DEAR DIARY

Well, my high school days are rapidly coming to an end, and commencement approaching. It's funny, all through the long weary years of school, my one ambition was to graduate, and yet as the "big moment" approaches nearer and nearer, I spend more and more time fondly reminiscing of days gone by.

It seems only yesterday since first I timidly entered the Crowell Elementary School. How well I remember my first trip to the office, along with the rest of the class.

And, then there was one of the most memorable occasions in my life—the day I became a "fish." Never in my life was I more bewildered. Crowell High School is small compared with many other large schools in the state, and yet I invariably lost

FOR THAT RAINY DAY

The wise man doesn't wait 'til the rain falls before he gets himself an umbrella. Same sound sense applies to financial "rainy days." The money you meant to save—but didn't—won't do you a bit of good. Only money that will count is what you DID save . . . regularly, systematically, every pay day. Let your ever-growing account be your "umbrella" . . . and you can take life's "rainy days" in your stride.

my way as I sought my class rooms. My official title was the dumbest kid in high school. Of course, there were many things to look forward to.

One of the big events was the senior trip. Gads, what a problem I had packing—I knew I wouldn't be able to pack all the things I needed, but I couldn't possibly do without my sun glasses, or my sun tan oil, or my bathing suit, or . . . ?

Naturally, the question of which college to attend is taxing my brain. Above all things, it must be a co-ed college. I mean, what's a college without boys and girls.

Another problem is future transportation. I haven't been able to convince my parents that I surely need a new convertible. I guess I'd better get my thumb in practice.

But dear diary, all things accounted for, I suppose there are many more things to look forward to in the future than things to look back at in the past. Where do we go from here? When the first atomic bombs were dropped during the last war, it was thought that the ultimate in warfare had been attained. However, that was not the case, and the hydrogen bomb is one hundred times more powerful than the first atomic bomb.

As horrible as this may seem, science has discovered the cobalt bomb (the hydrogen bomb in a case of high radioactive cobalt). This bomb is so powerful that it could possibly destroy all life on earth. Even the H bomb, when exploded, could start a chain reaction that would turn the world into total destruction.

All the world is watching. Our maker is watching, too. It is the sacred trust of the United States as a world leader to try to lead the world to peaceful friendship. Each of us must decide upon his part as a peaceful citizen in a peaceful world.

HONOR STUDENTS GRAVES, GAFFORD WIN SCHOLARSHIPS

Crowell High honor students were announced last week by Grady Graves, superintendent.

Billye Bell Graves won a scholarship for being highest ranking senior student scholastically in C. H. S. She can go to any state or denominational school in Texas. John Tarleton in Stephenville is the school preference of Billye. She plans to major in education. Chun Gafford is the salutatorian.

SIAMESE TWINS TO LEAD SEPARATE LIVES—Prissana, left, and Napit Polpinyo, 23-month-old Thai siamese twins who were successfully separated at the University of Chicago medical center, are shown here with their nurse, Miss Jirapon Karsensak, in the first pictures permitted since their separation. The twin girls are fully recovered and ready to return to Thailand later this month.

The school of his choice is Oklahoma A&M where he plans to take an engineering course.

An honor graduate must have an average of 90 or above for the four years of high school. Other honor students are Wanda Murphy, Gordon Graves, Frances Kincaid, Clara Faske, Billye McCoy Elliott and Lena Faye White.

In September when school starts again, Gordon will be at John Tarleton, Frances at State University, Clara at Midwestern University, Billye at Draughon's Business College, Lena Faye at business college in Fort Worth, and Wanda — wedding bells, we hear. Lucky boy—Jack Driver of Quanah.

MY ADVICE TO THE JUNIOR CLASS

Hold your head up high. It will take all the pride and self-confidence you possess to get you through the coming year, because during it, you will find out just how little you do know. Prepare for it carefully. It holds for you happy and sad occasions; busy and leisure times.

First of all, I would say to you, "Work." Work for your class, your school, yourself. The success of any class depends upon each of its individual members and the work produced by each member.

Your class will need money if it is to take a senior trip, the highlight of twelve years of school. You will probably be called upon to do everything from baking cakes to working in an office. The more cooperation each student gives, the more success the class as a whole will have.

Next, work for your school. Your influence as seniors will count much more than you can realize. The first through the eleventh grades will be watching you. They will look up to you as the leaders of the school. The example you set will reflect upon the school and its reputation. The least you can do for your alma mater is your very best.

Work for yourself. You will not be asked to do anything that will not be of benefit to you. Every dollar that you make for your class will be spent by you. Every hour spent studying will be one more hour of knowledge gained. The decisions that you will be making shall make a profound impression upon your future. Make each thing you do worthy of you.

That is my advice to you, the individual members of the Junior class of 1955. Work and your senior year will be a successful one. It will be one in which you can look back upon with a feeling of pride.

My advice to the class as a whole is this: Choose capable leaders that you will be glad to follow and cooperate with. Plan your last year wisely, so that your financial conditions will be in good shape. Cooperate with the school in order that the very best for all can be achieved.

Don't forget this one thing. Your senior year is your most important one. It is your last year under the watchfulness of people who really care. Make it a good one.

—by Wanda Murphy.

SENIOR NOTE OF THANKS

Dear Mr. Graves, Mr. Black and Faculty:

In September, 1951, we, as freshmen, stood looking toward CHS with excitement, hope, and a little fear.

We were excited because we were making a big step, and everything would be different.

In September, 1952, we, as sophomores, came toward school with a feeling of superiority over the freshmen.

Now the 1954-55 school year is drawing to close, and our names will be added to the long list of CHS alumnae; we shall not be here to run for classes, join in the yelling at pep rallies or participate in school activities next year.

To put into words how the senior class feels about its stay at CHS would be quite impossible.

The experiences and lessons we learned have been a teacher for the future, making us more capable to be better citizens of America. The knowledge we have found through the faculty in guiding

May 6, at 3:30 an FHA tea was held for the FHA mothers of Crowell at the Crowell High School auditorium.

After refreshments were served, a program on FHA affairs was presented. Doris Cates welcomed the guests and then Anna Marie Faske, DeAnna Ferguson, and Latrelle Duckworth told of their trip to the FHA state meeting at Galveston. Following this, Mrs. Doyle Kenner showed slides which were taken on the trip. Jo Helen Aly acted as toastmistress.

TEA HONORS FUTURE FRESHMEN

Thursday afternoon, May 12, the first period homemaking class honored the eighth grade girls with a tea. A touch of mystery was added when their fortunes were revealed, and later "side splitting" imitations were executed by everyone.

Delicious refreshments consisting of pecan cookies and lemonade were served by the Homemaking I class.

SPORTS REVIEW OF '54-'55

Crowell High School's athletes made a very good showing the past year. As we turn the clock back, we hear the impact of bodies and see the teeth and flesh of Coach Amone's football boys. The Wildcat team finished third in the district.

A few days of rest, soda pops and candy followed, before the boys donned basketball uniforms. The boys had a very successful season, winning the district and second in the regional tournament at Denton. Following basketball, track and baseball came.

One member of the track team, Jimmy Thaxton, earned a trip to Dallas by winning second place in the broad jump at the district meet.

Baseball then took over the spotlight. The team, composed mainly of freshmen and sophomores, did considerably better than the year before. The team finished with a 3-3 record. Strong pitching and hitting seniors, Mike Wishon and Billy John Rader, sparked the team.

The girls in old CHS contributed their part to sports also. The volleyball team, coached by Tiny Taylor, won second in the district meet at Chillicothe.

The pep squad did a fine job of cheering for the football team every Friday night—oh, those Saturday morning sore throats.

So, as we return to the present time, we decide that it hasn't been a bad year in sports after all. To call one first place and two third places in district competition in the three primary sports of CHS a bad showing is crazy, man.

Here come the summer months; so let those bruises and wounds heal, get a good tan, work or loaf. Also, let's just have a good ole rest.

same bird that lays 250 eggs yearly will consume about 81 pounds. Feed costs make up 60 percent or more of the total cost of producing eggs, says Burkett. By culling closely, producers can cut feed costs per dozen eggs and help maintain their profits, he adds.

Go along the roost at night with a flashlight and check the health signs of hens in production. Look for enlarged combs and wattles with a bright red color. They feel soft and waxy. Then hen's abdomen should be enlarged, says Burkett, but still soft and pliable. And, her pubic bones should be wide apart, with the vent, loose, moist and dilated. A good layer has loose, soft and pliable skin.

If a bird fails to meet these standards, put her in a crate and examine her again in the daylight, adds Burkett. If she doesn't pass the test, cull her.

Austin, Tex.—This may be the final adjournment of the 1955 Legislative session.

Gov. Allan Shivers' guess for final adjournment, made two weeks ago, was May 25. It now appears that the Legislature may beat that date by a few days.

Overhauling everything the past several weeks has been the big tax bill. But it is reaching its final form. Only a long hassle in the House, over acceptance or rejection of Senate changes in the $100,000,000 new-tax measure will cause further delay in adjournment.

Optimists thought final agreement might be reached by Friday on the tax bill. This would unblock the big billion and a half dollar, two-year appropriation bill on which conferees already have agreed. If and when that is done the Legislators will go home. They have been serving since May 10 without pay.

Final agreement on the constitutional amendment reviving the veterans land program—passed in different form by the two chambers—and on the $100,000,000 bond issue to aid water districts—amended in the House to change the form of taxation—would round up major business.

Both branches virtually abandoned efforts to pass any more of the untouched calendar bills.

A final vote on Sen. George Parkhouse's "Port Arthur Strike Bill" in the House, early this week left it awaiting only Senate concurrence or conference action. The bill prohibits picketing to force an employer to recognize a union, or to force workers to join it, unless the union represents a majority of the employees. It authorizes a court to order an election to see if the union has the majority.

Already passed was Parkhouse's "Ford Motor Bill" to deny unemployment benefits to workers idled because of a strike of their union in some other plant of their employer.

Hanging fire in the House was the third of Parkhouse's labor bills, authorizing suits for injunctions and damages in picketing or strikes contravening the "Port Arthur bill."

Insurance Remedy
One of the major jobs that faced the legislature has been complete, says Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, by the passage of four insurance bills. This is what the measures do:

Plug up legal loopholes that permitted promoters in the last four years to sell $100,000,000 in worthless insurance stocks.

Require fire and casualty insurance companies to have capital of at least $150,000.

Require stock life companies to have $100,000 capital and $100,000 surplus and prohibit future organization of $25,000 limited capital stock companies. Limit investment in home office buildings to one-third of a company's assets.

Define the authority of the State Insurance Commission to act as a board and authorize it to make stricter and more frequent examination of insurance companies. Provide for the commission to review the management operations and financial plans of

Nickel-Chromium Alloy Castings

Although the total tonnage of nickel-chromium alloy castings produced during 1954 was less than in the previous year, the average nickel content of these alloys showed an increase which accounted for approximately the same amount of primary nickel being consumed by this field as in 1953. The principal application for these alloy castings remained in the heat treating furnace field and for services involving resistance to corrosion.

In the News . . . 30 YEARS AGO

The news items below were taken from the issue of The Foard County News of Friday, May 15, 1925:

Gordon Cooper and Miss Veda Clifford were quietly married in Medicine Mound Saturday, May 2, following the closing of the school on Friday where Miss Clifford was a teacher.

Early Cole of Oklahoma City passed through Crowell this week en route to Stephens County. He spent Tuesday night with his nephew, Grover Cole.

Miss Florence Black came home last Friday from Knox City where she has been in the sanitarium. She is getting along fine.

L. D. Fox will build a fifty-foot brick building on the north side of the square just east of Womack Bros. Furniture Co.

One of the best home talent plays ever put on here was that played by the senior class Monday night at the opera house. Leading characters were Fred Kimsey, Jesse Brown, Oran Chapman, Herbert Fish, Bevie Jewel Ringgold, Mildred Nicholson, Ola Carter and Annie Lee Long.

On Friday night, May 1, the Juniors entertained the seniors of C. H. S. with a picnic at Sloan Springs.

For the last seven years, "Old Three Tees" has preyed upon sheep herds and chicken pens with impunity, not, however, with narrow escapes from the jaws of the angry wolf hound. But Monday night he "passed in his checks" after a two hour chase by a pack of 25 hounds. The chase was started about ten o'clock and at 12 the wolf was a dead animal. The wolf was known because of his track, one of his feet having but three toes. He had evidently been caught in a trap about seven years ago and one of his toes had been amputated in his efforts to extricate himself.

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

This week the Agriculture committee has been considering the bill which would take in account the extreme drought conditions that have existed throughout the Southwest in making the cotton and wheat acreage allotments. Under the terms of the proposal, areas which have been in the drought area for two years would be given some additional acreage to be allocated to the farmers for cotton and wheat. There were two or three different approaches to this problem being considered by the committee. The Agriculture committee did not see fit to report a bill after the hearings; however, I am hopeful that during this session of Congress, some legislation can be enacted that will recognize the extreme weather conditions that have existed for the last four or five years and will provide some means whereby the farmers in the drought area can have some additional acres.

The Treasury Department has said that there are some seventy to seventy-five mistakes in the tax bill that was passed by Congress last year which will have to be corrected during this session of Congress. We were told that most of these were of a technical nature; however, there seems to be a growing sentiment here, in view of these errors that have been pointed out, that general hearings be held sometime this year on the complete tax law. These hearings would be beneficial in that it would provide a place for the inequities of the present law to be brought out in the open and discussed so that they could be corrected more quickly than if they were taken up individually.

Each year at this time, literally thousands of high school students come to Washington. Most of the students that do come are those from the Northeastern part of the country. For the last few days and continuing up through June, every day you see anywhere from 50 to 100 school buses parked in front of the Capitol. These trips are, I think, generally very beneficial to the students. The only school out of our district that has made a practice of coming to Washington is the Bowie High School, and I was pleased to learn that they will be here on Monday, May 30.

Nickel Steels in Bridges

Completed in 1909, the Queensboro Bridge in New York City was the first in which structural nickel steel was employed. This span was the forerunner of many great bridges using high strength nickel alloy steels which can be readily fabricated and permit a considerable saving in weight.

Other famous bridges employing these steels include the San Francisco - Oakland Bay Bridge, the George Washington Bridge connecting New York and New Jersey, and the Quebec Bridge spanning the St. Lawrence River in Canada.

Shivers, Shepperd Talk

Governor Shivers and Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd appeared before the House investigating committee to talk about the veterans land problem.

Shivers remarked that he had been criticized because, as a member of the Veterans Land Board, he had not discovered any of the irregularities.

"Regular checking by the state auditor failed to uncover any wrongdoing," Shivers said, "and it is well known that irregularities were discovered outside the land board's records."

Both Shepperd and Shivers assured the committee that no change has been made or ordered in the minutes of the Veterans Land Board.

Where errors occurred, it was pointed out, the original minutes were rubber-stamped to show that corrections were made in the minutes of the April 27 meeting.

Land Bill Debated
On the Senate floor, there was debate on a bill which the House has passed and which is aimed at preventing future villainy in the veterans land program.

Rep. Dolph Briscoe of Uvalde is author of the bill which would more strictly regulate land sales and introduce new safeguards into administration of the program.

Surprise Development
Biggest development was the surprise call by Justice of the Supreme Travis Blakeslee of a court of inquiry, at the request of Attorney General Shepperd, to start a six-week check of the operation of the entire billion-dollar General Land Office under former Commissioner Bascom Giles.

This involves money of state land sales, the leasing and sales by the Board for School Land Leasing, the Board for Mineral Development of University lands. The tidelands leasing is in the school program.

Shepperd said other VLB members, Gov. Shivers and new Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder, joined him in requesting the court of inquiry.

Sen. Jimmy Phillips charged it was a publicity gimmick to head off a legislative investigation of the Land Office, proposed in pending House resolutions.

District Judge J. Harris Gardner rendered judgment in the first civil suit by the state to forfeit a block veterans land deal and recover the money. This verdict was against Sam R. Gard, involving a $33,000 sale of Zavala Co. land to eight veterans.

I've had quite a few calls lately about sewing on synthetic materials, so thought I'd pass this information on to you. As you know, some synthetic fibers have a tendency to pucker in stitching if not handled properly.

Make 3 adjustments before you begin sewing:

First, shorten the stitch slightly. Some spongy types of synthetics take about the same length stitch as similar textured natural fibers. Test for the proper stitch on the lengthwise grain of the fabric. Second, loosen the tension slightly. Adjust the top tension first as this may be all that is necessary. If not, loosen the bob-bin tension screw a bit.

For hard finish synthetics such as nylon organady or a very smooth tightly woven synthetic, increase the pressure from the pressure foot.

Thicker fabrics will require only the usual pressure.

Thread will make a difference, too, of course. Nylon, dacron and mercerized cotton are used for sewing on synthetics. For best results, use a thread corresponding to the largest percentage of fiber in the fabric — nylon thread on nylon, mostly nylon blends, etc.

Scrub potatoes and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Peel. Melt butter or margarine, stir in flour and add milk gradually. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Season with salt and pepper. Add potatoes to sauce and arrange in casserole. Sprinkle cheese over top of potatoes and place under broiler or in a hot oven until cheese is melted and golden brown. Makes 6 servings.

in total miles of rural electric lines. Twenty years ago when REA began, less than three out of every 100 Texas farms had electricity. Today 90 out of every 100 farms in Texas have this service. Before REA, 11,406 farms were served by electricity in Texas. Today more than 295,000 farms are enjoying the benefits of electricity supplied by cooperatives under the REA program.

Texas electric cooperatives have repaid $31 million in principal on the loans secured through the REA, $4 million of which has been in advance of the due date, $17 1/2 million of interest has been paid the Federal Government, and there are practically no delinquencies on loans and interest payments. This is an impressive record.

Locally Owned

Although the Federal Government through the REA and its loans to cooperatives plays an important role in the development of this program, the facilities of the cooperatives are owned by the persons whose homes and farms are benefitted by the supply of electricity. The local owners, officers and managers of these organizations deserve great credit for their accomplishments. The program stands now as an eloquent testimonial to the good that can be accomplished through genuine cooperation between the people and their government, when the government truly serves the people and does not attempt to reduce them to servitude. This valuable working alliance must not be tampered with and it must not be handicapped by actions or attitudes here in Washington.

Hearings have been completed in the House and are now in full swing in the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee on legislation to eliminate federal control of the price independent producers may charge for natural gas. As a member of the Senate committee, I am participating in the hearings. The proponents have made out a good case, and now we are hearing the opponents who fear that a free and competitive producing industry will mean higher prices for consumers in non-producing states.

Actually, the price which the producer receives for natural gas is a very small part of the cost to the people who use the gas piped from Texas into cities of the North and East. It amounts to only ten per cent of consumer cost. Several Texans have appeared before the committee in favor of the bill to exempt independent producers from federal control. General Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission, who is highly respected in Washington as the nation's outstanding authority on conservation of oil and gas, made an excellent witness, as usual. So did David Searis, Houston attorney. Others, including C. H. Zachry of Dallas and A. P. King Jr. of Houston, will appear later or file statements.

Appropriations for Texas Projects

The Civil Functions Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee started hearings last week on funds for Texas projects. Funds have been recommended in the President's budget for two Corpus Christi projects—removal of the traffic "bottleneck" by replacing the Bascule Bridge over the harbor entrance, and extension of the Tule Lake Channel in the Port Aransas-Corpus Christi Waterway. We appeared in behalf of these and other Texas projects.

Research Findings

Chiropractic research has developed rapidly in the past few years, substantiating the philosophical concepts upon which chiropractic is based.

Laboratory studies on thousands of sick people have clearly shown that function and action of the body is restored to normal, under chiropractic care. The findings evolved from clinical patients observed and tested under the most rigidly controlled laboratory conditions. These studies have been conducted from many standpoints. Laboratory tests of the improvement of red blood cells, hemoglobin percentage, urinalysis, basal metabolism, electrocardiographic, vital changes and many others, now return to normal under chiropractic care.

2,626 Texans Enter Service During April

While 2,626 Texans were entering the armed forces in April, 4,904 were separated, it was shown last week on an official report sent to Washington by the office of the State Director of Selective Service.

Lt. Col. Morris S. Schwartz, deputy state Selective Service director, said that, of the 2,626 Texans who entered the armed forces in April, 2,225 went in by enlistment, the remaining 401 going in through the draft boards.

While these men were beginning and ending military service, a total of 5,998 young men, mostly 18-year-olds, registered with the state's 137 draft boards. Practically all of the total registration involved males reaching their 18th birthdays.

The federal draft law requires that all males in the United States register with a draft board on their 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter.

State Selective Service boards forwarded only 67 men during April for physical-mental examinations for military service. Thirty-five of this number were accepted by the army, the remaining 32 being rejected.
