Mrs. V. A. McGinnis Succumbed Friday, June 7, in Vernon

Buried in Crowell Cemetery Saturday Afternoon, June 8

Mrs. V. A. McGinnis, 84, of Vernon, long-time resident of Foard County and mother of A. L. McGinnis of the Margaret community, died last Friday morning, June 7, in a Vernon hospital following an illness of three weeks.

Funeral services for Mrs. McGinnis were held Saturday at 2 p. m. in the Henderson Funeral Home in Vernon conducted by Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald, pastor of the Thalia Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. Jack Merritt, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Vernon. Burial followed in the Crowell Cemetery by the grave of her late husband who passed away in 1942.

Mrs. McGinnis was born Jan. 11, 1872, at Keller, Texas. She was married to V. A. McGinnis in that community in 1888. They moved from Greer County, Okla., to Foard County in 1902, making their home in the Margaret community until Mr. McGinnis' death. Since that time she had made her home in Vernon with her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Flowers, at 2610 Main Street.

Surviving, in addition to Mrs. Flowers, are two other daughters, Mrs. Greek Davis of Corpus Christi and Mrs. H. M. Phillips of Amarillo; one son, A. L. McGinnis, of Margaret; eight grandchildren and a number of great grandchildren; four half sisters, Mrs. W. S. Lundy, Mrs. M. A. Byers and Mrs. Roy Thompson, all of Vernon, and Mrs. Willie Simmons of Fort Worth; and two sisters-in-law, Mrs. C. M. Ladd and Mrs. Ed Ladd of Vernon.

Thalia Postmaster to Be Transferred to Rt. 1 Crowell

John W. Wright, Thalia postmaster for a number of years, will be transferred from his present position as postmaster to rural route carrier on Route No. 1 from the Crowell postoffice. It was announced this week by Crowell Postmaster Alva Spencer. The transfer becomes effective June 29. This information was received by Mr. Spencer from the district office in Amarillo.

Mr. Wright will take the place of Gus Neill of Thalia who resigned as carrier on Route No. 1 on Feb. 1, 1957. Paul Wallace, substitute carrier for the Crowell postoffice, has been carrying the mail on the route since the resignation of Mr. Neill became effective.

Mr. Wright has served for the last four years as one of the vice presidents of the Texas Branch of the National League of Postmasters and would have been elected as president at the state convention held in Dallas last week, but for the fact that he was being transferred from postmaster to rural route carrier, making him ineligible for this office.

Rain and High Winds Tuesday Night Do Extensive Damage to Wheat, Oats

High winds, accompanied by rain and a small amount of hail, did extensive damage to Foard County's already-weather-damaged wheat and oat crop early Wednesday morning. The winds, which struck here about 1:30 a. m., were accompanied by gusts up to 70 and 80 miles per hour, and .62 inch of rain was recorded here during the storm.

The wheat harvest had really begun to get in full swing Monday and Tuesday, but will be delayed again for several days.

Reports from over the county Wednesday morning stated that oats were blown to the ground, and extensive damage was done to the extremely ripe wheat. Most of the wheat and oats were ready for harvest, but farmers were not able to get combines in the wet fields in some areas.

Up to Tuesday night, the elevators of the county had received approximately 285,300 bushels. According to the elevator operators, the wheat was testing from 56 to 59 pounds, which is a little lighter than usual crops here.

Trusscott Community

Lester Hickman, manager of the Farmers Elevator at Trusscott, reported Wednesday morning that an estimated 60,000 bushels had been delivered to the elevator up until Tuesday night. He reported that the severe wind and rain Tuesday night had brought more damage to the wheat and oat crops. He reported that the community had .8 inch of rain Tuesday night.

The yield per acre and the quality of the grain of wheat harvested before the last rain, is probably better than most farmers expected considering the heavy rainfall that continued over a period of several weeks. The severe wet spell delayed the harvest at least two weeks or more.

Wind Damage

The high wind accompanying the rain storm Wednesday morning did considerable damage to television antennas and trees in Crowell. Grady Halbert reported damage from large hail stones and high wind at his home in the Foard City community. The damage was principally to out-buildings around his home. Damage caused by the near-tornadic winds was probably general all over the county.

In the May 31, 1956, issue of the News, an item reported that the elevators of the county at that time had received 535,000 bushels and the price paid was $1.90 per bushel. A big rain over the county, measuring four inches and better, on Friday of that week, and then another shower falling on Saturday night and Sunday morning, caused further delay, but no damage to the wheat. Harvest began again on Tuesday and the June 7 issue reported the harvest almost completed and the elevators had received 805,000 bushels. Approximately 150 car loads of wheat had been shipped on the Santa Fe, in addition to the many truck loads being sent to Houston. Harvest was also completed in the Trusscott community at this time and the Farmers Elevator there had received 127,000 bushels.

Polio Vaccine for Foard Residents Ordered This Week

More details concerning the "Saturation-goal" polio vaccination program for Foard County were made known this week. Plans have been made for a polio vaccination clinic; and last week, Dr. M. M. Kralicke, Foard County Health Officer, ordered 70 vials of Salk vaccine for the county. This is 630 shots of vaccine and should be enough at least for the first shots in Foard County. The vaccine supplier has promised delivery in 30 to 60 days from date of the order.

A one-day clinic will be established on a Saturday in the business district of Crowell immediately after the vaccine arrives, and a second clinic will be held about four weeks later. A charge of $1.00 per shot will be made for the vaccinations on these days to those who can afford to pay, but the shots will be given free and without question to those who can not spare the dollar. This program has been planned for the purpose of getting every resident of Foard County who is under 40 years of age vaccinated.

The Foard County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will contribute up to one-third of its share of the 1957 March of Dimes to the county's "Vaccinate Before Too Late" program, it was announced this week by Chapter Chairman, John W. Wright. The Thalia P. T. A. several weeks ago voted to contribute $50.00 to such a program. It is felt that these funds augmented by the dollar per shot contributed by those able to pay will finance the program.

Since there will be a delay of at least 30 days in starting this program, Mr. Wright suggests that those who have not had any of the shots might want to see their doctor and pay the regular price for the first shot now and then be ready for the second shot when the "bargain" clinic opens. Such action would assure protection earlier in the polio epidemic season.

County Agents Report on Foard County Wheat, Cotton and Alfalfa Prospects

Burkett and Don Bayer, Foard County Agents

Harvest in Foard County can be in full operation after a few weeks due to weather. A large percentage of wheat crop will have been harvested in two weeks if weather conditions continue to be favorable.

This year's wheat crop has been reduced by dry weather, insects, excessive rain, and almost all have suffered to some extent by one or more of these factors. In addition to these conditions have been damaged severely by dry land foot rot.

Crowell Cemetery Association Re-Elects Officers Last Friday

Annual meeting of the Crowell Cemetery Association was held in the Down Town Bible room Friday afternoon at 7 p. m., presided over by the president, Mrs. N. J. Roberts. Nine members were present.

Following the reading of the minutes by Mrs. C. C. McLaughlin, secretary, Mrs. Roberts made report of what had been accomplished at the cemetery during the year. Much improvement has been made, but the outstanding item was the installation of a new fence.

During the business session, it was voted to raise the salary of Sexton, Earl Eubanks, from $100 per month to $125 per month. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that Mr. Eubanks was an efficient, dependable worker, and that he deserved a raise.

Officers for the year were elected as follows: Mrs. N. J. Roberts, president; Mrs. Hines Clark, vice president; Mrs. C. C. McLaughlin, secretary; and Lee Black, treasurer.

Trustees are Rude Magee, Leathomas and Merl Kincaid, with following directors: J. T. Stanton, Mike Bird and Ray Eubanks.

State Capitol NEWS

by VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Austin, Tex.—Though still four months off, Gov. Daniel's plan for a special legislative session in the fall is already generating lively discussion around the Capitol. There is sentiment both for and against.

A "memorandum" was reportedly circulated asking persons to write the governor and ask him not to call the special session. It predicted the bills the governor wants would fare no better than before. A long-time House member was believed to be the author of the memorandum.

But if the session is held, Rep. Tony Koriath of Sherman says he hopes the governor will submit small loan regulation as an emergency measure. Koriath's "loan shark" control bill died in committee last session.

NEW "STATES" FORMED — While Texas lawmakers take a break, some probable leaders of the future are trying their hands at government in Austin.

They are nearly 1,000 high school students from over Texas who came to the Capital City for Boys State and Girls State. Texas Department of the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary sponsor the "states" annually as citizenship laboratories for outstanding youngsters.

Participants hear talks by top officials from the governor down, then form political parties, nominate candidates and elect officials of their own.

Aim is to give the students a first-hand understanding of politics and government.

ROAD BUILDING SPEED-UP — Texas State Highway Commission is moving swiftly to take advantage of new laws designed to speed up highway construction.

A meeting of the Commission and key personnel was to be held in Houston this week. Objective: to hasten the day when heavy traffic can move safely and smoothly along multi-laned super-highways with no crossroads.

Principal legislative changes are (1) provision for the state to go 50-50 with cities and counties on land buying costs and (2) new authority for the state to obtain land for and have control of super-roads through cities.

Goal for 1970, according to Highway Engineer D. C. Greer, is 900 miles of expressways linking Texas' population centers.

First of the new laws means car and truck owners will pay 10 per cent more for their next license plates. Second means state will set speed limits on state highways through towns — no local speed traps.

But one "speed-up" law failed. Legislature decided against raising present 60-mile-per-hour limit, no matter how good the road.

TOUGHER FOR TEENS — Law enforcement officers will, in effect, have a new hickory stick for teenage troublemakers after Aug. 22.

New laws to go into effect then provide:

1. Youngsters 14 and over can be fined $100 for speeding, DWI or driving without a license.

2. Parents will be liable up to $300 for property damage by minor children.

3. Drivers licenses for youngsters under 16 will be harder to get. Department of Public Safety, rather than local county judge, will have say-so.

4. A special "license" will be needed for driving motor bikes and scooters.

Taking a more optimistic view of the same subject were the more than 100 experts, educators and parents in Austin for the Texas PTA's youth development workshop.

Today's youth seem to be "sailing along," they opined, but suggested more interest by fathers might help. AT LEAST IT'S WET — More and more rain and less and less crops is the farm report from many parts of the state.

Besides flood damage, losses are expected to mount high from wind, hail, rust and insects. And continued heavy rains have washed out more fields, delayed much-needed work in others.

Any more rain will mean complete loss of North Texas grain crops, according to observers. U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reported weather too wet and cool for cotton in all areas but South Texas.

Even so, the stored-up moisture makes farmers generally hopeful. With some clear weather now, some say they might yet get the best crops in years.

For ranchers, outlook is even better. Hill Country Hereford Association reported record-breaking sales as grass grows higher, cattle fatter.

BUILDING BOGS DOWN — Continuous rain has brought construction to a "virtual standstill" in many parts of Texas this year.

Building authorizations for the first four months of '57 were one per cent higher than last year, reports the Bureau of Business Research. But actual construction was 4 per cent less due to the weather.

Increase in the authorization totals was attributed to higher costs rather than more building.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY UP — Almost all indicators show Texas business moving slowly, but steadily, ahead of what it was in 1956.

University Bureau of Business Research reported April, 1957, was 6 per cent better than April, 1956. Retail trade was up 8 per cent over last year with family clothing stores showing the biggest jump—39 per cent.

Bureau analysts foresee "good" retailing for the rest of the year, but with "fierce competition" and a "ruthless squeeze on profits and margins."

SHORT SNORTS — Virgil T. Seabury of Eastland has been elected president of the State Bar of Texas, according to Austin headquarters. He will take office at the bar's annual convention in Fort Worth in July.

First high state official to announce for the 1958 elections is Railroad Commission Chairman Olin Culbertson. He has been on the Commission since 1941.

Cotton planting deadlines have been extended until June 20 for farmers in 69 East and Central Texas counties. Agriculture Commr. John White said the extension was "against my better judgment" as far as pink bollworm control is concerned, but that farmers should not be deprived of a good cash crop.

10 Million Documents on File at General Land Office in Austin

Ten million documents. There are that many individual records in the archives of the General Land Office in Austin, explains David Reeves, whose job is the care and preservation of those records.

"The history of Texas is the story of her land," Reeves says, "and that fascinating story is told in detail by documents in Land Office archives."

Nearly eight million individual documents in the Land Office have historical significance, Reeves points out.

"For example, we have the muster rolls of the Army of the Republic of Texas and original titles to almost every tract of land in the State, including about 5,000 granted by Spain and Mexico," Reeves says.

The Land Office even has one document that is dated in 1745, the Land Office records custodian points out.

Also in the archives are original maps of the 38 old land districts of the Republic of Texas and original county maps, including some done by O'Henry when he worked as a draftsman at the Land Office about 1890.

The Land Office also has an original working copy of the Texas Constitution and some papers signed by Nathaniel Hawthorne, celebrated American author, while he was on consular duty in Liverpool, England.

"While all of these documents are available to students of Texas history," Reeves says, "they also serve a more practical purpose, being used daily in administration of Land Office duties."

"A HITLER TACTIC"

Opponents of right-to-work laws (which simply say that a man can join a union if he wants to and can refrain from joining if that is what he wants, and that in either case he can work at his job free from coercion by union official or employer) argue that they are anti-labor, and that those who advocate them are trying to undermine the labor movement.

In this connection, a remark by Senator Goldwater is apt. He recalled that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was one of the greatest friends of labor ever to occupy the White House, stated his absolute opposition to requirement that a man must join a union, and characterized it as "a Hitler tactic."

And that is precisely what it is.

One bottle of tea from the Boston Tea Party is still in the Massachusetts Historical Society rooms.

Don't Select Dires for Twin Lambs

Twin lambs are usually able for Texas sheepmen worth the trouble of selection. Although they lack the vitality and vigor of singles, says Joe County Agent.

A 22-year study has shown weaning weight difference of more than 11 pounds in favor of born lambs. Singles also a two pound birth weight, and yearling ewes weigh about 5 pounds more than first shearing than do singles as twins. Creep feeding eliminates the natural stages of twins, however, kett.

Death loss to weaning mated to be 5.4 per cent for twins, while ewes and nursing twins are 10 per cent lower in mortality. Ewes weaning in the extended test nearly 47 pounds more than single producers, but matedly 30 per cent of one offspring before weaning.

Although records show thin ewes as being less than average-weight single or twin birth flocks, considered uncontrollable, her preference depends on individual ranch conditions balancing must depend on management.

Farmer Now More Important Ever Before

“Drought” in Texas farm appears to be broken! Estimates indicate a 1956 crop of 15,000 farm residents and a jump of 1957 figures and a jump of 1958 figures.

Texas’ 1,156,000 farm residents last year comprised only 10 per cent of the state’s total population, according to a survey conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the USDA Agricultural Marketing Service.

Historian R. L. Skrabaneck predicts a continuing trend of farm population to become a smaller proportion of the state’s total is due to extremely rapid urban population gains.

Things have changed since the “good old days,” Skrabaneck points out, modern emphasis centers around increased production instead of increased population per unit. In 1930, for instance, more than 40 per cent of the state’s citizens lived on farms and ranches, but today’s agriculture must depend on new techniques and increased efficiency to meet constantly growing demands for better food and fiber. The individual farmer is, therefore, becoming more and more important to the welfare of his country, Skrabaneck concludes.

Texas’ farm population declined steadily for 21 years, rallying in 1954 to initiate a gradual upward climb still in effect. Most of the males leaving farms fall into the 10 to 24-year age group, and considerably more females leave than do males. For years agriculture has released valuable manpower to

DOG ACTS AS NAVY GUARDS

The Navy employs German Shepherd dogs to help guard more than two million dollars worth of government motor vehicles and equipment at the Naval Air Station, Miramar, Calif. Previously, thefts amounted to more than $2,000 a month, but after the dogs began acting as guards, the loss decreased to zero dollars. It costs an average of only $15 a month to care for one of these dogs, including food and medical care.

LET'S TALK LIVESTOCK

BY TED GOULDY

The arrival of more than 11,000 cattle and calves at Fort Worth Monday signaled the start of the summer shipping season, which has been hampered by rain, mud and flood in recent weeks. The big movement followed the first few days of dry weather following the record breaking rains of April and May.

For the record, it was the largest offering in four years and approached the numbers recorded Oct. 21, 1946, before the day was over.

Grass cattle prices weakened under the impact, but strong stocker and feeder demand held the price break to relatively minor proportions. Grainfed steers, yearlings and heifers held steady. Bulls sold 25 cents lower. Cows, slaughter calves and plain to medium grade stockers were around 50 cents lower. Grasser yearlings and heifers shared the 50-cent decline. Good or choice quality stockers and feeders held firm.

Good and choice steers and yearlings bulked at $19.50 to $23.50, with a few individual steers to $25. Plain and medium butcher sorts bulked at $12 to $18.50. Fat cows drew $12.50 to $15.50, and some heiferish cows reached $16 and were consigned by C. T. White of Brady, who also had some young fat dry females at $16.75, that weighed around 1,050.

Cannings and cutters drew $8.50 to $12.50. Bulls ruled at $11 to $15.50. Good and choice slaughter calves cashed at $19 to $21.50, a few to the butcher trade to $22. Common and medium offerings drew $13 to $18.50, while culls bulked at $10 to $13. Good and choice stocker steer calves cashed at $19 to $23, and stocker steer yearlings bulked at $21.50 down. Feeder yearling heifers sold from $19.50 down, and stocker heifer calves ranged from $20.50 downward. A few replacement cows sold from $10 to $14.

Hog Prices Hit New High

The seasonal improvement of hog prices continued as cornbelt offerings were of moderate proportions on Monday. The top at Fort Worth was $20.50 and $20.75 and swine at the higher figure established a new high for 1957, and were at the best level since June, 1955.

Last week, and during January this year, the top reached $20.50 at Fort Worth. Medium butchers sold around $16.50 to $19.50. Sows sold from $16 to $17.50, a few smooth light sows able to get by as No. 2 or No. 3 butchers for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen New.

Warning Against Water Dangers May Save Lives

An abundance of water and fine new boats and motors can provide some wonderful recreation, but it is a combination for tragedy, too. That is the warning of E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

“There is more water this year than most people in Texas have seen before,” he says. “Every lake and stream is filled to the brim. This offers a much greater area for pleasure boating and fishing.”

“The ratio of tragedy also can increase, because so many members of the family now enjoy boating. Formerly water sports were limited mostly to men and boys. Now the entire family is participating. This means extreme caution should be used by everyone.”

The director pointed to a few simple precautions:

First, know what you are doing when you take charge of a boat.

Second, there should be an approved life preserver for every occupant of the boat.

These are fundamentals, Mr. Sprott pointed out. Other things, however, are just as important. One of these is courtesy. Boating courtesy not only will save tempers, but it will save lives, he said.

Among these simple precautions he suggests:

Be sure and use the right motor. (Not too big).

Avoid sharp turns.

Balance your load.

Head into the waves.

Slow down when you are passing smaller boats or parked fishermen.

If you don't know how to operate the boat, don't!

By following these few simple precautions, you'll have little trouble and you'll get back home alive.

"Temporary" Taxes!

"How long is temporary?" That plaintive little question is asked in a leaflet produced by the National Conference for Repeal of Taxes on Transportation. And it's an important question indeed—not just to the commercial agencies of transportation and to the businesses which patronize them, but to every last individual in the country. For all of us are direct and indirect consumers of transportation every day of our lives.

These transportation excise taxes are paid by the customer of the transportation services—the services themselves simply act as tax collectors, and pass the money on to the U. S. Treasury. They amount to 10 per cent on passenger fares, and to 3 per cent on freight or express charges, except for coal, which carries a tax of 4 cents a ton, and oil movements by pipeline, which carry a tax of 4 1/2 per cent. In other words, for every dollar spent for a ticket on a train, plane or bus, the government adds another dime. For every dollar spent to send something by freight or express, it adds another 3 cents. This is a pyramid, multiplying tax, as it is applied to every movement of goods from raw materials to finished items. It is thus an inflationary tax, that adds substantially to everyone's cost of living.

These excise taxes are not part of the normal tax structure which applies to all enterprises and incomes. They were passed as a World War II "temporary" emergency measure, and they were designed to discourage unnecessary travel and shipping as well as to produce war revenues. Yet the war ended 12 years ago—and the taxes are still on the books.

How long is "temporary"?

News from the Congress

by Congressman Frank Ikard

For the last two weeks the House has been debating the "civil rights" bill, which is probably the most important piece of legislation that will come before Congress during this session. The bill under consideration is one that was largely written by the Attorney General, Herbert Brownell, and is being vigorously supported by the Administration as well as the Northern Democrats. It is extremely difficult to understand how such a proposal can be made in the name of civil rights. In the first place, it would deny the right to trial by jury in all cases of criminal contempt in which a civil rights question was involved. We have established here in this country great basic safeguards to protect all Americans from bureaucratic and judicial tyranny. This "civil rights" bill under consideration will completely destroy one of these greatest safeguards which is the right of every citizen to a speedy public trial and the right to be tried by a jury of his peers. Under this proposal, the Attorney General, or one of his assistants acting in the name of the United States, could swoop down on any citizen and accuse them of either a violation or attempt to violate or actually even almost a thought to violate the Civil Rights Statutes and whisk them away to any state within the Federal appellate circuit that they resided in. For instance someone in North Texas could be taken to Tampa, Florida, for trial. Also, the Attorney General under this monstrosity of a proposal could bring a legal action in the name of a person whether that person agrees to the use of his name or not. Any ordinary lawyer that would attempt

Hopes Soar as Texas Wildlife Makes Rally

Nature will not regret any of the smiles currently being bestowed on Texas, reports E. A. Walker, director of Wildlife Restoration for the Game and Fish Commission.

"It begins to look like the old days," he said. "Fat deer, strutting wild turkeys, cooing doves, mating bobwhites—the entire animal kingdom is making spring pop out all over."

"Field men describe almost ideal conditions in almost all parts of the state, as food and cover seems destined to be restored to the prodigious status. Of course, the weather could turn dry again. But, man, this seems like the real start on a fine comeback for all species."

Mr. Walker, who is a national authority on wild turkey culture, said he was particularly happy over the first genuine prospects for a normal turkey hatch in the last six or seven years.

Texas was noted for having more wild turkeys than all other states put together before the drought together the ranges and decimated the flocks.

"Now," said Mr. Walker, "cover is generally adequate and native feed should be plentiful."

He said brood stock is "fairly satisfactory" for turkeys as well as for other game animals and birds. "With moisture," he grinned, "we can regain much of our losses in a hurry."

The director explained that the usual negative phases accompany a wet spring. "Turbulent weather dislodges some dove nests, ground nesting birds get rained out, and wet periods are conducive to deadly snake worms in lawn deer," he said. "But these things are comparatively minor compared to the overall benefits."

He noted Game Warden Tom Waddell's report from Eagle Lake that Colorado County's exclusive stock of prairie chickens already have moved to higher ground for nesting.

Farm Tanks Full; Owners Want Fish

Land owners whose stock tanks and farm ponds have been dry since they were built now are wanting fish to stock them, according to Marion Toole, director of Inland Fisheries of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

On Tuesday the Department received 204 applications in one mail. During the past two weeks thousands of others have poured into the office.

Several of the hatcheries have been badly crippled by flood waters, curtailing the production materially. Applications will be processed and efforts will be made to distribute the fish as equitably as possible to the major impoundments, according to the director.

On ponds smaller than ten acres, no fish can be delivered by the Department before September 1. Owners, however, whose applications have been approved, can pick up fish by calling at the hatcheries. Since bass fry are no longer available, lakes in excess of 9 acres cannot be stocked with them before the spring of 1958.

HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

This can be said without reservation: we'll have more insects to fight this year than ever before, especially flies and mosquitoes. The reason is the unprecedented seige of wet weather most of the state has had through this spring.

Mosquitoes breed in standing water—whether in a Gulf Coast marsh, a West Texas stock tank, or a tin can or old tire in the back yard. They harbor in damp vegetation and undergrowth like we have so much of this year. As for flies, they'll be breeding in the garbage of washed-out sanitary land fills, and in sewer lines broken or overflowed by floods. And conditions are equally favorable for most other insect species.

Insects have troubled man ever since he has been on earth. They have bitten and stung him. They have destroyed his food, his clothes, his home. They have carried germs that brought him horrible death. In all, entomologists can identify some 10,000 insect "public enemies" that do $4 billion in damage annually.

Let's realize, though, that some insects are not harmful, and others actually do valuable chores for man. Various species of beetles feed on harmful insects, and some caterpillars eat weeds. And other insects, like the honey bee, pollinate crops. Nevertheless, with all his scientific knowledge, it is only by constant effort that man is able to hold his own against insects.

Consider just a single crop—wheat. Each year insects destroy in stored wheat the equivalent of 2 billion loaves of bread, enough to supply every person in the United States for seven weeks. Or consider just a single disease—encephalitis, spread by mosquitoes. At least 500 cases occurred in the Plainview area last summer. Many of the victims died.

But let's be fair about it. Insects got here first. They've been on this earth for at least 250 million years, 250 times longer than man. And in all that time, they have remained relatively unchanged. The roach, for example, looks just about as he did 250 million years ago. Old fossils and stone impressions tell us this.

For thousands of years man probably swatted or squashed insects to defend himself against them; but by 1,000 B. C. Homer was talking about sulphur as a fumigant. Since then insecticides have steadily improved. One, DDT, was developed in 1942, and gave early promises of providing the knockout punch against insect hordes. But it hasn't. Entomologists say flies, salt marsh mosquitoes, roaches, and lice quickly developed resistance to the chemical, and Mexican beetles, spider mites, and many aphids are not affected by it.

Today we know a complete program of insect control calls for constant application of good home and community sanitation—such things as garbage cans with tight lids, good systems of garbage pickups, and well-operated sewerage disposal plants—together with periodic spraying with effective insecticides.

Information as to which insecticide is best for your specific use can be had by writing to the state health department.

New Native Grasses for Texas Ranges

Are you tired of planting the cultivated type of grasses in your pastures? Would you rather reseed with native grasses if you could get seed at a reasonable cost? There is a good possibility of your wishes coming true in grass demonstrations in 63 counties under the supervision of county agents, according to Joe Burkett, local county agent.

What the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station is looking for in providing grasses for the demonstrations are native grasses that will set good crops of seed, produce a heavy growth of leaves and are quick to become established. They must stand up under drought, heavy grazing and wind and dust. The cost of land preparation and seeding must be reasonable. Not all of these characteristics will show up in any one grass, and the answer will probably come in a combination of several selected grasses.

Some interesting possibilities have already shown up in the 3,000 different grasses under trial. There are sidecoats grama, and blue and hairy grama that have runners like buffalograss. Then, there is a sidecoats grama that sets a large crop of seed and will hold it on the stalk long enough to be combined once over. Still others produce a heavy load of leaves with few stems, and there is one that will grow plenty of forage in March and April.

Judd Morrow, who has charge of the plantings at experiment stations, believes that native grasses can be improved the same as corn, cotton and grain sorghums. They will be the answers to poor and bare rangelands and pastures.

People's Pets Pose Problems

Arrival of the annual "heart-break time" concerning temptations to adopt wild creatures was pointed out by a letter to the Game and Fish Commission about a "tame" squirrel.

Howard D. Dodgen, executive secretary of the Commission, described the missile as "very moving" since the woman who inquired described with great feeling how a baby squirrel came into her life.

The woman heard "a frantic chirping sound" coming from a tree on her wooded home grounds. When she approached the area, a very young squirrel crawled away from a nest to the ground and crawled up the woman's arm when she extended it. Hunger obviously had overcome its natural shyness. From observation, she deduced the mother squirrel was dead in the nest.

The writer described how "Squeaky," the squirrel, cracked its first hickory nut, sniffed noses with the family pooch and convinced its benefactor that, if released in the forest, it would holdly challenge the first hunter encountered.

Mr. Dodgen's reaction to that is a professional but friendly "I told you so." He adds that wild creatures naturally lose their native cunning when "adopted." Besides, he went on, such befriended birds or beasts, sooner or later, become a nuisance and oftentimes an actual peril. "It is instinctive that people, especially women and children, crave to adopt wild creatures, such as fawn deer," he went on. "But in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, fawn deer would be reclaimed by their mothers who usually step out of sight until human invaders depart. And in the rare cases where reclaiming is not effected; well, that is nature's way, perhaps on the cruel side, of taking care of its own." Mr. Dodgen pointed out that a state law forbids keeping of wild creatures under domestic environment.

CHEVROLET OFFERS 'LITTER BAG'

Coming at the outset of the vacation travel season, introduction of a new Chevrolet accessory—the Litter Bag—calls attention to the year-round responsibility of keeping streets and highways free of trash. A purse-style plastic container which fits beneath the glove compartment and slips off easily for emptying, the Litter Bag is demonstrated here by Barbara Sias. The accessory helps combat a highway littering problem which cost taxpayers over $30,000,000 last year. States levy stiff penalties against those who toss litter on the highways.

SPARKS FOR MINDS

ALMOST five centuries ago, Gutenberg's invention of movable type started a revolution. It has been going on ever since.

For five times five centuries—and eons before—a few men were the privileged rulers—by accident of birth or of circumstance. The people were subjects, supporting those thus kept in authority.

However, movable type, by cutting the cost of printing, began the process of making knowledge more widely available. People's understanding then grew. Sparks of hope were awakened in the minds of men. When it became apparent to entrenched authority that permitting wide dissemination of information and ideas might in time destroy their securities, censorship was exercised.

In a search for greater freedom, men of many races and creeds crossed the ocean to establish homes on this continent. They and their children founded here a nation dedicated to a new principle: government by the people, and for the people. And knowing that liberty could be overthrown only by subduing freedom of speech and the press, they provided further that this basic freedom should never be abridged.

That system of government created an opportunity for all men to advance, limited only by their efforts. In but a few generations it won for this people a higher standard of living and of human welfare than had ever before been dreamed possible.

America's freedom of the press has proved to the world that the patriotic instinct of an informed plain people can be relied on to govern wisely and well.

Something else, almost equally disturbing, has been happening. For six years now earned net farm income from marketings has been declining, while government payments, both direct and indirect, have been increasing.

Congress this year will vote approximately $5,000,000,000 (more than $1,000 per farmer) for the USDA 1958 fiscal year budget. That is considerably less than the Administration asked for, but it still is by far the largest ever appropriated.

Farm program policy is bankrupt, by almost any standard you want to measure it. The politicians have two objectives. First, to fix the blame and, second, to develop a new program. Work on the first has begun, and the second is scheduled for next year.

Trying to fix blame, on either political party, will be a waste of time and effort. There are more than 1,000 farm laws on the books now, most of them passed in the last 25 years with bi-partisan backing. Most of them are amendments (patches and patches on patches) of laws previously passed.

There are scores of laws most farmers never heard of. There are some that few congressmen know about. There are 83,000 Federal employees to interpret, administer and enforce farm laws. There is at least as much confusion and duplication as you might expect.

What will happen next? Nothing this year. Next year? All signs point to a slam-bang, free-for-all battle royal with nothing barred. The whole farm program will be up for grabs.

There are, as they say in Washington, three "schools of thought." First, Benson will want unlimited authority to make changes in price supports and acreage allotments.

Second, backers of high, rigid price supports will be in there pitching. Consensus, though, is that 1956, when they passed a Heavy damage also was done to the Dallas hatchery, near Sheldon hatchery near Dallas also sustained some damage to hatcheries at Lake Clara Lake, near San Antonio, been out because of drought.

"Every care is being taken to get a good production, because of the demands we will have on many lakes and ponds in the recent rains," the said. "Right now we have but bass production. We will be catfish, crappie and We cannot supply delivery to impoundments smaller than 100 acres before cool weather comes. mandatory 90 per cent bill, only to have it vetoed their highwater mark.

Third, and rated most successful, are proposals for combination of compensatory payments (as in wool and self-supporting two-price party) programs for portable crops as cotton and rice. This is the commodity approach.

Tips on Stocking Farm Fish Ponds

Overstocking is the most common error made in managing farm fish ponds, warns Joe Burkett, county agent. Don't fall for the common belief that "the more fish put in, the better the fishing will be."

Burkett says a given body of water will support only a certain number of healthy fish just as a range is limited in cattle grazing capacity. Both state and federal hatcheries supply stock fish on the basis of an applicant's report of surface water acreage. The number of fish supplied for an accurate measure will produce more big fish in the shortest length of time possible.

Only a few fingerling fish are needed to stock an acre of water initially, Burkett asserts, and the right combination of fish is essential in maintaining a proper population balance. Over-populated ponds, Burkett says, will mean a shortage of food and too many small fish.

When a pond's fish population becomes unbalanced with too many small stunted fish or rough undesirables such as shad, carp, suckers, and bullhead catfish, Burkett recommends complete removal and restocking with proper balance.
Derris or rotenone powder may be used in removing fish from privately-owned ponds, but it is prohibited by law in public waters.

Recommendations call for five pounds of 5 per cent rotenone powder to each acre foot of water.
Mix rotenone with just enough water to make a thick paste and add more water until the solution is near the thickness of ordinary cream. The solution can be poured into the pond from tubs while motoring or rowing a boat. Fish killed in this manner are good for food if taken fresh, and treated water is harmless to humans or livestock.

Emulsifiable rotenone can be distributed by airplane on large jobs. Best time for treatment is late spring or summer since rotenone acts slowly in cold weather.
Restocking may be started within 7 to 14 days after treatment.

Federal Tax System Condemned by 1957 General Assembly

Perhaps the most serious indictment of the federal tax system ever rendered by any governmental body has just emerged from the Indiana 1957 General Assembly in Indianapolis.

Replete with such terms as "invention of Socialist Karl Marx," "tax octopus," "confiscation of income," and "confiscation of property as well," a measure known as House Concurrent Resolution No. 16 was approved both by Indiana's House and Senate by a voice vote in one day.

The resolution charged that highly progressive federal tax rates have made it "virtually impossible" to accumulate venture capital; have "destroyed" the incentive for people to invest in new and untried business ventures.
High rates are causing many taxpayers to feel they have "moral justification for evasion" thereby encouraging dishonesty and making the equitable collection of taxes "impossible," the resolution said. It added that the high tax rate is the basic cause of many mergers which are "slowly but surely absorbing the middle-sized company with its independent management;" and that federal tax policies are encouraging states to accept "federal aid" and thus adding to the centralization of power in Washington.

A Republican, David W. Dennis
of Richmond and a Democrat, Walter H. Maehling of Terre Haute, sponsored the resolution jointly. In its eagerness to stamp its approval on the measure, the Senate acted in a night session a few hours after the House had voted.

The resolution concluded with a demand for "substantial" reduction of income taxes, tax "relief" for small corporations, "drastic" cuts in state and gift taxes, and removal of inequities from excise taxes.

Lew Wallace, author of Ben Hur, was a Union General.

Geoffrey Cauer was the first poet laureate of England.

What Is The Price?

The controversy over the size of the federal budget for the fiscal year is not likely to be settled until the last senator and representative has cast his vote on the final appropriation measure. Even then there will be discussion as to whether Congress took the right action.

Opponents agree, however, that the billions allotted to defense must be sufficient to preserve the freedom of our country. This points out a larger truth, that everything of real value must be paid for.

Especially is this true in the spiritual realm. There is no greater satisfaction, privilege or reward than that which comes from following Christ. But the price is very high. Jesus said, "Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross" (Mark 8:34).

Christ promised His disciples that they would do greater miracles than He performed. Yet in at least one instance recorded in Scripture, each apostle was utterly helpless to benefit a needy sufferer. The Master explained,
"This kind can come forth by nothing, but by prayer and fasting" (Mark 8:29). They had not paid the price.

The value of a human soul is worth far more than anything in this world. To cleanse it from sin and fit it for heaven, only the price of the death of Christ avails. "Ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold. . .
but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot" (1 Peter 1: 18, 19).

There is a price to be paid on anything done on behalf of Christ or the church. But the blessing of God and the Saviour's words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant," make it well worthwhile.

PURE WATER is distributed in a typical scene duplicated many times in the flood-ravaged areas of eastern Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia. To meet the recent flood situation which had cut off 10,000 families from drinking water supplies, four dairy firms put in their plant to work preparing 60,000 gallons of safe water in cardboard milk cartons and milk tank trucks. It was the first time the Federal Civil Defense Administration's plan for emergency water distribution had been put to practical use in a disaster.

Miss Peggy Ann Werley Becomes Bride of Glenn Carroll in Church Ceremony

Miss Peggy Ann Werley of Thalia and Glenn Edwin Carroll of Crowell exchanged wedding vows Saturday evening in the Thalia Baptist Church. Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. L. R. Werley of Thalia and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Carroll of Crowell.

Mrs. G. B. Neill furnished traditional wedding music. Mrs. Fitzgerald sang "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Neill.

Vows were exchanged before an altar illuminated by branched candelabra and baskets of gladioli and snapdragons flanked by green foliage, enhanced the setting.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Donald Werley of Crowell. She chose a dress of white silk and cotton with square neck and cap sleeves. The tightly moulded bodice featured small pleats across the front. The skirt was very full and of street length.

Her veil of nylon tulle fell in misty tiers to her shoulders from a head band of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white rose buds atop a white Bible.

Miss Patricia Prosser served the bride as maid of honor. She wore a light pink dress with a bouffant skirt. Her head-piece was of light pink and she carried a nosegay of pink and white carnations.

Jimmy Werley, brother of the bride, served as best man. Denton Werley and Johnny Kajs served as ushers. Carolyn Werley and Charles Carroll were candlelighters. Jerry Shultz and Sharla Beth Haynie were ring bearer and flower girl, respectively.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the basement of the church. The bride's table was laid with a white linen damask cloth with pink bows featured on each end. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom and the base was surrounded by pink rosebuds. Pink candles in crystal candelabras and a punch bowl surrounded by pink rosebuds completed the setting.

An arrangement of white roses was used on the desk with the

RIVERSIDE H. D. CLUB

Mishandled insecticides can kill humans as dead as insects. This was the statement made by Mrs. Mary D. Brown, CHDA, when the Riverside Home Demonstration Club ladies met in the home demonstration office room of the court house Tuesday afternoon, June 4.

The council report was given by Mrs. George Wesley. The order of business was omitted because of the absence of so many members. The recent heavy rains made some of the roads impassable.

Mrs. Brown was in charge of the program on "Let's Control Those Insects," explaining that with only 4 insecticides, all ornamental shrubs and plants can be protected. She especially emphasized that these insecticides be kept labeled and out of reach of children, and away from cooking utensils and foods. She handed out valuable leaflets about insect control. Also a leaflet on clotheslines, explaining how they can be properly constructed for the best of service and pleasure, using a turnbuckle on each wire that is easy to adjust to keep lines satisfactorily tightened.

Weather permitting, the next meeting will be held at the Riverside school house Tuesday, June 18, at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Cap Adkins as hostess. The program will be on trash burners by Mrs. Grover Moore.

Those present for the meeting were Mrs. Brown and members: Mesdames Cap Adkins, Henry Bice, George Wesley, Grover Moore and James Bowers.

FOARD CITY W. S. C. S.

Members of the Foard City Women's Society of Christian Service met at the church on Monday, June 10, with Mrs. Blake McDaniel presiding.

Following the opening prayer, a leaflet program on missions was presented. Mrs. McDaniel led the group in a responsive reading, then gave an article concerning work on the WSCS in the Philippines. Over seven thousand women are members of this national organization and are proud of their efforts in furthering the cause of Christ. Their unselfish spirit and sharing of their means, however meager, cannot fail to inspire those who hear about these Methodist women far across the Pacific Ocean.

Mrs. Grady Halbert dismissed the group with a prayer.

SEW-N-SEW CLUB

The Sew-n-Sew Club met in the home of Mrs. Travis Vecera last Thursday, June 6, with all 12 members present. Gifts were brought in honor of two June birthdays. Cup towels were received by Mrs. Floyd Borchardt and miscellaneous items were presented to Mrs. R. J. Owens.

Refreshments of punch and cookies were served by the hostess after which the club adjourned to meet next in the home of Mrs. Joe Howard Williams on June 21.

GAMBLEVILLE H. D. CLUB

The Gambleville Home Demonstration Club met for its regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Milton Hunter June 7 at 2:30 o'clock. A devotional was given by Mrs. Hunter for the opening exercise. Mrs. Clarence Garrett presided in the absence of the president and vice president.

Mrs. Andrew Calvin gave the council report and gave the demonstration on making trash burners. Roll call was answered by five members.

All members are asked to be present at the next meeting, June 21, at the home of Mrs. Willie Garrett, as unknown friends are to be revealed at that time.

Daylight Saving Time was originated in Paris in 1740 by Benjamin Franklin.

OUTSTANDING SENATORS

A committee headed by Senator John F. Kennedy was given the difficult task of selecting the five outstanding Senators of past times. The selections, which have been almost universally applauded, include Henry Clay of Kentucky, Daniel Webster of Massachusetts,

John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, and Robert Taft of Ohio. Their portraits are placed in special niches in the Senate chamber.

It was against the law to serve Christmas in the year 1659.
