July 26 Primary to Be Held in Court House

Monday, June 16, Foard County Democratic Executive Committee met to determine by lot the order of the ballots for the July 26 election.

At a previous meeting held May 12, it was decided to hold the July 26 election back in the court house as Art. 2.03 of Texas Election Code states "in all cases where it is practicable so to do, all elections, general, special and primaries, shall be held in some school building, fire station or other public buildings."

Ray Shirley, county chairman, stated that each precinct in Foard County will hold a precinct convention at 4 p. m., July 26—election day—to elect delegates to the county convention to be held in the jury room at 2 p. m. August 2.

A sample ballot will be printed in the News before the election for the convenience of voters.

THROUGH THE AIR WITH THE GREATEST OF EASE flies the daring young man to a hard fall, pitched off by the explosive bucking of a one-ton brahma bull. The rider has only a loose rope to cling to, kept around the bull by the pressure of his handgrip. With the grip gone, the rope falls from the bull. To qualify the cowboy must stay aboard for eight seconds and this is a pretty good chore with the stock at Santa Rosa Roundup in Vernon, Texas, June 25-28.

Commuter to the Moon
"just around the corner," but it will be a lot nearer than you think.

A rocket-type plane capable of carrying a man, or several to the Moon may be fired by the end of this year. The plane we still have to lick is to get a man there alive.

After that, we would have the problem of how to get him in equally good condition. The United States and Russia some of their best brains are on those problems.

While one division of the Air Force is trying to build rockets or missiles that can travel 187,000 miles to the Moon, another is trying to make a way for man to travel on those or missiles.

The latter division has the more imposing title of Bio-Medical Aspects of Space Flight, U.S. Office of Aeronautics and Astronautics. It is not generally known, it is a secret that this important work is going on at Randolph Field, San Antonio, Texas.

Buck Rogers for Real
While details of what has learned so far as classified information, it is known that progress has been made in man's survival at extremely high altitudes. Space ships of the future already are on the drawing boards and may soon be experimental production.

When will the first space craft reach the moon? It is no timetable yet, but some of the experts we have talked are guessing at sometime between 1965 and 1970.

I understand that plans are in progress for a man-carrying vehicle that will fly at above 100,000 feet (about 50 miles) per hour. It is assumed that become a reality when it is sized and the funds provided.

We have learned a great amount about space travel from recent back from our own and Russian satellites. We know life can be sustained, brief altitudes up to 1,000 miles over the Russian Sputnik II doged that.

Our studies show that a safe with an oxygen tank 40,000 feet, but must have a surized mask from 60,000 to 100,000 feet, and at 75,000 feet a pre-sealed cabin is necessary.

Who Will Be the First
Another problem is the fact human beings inhale oxygen, exhale carbon dioxide, a poison in close quarters. In the Sputnik II the Russians used a device apparatus to change carbon dioxide, exhaled by the dog, into oxygen.

If space travel is to become actuality, it will be necessary to provide for this change of carbon dioxide into oxygen and vice versa for a much longer period of time than is now possible.

The problem of getting a ship beyond the pull of gravity can be solved. It has been demonstrated that an object traveling at 18,000 miles an hour in a gravity. Anything loose in the in of such a ship would float around in the air.

Who will be the first to go to the Moon? We can't say, but we can say that we have volunteers close. He was between 35 and 40 years old.

In both World Wars it was found that men from 18 to 25 made the best pilots. For flight, though, the more men make better pilots than youngsters because they are stable under great stress.

UNNEEDED LEGISLATION
"... legislation had to the house and the senate assigned by the governor to women and children employ Mass. industry to accept a 3/4 hour lunch period instead of being required to take 3/4 hour. The change was sought because where the men had a 3/4 hour lunch period and the women lost opportunities to rides with other workers in pools. This law regulating length of women's lunch is an example of the kind of territorial laws that clutter the books..." — Reading, Chronicle.

CAUSES AS MUCH SORROW
"As millions of Americans now finding out to their hardship, bread-and-butter wage inflation creates just as much does a depression. Our laws now need to be made aware that realization and take the necessary steps to stem the tide of inflation which has our pocketbooks such as a jolt." — Barnesboro, Pa., Star.

Remember his first great adventure?

With full heart and watchful eyes you helped him enjoy his very first taste of independence.

And how proud you were when he achieved his goal, all by himself, and then, laughing, ran to your waiting arms to share his triumph with you!

Nothing you can give your child is half so precious as this wonderful opportunity to be himself. All through life you want him to be free to choose his way.

That's why it's so important to be on the watch for ideas or ideologies that could set limits to his independence. The idea, for instance, that government should own and run more and more businesses, services, institutions. Don't forget that when government runs more and more things, the individual has less and less freedom and independence!

Think of your son's first "independence day" when you hear talk like that. Point out that in countries where government does control almost everything, the individual is controlled, also. And the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing to take over more.

Many workers who died between June 1940 and September 1950 had not worked long enough under social security to provide benefits for their widows and children, or for their aged parents. Under the new social security law, benefits can be paid to these surviving families if the worker had social security credit for as little as a year and a half of work. So, if you are the widow of a worker who died between June 1940 and September 1950, and if you are now over 62, or have children still under 18 years of age, be sure to get in touch with your nearest social security office now.

Joe A. Nesbitt, field representative from the Wichita Falls social security office, will be in Crowell on July 8 at the court house to give information and assistance on matters pertaining to social security.

To an undetermined number of long-time disabled workers under age 50, June 30th will mean much more than the end of one month and the beginning of another—even with Independence Day itself in the offing. So said Erton F. Tate, district manager of the Wichita Falls social security office. In addition he announced June 30th of this year is the very last day on which applications to protect earnings can cover the full period of a disability that began before July of 1957. If these severely disabled workers don't file their claims on or before that day, they may forfeit disability benefits at age 50, and the loss of, or reduction in, their retirement benefits at age 65 and the death benefits to survivors.

To avoid future losses of monthly benefits that could seriously reduce purchasing power at a time when it will be badly needed, Mr. Tate urges all disabled workers under age 50 who (1) have worked under social security, (2) became disabled at any time prior to July of 1957 and (3) have not already made inquiry as to their social security rights, to get in touch with their social security office promptly.

Helicopter Speeds Construction by Pouring Cement

The versatile helicopter has taken on a new task—pouring cement from the air—and is saving time and money in the construction of power lines across a mountain range.

In a similar job last fall, the helicopter carried steel girders to mountain sites where crews erected towers on cement pilings. The cement was carried to the site by truck at that time.

This year the helicopter was used for almost the entire project. First, it carried crews to the mountain construction sites where holes were prepared for the cement footings. The helicopter then picked up hoppers of wet cement at the base camp and returned to the site where it was poured directly into the holes while the helicopter hovered.

Weight of the cement load was about 3,000 pounds and the tower sections weighed about 3,500 pounds. Estimated savings in time ranged from hours to days.

LIVING IN PEREPTUAL BOOM

Dorothy Thompson writes: "As I see it, we have been living since the beginning of World War II in an economy of perpetual boom, marked by overemployment, over-expansion and overbuying. This boom has now come to be accepted as normal, and as the only desirable economy, identified rather braagradically with 'the American standard of living.' Whether it is a good economy, from the viewpoint of steady growth, is highly dubious, and whether it is good from the viewpoint of our civilization and culture is even more so."

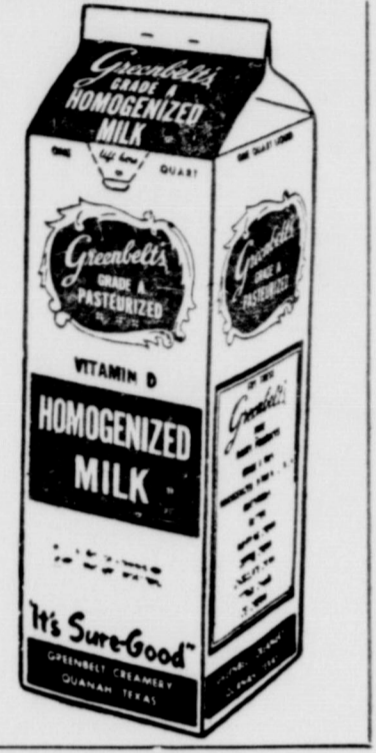

Halloween was originally a church festival. All Hallows Eve, to honor all departed saints.

THREAT TO FARMERS

Weeds are a worse threat to farmers than bug or blight. They cause a staggering loss estimated at $5 billion a year, and reduce crop yield by 10 per cent. New herbicides, perfected in oil industry laboratories, are proving effective in reducing the damage, and the search for still better ones goes on.

Love story

It seems this girl was so cr-r-azy about the service she got from her Phillips 66 Dealer that she'd buy only one gallon of Elite-Fuel at a time : : : just so she'd have an excuse to come back oftener.

It was rather trying for this Phillips 66 Dealer; considering all the free services he provides for every customer on every visit. Brushing out inside the car, for example. Cleaning the windows all around. Checking the tires, battery, and radiator.

It turned out just about as you'd expect. Such an obliging fellow, she decided, would be a handy man around the house. So she hooked him.

The trouble is, of course, that most Phillips 66 Dealers are so dedicated to their jobs that household chores get short shrift. No moral here for wives. Obvious moral for motorists.

Clinton Davis
Commuter to the Moon
"just around the corner," but it's a lot nearer than you think.

A rocket-type plane capable of carrying a man, or several, to the Moon may be first to the end of this year. The plane will still have to lick its way to get a man there alive.

After that, we would have a problem of how to get him in equally good condition. In the United States and Russia some of their best brains are on those problems.

While one division of the Air Force is trying to build rockets or missiles that can travel 187,000 miles to the Moon, other is trying to make it possible for man to travel on those rockets or missiles.

The latter division has the problem of how to get him in equally good condition. In the United States and Russia some of their best brains are on those problems.

Remember his first great adventure?

With full heart and watchful eyes you helped him enjoy his very first taste of independence.

And how proud you were when he achieved his goal, all by himself, and then, laughing, ran to your waiting arms to share his triumph with you!

Nothing you can give your child is half so precious as this wonderful opportunity to be himself. All through life you want him to be free to choose his way.

That's why it's so important to be on the watch for ideas or ideologies that could set limits to his independence. The idea, for instance, that government should own and run more and more businesses, services, institutions. Don't forget that when government runs more and more things, the individual has less and less freedom and independence!

Think of your son's first "independence day" when you hear talk like that. Point out that in countries where government does control almost everything, the individual is controlled, also. And the loss of anybody's independence is a threat to everybody's freedom.

Very much aware of this danger are the independent electric light and power companies, because government already runs part of the electric business. And powerful people are pressing to take over more.

Many workers who died between June 1940 and September 1950 had not worked long enough under social security to provide benefits for their widows and children, or for their aged parents.

Under the new social security law, benefits can be paid to these surviving families if the worker had social security credit for as little as a year and a half of work.

So, if you are the widow of a worker who died between June 1940 and September 1950, and if you are now over 62, or have children still under 18 years of age, be sure to get in touch with your nearest social security office now.

Joe A. Nesbitt, field representative from the Wichita Falls social security office, will be in Crowell on July 8 at the court house to give information and assistance on matters pertaining to social security.

To an undetermined number of long-time disabled workers under age 50, June 30th will mean much more than the end of one month and the beginning of another—even with Independence Day itself in the offing.

So said Erton F. Tate, district manager of the Wichita Falls social security office. In addition he announced June 30th of this year is the very last day on which applications to protect earnings can cover the full period of a disability that began before July of 1957.

If these severely disabled workers don't file their claims on or before that day, they may forfeit disability benefits at age 50, and the loss of, or reduction in, their retirement benefits at age 65 and the death benefits to survivors.

To avoid future losses of monthly benefits that could seriously reduce purchasing power at a time when it will be badly needed, Mr. Tate urges all disabled workers under age 50 who (1) have worked under social security, (2) became disabled at any time prior to July of 1957 and (3) have not already made inquiry as to their social security rights, to get in touch with their social security office promptly.

Helicopter Speeds Construction by Pouring Cement

The versatile helicopter has taken on a new task—pouring cement from the air—and is saving time and money in the construction of power lines across a mountain range.

In a similar job last fall, the helicopter carried steel girders to mountain sites where crews erected towers on cement pilings. The cement was carried to the site by truck at that time.

This year the helicopter was used for almost the entire project. First, it carried crews to the mountain construction sites where holes were prepared for the cement footings. The helicopter then picked up hoppers of wet cement at the base camp and returned to the site where it was poured directly into the holes while the helicopter hovered.

Weight of the cement load was about 3,000 pounds and the tower sections weighed about 3,500 pounds. Estimated savings in time ranged from hours to days.

THREAT TO FARMERS

Weeds are a worse threat to farmers than bug or blight. They cause a staggering loss estimated at $5 billion a year, and reduce crop yield by 10 per cent. New herbicides, perfected in oil industry laboratories, are proving effective in reducing the damage, and the search for still better ones goes on.

Love story

It seems this girl was so crazy about the service she got from her Phillips 66 Dealer that she'd buy only one gallon of Flite-Fuel at a time: just so she'd have an excuse to come back oftener.

It was rather trying for this Phillips 66 Dealer; considering all the free services he provides for every customer on every visit. Brushing out inside the car, for example. Cleaning the windows all around. Checking the tires, battery, and radiator.

It turned out just about as you'd expect. Such an obliging fellow, she decided, would be a handy man around the house. So she hooked him.

The trouble is, of course, that most Phillips 66 Dealers are so dedicated to their jobs that household chores get short shrift. No moral here for wives. Obvious moral for motorists.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Do you throw away your dead minnows?

Most fishermen just toss out dead minnows that fail to survive in the old minnow bucket. However, we've encountered a few old timers of late who report some mighty good catches of catfish, with dead minnows as their bait. Their method is to use a leader, 24 inches or so long, with a lead shot where line and leader join. They use shot of just enough weight to enable them to cast a good distance into deep water and pull the line to the bottom fairly fast.

The procedure is to cast to a likely spot and just sit back and relax for a while. If they haven't had a strike after five or ten minutes they reel in slowly and take a look at the bait, just to see what's going on down there.

Next cast is made in another area. They say the biggest strikes come when things are real quiet. But they do get an occasional strike while reeling in. Catfish in the first instance; bass in the second. And with dead-minnow bait.

LICENSES—Many tourists in Texas this year are surprised to find that they can buy a fishing license for $2.15 which will permit them to fish in either fresh or salt water. This is the same license fee paid by Texans who fish outside their home counties and use a rod with a winding device.

NEW ORGANIZATION—A national varmint caller's association now is being organized in Texas. Headquarters will be in Lubbock, where W. G. McMillan Sr., nationally known big game hunter, is spearheading the movement.

Numerous events are promised by this group, which uses wild callers to get predators within shooting range.

WORM FARMING—In an Australian publication the other day we saw a long story about breeding your own bait. It reminded us how we used to raise worms—big, fat, garden worms—many years ago. It will still work today. And for bream, crappie or catfish, there's nothing like a big juicy worm. One of them is better than a handful of little red wigglers.

In our own little worm-farming process we partitioned off a bed about six feet square in a back corner of the garden. Into the black dirt we worked a generous supply of barnyard fertilizer and sawdust. We watered this down thoroughly and put in a few big brood worms dug out of the flower bed. Then we wet it down some more.

We then tossed out potato peelings, slices of bread and corn meal. Back in those days weevils were had about getting into corn meal. We talked the corner grocer out of the returned packages and fed the worms with them.

Other good feed for worms consists of old tea bags, poultry mash, oatmeal, etc. Do not put any citrus peels, like grapefruit or oranges in the bed. They will kill the worms.

The earthworm is bisexual. All worms can lay eggs, but they must be fertilized by other worms. They reproduce very rapidly and a small bed will provide all you need.

This little bed supplied us with many cans of big fishing worms all summer long.

ARTIFICIAL WORMS—Catching fish with artificial lures is of course even more fascinating than with live bait. To satisfy this type of fisherman, David A. DeLong of DeLong Lures in Cleveland, Ohio, has produced not only some excellent imitations of the little wigglers, but also has incorporated taste.

Speaking of his very life-like eels and worms, DeLong says "fish them deep and slowly. Let them go as near the bottom as possible and in retrieving do not hurry them."

The special odor which DeLong fuses into the plastic does not attract any more fish, but says the inventor "when a fish hits it he seems to like the taste and smell and hold it without spitting the hook."

NEW SPORTS CENTER—A fellow over in Big-D has set about to prove it is possible to get all your coons up the same tree. This time it is in a sports center, where there's to be everything.

Angus Wynn and associates are spending $3,000,000 on this sports center as a part of the development near Arlington, where a few hundred million more will be checked out of the bank.

This sports center will be located on 275 acres. It will have everything from a little perch hook to the heaviest tackle made, and from a 6 foot pram to ocean-going cruisers.

It will have a lake for casting practice, protected rifle range, skeet range and a place to ski. The sports center will be a clearing house also for information about hunting and fishing all over the world.

This gigantic air conditioned store will be 242x410 feet, the largest sporting goods store under one roof in the world. All of it is supposed to be ready within a year.

Finally it looks like businessmen are recognizing that the outdoor traffic is big business.

HEALTH, FOOD AND BUDGETS

Omaha, Neb. — People who spend more than the average amount of their family budget for food aren't necessarily the best fed. Even at the top income levels there are many families whose diet is nutritionally inadequate.

These comments were included in an address by Dr. Willa Vaughn Tinsley, Dean of the School of Home Economics, Texas Technological College, Lubbock, at the recent meeting here of the Food and Nutrition Section of the Nebraska Home Economics and Dietetics state convention. She added that "people in all income groups need help in improving food habits."

"Although the acne of adolescence may be unrelated to nutrition, a good all-around diet will help to maintain a healthy condition of the skin, and together with cleanliness, may help to combat it," Dr. Tinsley said.

She added that the skin of a well-nourished person is usually smooth, slightly moist and tinged with pink. The skin of a poorly nourished person is likely to be dull and lifeless.

"It is important to protect each child from embarrassment over any shortcomings which study of his dietary habits may reveal. Food practices are personal and, as such, merit respect and confidential treatment," she declared.

"Good eating habits are important at all age levels. . . . Nutrition is a lifetime business. . . . It is an endless cycle—the infant today is the adult and parent tomorrow—the problems of later years often having onset in earlier years and we being what we are because of our yesterdays."

Most children like sweets, Dr. Tinsley said. That is all right, she said, but "we should get children to eat what they need, and then foods they consume which are superfluous to their needs will not loom in importance."

"It is important to recognize the good points in each child's food habits, the practices which should be encouraged to maintain as sort of bulwark against the realizations that there may be other practices (most often, omissions) that need changing."

"Bread and cereals are a safe start because this group of food is likely to be measured up well, and the meat group might come next as it is about as likely to measure up well against recommendations—in all but extremely low economic circumstances."

Dean Tinsley pointed out that some nutrition teachers chide pupils whose breakfasts consisted of beans, and that some families prefer their cereal foods for supper.

"Nutritive value," she said, "is not dependent upon the time of the day."

ALVIE KNOWS A LOT OF ANSWERS

How long does it take to hatch an ostrich egg? . . . How many bachelors in Bolivia? . . . How much blubber in a male whale? . . . Alvie knows these answers and a jillion others. Folks smile and agree that Alvie is a regular encyclopedia of "useless information" but they never question the accuracy of his peculiar knowledge. That's because everybody knows Alvie gets his "answers" by memorizing the little space-fillers we all see in our newspapers. And to all of us, what we see in our home-town newspaper is immediately acceptable and believable!

The same is particularly true of advertising. To put your advertising message before all the people . . . put it in your HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER!

Soil Conservation District Report

A record wheat crop has left cooperators with the problem of properly managing the heaviest amount of stubble that has been grown in years. Clippings taken by SCS technicians on a farm located 1 mile southwest of Quanah showed that over two tons of crop residue per acre remained after harvest. Some fields will have even larger amounts of crop residue left.

Crop residue can be beneficial to the land. If it is left on the land, it will reduce wind and water erosion and add organic matter to increase future production of crops.

Stubble mulching keeps most of the residue on top of the ground and this is usually done with a sweep-type plow. A one-way, if it is plowing as it should, will turn under about half the straw each time the field is plowed.

Dry, hard land is hard to plow any time and a lot of stubble makes matters worse, but if a farmer will be patient with these problems, he will be able to plant the ground in the fall and be glad he was not one of those who burned the life out of his soil.

INSECTICIDES DANGEROUS: HANDLE WITH CARE

Don't fail to follow manufacturer's directions when handling and using highly toxic insecticides, warns Joe Burkett, County Agent. He points out that weather conditions continue to favor heavy insect infestations and this means farmers will be handling materials which kill bugs as well as humans.

Insecticide injury to man is most common through oral and respiratory intake or by skin absorption. Continued exposure even to lower insecticide concentrations, with no regard to safety measures, can result in accumulation of chemicals in the body and may cause eventual tissue or organic injury, says the agent.

Many phosphorous compounds, such as parathion, methyl parathion, EPN, TEPP, demeton, Diazinon, Phosdin, Thimet and Guthion are extremely poisonous and must be handled with care. Many phosphorous insecticides are more poisonous to warm blooded animals than most other chemicals used for insect control.

FORECAST: SAFE AND HUMID

In tunnels excavated as part of the Oahe Dam construction in South Dakota, engineers have found that humid air helps prevent crumbling and cave-ins. They have set up a complete humidification and ventilation system to keep moisture in the tunnel air at a constant 95 per cent level. Vital part of the system is flexible tubing of nylon coated with neoprene rubber, an all oil-based combination. The tubing, 30 inches in diameter, provides fresh air as well as the needed moisture, which enters the system through water and air sprays placed at intervals in the tunnels.

Test to Destruction Proves Plane Design

A "test-to-destruction" — on the ground — recently proved that a new jet aircraft will take the most severe punishment normally expected.

The static testing covered every part of the aircraft and required 15 months to carry out.

In the final destruction test, an airframe, complete except for engines and electronic equipment, was placed in the huge test rack.

Loads were applied by hydraulic jacks connected to the aircraft by cables. About 2,000 strain gauges and 60 miles of wiring were used.

Before reaching the inevitable point of failure from the tremendous loads imposed by the jacks, the wings of the aircraft were bent upward 12 1/2 feet while on a previous test the wings had been deflected downward about 4 feet — a total movement of more than 16 feet. The air craft, designed to withstand loads 50 per cent greater than expected, exceeded the design expectations by 10 per cent before failure.

SIGHTS TO SEE IN TEXAS

There's plenty to see in Texas, wherever you may roam on a holiday jaunt or on a vacation trip. Clockwise from the lower left hand corner, some of the impressive sights to see in Texas are: The Big Bend, some of the most striking scenery in the state; Guadalupe Peak, highest point in Texas at 8,751 feet; the Palo Duro Canyon, camping grounds for Indian tribes in frontier days; East Texas oil fields, biggest of them all; the 570-foot San Jacinto Monument, commemorating decisive battle of Texas history; Gulf Coast Beaches, some of the finest in the world; the Alamo, "Cradle of Texas Liberty," and in the center of the state, Texas Longhorn Cavern, biggest cave in the state and third largest in the world, one of Texas' most spectacular natural wonders. Sightseeing is fun in Texas.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin—If a fire-breathing dragon were loose on the Texas countryside—smashing cars and their occupants, slapping down pedestrians—there'd be no question about the need to get rid of the monster. An aroused public would demand that SOMEBODY DO SOMETHING!

In actuality, innocent people ARE being maimed or killed every day as they go about their business. Thousands are lost every year.

But somebody IS doing something. Right now, officials and private citizens are forming a massive "posse." They're going after the killer—the monstrous indifference, carelessness and other difficulties that bring death on Texas streets and highways.

Leaders are members of the Texas Traffic Safety Council created by the Legislature just a year ago. Gov. Price Daniel is chairman; Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety, vice-chairman. Heads of numerous other state agencies are members.

Formation of the Council was the starting point for a campaign which, for the first time, brought the official power and prestige of state government to bear on a growing problem. For some years Texas vehicles and their drivers had been outgrowing highway facilities and outdistancing law enforcement agencies by sheer weight of numbers. In 1956 Texas had an appalling all-time high of 2,611 motoricides.

Governor Daniel called it a public emergency. With only a skeleton organization, the Council hammered away through 1957 at tightening enforcement, organizing holiday safety campaigns. By the end of the year the toll had dropped by 72.

In February of this year the governor appointed the state's first full-time traffic safety director. He is Brad H. Smith, veteran South Texas newspaper, radio and television man and past president of the Texas Press Association, who has for many years been a volunteer worker in traffic safety.

First move was to acquaint Texans with the enormity of the problem. In this Smith says he's had unstinting help from mass news media and volunteer assistance from every type of civic group.

In April Governor Daniel climaxed publicity efforts with a statewide broadcast calling for a "crack down" on two major traffic evils—speeding and driving while intoxicated. Simultaneously, local traffic safety councils were formed in 180 counties. An estimated 5,000 people participated.

Meanwhile, the battle is being pushed on other fronts. A survey of traffic-controlling resources resulted in recommendation of a 7-point program to bring Texas up to par:

1. A statewide program to bring greater public cooperation.
2. More rigid enforcement of present laws.
3. Adoption of the Uniform Driver's License Law.
4. A law to permit police to use chemical tests and other scientific aids to detect drunken drivers.
5. Development of strong, fair, effective traffic courts.
7. Universal driver education in public schools supported by state aid.

Besides the state agencies working cooperatively through the new Council, other groups are part of the crusade. A major source of help is the 20-year-old Texas Safety Association, a pioneer group which finances its efforts on a voluntary basis.

Texas Legislative Council is studying traffic problems and will report to the 56th Legislature.

Bringing new weight is the Governor's Highway Safety Commission. Scores of prominent Texans answered Governor Daniel's call to give citizen support to official efforts. First Commission meeting is set tentatively for Fall.

Results thus far are encouraging. For the first 23 weeks of this year the toll was down by 101 persons, about 11 per cent, from last year. There were 163 fewer deaths, down about 17 per cent.

Goal for 1958 is a year-long 10 per cent drop or 254 lives saved—a real stab at the dragon.

JULY SNOW STORM—Next summer's Democratic precinct conventions will be like an extra after-hours election. There'll be rival "platforms" and rival candidates, but only one key issue—who's to control the party.

Battle lines were drawn when the State Democratic Executive Committee held its June meeting in Austin. Governor Daniel, as head of the party in Texas, called on his moderate-conservative cohorts to "snow under" the liberal-labor Democrats of Texas at the conventions. He accused DOT of trying to usurp the party name for a "splinter group."

SDEC is recommending electing precinct delegates to county conventions by primary ballot and moving primaries up to May and June. It also suggests a search for means to prevent party line crossing at primary time.

DOT is pushing for its "code of ethics" for conducting conventions and a party registration law to keep out Republicans.

Relative merits of the two "platforms" may be as confusing to some voters as a snowstorm in July. What's clear is that if the moderate-conservatives win out, Governor Daniel will continue at the helm of party affairs in Texas.

Many Specialty Acts Booked for Santa Rosa Roundup June 25-28

A glittering array of specialty acts has been booked for nightly performances at the 13th annual Santa Rosa Roundup here June 25-28.

Jimmy Murphy and his White Chargers, featuring nine minutes of action, thrills and color, will be on hand in a dangerous but thrilling exhibition of Roman riding. His death-defying fire ride has thrilled rodeo audiences from coast to coast.

Back by popular demand this year is Jay Sisler and his trained Australian Shepherd dogs, Stub and Shorty. The intelligent dogs perform a great variety of tricks, combining canine intelligence and comedy.

Buff Douthitt, one of three performers in the nation who doubles as contestant and performing artist, will bring his amazing exhibition of rope twirling while balancing on a slack wire. He has been presented in major arenas throughout the United States.

An added attraction to the rodeo this year, and one guaranteed to send chills up and down the spines of spectators, is the girl riders' barrel race with top racers in the nation appearing here in this thrilling and dangerous sport.

John Biggs, general manager of the Roundup, announces that Bobby and Gene Clark will be on hand as clowns to provide comedy and thrills, especially with their dangerous bullfighting act with Brahman bulls. Ruby Nance and his popular rodeo band from Oklahoma City and popular announcer Cy Tallion will be back to lend their talents to this year's bigger and better rodeo.

Advance tickets are available by calling LI2-6868 or by writing Santa Rosa Roundup Ticket headquarters, Vernon, Texas.

OIL, NEWEST CONVERSATION PIECE

Up to 1,800 phone calls are carried "piggyback" on carrier waves through a long-distance telephone cable. The calls are unscrambled by crystals formed from petroleum-derived products, each of which vibrates to a different carrier wave. This serves to filter out the signals after they flash along the cable. Although they look like small slivers of quartz or glass, these special crystals are just as much an oil product as the gasoline in your automobile or the tiling on your kitchen floor.

LABOR BOSSES' TIGHT

"Labor bosses' tight grip was rather impressively demonstrated when the U. S. rallied its forces to beat down efforts to attach some amendments to prevent further handling of union welfare. The bill under consideration requires the registration, and disclosure of all financial and pension plans." — Truesdell, Star-Clipper.

HOUSE OF CARDS WILL EVENTUALLY COLLAPSE

"If we can in this fast-moving age have solid economic development without the corrosive influence of inflation we ought to begin to find it out. Unless we start soon to try, we may discover one day that inflation is taken for granted by management, labor and everybody else as an inescapable companion to our economic progress. Then is hastened the day when the house of cards will collapse." — Virginia, Minn., Mesabi Daily News.

In the U. S. Navy the executive officer is the one next in line to the captain.

Cemaries Produce Tooling Dramatics

Cemaries to the general public usually denote objects that are made of ceramic. To the aircraft manufacturer, however, ceramics are the coming materials where great heat resistivity is required. Most recent use found for the versatile ceramic is in "cutting bits" for the production worker's lathe. The bits look like miniature patio tiles and come in a wide variety of colors, sizes and shapes. The exact compositions of the bits are closely guarded secrets, but most manufacturers admit that cemented oxide, sintered alumina or aluminum oxide are acceptable names. In general these bits are made by forming powdered material into solids under intense pressure and heat. Since they are made from materials which can withstand much higher temperatures than metal, ceramic tooling bits can operate at higher cutting speeds. As any lathe operator knows, this results in better finishes and usually more pieces of finished work per hour. Both results are of extreme importance to the aircraft manufacturer to whom close tolerance finishes are almost as important as the savings in time and money gained through speeding up this phase of production. The future of ceramics seems bright as the aircraft industry moves ahead in the use of new special purpose alloys that defy steel or carbide tools and which are of increasing importance in jet, rocket and nuclear equipment.

HIGH RECORD FOR DIVIDENDS

Companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange paid their common share owners $2,179,860, 56¢ in cash dividends during the first quarter of this year—a new high record for the initial quarter of any year and 2 per cent above the equivalent period in 1957. It also marked the 16th successive time that first quarter common dividends increased over the same period of the previous year.

Weekly Sermon

"Not as Man Sees" The ideal candidate for high government office—if he is to appeal to voters—should be tall, good looking, well-proportioned and possess a fine voice and a winning personality. In the history of Israel a man named Eliab probably had all these qualifications, yet he failed to get the job. The prophet Samuel, entrusted with the responsibility of appointing the new king, thought Eliab was the divine choice. But God said, "Do not look on his appearance or on the height of his stature, because I have rejected him." (1 Samuel 16:7a). The reason for the rejection is not given. The important thing is the observation that immediately follows—wisdom for our day as it was in Samuel's: "The Lord sees not as man sees; man looks on the outward appearance, but the Lord looks on the heart." (1 Samuel 16:7b). How often do we judge a person by what he does or perhaps because of what he fails to do. If he makes fast decisions, he is impetuous; if he is slow to act, he is a do-nothing. If he is a stern disciplinarian, he is a dictator; if he is easygoing, he is a fuzzy liberal. If he gives no place to social amenities, he is arrogant; if he enjoys good company, he squanders his time. The truth is that the person we consider worthy of adulation may be a hypocrite, while the one most open to criticism may be a saint of God. This does not give us license to make excuses, to justify our wrong acts or to declare ourselves misunderstood by our fellows. It should teach us to withhold judgment and silence the tongue of criticism. "Judge not, that ye be not judged." (Matthew 7:1).

OPPOSITE EXCUSES FOR SPENDING TAX DOLLAR

The National Association of Manufacturers points out that the Department of Agriculture plans to spend $756 million to remove farm land from production under the soil bank program—and that, at the same time, the Bureau of Reclamation wants to spend $216 million to get more land ready for production by building dams and irrigation systems. The Alhambra, celebrated 14th century palace in Granada, Spain, has a circumference of 24 miles. Jaggers is a coarse brown sugar made from the juice of palm trees.

About Your HEALTH

With the coming of the atomic age and all of its benefits to mankind, also comes new problems and hazards. All of us recognize the hazard faced from enemy action in dispersing radioactive contaminants over wide areas, and with continuing information released by various authorities, everyone is danger of excessive radiation. Through continuous educational activities the State Department of Health is in the forefront in safeguarding Texas citizens against the dangers of careless and unnecessary use of isotopes, x-rays and other radioactive substances. The cooperation on the part of industrial and medical users in the employment of proper procedures and safety devices has been commendable. The Department does not attempt to regulate the use of x-rays used in the healing arts. But improvements in radiological techniques in the use of x-ray equipment, installation of cones, filters, shields, more sensitive films, accurate focusing, and shorter exposure time has decreased the amount of radiation to both the examiner and the examinee. Also the indiscriminate use of shoe-fitting fluor-

Intermission acts include Jimmy Murphy and his White Chargers; Jay Sisler, returning by popular demand with his Australian Shepherd dogs, Stub and Shorty; Buff Douthitt, both contestant and artist, performing tricks on the slack wire, and of course, the clowns, Gene and Bobby Clark, who will thrill you with their comedy bull-fighting. TALKS LIKE EMPLOYER

"A group known as the Field Representatives' Federation" has been refused an AFL-CIO charter to represent 215 AFL-CIO employees sent out to organize unions. The incident shows that when a labor union acts as an employer it talks like an employer — and often like an unenlightened employer at that."—Quincy, Mass., Patry Ledger. Everything Except Ava Gardner

The movie film used to photograph the test flights of a modern bomber would make "Gone With The Wind" look like a coming attraction trailer. Sixty cameras have shot an estimated 100,000 feet of film — enough for a continuous 40-hour showing. "But we're actually only just getting started," says a photographic specialist. "There's a lot more ahead." During a typical test flight, the bomber carries five movie cameras, and two others are carried by the chase plane to record the bomber's flight characteristics. They compile a significant record of the aircraft's performance at varying temperatures, altitudes and under almost every conceivable condition. In addition to the airborne cameras, two theodolite cameras film the bomber on take-off against a built-in grid from which engineers can measure the plane's altitude, angle of attack and point of take-off. With all of the cameras involved in the test program, the photographers are seeking still another camera. This camera would be mounted on the helmet of the pilot in the chase plane following the bomber. The only camera presently available weighs 16 pounds, a bit too heavy for even the most stiff-necked pilot. The photographers are working with engineers to come up with a 16-millimeter camera that will do the job and weigh not more than two and one-half pounds. Allegro is an Italian musical term meaning lively.

NO INCOME TAX FOR UNIONS

"While the big majority of American people and all of the businesses are heavily taxed by the federal government on their incomes, there is one type of organization that gets by without so much as a token payment. "Those organizations are the labor unions. "While their incomes dwarf many so-called 'big businesses,' they pay nothing to the federal government in taxes on that income."—Naples, Texas, Monitor.

AIR QUOTE

"Since its inception in 1946, the Strategic Air Command has been the principal contributor to the deterrent posture of the free world because the combination of its organization, men and weapon systems gave it an unchallenged retaliatory capability. This capability was well known to the Soviets, which has undoubtedly been a major factor in preventing a general war between the free and the communist worlds to this date. "I am confident that our deterrent strength, as represented by SAC's current retaliatory capability, is still great enough today to discourage the Soviets from precipitating a general war. For in spite of their advances in military technology and their claim of successes with experimental ballistic missiles, their capability for waging aggression has not yet reached the point where they could reasonably expect to prevent SAC from inflicting unacceptable damage upon them in retaliation."—Gen. Thomas S. Power, Commander in Chief, Strategic Air Command, December 16, 1957.

DISRESPECT FOR LAW

"We are a people who have deep respect for the law. Many of our domestic and international troubles flow from a respect for the law. Juvenile delinquency, the traffic slugs on the highways, and moral decay leading to problems in our areas of our society stem directly from flouting of the law and falling away of respect for it."—West Point, Miss., Times Leader.
