EDITORIAL

To live in the hearts one leaves behind is not to die. Crowell students and faculty wish to dedicate this issue of the "Wildcat" to Earl Manard, his wife, Vera, and his son, Mike.

A familiar chair was vacant of its usual jovial, joking father at the Manard home last Saturday night. Mr. Manard was a simple man whose foremost purpose was to provide for the comfort and happiness of his family. He "lived" every day of his life.

Our faculty who has worked with Mrs. Manard realize her devoition through many years to the successful performance of a hard task. Her husband was most sympathetic and understanding of her efforts. He has helped her serve as a beacon that will light the paths of her students as they go forward to work for a better tomorrow.

Only last summer Earl was seen on several occasions, after a long drive and not many hours of rest, to pack his fishing gear and go fishing with Mike.

The day of his funeral is Saint Patrick's Day, and as the beloved Irishman, Robert Burns, said, "A man's a man for a' that." What more noble thing can a man do than provide love, security, and comfort for his family?

"God, give us the simple faith That little children know, Give us the faith to build again, When hopes are torn apart."

By Mrs. Lewis Sloan.

LETTER TO THE PARENTS
 Are You Tired of Your Children Chasing Around on the Street?

(This is not meant for high school students. This is meant for the townspeople of Crowell.) We take into consideration that most of the grown-ups read the Wildcat as a means of finding out what the younger generation is doing. So, we are taking this means to reach YOU!

You hear it said that Crowell has always been a civic minded town. People are generally heard to take pride in the high school, the high school activities, and the youth themselves. Several lodges, civic dinner clubs, and charitable organizations do worthwhile work for the town. Now we are asking that these organizations and YOU as an individual help the youth of Crowell, not only in the spiritual backing, but also with physical support.

Here is the catch. Crowell has absolutely nothing for teen-agers. There is no movie, no civic center, not even a "hang-out" for the high school crowd. Of course, you may say that there is no need for any of these things, but there is. In the larger cities, there is an increase of juvenile crime almost every day. To this you may reply that nothing like that could ever happen in Crowell. Oh, but you are wrong. It could. And if it did, the main reason would be that crime and vandalism would have to serve as entertainment for the youngsters. We are trying to prevent this from ever happening in Crowell.

Now, the High School Student Council, an organization made up of a cross section of high school students, is trying to organize a teen center for the adolescents of Crowell. A petition circulated in high school alone has indicated that 130 students would become members if the canteen became a reality. However, it is doubtful that a first rate organization could ever be founded by a group of young people with enthusiasm as their own resource. To gain access to this center, with its proposed TV, dancing space, games, and ample room for studying, civic backing is needed.

So, do your part. If you are contacted, show your approval by giving your backing. And, even if you don't approve of your son or daughter dancing or the like, we will use this argument to try to persuade you. Ask yourself this question, "Where do my kids go at night?"
 High School Student Council.

HEY YOU!

If you have: moved, eloped, died, sold out, been born, been drafted, been robbed, been married, bought a car, sold one, had company, been murdered, been visiting, lost your hair, lost your teeth, been in a fight, sold your hogs, stolen something, had an operation, got a new girl friend, got a new boy friend, It is news! Turn it in to the reporters of The Wildcat so we can print it.

CAT SCRATCHES

The other day, while I was digging around some old papers, I came across a very touching letter that I thought you might enjoy reading. So—here it is:
 Feb. 8, 1920

Dear John,
 Oh, John, John, John! (Your name is John, isn't it?) John! Why haven't you written me? Just because you are serving a 98 year prison term, hard labor, is no reason for you to shut yourself off from the world—especially your family!

Things haven't been going so well since you left, John. Last week the house burned up, destroying all that we owned. As if that weren't enough, the fire also destroyed our barn, and our chicken house. Of course, we haven't gone hungry—we still have plenty of fried eggs and roast chicken.

All of that wasn't so bad until our son, Joanne, got caught robbing the bank. I don't know why he couldn't have been more careful—he was caught and hanged before he had time to hide the money. I guess he just wasn't cut out for this kind of work.

Oh yes, Little Snot Nose, our youngest girl fell from the top of a wind mill and broke her leg. The family doctor was drunk when he set her leg, so it had to be amputated.

Uncle Ben died yesterday, leaving us his entire belongings—$2,000.00 worth of debts. He never did like us very well, John, especially since the time you gave him that old clock with a time bomb in it for a practical joke. But how were you to know he would sleep with it on his bedside table? He never forgave you when he lost both of his arms.

I better close now, because I see a police car out front. I think they have discovered that I did a little "shop lifting" at the store this afternoon.

I hope this letter brightened up your gloomy cell a little. I'll write you more good news later. I'll probably have a new address—jail. (At least it'll be a roof over my head.)
 Your brooding wife,
 Marsha.

TATTLE TALE

Don Tole has not been going to Paducah lately. Is it because he and Dianne Drake have been seeing each other regularly?

Occie, you had better watch out, there are about four gals who have eyes only for you.

Margie seems to be having a little trouble. Duane doesn't approve of her riding around with other men.

We're glad to see Bettie and Ray out making the rounds again. Riding horses and bicycles Sunday were Kay-Carla, Carria-Alta, Nell.

Judy H. is sporting a senior ring. Could it be Early Pruitt's? Seen with Albert Sunday was Linda Johnson.

Making the rounds as usual were Gayle and Jerry Bob. Making the rounds Saturday and Sunday nights were—you would never guess, Jana-Jimmy, Sandra-Donald.

Together Friday night were Don-Carla, Dale-Alta, Nell, Fredrick-Kay. Parted ways again are Carolyn and Ted.

Sandra H., you had better watch it, we hear Joe Wheeler wants to go with Helen V. Seen riding around Saturday night were Janie and Charles.

Does the flame still burn?

Like a Housewife Hates Dust on the Furniture

Phillips 66 Dealers take a lot of pride in being good housekeepers. They have a housewife's hatred of untidiness. They keep their stations clean, including those all-important rest rooms.

They'll go all out to keep your car clean, too. "Whiskbrooming" the interior of your car is one of those extra little services your Phillips 66 Dealer is glad to perform. And he'll clean the windows for you . . . all the way around.

This obsession with cleanliness is part and parcel of our policy of "Hospitality on the Highway." You benefit from it at any station which displays the famous orange and black Phillips 66 Shield.

OIL-BASED COSMETIC FOR POND FACES

A one-molecule-thick film of cosmetic moisturizer spread on farm ponds and reservoirs could eventually slash the nation's water evaporation losses by half. Each molecule of hexadecanol, a petroleum-derived chemical used by over 25 years in face creams and lotions, has the unique property of repelling water at one end while absorbing it at the other. Thus, a film on the water blocks evaporation, but allows sunlight, oxygen, and other gases necessary to "healthy" water to pass through. Water losses have been cut 35 to 50 per cent in controlled experiments with the film. These tests also show the film to be harmless, having no effect on water quality or on the fish, insects, or plant life in the water.

Seymour Paper Has Article on Crowell-Seymour Highway

This following article concerning the Crowell-Seymour highway was taken from the March 13 issue of The Baylor County Banner:

"One of the best boosters this section has had during recent years is Chas. G. Cotten, manager of Highway and Territory Relations for the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Cotten has attended every meeting that has been held in connection with promotion of the Seymour-Crowell highway; and whenever work on the project seemed to have been momentarily stalled, Cotten has gotten busy and found out where the snag was.

"As is well known here, the Baylor County end of this highway has been progressing satisfactorily, and it should be completed some time this year. But the Foard County part has been at a standstill; and reports have had it that right-of-way trouble has been holding up the deal. Some correspondence has been had since first of the year between Seymour road boosters and Mr. Cotten of Fort Worth, and the latter has gotten busy with the proper authorities, in order to try and get something started.

"With the above explanation as a preliminary, the contents of a letter is given below, which will be understood by the people here, after all they have known about the Crowell highway. The letter to the Fort Worth man was written by Palmer Massey, district engineer at Childress for the Texas Highway Department, and it is quoted here as follows:

"In your letter of February 25, you asked about the progress being made toward building the above road. I have been delaying my answer because I was very sure there would be something of a definite nature to report within a few days. I now have this definite information.

"We plan to schedule a portion of the project for the April letting. This portion does not extend all the way to Crowell but does extend from the Baylor County line to intersect with F. M. 267. We propose to have traffic use F. M. 267 temporarily; F. M. 267 intersects U. S. 70 at approximately six miles east of Crowell. The road will be extended to Crowell at a later date.

"I appreciate your interest in our problem.

"Yours very truly,
"Palmer Massey,
"District Engineer."

News From the Congress

by Frank Ikard, 13th Dis.

The program which provides for the small upstream flood control projects which have worked so well in our area in controlling erosion and in trapping flood waters near as possible where they fall will receive impetus shortly on account of the release of additional funds for use in this program. One of our really basic needs is the continual improvement of our water and soil conservation methods and programs. These upstream flood control projects have demonstrated that they are one of the most desirable types of program.

Most people are coming around to the belief that there is a real need for tax revision during this session of Congress. As we have pointed out heretofore, our present tax rates are excessive, and in many areas are working a real hardship on both individuals and business. In addition to income tax rates, there are also a number of wartime excise taxes which are still on the books and should be either abolished or substantially revised downward. The repeal or reduction of many of these taxes would not necessarily mean any great reduction in tax revenues. It has been demonstrated on numerous occasions in the past that when taxes are reduced, the increased consumer purchases and business activity that is stimulated actually results in increased tax revenues.

This week the House passed a bill that would require the Federal government to convey surplus lands that it owns around several reservoirs of Texas to the original owners. This is good legislation in that it gets back into private hands real estate for which the Federal government has no use and is of particular interest to residents of Denton County because it will eventually mean that several thousand acres of land around Garza-Little Elm Reservoir will be returned to private owners.

The Committee on Ways and Means continues to hold its public hearings on the extension of the Trade Agreements Act which includes the highly important oil imports question. These hearings will probably end around March 26. Shortly after that, the committee will go into executive session to write a bill. In the meantime, there continue to be rumors that the Administration will possibly act under its present authority to regulate imports. If the oil and gas industry is to survive in the way that we have known it, there must be some effective regulation of imports.

An estimated 5,000 to 8,000 persons died in the Galveston storm in September, 1900.

TAX MAN SAM SAYS

By this time of the year a lot of folks are wearing out the lid to their mail box looking for their tax refund check. Some folks start looking for the refund check a few days after they have filed their tax return. The tax folks in Dallas have to be pretty fast in figuring tax returns and getting out refund checks because it takes several months at the rate of 10,000 checks per day to get out over 700,000 refund checks. You have to remember that there are millions of taxpayers and there are a lot of steps required by law in checking your return before Internal Revenue can send you your refund check.

If you have filed your return, and you tell Uncle Sam your new address and give him a little time and your check will probably be along within a couple of months. Don't write and ask for it before July 1.

TAX MAN SAM SAYS
By this time of the year, you should have all of your W-2's from your employer or employers for 1957. A lot of us only have the copy left because we have already filed our tax returns and are looking for our tax refund checks. Quite a few of us have already paid the additional tax that we owe and aren't going to worry about this tax business until next year, even if it is good business to keep records and read the tax instructions throughout the year before we make business and personal transactions. In case you haven't gathered together your W-2 forms, your tax records, and started working on your tax, you better start gathering right now. The Internal Revenue Service requires all the W-2 forms. Don't forget to get all of them and send them along with your tax return so that Uncle Sam won't have to write you a nice little letter asking for them.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY
Watch for hidden gas robbers—they can punch holes in your budget. Tires that are underinflated just 5 pounds, for instance, can cost you half a gallon of gasoline out of every twenty. Dirty air filters can steal 10 per cent of your mileage. Poor compression, faulty plugs, and slow-acting chokes all work to pull mileage down.
Number of mules used on Texas farms has dropped almost 90 per cent during the past 20 years.

Reduce Delinquency
VIII
THE BIGGEST FACTOR
(A distinguished Texas judge offers pointers on combating our rapidly increasing juvenile delinquency problem.)
By JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES

What is the biggest factor in juvenile delinquency? Every person, adult or child, needs most of all a sense of his own significance, his own individuality. An adult wants to be recognized in his home, his church, or his club, or he loses interest. Most important in Youth It is even more important for boys and girls to have a sense of their own significance. Failing to get it starts many on the road to delinquency—doing things to be considered "smart"—to be recognized by someone. I have had many cases where I thought the main reason the boy was there was that he had been given no recognition as an individual. There had been a failure in the home to make him feel that he "belonged," was valued.

Always Something Good
There is always something to praise a child for—to make him feel important and wanted—even if he's unusually faulty—always the chance to listen to him with interest and affection, to make him feel that he belongs, to give him the RIGHT KIND of attention, of affection, of KINDLY but FIRM DISCIPLINE and guidance.
That is what these youngsters need—to be wanted by somebody, to be important to their friends and parents, to have guide-posts in a puzzling world.
Next: An illustration.

JUDGE SARAH T. HUGHES

THIS WEEK
—In Washington

Clinton Davidson
Will Rogers once said of Washington: "If you don't like the weather, just wait a minute." To that might be added, the weather isn't the only thing that is changeable in Washington.
To paraphrase the great cowboy humorist, we might observe that "if you don't like Washington policy, just wait awhile." It's the only place in the country where the weather forecaster is right more often than the political prognosticator.

One of the most fascinating, and at the same time baffling, traits of official Washington is its almost complete lack of consistency, plus an inclination to go from one extreme to the other without a wink or a blush.
In more than 25 years of firsthand observation of the Nation's Capital, we have seen policies changed more often than most officials change their shirt. Republicans and Democrats seem equally proficient in changing their minds, often without a pause in the middle of a policy speech.
Just as an example, take farm policy. Since 1933, we have had so many changes in farm policy that no one in the Agriculture Department can remember how many there actually have been. The number must average very close to one a year.
Other examples are plentiful. Since the leaves dropped from the elms along Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington has stopped fighting inflation and switched to combating deflation. In a flash—that of a soaring Sputnik—Washington changed from military complacency to frantic arms spending.
About the only thing that hasn't changed in the past quarter century is the Washington Monument but now "eyes" are being installed in that so that it can wink at passing airplanes and confused politicians.

One eye looks across the green-carpeted Mall toward the Capitol building; another over the Ellipse at the White House, and a third across the shimmering Reflecting Pool at the implacable marble statue of Abraham Lincoln. If Honest Abe is disturbed by what goes on, his face never shows it.
A fourth eye is beamed to the south, toward George Washington's Mount Vernon home on the banks of Potomac. There, just over the brow of a hill, lies Washington's tomb. There, things are as they were 150 years ago.

In the city that Washington founded and gave his name, a million people live and work, mostly at running the biggest and most complicated government on earth. Their doubts, their worries, and their ambitions are Washington. In a city where honesty is a predominant trait, deceit and dishonesty in a few leave their lurid mark on all. Washington washes its dirty linen in public for all the world to see. The only time a congressional committee can be certain of an over-flouring audience is when it is investigating wrongdoing.
Washington has been aptly described as a place of "organized confusion." The uninitiated visitor—and there are five million of them each year—never ceases to wonder at the semblance of order that seems to flow out of the confusion. Washington is, indeed, a remarkable city.

4,155 Texans Relieved from Service in Feb.
According to reports required by law from the uniformed services to the state director of Selective Service, the armed forces during February relieved 4,155 Texans from active duty.
During the same time, reports Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard notified him they enlisted 2,788 Texans.
In addition, during February, the Army inducted 641 Texans through the state's 137 draft boards. Three reservists were inducted into the Army and Coast Guard as provided by law, for failure to perform reserve obligations.
The state draft boards, during February, forwarded a total of 1,889 men for pre-induction mental-physical examinations. After examination at armed forces joint examining and induction stations, a total of 1,140 was found acceptable for service. The remaining 749 were rejected.
The draft boards registered 5,890 males during February, nearly all 18-year-olds. Males are required to register at a local board on their 18th birthday, or within five days thereafter. Males born after August 30, 1922, are legally obligated to be registered, except those not yet 18.

Columnist Robert S. Allen writes that an attempt will be made to prune $1,813,000,000 from the budgets of certain government activities in order to make up for increased military spending. Heaviest cuts, he continues, will be in agriculture, veterans administration and defense stockpiling, in that order.

Salinity in Irrigation Water Subject of New Publication

A permanent, prosperous irrigated agriculture is dependent on an adequate supply of irrigation water of satisfactory quality. There are many things that can affect this supply and quality and in many cases, successful irrigation farming is more dependent on the management practices followed than on the quality of water available, says Joe Burkett, county agent.
This is especially true in regard to salt content, or salinity, of the water. Frequently, too much attention is given to the "toxic limits" of salt concentration and not enough emphasis directed toward the selection of suitable crops and adjustment of tillage and irrigation practices to the water which is available.
All waters from surface streams and underground sources contain substances known as salts. This does not necessarily mean table salt, which is the common concept of salt. Thousands of different salts are known. Epsom salts, gypsum, and baking soda are a few examples.
A salt-affected soil is one in which enough salt has accumulated to reduce or interfere with crop yields. The source of the salt that accumulates is usually the irrigation water, but in some cases the soil may have been salty in the virgin state, or salt accumulation may have resulted from a high water table.
A bulletin released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, "Salinity Control in Irrigation Agriculture," gives a thorough discussion of this problem and suggests several ways to counteract it.
A few of the ways given in the bulletin are provide adequate drainage; irrigate more often than ordinary; select crops tolerant to your salt conditions; and apply the water uniformly.
This valuable bulletin may be obtained from the Agricultural Information Office, College Station. Ask for bulletin 876.

SKIPPER OF USS SKATE—Cmdr. James Calvert, skipper of the USS Skate, our newest nuclear submarine, arrived in Portland, England, after a nine-day trip across the Atlantic (with almost 8 days spent submerged). The Skate, fledgling of U. S.'s fast-expanding undersea fleet, made the 3,161-mile crossing in the fastest time between the U. S. and Portland in submarine history.

OCEAN TO OCEAN ACROSS SOUTH AMERICA—AND BACK—IN 41 HOURS!
CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS
THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!
To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world—the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make it harder, the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires—no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.
So the run began—across the blazing Argentine pampas, into the ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2 1/2 miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet—but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of grades up to 30 percent. Then a plunge to the Pacific at Valparaiso, Chile, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes—and the engine was never turned off!

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Two supercharged issues—taxation and recession—like two strands of a high-voltage electric fence, seem to be twined through every area of Texas government.

Recession, though considered mild and temporary, is here and now. New taxation, in the light of official estimates, will be practically unavoidable next year.

Even though the recession is labeled "minor" and new state taxes the inevitable result of explosive growth, having both issues come up at the same time makes each seem worse. New tax talk, never popular, is even less so with people feeling the chill wind of a cut in income.

Barring an unexpectedly swift upturn in the economy, the twin issues will break through the middle of next summer's political campaigns. It'll be particularly rough campaigning for those who have to get on one side or the other of the taxation fence.

Some legislative candidates are already being asked, "If there has to be a new tax, what kind will you vote for?" Some say they haven't decided what they'd vote for, but will say what they'd vote against. Others say they're making no decision until after the State Tax Study Commission completes its reports.

LOWER, BUT GROWING—Latest report by the Tax Study Commission shows some of the possible directions in which Texas may have to move to get additional tax money.

It notes that: Besides Texas only two other states are without either a general sales tax, personal income tax or corporate income tax.

Texans in 1956 paid lower state and local taxes than the average for other states—$129.50 per capita for Texas compared with $157.50 per capita national average.

Rate of tax increase for Texas has been much faster than U. S. average. Texas rate of increase from 1955-56 was 23.4 per cent; national average, 19.4 per cent.

Commission's next report will deal with future spending needs, says Sen. William S. Fly, chairman.

UNEMPLOYMENT UP AGAIN—Texas Employment Commission reports claims for unemployment compensation at a new high.

There had been a slight drop for the previous week. But latest weekly tabulations showed TEC paid out $1,436,448, compared to $996,484 for the same week a year ago. Number of persons filing claims was 82,576, almost double the 42,705 who filed a year ago.

Even so, most recent nationwide figures show Texas to be a highly favored area. Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security says that Texas has the lowest rate of unemployment of insured workers of any state in the nation—3.6 per cent here compared to 7.9 per cent nationally.

ON PLUS SIDE—Other business barometers tend to bolster the view that Texas' economy is weathering the squally weather well.

First 1958 reports from the Bureau of Business Research on overall business activity showed the January index up eight per cent from December, one per cent from January, 1957.

Texas Banking Commission's spring call for condition of Texas banks brought reports of hefty increases in money on deposit. Some cities showed drops in bank deposits, but in general they were up with some cities setting records or near records.

BBR's report notes that "although evidence of recession is plain, the strength of the state's economy is shown by its stubborn resistance to further decline."

A small increase in building activity in early 1958 may be the forerunner of a general revival of the home building industry this year, says BBR.

On the state's No. 1 economic headache—sagging oil production—a BBR spokesman says competition of cheap foreign oil could "flatten out" Texas' growth curve. Suggested antidote: bring in other industries with strong growth potential to "fill in the gap."

GOVERNOR TO BATTLE IMPORTS—Governor Price Daniel has asked Washington to reduce oil imports.

He has presented evidence gathered by the state oil imports study commission on how Texas economy is hurt by cutbacks in oil production. Governors of other oil-producing states have joined him in asking that imports be limited to the 1954 level.

Though many economists predict that the problem of foreign oil is here to stay, Texas officials hope to gain at least enough relief to get the stymied domestic industry going again.

JUVENILE IMMUNITY CITED—A proposal to allow criminal court trials of teen-agers who commit serious crimes may come before the next Legislature.

Dr. James A. Turman, director of the Texas Youth Council, suggested a study in this area at the joint Austin meetings of the Attorney General's Law Enforcement Conference and Texas Law Enforcement Foundation.

Turman said he felt that in some cases "chronic and serious" juvenile offenders were being over-protected by the law at the expense of society. Under present law boys under 17 and girls under 18 cannot be tried in criminal court. One "serious offender," related Turman, told officers, "You can't touch me. I'm a juvenile."

Not so in Canada, said a visiting speaker from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Canada has no minimum age for sending offenders to the penitentiary, reported the Mountie, and "we are not troubled by many murders and rapes by youngsters."

HEALTH DRIVE ON—Governor Daniel has joined a young father from Baird, Texas, Bob Starley, in urging Texans to participate in the fight against nephrosis and other critical kidney diseases which claim thousands of lives each year.

Stanley, who has lost two children to nephrosis, visited Daniel recently and won his support in the campaign to organize additional chapters of the National Nephrosis Foundation in Texas. The Foundation now has chapters in El Paso and San Antonio, but victims of nephrosis, nephritis and allied kidney diseases are found in all parts of the state.

Governor Daniel designated March as Nephrosis Month and urged Texans to give financial support to research studies to determine the causes and seek cures for diseases of the kidney.

ANTI-ACCIDENT STUDY—A brand new commission is at work to find ways to prevent needless deaths of industrial workers.

It is the Industrial and Occupational Safety Study Commission set up by the last Legislature. Former Civil Appeals Judge Malory B. Blair of Austin is chairman.

Governor Daniel told members that Texas presently has 600 to 700 deaths yearly from industrial accidents. He said 98 per cent are considered preventable.

First education of women in the U. S. was in the "Dames Schools" where they were taught to read and sew, but not always to write.

STRIKE—AFTER 25 YEARS—Pickets parade outside their shop in the heart of the garment district in New York City as the industry-wide strike of the 600,000 ILGWU members continues. Union boss, David Dubinsky, called the strike after negotiations failed between ILGWU and industry employers.

Home Demonstration Notes MRS. MARY D. BROWN

Don't forget our Craft Day this Friday, March 21 at Foard City. We will begin at 11 a. m. However, the craft period will not begin until after lunch. You are to bring a covered dish with you and 50¢ if you plan to make the copper craft. Last year we had almost 30 ladies at the all-day meeting in Margaret. Let's try to do even better this year.

Last Saturday, March 15, Margie Rashberry, Janise Morris, Gena Adcock, Duane Johnson and Jerry Setliff attended the District 4-H Council meeting at Matador. Boys and girls from 19 counties were present for this meeting. During the afternoon plans were made for the District 4-H Camp which will be held in Buffalo Gap in June.

Our recipe this week is Tuna Whirls with Cheese Sauce. 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup shortening, 2/3 to 3/4 cup milk, 1 cup drained, flaked tuna (7 ounce can).

Plant Nutrient Balance Important

Maintaining the proper nutrient balance in the application of fertilizer is important in getting top profit from money invested in fertilizer, advises Joe Burkett, county agent.

Too much nitrogen applied to a crop will often cause a plant to become vegetative and lessen the fruit set. Too much phosphorus or potassium in relation to nitrogen, he adds, will cause a plant to be small, mature early and fail to make its top potential yield.

To determine the proper nutrient balance for a soil, Burkett suggests that a soil test be made. A soil test will determine the amount and kind of the various plant nutrients that should be applied to give the proper nutrient balance for the crop that is to be grown. The result is the application of the most profitable rate of fertilizer. A soil test will also eliminate unnecessary application of nutrients not needed.

Santa Fe Earnings Down 11.8 Per Cent

In the Santa Fe Railway System annual report just mailed to stockholders, it was announced by Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer F. G. Gurley and President E. S. Marsh that net income for 1957 amounted to $61,941,791 compared with $70,213,171 in 1956, a decline of 11.8 per cent, representing the lowest net earnings of the company since 1949. The 1957 net was down to $2.30 per common share compared with $2.64 in 1956. Despite a reduction in the physical volume of traffic handled in 1957, operating revenues were $610,714,053. This figure is 1.5 per cent greater than in 1956, but has been exceeded in only one previous year in the history of the company.

Automation may have its advantages but it is causing a major problem in the field of medicine, according to an article in The Journal of the American Medical Association by Dr. Robert H. Barnes. About Your HEALTH

How many parents have thought to themselves, "Judy seems bright enough, but just look at her report card, she should be doing much better and her teacher says she is inattentive and moody." It is only natural for parents to be concerned about their children's behavior and achievements in school or play. Oftentimes difficulties experienced by children which may make them appear slow or uncooperative have definite physical relationships of one kind or another. The most common and usually least suspected are those involving the eyesight and hearing. Too often a child falls behind in school or fails to enjoy himself with other children because of faulty hearing or an eye disorder. For this reason parents and teachers alike should be alert for signs which may indicate trouble of this kind. Parents themselves can watch for these symptoms in their children, and if one or more should occur, have the child examined by your family physician. If further examination or treatment is indicated, he can refer you to a specialist. Hearing difficulties often attack subtly. If a child is continually turning his head to hear sounds, leaning forward to hear, asking repetition of things said or frequently inattentive, hearing loss is indicated. Health factors to observe are: mouth breathing (tonsils and adenoids can cause trouble), draining ears, earaches, and ringing, buzzing or roaring in ears; also certain personality traits indicate hearing deficiencies such as a lack of self-confidence, extreme anti-social behavior, extreme introversion, and constantly being on the defensive. In achievement a child may be two or three years behind his age-level in school or experience a sudden failure following a severe illness. Eye difficulties are manifested in more obvious ways such as: frequent blinking, rubbing eyes frequently, watery eyes, eyes or crusted eyelids, inflamed eyes, squinting at close objects, crossed eyes, and attempts to brush away a blur. Also frequent crying, holding a book far away or too close while reading, screws up face while reading, tenses body in far-vision, looks out of only one eye, or experiences headaches after close work. Don't delay if any or some of these signs appear in your child. Prompt attention now could save his sight or hearing and improve his whole outlook on life.

BIG BATTLE LOOMING

Many observers expect a rough, no-holds-barred battle between the "big three" car makers and the United Auto Workers union when new contract negotiations take place this year. Victor Riesel writes of the possibility of the companies stockpiling as many as 4 million cars and Walter Reuther building up a $50 million strike fund. Then both sides would be ready for a prolonged shutdown.

Our Weekly Sermon

Alive But Called Dead

An 83-year-old widow, pronounced "legally, officially dead" by a physician who ordered her removal to a funeral home, is fighting for her life in a Boston hospital. The woman who resides in Dorchester was listed in very poor condition—but still alive—after suffering what was apparently a cerebral hemorrhage. She was found lying across her bed in her small apartment by a neighbor, who quickly called police and a doctor. The physician searched for a pulse or heartbeat and then pronounced, "She's dead. Notify her relatives."

But a funeral director found a pulse and telephoned police. Another doctor was summoned along with firemen who administered oxygen and a stimulant. After several minutes the doctor determined that the woman was alive and ordered her taken to a hospital. Fortunately mistakes of pronouncing dead a person who is still living are rare. Physicians and hospitals are noted for their valiant efforts to prolong life. This woman may recover and perhaps live to extreme old age. But there will come a day when her life will end and no mistake about it. The same is true of you. In the joy of living, in the activity of life, in the rich, full years, we view death as remote and unreal, if we think of it at all. Yet we must one day fulfill the Biblical statement, "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment" (Hebrews 9: 27). There may be no time to settle accounts with God just before death. The wasted years cannot then be restored. The wrongs cannot be made right. "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near" (Isaiah 55:6). Live for God now and death—whenever it finally comes—will hold no terror or regrets.

Texas Tech Has Herd of 20 Registered Quarterhorses

Tech Beauty, the big black quarterhorse that led Texas Tech's footballers onto the field last fall, is scheduled to foal early in July, animal husbandry officials have announced.

The beautiful mare is considered one of the prizes in Tech's herd of 20 registered quarterhorses as well as a mount for the symbolic Red Raider, Don Hollar of Guthrie, Texas.

Dr. W. L. Stangel, Tech agriculture dean, said Tech Beauty is a descendant in a breeding program made possible by a gift from R. L. Underwood of Wichita Falls.

In 1947, Underwood presented Tech with a mare named Bright Eyes because he was interested in seeing the institution have a registered herd of horses.

From Bright Eyes came Tech Bonnie, mother of Tech Beauty. Hollar, who has ridden Tech Beauty at football games and in parades, didn't get the honor by chance. He is a junior majoring in animal husbandry and is specializing in the care and handling of Tech's horses.

The herd currently has 10 mares and three stallions. Also in it are a yearling filly and six colts (four fillies and two stallions).

Tech veterinary officials said they are not sure whether or not Tech Beauty will be able to appear at football games next fall. That will depend on her condition after foaling.

In any case, Tech can make an attractive animal available for Hollar to ride. The hope is, of course, that the new colt will be able to carry on as part of the Tech public symbol in the tradition of its mother, officials said.

The idea of using a black horse ridden by a red-clad Spanish Don to lead the Red Raiders was conceived by DeWitt Weaver, athletic director and head football coach.

It was first used when Tech played in the 1953 Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., and was so well received that it has been used at Tech games since.

The Red Raider's horse now is provided with a $500 black saddle with silver, red and black trim, and it travels to games and other appearances in a red trailer with black and white trim.
