Jr., entries and classification; Mrs. Glen Fox and Mrs. Foster Davis, placement; Mrs. Roy Fox, staging; Mrs. Nelson Oilphant, junior work; Mrs. R. J. Thomas, awards; Mrs. L. A. Andrews, schedule; Mrs. Hartley Easley and Mrs. Leslie McAdams, hospitality.

At this September 3 meeting, plans were made and discussed concerning the placement flower show, Salute to Fall, to be held in the afternoon on October 8 in the home of Mrs. Jack Roberts Jr. The public is cordially invited to attend this show.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

Mrs. R. J. Thomas, Mrs. M. N. Kenner and Mrs. Roy Barker were hostesses to the Columbian Club at Mrs. Thomas' home Wednesday morning, Sept. 1, for a "Bonnet Breakfast." Mrs. Kenner presented each guest with a crepe paper bonnet at the door which set the mood for the beginning of the Texas study from pre-pioneer days up to the present.

Following the breakfast, Mrs. Van Browning brought a brief word of greeting. Mrs. Bert Sief reviewed the study for the coming year, pointing out the privileges and responsibilities of those on the program.

Mrs. Jack Roberts Jr., in charge of the music for the morning's program, gave a historical review of the story behind the state song of Texas, then played "Texas, Our Texas" on the piano. Melodies by other Texas song writers, Julia D. Owen of Navasota, Mona M. Nelson of Wichita Falls, Tex. McCord of Electra, Carl Wilson Baker and Ida Pritchett, collaborators in the writing of "Pine Tree Hymn" and songs about Texas were reviewed and then played. Continuing her musical, Mrs. Roberts played "Home in San Antonio," "It Is No Secret," by Stuart Hamblen, former resident of Crowell, "Beautiful Texas" and many others. This concluded a pleasant morning of music and fellowship to open the forty-fifth year of the Columbian Club's organization.

ADELPHIAN CLUB

The Sandifer Cub Hut was the scene of the Adelphian Club's first meeting of the fiscal year held Thursday evening, Sept. 2, when the members entertained their husbands with a tempting meal and an interesting program.

On the program for the "Gentlemen's Evening" was a "Mad Hatters" contest presented by Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. Loraine Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Bill McClain and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Borchardt; an interesting talk by Dr. Martin Krallick, who, with the aid of picture slides, took the audience into the war-stricken country of Korea, and showed them what the U. S. Army is doing there. Both of these phases of the program were enjoyed by those present.

The hostesses for the evening were Mesdames L. A. Andrews, Tom McCandless, Lewis Sloan and J. C. Prosser.

Child Traffic Safety Program in Progress in Texas This Month

"Things get done when people do them together, and this is especially true in the field of child traffic safety."

Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, President of the Texas Safety Association, and Services Advisor for the Gulf Oil Corporation, made that statement this week in urging the cooperation of all the people in Texas in making a success of the child traffic safety program being sponsored locally this month by the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council.

"If we are to keep our children safe in traffic," he said, "it's going to take the combined efforts of motorists, parents and the children themselves."

The role of parents in this three-way safety effort is very important, Col. Tilley pointed out, for parents can regulate to a large extent the activities of their children, keeping them away from dangerous traffic areas when they are not under the direct supervision of an adult. Parents also have many opportunities to teach children good safety habits.

"Of course," he said, "one of the best ways to do this is by example. If parents—and all adults—are careful always to follow safety rules, it will do much to instill in children respect for and obedience to these rules."

He pointed out that children don't have adult judgment, however, and that even when they have the very best training they sometimes are going to be unpredictable in traffic situations.

"This is where the motorist must do his part," Col. Tilley said. "It is up to the drivers to be especially alert near school playgrounds, in residential areas and any place children are expected to gather."

At the same time children themselves must do the best they can to walk and play safely, obeying the rules they have been taught.

"Schools are doing a fine job of teaching safety, from garten right through high school," he said, "and the police can help keep children safe on our streets."

"But if this child safety program of the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Department of Public Safety and the National Safety Council is to become effective—if we are to keep the tragic toll of child traffic fatalities from rising—we must work together to accomplish our purpose."
