City's Sewer Lines Being Cleaned by Lubbock Concern

Mayor Claude Callaway said this week that the City of Crowell and the Southwest Pipe Line Cleaners of Lubbock had entered into a contract to clean out sewer lines of the City. The contract provides for a flat rate of 30 cents per foot for cleaning.

There has been a crew of three to four men here for the past two weeks, with all kinds of cleaning machinery, together with a six-wheel truck, to pump out slush and sand. It will take all of this week to complete the project, Mayor Callaway said. To this date, from 3500 to 4000 feet of lines have been cleaned with between 4500 and 5000 feet scheduled at this time.

The sewer main line had broken out in the creek through the park in four places because of the complete filling up of the lines with slush and sand.

"Besides the danger of flooding bath rooms and homes, there was a very serious sanitary problem, all of which we feel quite sure that we have avoided by this thorough cleaning program," the mayor said.

The main lines have been repaired in several places, using about thirty four-foot sections of 8, 10 and 12 inch clay tiling.

Mayor Callaway concluded: "These sewer lines are four to eight feet under the ground, which makes the job very slow and costly. However, this work should reduce the sewer troubles for many years to come."

City Election to Be Held Next Tuesday, April 1

With the April 1 City Election slated for next Tuesday, April 1, interest has apparently dropped to near zero with little or no activity on the political front.

Mrs. Fern McKown, City secretary, reported that no requests have been made for absentee ballots. Absentee balloting ends on March 2.

Voters will decide on two city aldermen in the election; however, only one resident has filed for the office—J. W. Hazelwood. Charles Branch has been mentioned as a possible write-in candidate for the other position.

To qualify, voters must reside within the city limits and have been a resident for at least six months prior to election, and must hold a valid poll tax receipt or an exemption.

The two vacancies on the City Council were caused by the expiring terms of R. H. Borchardt and M. M. Welch, who are not seeking re-election.

HOW WILL YOU MEET THE DRINKING PROBLEM?

How will you meet the drinking problem? Remember that HE WHO FOOLS WITH IT IS A FOOL. There is an ancient proverb which says, "First the man takes a drink, then the drink takes a drink, then the drink takes the man." Statistics after statistics could be quoted to show the ruin liquor leaves in its wake. One out of every sixteen, casual, social, moderate drinkers becomes an alcoholic. One out of nine such drinkers becomes a "problem drinker."

Do you agree with the famous author, Winston Churchill? He says, "I cast my vote against social drinking. I will not keep a dog in my house that bites one of every five or nine people who stop to pet it. Nor will I sanction alcohol because it dooms or harms just one of every five, nine or sixteen who drink it."

Alcoholism is the nation's 4th most serious health problem. It is presented to us as a disease. But car is one of the lowest priced cars on the moon. It is long and very low; 20 feet long and 4 feet high. Now that's what I call long and low! Vehicles on the moon do not have wheels; they have po-go sticks where wheels should be to allow them to bounce anywhere they want to go. (You can see just how smooth a ride you would get in one of these cars). Oh, you should see the wrap around windshield. It's wrapped all around the car, allowing one to see in all directions at all times. This is very good for Moongoons since they have only one eye. Naturally, like 1958 cars, they have double headlights. Did I say double headlights? Well, I should have said double double headlights. There are four lights on each side of the automobile; however, they are not exactly like the lights on earth. Lights on the moon are just ordinary mirrors that reflect the sun's rays. You may be wondering how they can reflect light from the sun at night? Now you are, aren't you? Well, you aren't the only one; I am, too. Like I said, the Moongoons have advanced very far in the past century.

You haven't seen anything until you've seen the interior. It's just lovely. The seats are made of the softest, most comfortable rock on the moon. The colors are beautiful, too; in this car, the color is sort of a muddy green. Hasn't the description of the Moongoon car made you envious? I'm sure it has. I'm sure you would all like to own one of these little cars; if so, just hop on a Sputnik and take a trip to the moon and buy one! You can perhaps get a real bargain!

TO THE FACULTY AND HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS
Words fail me, but I want to say "thank you" to each member of the faculty and to each student for the many kind things that you have done for me during the past week.

So again—thanks to each of you. You have helped make Earl's passing more bearable.

There are many reasons why Washington officials are confident that the current business recession will not result in a collapse comparable to the 1929-33 crash that led to the closing of all banks for a time.

Two of the main reasons are the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. and the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which combined, insure more than $165 billion in bank deposits and savings and loan association accounts.

Officials of both insurance corporations with whom we have talked emphatically emphasize that your savings are safe up to the insured limit of $10,000 on deposits in any one bank or savings and loan association covered by either of the corporations.

This includes several thousand banks with insured deposits and savings totalling about $125 billion and some 3,800 Federal savings and loan associations insured with the FS&LIC, covering accounts totalling about $42 billion.

There are however, significant differences between the insurance provisions applying to banks and those applicable to savings and loan associations. Those differences are not generally understood by many who have put their money in the associations.

Both advertise that accounts are insured up to $10,000, and that is Prosperity: That short time between the final installment and the next purchase.

An Army unit adopted a bulldog for a mascot. The dog was named Sergeant, and three stripes were duly sewn on his blanket. One day the pooch chewed up a stack of vitally important documents. "Why didn't you stop him?" roared the commanding officer.

"I didn't dare," stammered the private, "he outranks me."

A farmer was feeling sorry for his dog. A friend asked what was the matter. The farmer answered that someone had cut off his dog's tail. "Oh, that's too bad," said the friend. "That will spoil his carriage." "I don't know about his carriage," replied the farmer, "but it sure has stopped his waggin'!"

HEY, POETRY LOVERS
by Spider Bell
Here are some poems which we have read during our high school days. Here is my interpretation of what some of the lines meant.

From Macbeth: "What fry of treachery? Die egg!" Was Macduff's kid a chicken?

"Out, cursed, Spot! Out!"—Who let the dog in the castle? From the "Prisoner of Chillon": "My hair is white, but not from years." He peroxidized it.

From "The Rain": "I hear leaves drinking rain." Slurp, slurp, gulp!

From "The Village Blacksmith": "Under the spreading chestnut tree." Actually it was a dead mesquite.

"The Wife of Bath": I bet she was clean. From "Edward": "Why does your sword so drop with blood, Edward?" Tain't blood, tis ketchup, woman.

From "Bonnie George Campbell": "High upon the Highlands." Was Bonnie George a mountain goat? "When Icicles Hang by the Wall"—Chances are you need more wood for the fire!

true. The main difference ever, is in provisions covering drawl of your money. Mutations have neglected the difference clear in the nature.

The difference, however, become significant only event of an extreme national emergency. As a matter of procedure normal times the two—savings and loan associations make immediate payment demand.

The FDIC requires the bank failing to pay deposits savings in full within 90 days be declared in default. At time the FDIC steps in, good in full on insured or savings accounts up to $10,000.

Since the FS&LIC was in 1934 only 38 insured, and loan associations have assistance. In 28 instances FS&LIC supplied cash to the association to a sound, and in three others it paid assets. Seven were declared fault and investors were full.

There is, however, no time limit in which a savings loan association must be in default after failing to all certificates in full. It is unable to pay all withdrawal requests, establish a numbering and apply a portion of over an indefinite period until all requests are made and in full all demands the payment is required to make, payment to the extent that are available, but not to $1,000, to applicants in which they apply. A partial payment of the amount of his next turn. This procedure over and over until payment is received in full.

Congress should enact legislation to provide for more payment, or it should require the savings and loan associations to perfectly clear to those using their money to them.

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Please let me or Mrs. Clarence Garrett know immediately if you are planning to attend the THDA meeting in Rotan April 8. "Christian Homes—the Hope of the Nation" is the theme to be followed by Texas Home Demonstration Club women for the observance of National Home Demonstration Week May 4-10. I hope that each club will plan something in observance of this.

We really had a nice time at the all-day meeting in Foard City last Friday. You ladies who didn't come missed a good time.

Are some of your varnished pieces dull looking, sticky or soiled? If so, here's a "face lifting" and cleaning.

In a double boiler combine 1 qt. hot water, 1 tablespoon gum turpentine (to cut the dirt), 3 tablespoons boiled linseed oil, or lemon oil (to lubricate, feed and polish the wood).

Keep the mixture hot in a double boiler while you work. Dip a soft cloth in the solution, wring out excess moisture and apply to furniture doing only one part of the piece at a time. Rub the wood, keeping moisture away from the joints as much as possible. Fine steel wool may be used to rub the solution on badly soiled surfaces. Wipe the surface immediately with a dry cloth. Polish with a woolen cloth.

If your shellacked furniture is foggy, faded or scratched, you can revive the finish with paraffin oil and white shellac.

Remove any wax from the surface with gum turpentine and a coarse cloth.

Mix together 2 parts of paraffin oil (available at filling stations and drug stores) and 1 part of white shellac. Be sure that shellac is fresh.

Applying with a coarse cloth is usually adequate. However, on neglected pieces, use 3-0 steel wool and rub gently with the grain protecting with masking or adhesive tape sections where the grain runs in another direction. Wipe surface with a dry cloth.

Mix only enough to use. Do not attempt to store shellac or a mixture with a shellac in it. Old shellac remains sticky and will not dry.

NYLON "BRIDGE" SPANS TORN NERVES

Severed spinal cords and torn nerves may be made to grow together by encasing the loose ends in a special oil-based nylon "sleeve." The nylon sleeve, impregnated with cellulose acetate forms a bridge over which the regrowing nerve fibers meet to close the gap. Nylon allows body fluids to pass through and feed the regrowing nerves, yet it keeps out tissue cells that might interfere with the repair. So far, research with animals shows that a severed spinal cord can be firmly joined in 30 days. Outlying nerves have begun working again just 70 days after a one-inch gap in the nerve was mended. Nerve re-growth ranks with the most spectacular advances in physiological research.

"Government has grown so large that it is beyond comprehension, incapable of self-regulation and bent on perpetuation of its various components."

News From the Congress

by Frank Ihard, 13th Dis.

The recent rise in the cost of living has again directed attention as to what portion of retail food prices reflects the price that the farmer gets for his products. The last report that has been issued on the spread between farm and retail prices points out that in 1948 when wheat was selling for $2.81 a bushel, the average price of a loaf of bread was 13.8 cents. Several years later, when the average farm price of wheat had dropped to $2.14, the price of bread had increased to 17.5 cents. The report also shows that a 22c box of corn flakes contains only 3c worth of corn and that the average city family in the late 40's spent $261 annually for meat products of which amount the farmer received $176. By the mid-50's, this same family was spending $263 for the same amount of meat, but the farmer was only getting $164. Also, it is pointed out that a $4.00 cotton shirt contains about 30c worth of cotton. All of this adds up to the fact that farm prices do not affect the end retail price of a commodity as much as we are sometimes led to believe, and that every time we buy a loaf of bread or a steak or shirt, much of the cost that we pay for it, represents processing and labor costs, and in the case of many commodities, the actual price to the farmer for the raw product does not actually influence the retail price much one way or the other. For instance, a peanut candy bar contains only about one-half cent's worth of peanuts, and if the peanuts were provided free, chances are the price of the candy would not change one bit.

This week Governor Price Daniel of Texas and Governor Gary of Oklahoma testified before the Committee on Ways and Means on the devastating effect that oil imports are having on the economies of both Texas and Oklahoma. Both of these governors made excellent statements. It will probably be late in April before the committee finishes its consideration of the reciprocal trade program and the matter comes before Congress.

TAX MAN SAM SAYS

Every year the tax folks tell taxpayers to please follow the instructions and it will save you time and trouble. Every year a lot of the tax folks work in the "Pre-Refund Audit" program holding up taxpayers' refund checks until they can correct the errors the taxpayer made because he didn't follow the instructions. The Internal Revenue law requires the tax folks to select tax returns containing probable errors for audit prior to paying the taxpayer's refund. A pre-refund audit takes a lot of time and delays the taxpayer's refund check. It pays dividends and saves time to read the instructions and avoid errors that will cause a tax audit.

Summer Temporary Pastures Prove Good Grazing

Summer temporary pastures provide the most dependable source of summer grazing that is available, according to Joe Burkett, county agent. Too, he adds, they usually supply better quality grazing than is available from permanent pastures.

But these are not the only advantages of summer temporary pastures, points out the agent. They permit resting permanent pastures and provide grazing all through the summer. They also provide some reserve feed. Any excess grazing may be put up as hay or silage, something very few livestock raisers have enough of.

Sudangrass and pearl millet make the best summer pastures, with sudangrass being the best bet on most land in Foard County. The pasture can be planted from until moisture is too low in the summer. The grazing season may be extended by planting as soon as danger of frost is past and then making additional plantings at 3 or 4 week intervals. Burkett points out that since we have good moisture, livestock owners should be making preparations for planting sudan pasture. Rotation grazing and mowing should be practiced in order to get the most out of the pasture, advises Burkett.

Rotation grazing permits resting the plants between grazings, giving higher yield and permits use of the plants while they are in their most palatable and nutritious stage. Too, blocks not needed may be put up as hay or silage.

Imported Fire Ant Causing Damage

The imported fire ant was brought to this country 20 years ago from South America and has now spread into Alabama, where it was first introduced, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, South Carolina and Texas, according to Joe Burkett, county agent.

Imported fire ants damage many kinds of young plants by gnawing holes in roots, tubers, stalks and buds. Too, they often attack young unprotected animals, such as newborn calves and pigs and newly hatched quail and poultry. They interfere with harvesting as their sting is very painful. Their PLAN NEW ITALIAN ELECTIONS — Italian Premier Adone Zoli leaves the Viminale Palace in Rome, Italy, after a meeting of the Council of Ministers. mounds damage machinery and prevent mowing operations and reduce the value of land in heavily infested areas.

The ant spreads naturally through nuptial flights, but also may be spread by crawling, drifting in logs, aboard cars, trucks, trains and on nursery stock in shipment.

Two species of fire ants occur generally in Texas while the imported fire ant has been found only in Hardin, Jasper, Jefferson, Newton, Orange and Tyler counties. But it is spreading rapidly and is almost certain to appear in other counties.

In small lightly infested areas the ants may be controlled by mound treatment, but treating the entire surface is more practicable in heavily infested areas. Chlor-dane, dieldrin and heptachlor are the recommended insecticides.

Wardens Begin Dove Banding; Big Crop Seen

Mourning doves are already beginning their spring nesting, according to E. M. Spratt, director of Law Enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission. Reports received by him from wardens throughout the state indicate a tremendous crop of "seed birds" this year.

"We had a big harvest of doves last September and October," the director said. "There were many of them left, however. During the winter months literally thousands of big fine doves stayed in the mesquite thickets and river bottoms all over Texas. There was plenty of good feed for them. Now they are beginning to nest."

First nesting was reported by Warden Clarence Jones in Northeast Texas two weeks ago. Jones found the nest with two eggs on Feb. 28.

Wardens this year will again tackle the job of banding young birds. Thousands of doves will be banded throughout the state by the wardens. When these banded birds are killed the bands should be returned to the warden or sent in to the Austin office so they can be checked. In this way, migration and age of the doves can be checked against the records.

Texas ranks fifth in the nation in number of air passengers carried each year.

Light Leads Our People

Each day a new door opens. What it reveals on the other side, for the people who must pass over its threshold, depends upon the conditions under which they lived their yesterdays.

Those in some countries look through the door upon a new day shadowed with oppressions, where there are few freedoms, tyrannies abound and living is hard and cold.

Those of us in America are more fortunate. Opening the door each day, we are met by the light of freedom which has led our destiny for many years. Protecting that freedom has been — and always will be — a Press that will not succumb to dictation or overpowering despotism.

For the light that leads to all freedoms is Freedom of the Press: Education . . . information of all kinds . . . news of all that transpires . . . and the open discussion of opinions and ideas that sharpens understanding.

Complete freedom of speech and of the press is the light that builds understanding, helping all mankind to advance onward and upward through the opening door of each tomorrow.

LEARNING CRIME?
(A distinguished Texas judge offers pointers on combating our rapidly increasing juvenile delinquency problem.)
By JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES

Gatesville, as you know, is the state school for delinquent boys. Only the worst offenders are committed there, but unfortunately many counties do not have facilities for handling boys who cannot be rehabilitated on probation. Many others do not have probation officers, paid or voluntary.

The result is that in some instances small boys 13 are sent to Gatesville simply because the county doesn't know what else to do with them. They may have committed only minor offenses and have no home.

Too Young
Such boys are really dependent and neglected rather than delinquent. They should never have been sent to Gatesville and it is not good that they are there.

These 40 to 50 younger boys sleep in a separate cottage. But otherwise—at meals, in school, and at play—they mix with older boys who have longer and more serious criminal careers and are good instructors in the ways of crime.

Too Little Remedy
The last regular session of the Legislature did not provide a separate school for younger boys but did remedy the situation IN PART. Dormitory and eating space were provided away from the main campus.

In many activities, however, the younger boys WILL CONTINUE TO MIX WITH THE MORE HARDENED OLDER BOYS, and only when the schools are entirely separate can the facilities be considered adequate.

Next week: How to get what we need.

TAX MAN SAM SAYS
There are a lot of ex-school teachers who work for the Internal Revenue Service who are experts in reading hen scratching that is supposed to be writing. This time of the year these folks are always straining their bifocals trying to figure out the bad writing on the tax forms. A lot of folks don't stop to think that their tax return is only one of millions that these people have to read and that bad writing can give some other taxpayer credit for the tax you have paid or the refund that you are due. The tax folks sure would appreciate your taking time to print your name and address and writing all your figures plain like.

CARD OF THANKS
May we express our sincere appreciation to each person who in any way made it easier for us to bear the loss of Earl, a wonderful husband, father, brother, and nephew.

Lone Star 4-H's Rate Honors
Four Texas 4-H Club members are off to a good start in 1958 richer by practical experience and award. They were judged best in the state for their 1957 project work, and each received a valuable award. Their overall 4-H records were reviewed by the State Extension Service which directs the 4-H programs in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Clifford Smith Keith Lowery Raby Beakley David Kuperman
Clifford Smith, 17, of Willacy county, is a boy who believes that livestock is both fun and fundamental to an all-round farm. Named state winner in the 4-H Meat Animal program Smith received a smelter and pencil set in recognition of his selection, the gift of Thos. E. Wilson, donor of awards.

After six years Smith's beef project has reaped big dividends. He handled 81 head of cattle. His herd bull, valued at $11,000, is responsible for 42 award ribbons and trophies.

Smith is plowing back cash prizes and profits into his project to build up his herd of Herefords. He has made three trips to the Texas 4-H Round-Up, and was president and junior leader of his 4-H Club.

A boy who has no trouble seeing the forest for the trees is Keith Lowery, 16, of Nacogdoches county. He was named winner of the state 4-H Forestry award and received a handsome pen and pencil set from American Forest Products Industries.

For his tireless efforts in five years of 4-H forestry, Lowery owns over 40 acres of timber. Earnings from pulpwood sales will help finance his college education, he says.

This energetic lad cleared, pruned, measured and ringed trees in his father's 700 acres of woodland. He helped set out 30,000 slash seedlings. Also he built and repaired the fences to protect them.

Lowery has won 4-H awards for his poultry project, and was active in judging poultry, livestock and soils.

A friendly smile and a silver tongue paid off in top state 4-H honors for Raby Jean Beakley, 17, of Brown county, and David Kuperman, 16, of Stephens county. The pair were named winners in the 4-H Public Speaking program, and their persuasive oratory was rewarded by The Pure Oil Company.

Miss Beakley was presented with a certificate of honor and a beautiful set of silverware. Her firm belief in the joys of rural living was the foundation of her winning speech, "Fun on the Farm."

During her nine years of 4-H Club work, Miss Beakley gave 28 speeches to audiences of close to 2,400 people. In addition, she appeared on radio and TV programs.

Kuperman also received a certificate plus a handsome 19-jewel wrist watch. An eloquent explanation of what 4-H leadership training means to America's future was the basis of his award-winning talk.

Several 4-H talent-night and radio speeches rounded out this talented youth's six years of 4-H Club work.

Lake Cleaned—Fish Get Big First Year
Case history on a renovated Texas law shows how fast bass will grow under proper conditions, according to Marion Toole, director of Inland Fisheries of the Game and Fish Commission.

According to a report made by Ken Jurgens, Aquatic Biologist, a city lake at Taylor, covering three acres, was completely renovated in April, 1957. Rough fish were eradicated with a netting survey. A month later the lake was fertilized at the rate of 200 pounds to the acre.

In June, 600 bass fingerlings were stocked.

In November, a netting showed the bass ran from 1.8 inches in length. By January of this year they had reached 8-10 inches. Today they are running 10-11 inches in length.

Plans now are being made to pass an ordinance limiting fishing in this lake to persons under 16 years of age. It will be known as the "kids' fishing hole" for the city of Taylor, if the proposed ordinance passes.

"The handling of what can be done to improve fishing," the director said. "Where we have been able to go in and do a total kill and then restock the lakes with game fish under proper conditions the growth has been very remarkable.

"This same practice can be put into effect on private ranch tanks to improve the quality of fishing," he said. "Every time any water is renovated and then properly stocked, someone benefits. We have enough ranch tanks in Texas to provide some very fine fishing. If they are put to use, it will relieve the pressure elsewhere."

Harris Hawk Kills Rats—Saves Game
Meet an unexpected friend, the Harris Hawk, Texas get a detailed information in the March issue of Texas Game and Fish, the official publication of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

"Brush-Country Gentleman," by the late William Jennings, Biologist, points out that the Harris Hawk preys on rats, one of the worst destroyers of range. Since the pack rat eats a wide variety of grasses and grass seeds, it robs cattle and upland game birds of food they need to carry them through drought and winter. The rat also consumes much prickly pear, staple food for deer and javelina in South Texas.

"Studies are now underway in parts of Texas," Jennings said, "which ultimately will determine the exact destruction to range plants by rodents. Although the exact amount of damage done by rodents in South Texas is unknown, it will run into millions of dollars just from the standpoint of livestock feed alone."

The chestnut-colored Harris Hawk, with an average wingspan of 42 inches, makes an impressive appearance as it ranges the brush

Disabled Persons May Receive Social Security Payments at Age 50
Of special interest to disabled workers is the provision of the Social Security Act which provides for disability payments at age 50. In order to qualify for these benefits, the disabled person must be unable to perform any substantial gainful activity and must have worked under social security for at least 5 out of the 10 years immediately preceding the date he became disabled. At least a year and a half of this work must have been during the three years just before the disability began. In addition, the disabled individual must have filed an application for these benefits.

Disabled workers who have been unable to work for a prolonged period may lose their rights to disability payments at age 50 if they do not file an application before June 30, 1958. Failure to file for these disability provisions may also affect their rights to benefits upon retirement and to benefits for their survivors in the event of the worker's death.

Any disabled person who meets the requirements set forth above is urged to contact his nearest social security office. If the individual is unable to make this contact in person, a friend or relative may notify the Social Security Administration in his behalf.

Hatchery Quail Hen Sets New Record
A new record in quail egg production has been set by Virginia, a little quail hen at the State Quail Farm at Tyler, according to W. J. Cutbirth Jr., assistant secretary of the Game and Fish Commission.

Virginia laid 332 eggs in 12 months. She surpassed the record of 311 eggs produced by her mother, Bernice, during the previous year. This performance record placed Virginia at the top of all state personnel. She missed only 33 days of production, which means she even worked on Sunday part of the time, took no long week ends, vacation, or sick leave.

There were 25 daughters of Bernice in the egg test run at the hatchery by Supt. George C. Stodghill. The test began March 1, 1957 and ended Feb. 28, this year. Seven of the little hens reached the 300 mark. They produced a total of 6,295 eggs, or an average of 251.8 eggs per hen in the 12 month period.

A number of birds from this blood line have been moved into their broodstock now at the hatchery.

In addition 100 wild quail have been trapped by Biologist Clyde Holt in the Decatur area. These birds will be introduced into the hatchery program to perfect native birds produced at the hatchery for release on Texas farms and ranches.

The assistant secretary urged landowners to begin their program of habitat improvement early this year, to provide cover for an increased bird crop.

"We are going into a new hatchery season with a fine seed crop of quail," he said. "Good shooting this fall will depend largely upon what is done by the landowners this spring." He urged landowners to consult their wardens or other game department representatives for assistance in getting cover programs started.

Country south of the Edwards Plateau in Texas. It goes as far west as California, north to Kansas and rarely Iowa, and east to Louisiana. South, it lives as far away as Central Chile and Argentina. Although its diet includes almost any animal or bird it is capable of capturing, the Harris Hawk has a natural target in the over-abundant pack rat. In keeping down the greedy small animals, the Harris Hawk plays a vital role in nature's balance, and immeasurably helps the farmer, rancher, and sportsman.

Studies of large numbers of people are now being pressed into the search for environmental influences which may be responsible for cancer. The American Cancer Society says differences may lie in habits related to diet, sex, hygiene, smoking or even may be due to climate, geographical location, or racial inheritance. Support of the 1958 Cancer Crusade will make sure that studies in the field of cancer research will continue.

CANCER RESEARCH
A breast cancer virus may be transmitted from the female to a male mouse, scientists have found. Even though the male mouse never develops breast cancer, it then may pass the virus along to another female which then may develop the disease. Help support research. Give to the American Cancer Society's April Crusade.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from
HENRY A. HOLLE, M. D.,
Commissioner of Health.

In an East Texas jail male prisoners are segregated from females by a flimsy screen of canvas. A South Texas jail's sanitation facilities consist of a wash tub and a garden hose.

Do counties have a moral responsibility toward prisoners confined in county jails? Texas law says they do.

A majority of county jails in this state have 19th Century plumbing, and an always-acute danger of raw sewage syphoning into water lines. In at least one notable instance running water was introduced for the first time last year.

A major county operates a jail built in 1875. Cell areas in many jails have never seen daylight.
Inside locks in one jail do not work, so confining a prisoner calls for padlock and chain.

A heated jail is a rarity in Texas. Those that are usually use unvented space heaters, with the real risk of carbon monoxide. Vermin and rats are natural tenants in jails, and one county sheriff frankly admits he would prefer a beating to the prospect of spending a night in his own jail.

These conditions and others have come to light since last year —after the State Legislature passed a law requiring commissioners courts to provide basic health and sanitation facilities in county jails.

Who gave her the party?

Her parents, of course. And they had the help of hundreds of other people — men and women that Mary's parents don't even know.

These people helped Mother bake the cake and cook the party food. They helped freeze the ice cream, sew Mary's dress, and wash and iron it. They helped heat, light and clean the house for the party.

These busy people are the men and women who supply electric service for Mary's house. It's hard to imagine life without the electricity they provide — for everyone depends on electricity for dozens of jobs all over the house.

If you stop to count all the ways you put electricity to work, you'll be surprised. Can you think of anything else that gives so much value, day in and day out, for so little cost?

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—New names. New faces. But same old problems plague the state insurance liquidation division.

Next Legislature undoubtedly will step in and try to assign authority and responsibility more definitely—possibly overhaul the whole system.

Latest chapter in the division's history of criss-crossed efforts is the appointment of a new general counsel to the liquidator. He is Cecil C. Rotsch, former assistant attorney general.

Significant aspect of this is that Rotsch was appointed by Insurance Commissioner William A. Harrison. Whether the State Insurance Board, which Harrison represents, or judges of the receivership courts have the right to appoint attorneys for liquidation has been at issue for some years.

Last year Austin District Judge Charles O. Betts appointed Renee Allred Jr. counsel for receivership cases pending in his court.

This prompted the Insurance Board to institute a suit to get a Supreme Court ruling. But the high court's opinion didn't help. It said the Board was given authority to name the liquidator's attorney, but that the courts could step in and name one, too.

Which is just about what has happened with both Allred and Rotsch named by different persons to serve in apparently the same capacity.

FEE STUDY SET—Most interesting aspect of the liquidation study is the amount of money involved.

Senate investigating committee was told that liquidation attorney Renee Allred had received in 10 1/2 months $22,350 in fees and $4,311.08 in expenses. Allred has been in charge of winding up the affairs of several large bankrupt firms, including IGT and US Trust and Guaranty.

Liquidation attorneys, unlike regular state employees, are not paid straight salaries, but receive fees taken from the assets of companies they handle.

Former State Liquidator J. D. Wheeler told the Senate panel that during his 3 1/2 years in the post, the office collected $4,938,927 with an administrative cost of $2,102,500.

Senate committee asked for a list of attorney's fees paid out during the past two years. They said the list would be made public.

US TRUST PAYMENTS—One of the most celebrated bankruptcy cases in recent years has begun to unwind.

Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts has ordered the state liquidator to pay out $2,181,464 recovered from the assets of US Trust and Guaranty Co. This represents some 31 per cent of the $7,300,000 in claims made by creditors, mostly holders of US Trust "investment certificates."

Action was made possible after the Supreme Court made final its ruling that certificate holders had no priority in claims.

DOWN AGAIN—No miracle is yet in sight for the ailing Texas oil industry.

Railroad Commission cut the statewide allowable for April to 2,144,571 barrels a day. Its 120,203 barrels a day less than March. Eight producing days will be allowed, one less than March.

Commission set this lowest-in-history producing schedule after hearing news that oil buyers say they could foresee no substantial increase in demand for oil this year. Commission operates on the philosophy that oil should not be produced unless someone is willing to buy it.

Meanwhile, Texas officials seeking action to reduce importing of foreign oil, received some hope of help in Washington. Prospect is for reduction of import quotas in line with lessened U. S. demand.

MORE GROWTH SEEN—Recession or no, Texas' rate of industrial expansion exceeds the national average and possibly will gain steam and set a new record in 1959.

So says the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research in a survey of the state's major industries.

Cited as areas of expansion were chemicals, plastics, aircraft and missiles, electronics, construction materials, metal fabrication, apparel, food processing and furniture.

MORE NEW BUSINESSES—In the same vein the Texas Employment Commission reported an increase in new firms launched in Texas during February.

Began last month were 103 new businesses employing 1,273 persons. In January, 62 new firms employing 919 persons.

LANDING FIELDS URGED—There will be 100 more landing strips in the Lone Star State if the Texas Aeronautics Commission has its way.

At a joint meeting of the commission and the State Aviation Advisory Council—representing all phases of aviation from glider pilots to aviation directors—a program for stimulating statewide enthusiasm for the construction of 100 additional landing strips was outlined by Chairman Paul M.

Fulks of Wolfe City. "Business in any town in Texas can be improved by the simple addition of an inexpensive landing field for airplanes," Fulks advised. "It's the commission's plan to advise and assist any town that's interested."

The spiraling increase of interest in flying, particularly on the part of businessmen, has centered attention on more access methods to smaller towns. Even a 2,000 foot grass strip alongside a highway will help, said a number of the airmen.

At present, 99 county seat towns in Texas have no airports of any kind.

Also cited by the new commission chairman was the fact that there are 36 towns in the 5,000 and above population bracket; and 33 between 2,000 and 3,000, that are completely shut off from aviation.

NOW IT'S TOO WET—Prolonged wet winter weather is delaying land preparation for spring planting. In some areas the delay is reported becoming serious. Ahead, two more months characterized, historically wet.

Optimism is plentiful in other farm activities. Cattlemen conventioned in San Antonio in high spirits with beef prices high and pastures green. Prosperous outlook brought 958 new members into the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in advance of the meeting.

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District Report

By James H. Herring

During the period of evolution through which terracing has passed in this portion of the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, one variety of terrace types has been advocated and used. The ultimate objective of all terraces is soil conservation. This objective is achieved by terraces that provide for the interception and diversion of surface runoff or the impounding of surface runoff for irrigating relatives and are at the bedside of his father, George Myers, in the Crowell hospital.

Mrs. Hamilton of Fort Worth spent the week end here visiting her son, Tom Hamilton, and wife, L. A. Haynie is ill in the Knox County Hospital at the time of this writing.

Mrs. H. P. Gillespie and Mrs. J. M. Chowning were Knox City visitors Monday.

increased absorption. From a functional point of view terraces are classified as (1) interception and diversion types and (2) absorption types. When the construction characteristics are considered, it is found that a well-constructed channel somewhat below the original ground surface is the most dependable structure for interception and diverting runoff, whereas a ridge constructed well above the original ground surface, with a little channel as possible, is the best structure for impounding runoff over a wide area above the ridge. From a construction point of view, therefore, it seems useful to classify terraces as (1) the channel type and (2) the ridge type.

Ridge type terraces for the most part have been used for the impounding of surface runoff in this area. In fact, according to records maintained in the Crowell Soil Conservation Service office, 81 miles of ridge type terraces were laid out and constructed in 1955, 141 miles in 1956, and 67 miles in 1957. Of this total there was not any channel type terraces constructed. The need for channel type terraces is growing for these reasons: on small grain land ridge type terraces have proven to be unsatisfactory in many cases due to terrace channels ponding water during harvest season and the inconvenience of farming with present machinery.

The following explanation could be given for the two types of terraces:

The channel terrace acts primarily as a drainage channel to conduct excess rainfall from the fields at non-erosive velocities. Since low velocity surface drainage is required, the channel and not the ridge is of primary importance. A wide, relatively shallow channel of low gradient that has gentle side slopes and ample water capacity will give the most desirable results. The excavated earth is used to bring the lower side of the channel to a height sufficient to provide necessary capacity. A high ridge is not desirable since it seriously interferes with tillage operations, increases construction costs, and frequently requires for its formation a large part of the topsoil scraped from the field. In the channel terrace the ridge should be considered as supplemental to the channel and should blend gradually in to the surface slopes to afford a minimum of interference with machinery operations.

Erosion control by the ridge terraces is accomplished indirectly by water conservation. In order to increase absorption the terrace is constructed so as to be done most effectively the surface slopes on which the terraces are built should be fairly flat, the ridge should be of sufficient height to pond water over a relatively large surface, and the earth required for the ridge so excavated as to avoid concentration of runoff on a small area. The degree to which these conditions can be attained is limited by the construction methods that are necessary and the slope of the land. In this type of terrace the ridge is of greater importance than the excavated channel, which is more or less incidental to the construction of the ridge. The ridge terraces are adaptable to this area on soils that will absorb the accumulated runoff fast enough to prevent damage to growing crops.

Supervisors of the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District and technicians of the Soil Conservation Service believe that small grain farms which have that usually come during the season and needs to be absorbed from the field as excess water. Also to make farming with heavy equipment on the land. As a means of determining the value of channel terraces this area a demonstration is planned for April. The time place for the demonstration will be announced later. If you are interested in this type of terrace contact your local Soil Conservation Service office.

If you are drawing Social Security benefits and are entitled to have your benefits insured in 1958.

About Your HEALTH

In an East Texas jail male prisoners are segregated from females by a flimsy screen of canvas. A South Texas jail's sanitation facilities consist of a wash tub and a garden hose. Do counties have a moral responsibility toward prisoners confined in county jails? Texas law says they do.

Supervision was placed within the State Health Department, although the Department didn't ask for the assignment. Enforcing the law will be difficult. Most people have an understandable aversion to anything that smacks of prisoner-coddling.

The Uninvited Guests

A modern parallel to one of the ancient parables of Jesus took place recently in Detroit. Eugene Dougherty planned to celebrate his 23rd birthday with a party for his friends. He personally handed out 40 invitations and prepared for the big event by purchasing $50 worth of expensive foods. The invitations read: "8 p. m., March 2. When no one had arrived by 9 p. m., Dougherty blamed the slow start on the weather. At 10 p. m. he began to weep. The guests never came."

Happy Birthday Mary!

Who gave her the party?

Her parents, of course. And they had the help of hundreds of other people — men and women that Mary's parents don't even know. These people helped Mother bake the cake and cook the party food. They helped freeze the ice cream, sew Mary's dress, and wash and iron it. They helped heat, light and clean the house for the party.

"Did you know that you can freeze cornbread?" continued Mrs. Brown as she gave the program by preparing a lunch of "cornbread ring, ala chicken." She served this with a crisp fresh cabbage slaw. Mrs. Brown gave each lady a recipe page of the dishes she prepared and other booklets on good meals.

Mrs. Sam Kuehn, president, was in charge of the business meeting. For the opening exercise, Mrs. John S. Ray read "Lord, Open My Eyes" and "A Mother's Heart" was given by Mrs. Sam Kuehn. The club and their families are invited to a club party at Mrs. Kuehn's March 28. Each will bring a few cookies. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Henry Bice when Mrs. Grover Moore will be in charge of the program, "More for Your Money."

Frosted cake and drinks were served to 8 visitors, Mrs. R. E. Moore of Vernon, Mrs. Brown and Trudy Shultz, and to members: Mesdames Frank Ward, Ewald Schroeder, Grover Moore, Billy Cleveland, Sam Kuehn, George Wesley, Monroe Karcher, W. A. Mussetter, John S. WEST SIDE H. D. CLUB

A very delicious meal was cooked and served when the H. D. Agent, Mrs. Mary Brown, gave a very interesting demonstration on corn bread rings. Also chicken and slaw were served. This demonstration showed how left-over chicken could be made into a very enjoyable meal. Mrs. Bert Mathews' home was the place of meeting. "From God There Is Nothing You Can Hide," read by Mrs. Baylor Weatherred, was the title of the opening exercise. Minutes were read and approved and business discussed. For all those who wish to go to the THDA district meeting, it will be held April 8 at Rotan. The 42 party will be held April 1 at the home of Mrs. Donald Norris. Husbands and friends are invited. The wearing and judging of home-made Easter bonnets will take place at the party.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames Mary Brown, S. E. Tate, Bert Mathews, Oscar Gentry, J. T. King, Walter Thomson, Henry Ross, Donald Norris, E. A. Dunagan, J. B. Weatherred and Mike.

FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

Mrs. Virgil Johnson was hostess to the members of the Foard City Women's Society of Christian Service on Monday, March 24. At this time the new study was begun with Mrs. Johnson outlining the first three chapters of the book "Disciples to Such a Lord" by Al bert E. Barnett.

In about A. D. 125, the four Gospels were brought together and issued under the title, "The Gospel." The compilers prefixed subtitles, "According to Matthew," "According to Mark," "According to Luke," "According to John," and trained eyes discover clues, unmistakable signatures of the authors, that escape the casual reader. It is generally conceded that the young man mentioned in Mark 14:51 was Mark himself, for not one of the remaining three gospels tells of this incident.

Three questions occupy Mark's constant attention. These are: (1) "Who was Jesus?" (2) "Why did He die on a cross?" and (3) "What does such a Lord expect of each disciple?"

This first lesson covered the first four chapters of the Gospel of St. Mark, and four chapters

THALIA W. S. C. S.

Mrs. C. C. Lamb gave the opening prayer. "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" was sung by the group with Mrs. M. C. Adkins leading and Mrs. H. W. Gray as accompanist.

A panel discussion on mission healing was given by Mesdames T. H. Matthews, Robert Hammonds, Ed Huskey and C. C. Lamb and Mrs. W. G. Chapman led the group in a Bible quiz.

The president, Mrs. L. H. Hammonds, conducted a short business session. Mrs. Gray served refreshments to the 7 members.

FOARD CITY H. D. CLUB

The Foard City Home Demonstration Club was hostess at an all-day meeting at the recreation hall at Foard City Friday, March 21, to all the Home Demonstration Clubs of the county. McDaniel and Mrs. Cornelia McDaniel of Foard City.

The club met at 11 a. m. to fix the covered dish lunch while the visitors visited that morning.

That afternoon, Mrs. Mary D. Brown, H. D. Agent, showed the ladies how to make ear screws. Several made ear screws of different colors and shapes to match their dresses.
