Crowell Wildcats Keep Perfect District Record with 56-16 Win Over Archer City

The Crowell High School football team just about cinched the district championship Friday night at Archer City as the Crowell Wildcats defeated the Archer City Wildcats 56-16. They can win their remaining games with Paducah and become undisputed champions or win one of the games and still be tied with Holiday or Iowa Park for second. This would give Crowell the right to represent the district in the district play at the Wildcat over both of these teams. The game was a complete rout as at a glance:

Archer City	56
First downs	5
Yds. gained rushing	87
Yds. gained passing	0
Passes completed	0 of 4
Passes intercepted	1
Punt av.	3 for 17
Recovered fumbles	0
Penalties	6 for 40

Crowell scored twice in the first quarter. Fullback Jim Henry ran the first one over from the 11. Quarterback Ivan Cates threw a pass to left end David Carpenter for 39 yards for the second quarter. The second quarter was a nightmare for the host team. Crowell scored 30 points in this period. Halfback Gerald Bradford carried 13 yards for one touchdown. Henry carried over the extra points. Defensive halfback George Moss intercepted a pass and ran back 43 yards for another touchdown. Henry converted again on a running play. Cates threw again to Carpenter for 41 yards and a score. Halfback Bobby Barker ran over for the extra points. Bradford scampered 70 yards on a punt return for Crowell's last touchdown in the first half. Other Crowell players like Gary Carpenter, Bill Graves, Bobby Powers, Joe Barry, Tom Crowell, Duane Nichols and David Carpenter did yeoman service with their blocking assignments on these runs.

Useful Wildlife in Abundance in County This Year

By JAMES H. HERRING

The most common talk among sportsmen and ranchers in the Lower River Soil Conservation District is the abundance of useful wildlife. Some people say the quail number the rats. That is hard to believe, but if you visited the Davis farm four miles north of Crowell, it would become apparent to you that there is some truth in what people are saying.

Mr. Davis not only has an excellent habitat for quail on his place, but other forms of animal life have been seen there, too. Recently Mr. Davis cleaned out and enlarged a farm pond on his place and to his surprise he had a number of amphibians, which is called toad.

This animal, sometimes called waterdog, has legs like a fish, but rarely, if ever, leaves the water. It feeds mostly upon insects and aquatic insects.

Mr. Davis believes that if you have fish and wildlife on your place you can have a better farm. A complex living community on the soil. Working with soil and dependent on it, are plants and animals that convert nitrogen into food and fiber for us. It is a successful community if all the living things in it are working for the benefit of the whole community.

With winter coming on there is a need for food, cover, and shelter for all kinds of fish and wildlife. These things can be easily provided by farmers and ranchers. Doing this, it will provide recreation and relaxation for you and your family on your farms and ranches in the form of hunting, fishing, and the esthetic values inherent in a well-balanced landscape and the fish and wildlife supports.

Frank Ikard to Speak Here on Tuesday, Nov. 4

Congressman Frank Ikard of Wichita Falls, representative of the 13th District in the U. S. Congress, will be the principal speaker at a joint noon meeting of the Rotary Club and Lions Club of Crowell next Tuesday, November 4.

Rep. Ikard, who has been visiting in the various towns in his district since Congress adjourned, is expected to bring a message of vital importance to all present.

Captain Werner Kohler of Wichita Falls, who was a guest of Crowell Rotarians last week from Wednesday until Sunday, was returned to Shepperd Air Force Base by Ray Brown Sunday morning. Captain Kohler is a member of the West German Air Force as a photo reconnaissance pilot and is taking advanced training at Shepperd.

He was greatly impressed with the hospitality of Crowell people and the forms of entertainment furnished him by Crowell Rotarians. He had never seen a cowboy, large cotton and wheat farms or cattle ranches.

The winner will qualify to play the winner of the eastern half for the District 1A-11 crown.

GENERAL ELECTION SET FOR TUESDAY, NOV. 4

Foard County voters will go to the polls next Tuesday, November 4, to cast ballots in the general election. Candidates are listed for state offices, from the governor on down, to the county offices which had elections scheduled this year. The ballots contain a complete slate of Democratic candidates, four Republican candidates, 9 Constitution Party candidates, a column for Independent Party candidates, and a write-in column.

Polls open at 8 o'clock and close at 7. Location of the voting boxes in this county and the presiding judges follow:

Precinct No. 1, county clerk's office, Bob Abston, presiding officer; Prec. 2, county judge's office, L. A. Andrews, presiding; Prec. 3, sheriff's office, Richard Johnson, presiding; Prec. 4, county attorney's office, Otis Gafford, presiding; Prec. 5, Margaret community house, W. F. Bradford, presiding; Prec. 6, North Thalia Farmers Gin, T. H. Matthews, presiding; Prec. 7, South Thalia, Thalia School, Raymond Grimm, presiding; Prec. 8, Foard City community house, Jack Welch, presiding; Prec. 11, Rayland Gin, Tom Lawson, presiding.

Absentee voting, which began on October 15, will close on Friday, October 31, with Clerk J. A. Stovall reporting no requests being made for the absentee ballots.

In addition to the candidates for office, voters will cast ballots on nine proposed changes to the State Constitution.

A condensed outline of the amendments and arguments being presented for and against follows: (Numbers correspond to the order in which amendments will appear on the ballot.)

1. Would provide for annual sessions of the Legislature. Odd-year sessions would be devoted to all matters, as before, and even-year sessions would attend to budgeting and emergency matters. Legislators would receive an annual salary of $7,500 (instead of $25 a day for a 120-day session) and an unspecified amount for "expenses of office."

2. Supporters say annual sessions will allow more time for consideration of important matters. State financial planning could be done for one year at a time. No more having to "guesstimate" financial needs for two years ahead. Better pay would be a step toward attracting the best qualified persons to lawmaking. Such influential and hard-working groups as the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce are pushing this amendment.

3. Equally outspoken are the opponents who say it would cause needless expense when money is already short. More time in session means more chances to spend money. Proposed salary still is not enough to attract top-notch talent, but "expenses of office" could open the door to "fattening" with public funds. Sen. Dorey Hardeman of San Angelo is the recognized spokesman for the "antis" which include some other lawmakers and other groups.

4. Would allow counties to extend participation in their retirement, disability and death compensation plans to elective officials of the county and precinct. Present arrangement covers only appointive officials and employees of the county.

5. It is a permissive law. No county has to do it unless the voters say so. It would give elective officials the same privilege as appointees, be an attraction to office.

6. CON: It sets no requirement for length of service. An official might serve one term—or less—and receive benefits.

7. Would allow the County Commissioners Court to fill vacancies in the office of County Judge and Justices of the Peace only until the next general election. Presently such appointments are for the remainder of the unexpired term, up to four years.

8. PRO: It would give voters the right to choose their own replacement to office as soon as possible.

9. CON: Since campaigns are so costly, there would be less incentive to run for the office for only a two-year term.

10. Would provide for automatic resignation of a district, county and precinct official who announces for any other public office more than one year before the end of his term in office.

11. PRO: It would keep officials on the job rather than out campaigning for some other office.

12. CON: It would discriminate against district, county and precinct officials since other officials—U. S. Senators, state senators, railroad commissioners and others with more than two-year terms—can run for another office in mid-term.

13. Would allow Home Rule cities to extend terms of their elective and appointive officials from two years to four years.

14. PRO: It is permissive; each city can make its own decision. Two-year terms hardly allow an official time to get a program started before he has to get out and run again.

15. CON: Elections every two years give voters more control, build up citizen interest in government.

16. Would provide pensions, not to exceed $80 a month, for retired Texas Rangers and widows of Rangers who retired before the 1947 State Employees Retirement System was established. Money would come from the Confederate Pension Fund.

17. PRO: Since funds are available, it would put no extra burden on taxpayers. Protective dating clause would prevent marrying for pensions.

18. CON: It would allow ex-Rangers to receive pensions for as little as two years' service and with no payments on their part, a more generous arrangement than is provided for other state employees.

19. Would allow Legislature to appropriate money for advertising the advantages of Texas in nationally-circulated publications. Use of the name or picture of any living state official would be prohibited, and public funds would have to be matched by private funds.

20. PRO: Texas is one of only three states without a state program to attract tourists and industry. Proponents say it would pay for itself many times by bringing new money into the state.

21. CON: This should be handled by the businesses who would benefit through their trade associations, chambers of commerce, etc.

22. Would allow the Legislature to appropriate money to pay for medical care for people who receive old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children.

23. PRO: It would provide help for people whose small monthly checks cannot possibly cover medical emergencies. Since payments would be made only to the vendor (doctor, hospital or what not), the money could be used only for its intended purpose.

24. CON: It would cost the state limit on how much it could drain from the Treasury. It would mean double taxation for cities and counties already providing medical care for their needy.

25. Would allow the Legislature to authorize creation of hospital districts in Amarillo, Wichita County and Jefferson County.

26. PRO: It is permissive. People in the affected areas could decide what they want to do with it.

27. CON: Proposed amendment is long (1,000 words), detailed and so complicated that few voters can even understand it. If such provisions are needed, they should be made in statutes rather than by adding to our already-long Constitution.

Senator Moffett Urges Large Vote Next Tuesday

The News has received the following statement concerning the general election next Tuesday, Nov. 4, from Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe, State Senator of this senatorial district.

"It is of considerable importance that a large number of citizens turn out and vote next Tuesday. The law provides that the number of votes cast at the general election this year will determine how many delegates and votes each county in Texas will have in the Texas Democratic state convention in May, 1960. This 1960 state convention will choose the delegates from Texas to the National Democratic Convention which will nominate the Democratic Party's candidate for President in November, 1960. If you want to increase your county's voting strength in choosing the delegates which will pick the next president of the United States, come out and vote on November 4, 1958."

prove the correctness of our statement, we went to the news office and hunted out back numbers of the high school news and found interesting remarks in the so-called "gossip column" about well respected citizens of "today."

We are mixing in these "interesting bits of nothing" of the past with our today's so-called "gossip"—and please, if you can, point out to us any differences!!

Together Sunday afternoon were Jo Carol-Bryant, Alta-Jerry Don, Elly-Taylor, Carol M.-Monnie.

Seen in Vernon Saturday night were Roxie-Gerald, Kay-Boob, Miles-Sue (a girl kin to Guy Jr.), Elly-Taylor, Carol M.-Monnie, Carria-Don, R. H.-Jeannie.

We want you to know that Gordon Erwin and his girl in Vernon are still that way! He has a girl in every town, it seems. (Wildcat News, Oct. 13, 1943.)

It seems as though a couple in CHS has come to splits. What about this, Carol-Dale?

R. H. and Don work very fast. Remember Sunday afternoon, boys. Roxie, Gayle, Bettie Linda, Kay, Carol and Carria were hunting something Thursday night. What or who was it, girls?

Billy Johnson looks longingly at? That's right, it's love. (1946) Boob, what happened to you Saturday night? The scandal news.

Jeannie was all smiles Sunday afternoon. It didn't have anything to do with Eugene's being home, did it, Jeannie?

Seen together Sunday night were Jo and Wesley. Edward Gafford, senior football player and one of the loudest boys in the class, likes out of town girls! (1938)

Having fun coming home from Archer City were Jeannie-R. H., Peggy-Bubba, Janie-Jerry Doyal, Mary Ann-Albert.

We hear Dianne had a swell time over the week end. Could the reason be Charles?

Lois Ann, tell us about that friend you met Saturday at the library convention. Wasn't his name Franklin O.?

Carolyn Sue, what about your tall, dark and handsome admirer? He plays bass horn in the Bobcat Band—his name, Allen D.

Same old routine. Jean Orr (now Mrs. Jeff Bell) and Howard Lee were together Saturday night.

Sharon Sue really made eyes at the soloist, Danny Mc.

Judy and Early are back together again. Seems as though she's had his ring for some time now. Good luck, kids.

At the Palace Saturday night were Joyce-Henry, Judy-Early, Judy-Aldon, Wanda-Chuck. Stags were Charlie G., Bill S., Robert, Gordon, and Noel.

Kenneth Ownbey and Myrtle Bartley (Mrs. Travis Vecera) were seen together on Saturday night. What happened to E. W., or will this be a triangle? (1946)

Mary Ann and Albert were making the rounds Saturday night, Sunday, and Sunday night.

What's this we hear about Jerry Clifton and Peggy Whitley? Together Saturday night were Judy-Aldon, Wanda-Chuck.

Jerry-Roy Don, Gayle-Jimmy Harper were seen riding around Sunday night.

Travis Vecera is another one of our boys who seems to be "robbing the cradle." He has been seen with Peggy recently (1943)

The question of the week. Are Freddie-Barbara, Jimmy-Ernestine going steady? We poor Crowell girls want to know.

Having fun at a farewell party for Larry were Jerry Ann, Jeannie, Jo Frances, Gayle, Fredrick, Jimmy, Mike and Printress.

Surprises of the week! Harvey and Judy are engaged! Louis and Patsy are engaged!

Riding around real cozy-like Sunday afternoon were R. H. and Patsy Brazil. Could this be something new?

Ralph Fleisher, sophomore, plays in the band, and likes to play basketball and tennis. He goes with that certain tall, slender, redhead, Beverly Hughtson. (1938)

Roxie and Gerald seem to be seeing a lot of each other lately. Could this become a new steady? We hope so!!

Having fun at the Paducah carnival were Jerry-Ronald. Another interesting couple is DeAlva Thomas (Mrs. J. H. Gillespie) and J. L. Gobin. (1943)

Aldon Garrett has been here the past few days. Who's this that Vera Porter is seeing these days!

Henry Fish and Miss Clara M. Martin married November 12 at Quanah. (1939)

James Choate was here this week end. Glad to see you, James. Ex-student Norman Jones (Mrs. Jerry Lee) is home from Germany and visited school last week. Glad to see you!

Frances Henry Johnson (Mrs. Bert Ekern) loves to go to Thalia or Black. (1937)

So, take heart—all of you who think we are the worst—maybe there's hope for us yet! Just let us grow up, and we'll forget our childish ways!

Goblins Will Get You If You're Not at the Bop!

Boo! Ghosts and goblin will

So, don't be left out—join the ghostly parade and meet us at the gym Friday night at 8 o'clock.

Wildcats Maul Wildcats 56-16

Silly title. No, not silly, for silly is as silly does, and the Crowell Wildcats were not silly to maul the Archer City Wildcats by a score of 56-16 at the Archer City stadium last Friday night.

That's it!

Dianne Sledge and Duane Johnson—Senior Personalities

A great Texas-style sand storm was really letting us have it last week when a ropher happened to peep up from his hole in the ground and see two Crowell seniors go sailing over his head.

Word got around about what he thought of them, and here is how it sounded.

Dianne Sledge is 5' 3 1/2" tall, has brown hair, brown eyes, and is seventeen. She lives about 32 miles from Crowell and finds it pretty hard to get up at 6:30 every morning to catch a bus. Wow!

Dianne loves to swim, dance, and go to western parties. When it comes to eating—well—shrimp and chocolate pie just can't possibly be beat.

Her hardest subject is English, and her easiest and favorite is typing.

Speaking of movies, she likes these jazzy, go man go, rock and roll type shows, Pat Boone and Debbie Reynolds rank highest as stars in Dianne's books.

Dianne has been FHA officer, a member of the annual staff and Wildcat staff, basketball team for two years, and dramatics.

Like everyone, Dianne has a main pet peeve—it's someone who is not sincere; also she dislikes moving around (she's lived in six different places).

After graduation, Dianne will attend Cisco Junior College for a business course.

Good luck, Dianne!

Duane Johnson is quite a cowboy. He's 6' tall, has blue eyes, blond hair, and is seventeen.

Steak, gravy, and all the trimmings after a hard day of rounding cows surely does taste good to Duane.

For pastimes, Duane enjoys riding horses, dancing, watching rodeos, and listening to good western swing music.

Ju-dy Canova and Kirk Douglas are favorites with Duane. He likes the modern western movies, not the old "shoot em up" kind. Duane has been in FHA; also he has been class officer and 4H work. He received the gold star medal, and he has been on TV twice. We may have a star from Crowell yet!

Duane's pet peeve is girls who talk too much. From now on, gals, keep your mouths shut, at least half way, to catch cowboys.

After graduation, Duane plans to attend Midwestern or Texas Tech, and then maybe start a ranch of his own with a few horses and cows.

Good luck, pardner!!

Enchiladas—Yum, Yum

Last week the Spanish Club observed its first meeting of the year with a Spanish supper at Mr. Black's farm house. Mrs. Paul Rodriguez prepared a delicious meal of enchiladas, tortillas, salad, chili, and cake.

The class is indebted to Mrs. Rodriguez for the delicious meal. Mr. and Mrs. James Welch were guests of the club.

Band Beats

Friday night at Archer City the band did the contest routine that is planned for the marching contest in Wichita Falls in November.

The show began with the band doing its stationary commands at one end of the field. Then it played "Little Champ" while they did a right column march. They then played a fanfare, and began marching each direction for eight steps to the tune of "The Three Blind Mice." They formed a line that extended the complete width of the field; they did swivel movements and then marched to the sidelines and played the ending as the members jumped over the out-of-bounds marker. The band thinks Mr. Hesse has thought up a very original show for contest.

Since next week is our open date, there will probably be no band news because all we are doing is practicing on our contest routine.

State Degree Workshop Held at Rochester

Virginia Hudgens, Carol Bell and Cecelia Drabek, accompanied by Mrs. Ruth Kenner, attended a State Degree Workshop Oct. 23 at Rochester High School. A great deal of information was given by the degree committee concerning state degrees, the most useful being a brief outline.

Six girls are working on state degrees to be completed next year. They are Linda Caddell, Barbara Goodwin, Joyce Latimer and the three who attended the workshop.

Club News

The Sub-Junior Columbian Club met in the home of Judy Vaughn on Oct. 22. D'Lois Shultz was leader, and Joyce Howard gave an interesting part on "Two by Two." Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Judy Johnson and Judy Vaughn.

The Origin and Spread of Superstitious Beliefs

Down through the ages, man has tried to probe into the unknown. This speculation has given rise to superstitions in the over-imaginative mind.

The Druids of the Celtic era had a 3-day celebration at the first of November. On this day, they believed that spirits of the dead roamed the earth, and they lighted bonfires to drive them away.

In ancient Egypt, the cat was believed to have strange power; thus each member of a family regarded it with superstitious awe. Upon the death of a cat, it was embalmed and buried as a human being, and the family went into mourning. Killing a cat was punishable by death.

The peasants of old Russia believed in the mystical powers of the witches. These villagers thought that witches controlled the water supply, household supplies, and the ghosts that roamed the graveyards.

Even today, the Hindus of India can hardly be induced to kill the dangerous cobra although these poisonous snakes are responsible for the death of 20,000 people annually on the Indian peninsula.

In our own country, American superstitions spread. The American Indian believed in the charms of the medicine men. As late as 1692, innocent people were killed in Salem, Mass., because they were accused of being witches. These witches were believed to bring sickness or death to whom they wished; they were thought to be able to enter through the air on a broomstick and assume animal forms.

Of the less serious nature, it was considered bad luck to break a mirror, to have a black cat cross your path, and to hear the hoot of the owl. Good luck signs were a horse shoe, a four leaf clover, and a rabbit's foot. Many of these old superstitious customs have come into the celebration of Halloween. The word itself came from the name "holy eve," which is the eve of All Saint's Day. In bygone days it was considered a night of mystery and ghosts, but today our celebration of Halloween is more or less fun making.

In the light of our scientific developments and knowledge, our superstitions seem a relic of the Dark Ages.

EXAMINE EXHIBIT — Shown above are four 5th grade boys as they examined the science display of the seventh and eighth

7th and 8th Grade Classes Develop Science Display

During the last few years there has been more emphasis placed on the importance of teaching mathematics and science than at any other time in the history of our schools. Many people have been wondering how the school is meeting this demand. Perhaps some statements from some of the seventh and eighth grade students will tell what is being done.

The students were given an assignment to write a news story or letter after they had completed their first six weeks of science. This could be a story about the class as a whole or it could be a feature story.

Six Weeks Studying Science

This six weeks has been the most enjoyable of all the years we have studied science. I think all the seventh and eighth grade boys and girls agree with me on this. It seems that the students in the lower grades have enjoyed our room, too. We surely like for them to come to our room to see what we have.

When we started at the beginning of school we did not have any equipment. So, we began to plan how we could equip our science department. Mrs. Welch, our science teacher, made a list of things we needed and we took it home to check with our parents for things that we could bring. The very next day we had everything from tiny jars, bottles, to an aquarium. You should see our room now. We have so many things we scarcely have room for them.

The seventh grade started studying animals and plants, and as they progressed, they brought lizards, grasshoppers, snakes, praying mantises, a mountain boomer, horned toads, frogs, tadpoles. They brought so many things that we had to start making homes for them and find out how to care for them. We now have two aquariums and two terrariums. We have many different kinds of fish and animals in them. Our little hog-nosed snake is very interesting. The turtles and frogs are interesting to watch also.

We found that we have some very interesting animals all around us. One boy brought a tiger salamander, and another some water puppies. We found out that they are salamanders also.

We have had several interesting pets like Wilma and Elvis. They were both praying mantises.

The day we started studying mammals, fish, birds, reptiles, and amphibians, we had living examples of all of them in our own school room.

We wish our parents and friends would visit our school room. We think you would enjoy it with us.

By Linda McClain, Eighth Grade.

Science, today is one of our most important subjects. We have more jobs calling for scientific training. Now we need more people interested in science. Taken from paper by Kenneth Hough, Eighth grade.

Wilma and Elvis have helped develop an interest in science for many 7th and 8th grade students. By Frances Whitley, 8th grade.

Science is a lot more interesting since we have real things to work with, and it is getting more interesting all the time. We don't just talk about things, but, for once, we do something about them. It has given me a different outlook on science. I am really interested now and think I always will be from now on. Charles ten Brink, 8th grade.

We have a hog-nosed snake in our room. When he gets mad he turns over and plays dead. He blows and sputters and puffs up his head but never bites. If you do not believe this, you can see for yourself in our science room. Kenneth Houck, 8th grade.

We started out with one teacher and about 90 students in the 7th and 8th grade science classes. We didn't have anything to work with, so we got busy and started bringing things from the outside world into our class room. Now we have many animals and plants and homes for all of them. James Corder, 7th grade.

We have chemicals and tools to make experiments. We are learning some symbols, like H₂O means water. We have studied about different rocks and how they are formed. Some students are making rock collections. I have made one. Woody Lemons, 7th

Before we started lessons in science I thought it would be boring. When we started we had nothing but a room full of seats and desks. Now, we have everything. Science is fun! Jimmy Penders, 7th grade.

I like science because it is so big that it gives you many things to choose from. Philip Welch, 7th grade.

Most of the students in our room hadn't really known the meaning of science. It was just another dry subject. Now, it is fun and there are many reasons why we enjoy it. Terri Thomas, 7th grade.

Wilma's Visit

One nice October day, Mrs. Graves and her second grade class were very excited. They had found a praying mantis that was going to lay eggs very soon.

They wanted to keep her, but didn't quite know how to care for her. They decided to give her a name and bring her to the science room. They named her Wilma and then brought her to us. They told us to take care of Wilma and bring her babies to them.

We didn't know very much about the care of a praying mantis so we did two things. First, a group started hunting information about feeding a praying mantis and second, we built a home for Wilma.

Then, one Monday morning they were there! The eggs! Wilma had put them on a twig in her home.

We took them to the second grade room and the children were all excited. They will keep them to see if the babies hatch next spring. They enjoyed the science lesson too. Oh, by the way, Wilma's fine.—Judy Traweck, 8th grade.

The Life of Elvis

The day Elvis came to our room we were very excited. Most of us had no idea what a praying mantis did, how he ate, how he catches his prey, or little else about him. We even thought they were harmful. Later, we found that they are very good friends to the farmer, and will harm no one.

Elvis was very playful for we could hold him in our hands. He simply loved to eat grasshoppers.

The praying mantis is said to be the only insect that can look over its shoulder, wash its face like a cat, eat from your hand like a dog, and drink water like a horse. One day Elvis hitched a free ride to the study hall on the back of Mrs. Welch's dress.

We enjoyed watching Elvis eat, wash his face, scratch his head, and we liked to hold him. He would fold his arms as if in deep meditation.

Elvis had a tragic end. We fed him grasshoppers every day. One day he was very hungry, so he tackled a grasshopper that was a little too large for him. The grasshopper kicked his head partly off and gave him a black eye. Our teacher put him in a jar and put him to sleep with some formaldehyde.—Pat Brown.

Thalia Baptist W. M. S.

On Monday afternoon, Oct. 13, the Thalia Baptist W. M. S. met at the church for the Royal Service program. Mrs. W. B. Fitzgerald led the opening song, followed with a prayer by Mrs. E. M. Gamble. Mrs. Loyd Fox, program chairman, had charge of the program which was given by members of the WMS.

On Wednesday, Oct. 22, the WMS met at the home of Mrs. Sim V. Gamble, who is the mission study chairman for a study of the book, "Into a New World." As the guests arrived they were greeted at the door by Mrs. Mack Edens, who was attired in a costume representing a cultured Filipino woman.

Mrs. Fitzgerald led the group singing, followed with a scriptural reading by Mrs. E. M. Gamble and prayer by Mrs. Maggie Wheeler. Mrs. Sim V. Gamble gave the introduction of the book and Mrs. Cap Adkins and Mrs. Fitzgerald both gave a chapter each. A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed at noon by 11 ladies. Mrs. Myrtle Neill brought a chapter after the lunch. On Nov. 12, the WMS will meet for another all-day meeting with Mrs. Loyd Fox.

Christianity and Politics

In my previous articles an effort was made to prove the insidious change being made in our Christian way of life by changing the Bible and how modern conditions were leading our young people into a unknown bondage. Now I want to prove that politics can be, and should be looked upon with just as much fervor as any church affair. History which is true tells us about the bondage of the Israelites in Egypt, when the Lord spoke to Moses and said: Draw not nigh hither; put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground. And Moses hid his face; for he was afraid to look upon God. Today we see wonders about us but we think it is only some scientific experiment and pay no heed to it; but Moses was asked to take a leading part in rescuing his fellow-man from the toils of slavery. Moses thought himself inadequate as a leader and tried to renege on the occasion; but God said: What is that in thine hand? And he said, a rod. God said: Cast it on the ground. Moses cast his rod on the ground and it became a snake. Now a snake means treachery, insidious, to move. We hold in our hand the right to vote. We can use it justly or insidiously. If we go by party only, we go insidiously; if we go morally, then we go religiously and can last forever as a nation. We are now living under the hand of despotic abuse of authority and if we refuse to use our vote as a protectorate, we will soon be without a right to vote. My dear friends, God today is asking us "What do you have in thine hand?" We have the right to vote; but will we have it long if we do not rightfully use it, and use it justly.

Great Change Takes Place in Warfare Department

Some idea of the change that has taken place in the warfare department since the last war: Six of the six aircraft carriers, now patrolling the waters around Formosa carries an equivalent in nuclear bombs to 28 million tons of TNT. That is more than ten times the tonnage of all the bombs dropped in all of Europe during World War II by the United States and Britain combined." — Abilene, Kansas, Daily Reflector-Chronicle.

Not Beyond Grasp of Average Individual

"A recent book review contained the assertion that the book was not beyond the grasp of the average citizen and that it could be read and digested in less than an hour. While one cannot be sure what the reviewer had in mind, mere ease of reading is in itself not much of a recommendation for serious literature. . . it should be noted that the really worthwhile objectives are difficult to obtain. In tennis, for example, a player can seldom improve his game if he avoids playing with opponents more skilled than himself. So it is with reading. A reader avoiding literature which cannot readily be understood in an hour will seldom stretch his imagination or increase his understanding of the world about him."—Titusville, Fla., Star-Advocate.

Mankind to Exhaust Current Sources of Energy by 2030 A. D.

If the earth's population continues its explosive growth, mankind will exhaust current sources of energy by about 2030 A. D., a Princeton University chemist has predicted at Texas Tech.

In an address to the Tech chemistry faculty and students, Dr. Clark E. Bricker called for basic research now to uncover new energy sources in case current trends of population and energy usage continue.

"The world's population remained fairly constant from zero A. D. through 1600 A. D.," he declared. "However, it doubled in the next 200 years and doubled again in the following 85 years."

"Indications now are that it will double a third time within the next 50 years and a fourth time 35 years after that," Bricker continued.

"If we continue to use coal, gas, oil and other energy sources in proportion, we'll probably exhaust them by the date indicated," he said.

The only safe response to this possibility—however problematical—is to undertake basic research now that will lead to new energy sources by that time, Bricker said.

This is a tremendous task—too big to be undertaken by any single corporation, the Princeton chemist declared. He urged that the public back any private or governmental plans to support such research.

Bricker said one of the best possibilities of obtaining new energy lies in finding ways to fuse atoms of deuterium, or heavy hydrogen, which can be obtained in abundance from sea water.

Blimps Play Vital Anti-Submarine Role

The role of lighter-than-air airships, commonly known as blimps, has been obscured by the headline activities of supersonic aircraft and the hypersonic performance of guided missiles.

But the blimp is an important element of the complex air and sea defenses required by the United States. This airship is able to carry and operate the most diverse assembly of electronic systems for detection of enemies under the seas or in the air, and has a capability for sustained flight without refueling that is measured in days.

This combination of operational characteristics gives the airship capabilities for the dual missions of early warning and anti-submarine duties.

The performance of radar is directly related to the area of the sweep antenna. The airship is capable of carrying very large antenna within its "gas bag" without penalizing its performance.

Farmers Lose $15 Million to Small Grain Plant Diseases

Small grain producers lost an estimated $15,471,000 due to plant diseases in 1958. Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, said rusts accounted for most of the losses but that blights and smuts also were of considerable importance. A combination of seed treatment and crop rotation can reduce these losses and small grain varieties with resistance to the diseases should be planted in areas where adaptable.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

Austin, Tex.—As Texas "Battle of the Budget" roars on toward its 1959 climax, almost every week brings a new statement on the probable size of the state deficit. Usually worse than the last one.

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Legislative Budget Director Vernon A. McGee combined to present a frankly pessimistic picture for the Texas Research League meeting in Austin.

McGee said the general revenue fund will need $279,000,000 during the next two years to keep things going as they are. Calvert estimated that the present tax structure would put $125,000,000 into general revenue during this period.

This leaves a gap of $154,000,000 between estimated income and outgo. In addition, Calvert estimated the general revenue fund will be $55,600,000 in arrears by the end of the present fiscal year in August, 1959.

Research League is composed of several hundred leaders in Texas business and professions whose private contributions support research in the interest of governmental efficiency. Much of the League staff's time during the past year has been devoted to assisting the State Tax Study Commission in a mammoth survey of Texas' revenue and tax problems.

CAN DO—Gov. Price Daniel took a "we can lick this thing" attitude in a press conference on taxes.

Daniel said he felt the deficit could be erased and new revenue needs met without a general sales tax or income tax. Taxes we have presently could be raised to the maximum level used in other states, said the governor. And other taxes—not sales or income—could be added.

Daniel also indicated that he was not fully convinced that the gap between income and needs would be as large as the $154,000,000 mentioned by the comptroller.

He would not definitely say now, said the governor, that he would or would not veto sales or income tax bills if passed by the Legislature. But he made it clear that he did not favor them, and that he thought there were better possibilities.

Daniel praised state agencies who reduced their budget requests a total of $1,490,641. Overall, the budget requests had run $272,000,000 higher than for the present biennium.

HOSPITAL SPENDING AXED—Possibility of more drastic cutting loomed when the Legislative Budget Board voted to reject some of the appropriations being sought by the State Hospital System.

It voted to lop $8,000,000 off the system's requested operating fund and disapprove spending $5,500,000 for a new mental hospital in the Gulf Coast area.

Budget Board recommended a slight increase in money for the Texas Youth Council. But it voiced a "thumbs down" attitude toward setting up a state-supported paid parole system for juvenile delinquents.

Legislative Budget Board is made up of 5 members from the House and 5 from the Senate who, with staff assistance, screen appropriation requests in advance and make recommendations to the Legislature.

PULLING UP—Two state agencies who've gotten black marks in past years got basically good report cards in the summaries given by analysts for the Texas Research League meeting.

State Insurance Department has made many improvements in the year since its reorganization, said one researcher. He predicted that an era of better regulation would result in saving to policyholders and fewer company failures.

State Welfare Department was described as "basically well-administered" in comparison to some years ago when it was a source of dissatisfaction.

In the welfare field, the League was told, Texas can expect increased spending in the future. Texas now spends 18 per cent of its tax money or $173,000,000 a year on welfare. But other states are "more generous," observed the researcher.

SALARY FORMULA—Budget Board also is giving attention to drawing up a bill setting up a salary schedule for state employees. Its purpose would be to guarantee "like pay for like work" throughout state departments. It would be based on a job classification study recently made by the Texas Employment Commission.

Public school and college teachers and persons in executive positions would not be included. Budget Board members commented that in some departments a person doing stenographic work may be called an "administrative assistant" and get much more money than a person doing stenographic work in another department.

ANTI-CRIME LAWS—New laws and institutions to deal more forcefully with Texas' soaring crime rate may be a major topic for the next Legislature. County and district attorneys meeting in Austin were asked by Governor Daniel to help in the job of strengthening and plugging the loopholes in Texas' law enforcement structure. Daniel said that at the present rate Texas will have a 28 per cent increase in crime in three years.

THIS WEEK - In Washington

With Clinton Davidson - Republican party officials with whom we talk are speculating this week whether the story of what happened in Maine on Sept. 8 will be repeated all across the country on Nov. 4.

If it is, they concede, there will be a Democratic landslide of proportions not seen since 1936. They are banking, however, on Republican candidates having learned a lesson from the Maine election in which Democrats retained the governorship and picked up one Senate and one House seat.

Most Republican candidates for Congress were given a confidential report from the Republican National Committee shortly after the Maine election. The "fact sheet" on that election was prepared for the GOP Committee.

The report is notable for its frankness in analyzing the Maine vote and describing how elections are won, and lost. Like a man who has just been hit by a speeding truck, the first question is: What happened?

Labor and Politics - "The difference," explains the report, "was the outstanding political work of organized labor in the textile, shipyard and paper pulp towns of Maine. The pluralities piled up in the relatively handful of labor stronghold precincts borders on the fantastic."

How were such tremendous majorities piled up? The report asked the question and then proceeded to answer it.

"Organized labor commenced its operations in Maine early last spring. Headquarters were set up by a top COPE organizer from Washington and by the Democratic Mayor of Hoboken, N. J.

"As labor's plan began to develop, the strategy called for at least two organizers in every labor precinct. Some 230 organizers were said to have been assigned to the state.

"Well-organized teams directed a campaign of TV shows, radio talks, wide-spread distribution of literature, chain letters, personal contacts and telephone calls."

The Lesson - The point which the GOP was seeking to drive home was that if you want to win elections you have to reach people and influence them with convincing arguments. Democrats did that in Maine.

A Democratic-organized labor alliance, similar to that in Maine, has been active in most states this fall. The question that bothers GOP headquarters is: Will it be as effective?

For 1960 and afterward the activities of organized labor raises serious questions. Not all union members are Democrats, yet organized labor support is almost entirely for Democratic candidates. Will the Democratic Party become the Labor Party?

The farm vote, though growing smaller, may still be the decisive vote in close elections, and in enough districts to determine the political complexion of Congress. But there is no organized political effort by farm organizations comparable to that of labor.

That is why there is talk now among Republican leaders of an effort to persuade farm organizations to forget some of their differences and become as cohesive a political force as organized labor.

1 in 40 Americans Injured in Home Accident Each Year

One person in 40 is injured each year in a home accident, according to the National Safety Council.

Women drivers were involved in 4,900 fatal accidents during 1956, the National Safety Council reports. More than 42,000 men fell into that category. There are about 22 million registered women drivers, 55 million men.

More than eight out of 10 auto accidents occur on level road, according to the National Safety Council, and about seven out of 10 on dry roads.
