Look and See

How important is personal appearance to you? Perhaps you don't really care how you look, but it may surprise you to know that other people notice and that they care. Why? Read on and find out for yourself.

Mrs. Halbert: You think you're interesting and delightful, but other people won't know it unless you show them your best self—every day. Whether we like it or not, people form their opinions from what they see. They are not mind readers. And, until that happy day when you can walk around carrying a big sign that says "I'm bright and hard working, kind and honest," you will have to depend on the outward "face" you present to the world. Once you've been tagged as a slouch or a sloven, it takes a mountain of effort to prove that you have sterling traits. You know what you are. You want others to know, too. Show them. Look and act the part, and your image outside will be as bright as the one inside.

Charlotte Sledge: When a new pupil arrives at school, even before they have a chance to protect themselves, their fellow students have already made split second decisions about them. How was this possible? They were gathered completely from the person's appearance. Everyone is put to this same test many times a day. Nothing impresses people as well as a clean and freshly ironed suit of clothes. Your shoes are important also. Shiny, clean hair and good posture add even more improvements. Try these and top it off with a big smile, and you will be sure those split second decisions about you are good ones!

Better take a close look at yourself and be sure that you pass the personal appearance test. Editor's Note: A topic we'll be using in the next few weeks is one on the controversial questions of cheating in school. Who does it? Why? Does it help? If you have any comments to share on this subject, please write the editor. We will appreciate your interest.

Band News and Views

Well, again on Friday night the CHS Band gave a grand performance which featured Janey

Bowers as feature twirler. She did a stunning routine which blended in with the smart formations staged by the band. This is Janey's first year as a majorette, and she is doing a wonderful job. The band is very proud of her.

The band sweetheart is to be crowned next Friday night. This will be the highlight of the half-time show. Three seniors are nominated for the honor, and the lucky girl is to be revealed Friday night.

After the game, the band is going to the Dallas Fair, so the members are looking forward to a grand week end.

Adelpian Club News

The Sub-Junior Adelpian Club held a regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Adelpian Club house. Hostess Ellie Wehba served a pretty and delicious refreshment plate.

Carolee Oliphant introduced the guest speaker of the day, Mrs. L. A. Andrews. Mrs. Andrews is a nationally accredited flower show judge and she presented an interesting and informative program on flower show arranging. She explained and illustrated the Japanese law of arrangements and line. The room was decorated with several arrangements that Mrs. Andrews had made to illustrate her talk.

Miss Dorothy Erwin was guest of honor, and she assisted Mrs. Andrews in making a lovely corsage to illustrate the American interpretation of flower arrangement.

Following the interesting and highly enjoyed program, the club held a short business meeting. President Carolyn Aydelott dismissed the meeting.

Columbian Club News

The Sub-Junior Columbian Club met in the home of Linda Johnson on Wednesday, October 7.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Baylor Weathered, who was introduced by Sue Sanders. She gave an interesting talk on teen-agers in England. Following the talk, delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Linda Johnson and Dorothy Wehba.

Sports Spots

There they go again! Those CHS Wildcats really acted like Wildcats Friday night. They practically mauled Archer City by a 49 to 12 score. Wesley C. and Jim H. were responsible for most of the scores, but of course they had the whole-hearted and much-needed support of about nine other guys. The new gold jerseys certainly made the boys shine on the field Friday night. They really looked good! Congratulations, boys! Keep up the good work.

Senior of the Week

If you were to sneak up on our featured senior, chances are that he would be either hunting or working with wood. If you passed by at meal time, you might find him with a big platter of fried chicken because that is his favorite food. Later, he might be wearing a shirt of his favorite color, blue, and he would probably be watching a basketball game. If it were in time for studying, you would possibly find him typing or studying English IV, his easiest and hardest subjects, respectively.

He thinks that President Eisenhower is the most important person in the world, because the fate of the country depends, to a certain extent, upon his actions.

Our senior has been a member of FFA in CHS. With dark brown eyes, brown hair, and a 6' 2" stature, our featured senior is no other than Joe Coufal from Thalia.

After he graduates, Joe wishes to attend Texas Tech, and later, he would like to farm.

Whatever you do, Joe, we would like to wish you a lot of success in the future.

Freshmen Party

Thirty-six freshmen and their guests really had a good time on their hayride last Tuesday. Each freshman brought a sack lunch for him and his guests. We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Hesse for taking time out of their busy schedule to take us, and also we want to thank John Rader for the use of his truck.

F. H. A. News

Each girl in the FHA honored her family with a basket supper on Thursday, October 8, at 6:30 p. m. Following a delicious meal, the fathers and daughters participated in a basketball game in the CHS gym. It is always a pleasure to share with our families, and we would especially like to thank our fathers who so gracefully participated in the activities.

News and Nonsense

Like Hi Cats! Just bumping around finding all the latest gossip!

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner of Health.

In all nature there is an elementary truism: The mother always protects her young. The truism applies fourfold in human civilization.
 In our complex society there are so many things for parents to do to protect their young that they are apt to let certain aspects of child protection slide.
 One of these is seeing that their children have the entire battery of protective inoculations against polio.
 This is especially important for small children—the pre-schooler.
 Last year there were 1,618 cases of paralytic polio up to the middle of September. This year, by September 19, there were 3,407 cases in the United States.
 The largest percentage of victims were under five years of age.
 In Texas there have already been 257 cases of paralytic polio, a slight rise over last year.
 The overwhelming majority of paralytic polio victims have been persons who have not completed the entire series of three shots.
 Immunization programs are in effect in many schools, so that large numbers of school children have been polio-protected.
 However, that still leaves huge numbers of adults and small children unprotected.
 Parents have a responsibility to themselves to start and finish the series of three Salk shots.
 More important, we need to protect our children—the pre-schoolers.
 Many areas of Texas have active polio immunization programs in operation. It would be wise to take advantage of such a program, if present in your community.
 Whether or not such a program exists in your area, you should have your whole family polio-protected.
 Also, if you have already completed your series of three shots, you may obtain added protection by getting a booster shot.
 Consult your physician about it soon. (This is a weekly feature of the Division of Public Health Education, Texas State Department of Health.)

Wildlife Show Begins Tour of Texas Towns

The Wildlife Exhibit of the Game and Fish Commission is on the road again this year with shows scheduled at fairs and other county-wide activities.
 This Wildlife Exhibit, under the supervision of Harley Berg, has been taking the story of wildlife to the various counties in Texas for the past 10 years.
 It is made available through requests of the local chamber of commerce or other civic organizations, where the public can view Texas wildlife. The exhibit includes the major animals of Texas, such as deer, antelope, lion, and javelina. It also has birds, including various types of ducks, turkey, quail and doves. The fish aquaria contain assortments of freshwater fish found in Texas lakes and streams.
 Towns needing this wildlife exhibit for public use should contact the director of information and education, Game and Fish Commission, Austin.

Margaret H. D. Club

Eight members answered roll call when the Margaret Home Demonstration Club met Friday, Oct. 8, at the community house.
 As the opening exercise, Mrs. Johnny Wright read the club collect and Mrs. Verda Bell read "Growing Up." Mrs. Hugh Shultz, president, gave a report from the council and presided over the business meeting at which time officers for another year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. C. F. Bradford; vice president, Mrs. Johnny Wright; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Bob Thomas; reporter, Mrs. W. F. Bradford; council delegates, Mrs. S. Moore and Mrs. Oscar Davis.
 Refreshments of cookies and cakes were served to those present.

No Great Things Can Be Accomplished with Small Men

John Stuart Mill, the great 19th century English philosopher and economist, wrote: "The worth of the state in the long run, is the worth of the individuals composing it; and... a state which dwarfs its men, in order that they may be more docile instruments in its hands even for beneficial purposes—will find that with small men no great things can be accomplished."
