Caution Urged in Thanksgiving Week End Travel

Thanksgiving Day week end will be marked by the greatest highway travel upsurge since last Labor Day week end, J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, predicted last Tuesday.

"By auto, bus, train and plane, thousands of Texans will be drawn by the magnetic power of this holiday to get 'back home' with relatives and friends who mean the most in their lives," he declared.

"No one figures he will become one of the holiday week end travel fatalities," the safety expert warned. "Somehow, accidents — especially those which bring death — always are events that occur to other people."

Musick pointed out that many cars on the road this week end will be carrying full passenger loads. Family automobiles will be carrying father, mother and the children — bound for a visit with grandparents. College students will be sharing rides back to the home town, many of them for the first time since they enrolled in school back in September.

"The U. S. Bureau of Public Health, the American Medical Association, the National Safety Council and other groups, who believe in reducing highway deaths and injuries in spite of seemingly inevitable accidents, are campaigning to get more people to install safety belts in cars," Musick said.

"A good proportion of fatalities in our traffic accidents today arise out of one-car tragedies in which victims are thrown from vehicles which have gotten out of control," he added. "Seat belts are being used increasingly by organizations operating fleets of cars, because their worth has been proved in preventing or minimizing injury in serious accidents. Although a majority of the public has been obviously reluctant to secure and use these safety devices because of confusion as to their merits, those motorists who have sold them are sold on their value — not only as protection from lurching forward in case of sudden stop or accident, but as a means to more comfortable riding on long trips because fatigue is reduced. The imperious decision of the majority of the driving public remains to be seen."

Musick also urged that travelers making trips over the Thanksgiving week end "make certain their cars are in good condition, ready

Thanksgiving Service Held Monday Night

Rev. John M. Fitzgerald, pastor of the Texas Street Methodist Church in Vernon, brought an outstanding Thanksgiving message to the crowd assembled at the Assembly of God Church Monday night. It was the annual union Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Crowell Ministerial Alliance.

Kenneth Bingham, pastor of the host church, was in charge of the meeting and introduced the various ministers of the town, and the special numbers: a quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. Allison Denton and their two children, Marolyn and David. They were accompanied by another of the Dentons' daughter, Carolyn. Rev. Glenn Willson, Baptist pastor, and Earl Hesse sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Bingham, who also played for the group singing. Mr. Hesse led the singing of the congregation.

Although they regretted to leave Thalia and their long-time friends and neighbors in that community, they are happy to be living in their home in Crowell which they have owned for several years.

Admitted to Hospital

William Dennis Garrett, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Garrett of Crowell, was admitted on Friday, November 20, to the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children in Dallas.

Isn't it peculiar that middle age always starts a few years earlier for the other fellow?

The Crowell High School football team, champion of District 11A, defeated Keller, champion of 12A, for the second consecutive year and earned the Wildcats the right to play for the regional championship toward the State crown. The game was played at Iowa Park last Friday night before a crowd of about 2,000 people. The score was 40 to 6, with Keller scoring its lone touchdown in the fourth quarter.

Game at a glance:

Crowell		Keller
20	First downs	11
303	Yds. gained rushing	185
35	Yds. gained passing	17
8-3	Passes completed	4-2
2	Passes intercepted	0
1	for 35 yds. Punts 3 for 30 yds.
2	Fumbles lost	2
5	for 45 Penalties	4 for 30

Jim Henry, all-district fullback, led in Crowell's scoring with four TDs. Left half Wesley Cummings scored 10 points for Crowell with one touchdown and two extra point carries. Quarterback Ivan Cates threw a 21-yard pass to George Moss late in the game for Crowell's sixth touchdown of the evening. Henry scored his first TD in an odd manner as he drove in from his defensive right end position to intercept a Keller lateral and score from five yards out. His other scores came as follows: runs of 13 yards and four yards in the second quarter, and a one-yard thrust in the third quarter. Cummings scored the second touchdown of the game on a 12-yard run in the second quarter. He drove the extra points over after Crowell's first and fourth TDs. Cates threw to Moss, right end, for Crowell's last score late in the game.

The Keller Indians drove 57 yards in the fourth quarter for their only score of the evening. Larry Dunlap, Keller's outstanding left halfback, drove the touchdown over from the one.

To mention stars for Crowell in this contest, one would have to mention the entire line-up as the Wildcats did their best blocking and tackling of the season to take the lopsided victory. Boys who saw the most service for Crowell were Tom Crowell, center; Joe Barry and Taylor Johnson, guards; Gary Carpenter, Duane Nichols and Bobby Powers, tackles; Bill Graves and George Moss, ends; and Ivan Cates, Jim Henry, Wesley Cummings, Guy Todd and Don Welch, backs.

Larry Dunlap and 222-pound Tim Hightower stood out in Keller's backfield. However, Keller's line was no match for Crowell's strong forward wall.

This was Crowell's eleventh consecutive victory for the season and advanced the Wildcats to the regional play-off game for the second consecutive year. The opposition will be Albany, winner over Mason for the bi-district championship of 9A and 10A.

Hunters Urged to Save Bands Found on Quail

Quail hunters are urged again this year to send in bands when found on birds they kill. W. J. Cutbirth, assistant executive secretary of the Game and Fish Commission says. Many birds were released throughout the State this year from the State Game Farm near Tyler. All these birds have been banded.

The department is particularly anxious to get bands from any Coturnix quail killed by hunters. In this way it will be able to trace the movement of the birds.

Despite unseasonable weather, conditions still remain very good for quail hunting with the opening of the general season Dec. 1, the secretary said.

He also announced that breeding stock of native bobwhite quail will be available for game breeders from the Tyler farm after Jan. 1. They will be available at $3 per pair. Applications should be sent to the Game Commission in Austin.

Lions Club Meeting

Twenty-six Lions were present for the regular Lions Club meeting Tuesday night. Plans were completed for the Christmas party which will be a family affair next Tuesday evening in the Down Town Bible Class room. The Gambleville Home Demonstration Club will cater the meal.

A film, "Refining Oil for Energy," was shown as the program. Following the Christmas party next Tuesday, the program on Dec. 8 will be presented by C. L. Boynton, district game warden of Quana.

SECOND ANNUAL REUNION OF CHS EX-STUDENTS WILL BE HELD AT CAFETERIA CHRISTMAS DAY

One of the largest get-togethers of Crowell High School ex-students in history is expected on Christmas Day when the second annual CHS reunion is held. Plans call for the gathering to be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m. Friday afternoon, December 25, at the Crowell school cafeteria.

Setting of the time and place for the reunion were made at a meeting of a number of interested persons at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Speer last Friday morning. Dick Todd, president of the ex-student organization, presided at the planning session.

Over 150 attended the get-together last year, and the committee is hoping for a larger crowd this year. They are especially urging the graduates of recent years to attend and visit with their ex-classmates.

As was the case last year, the oldest and youngest graduates will be honored, and the person who travels the farthest to attend, will be recognized.

Mike Bird, Marion Crowell and Leon Speer were appointed as a committee to furnish coffee for the guests, and Mrs. Bert Ekern will be in charge of furnishing cookies. Mrs. Leon Speer will again register the guests.

New officers will also be elected at the meeting.

Christmas Day was chosen as an appropriate time for the reunion due to the fact that many of the ex-students who live away from Crowell, will be here Christmas visiting relatives, and a large number of ex-students will be here than at any other time of the year.

Officers who have served during the past year are: Dick Todd, president; Mike Bird, vice president and publicity chairman; Leon Speer, secretary; Marion Crowell and Mrs. F. A. Davis, historians; Goodloe Meason and Bill Klepper, reporters.

Burning the Midnight Oil

You have all heard the college kids talk about the long hours they have to spend studying. You have a few high school friends that devote much of their time in school lessons, too. All of this learning routine may seem silly to you, but there is a reason behind it.

Why study? Why exert any real

RADIO REPAIR

effort to learn? Here's why—"Why study" is a question most of us ask ourselves at one time or another. Not many people like to study, and with all the activities at school, many of us don't have much time to study. Some just don't care whether they get lessons.

We should try to study to get an education because in this age of machines you nearly have to have an education. When you apply for a job, there will probably be many others applying for the same job. The person who has the best education will usually get the job, and to get an education you will have to study.—Bill Smith.

Have you ever asked yourself, "Why do I study?" Or maybe you need to ask yourself, "Why don't I study?" For most of us, the reason for not studying is just plain laziness. An hour spent watching television, watching a football game, or just loafing is, of course, much more enjoyable than an hour spent in studying math, science, or English.

There are, perhaps, students who expect to, or do, get through high school by depending on the help of other students. But when they get out of high school and have to face the cruel world, those smart persons, who once were helpful and studied hard, are no longer there to "drag" others along.

Teachers have a tremendous burden. We students make up the biggest part of that burden. If we expect to do no studying out of class and plan to learn only the small amount of knowledge that can sink into our heads while we daydream through an hour-long class each day, we'll find that later on in life, this mad, cruel world will get madder and crueller each day. A high school education is important! An education doesn't mean just getting a diploma in order to have one to show to an employer when trying to get a job.

If we have gotten that diploma by "peeping" over the other fellow's shoulder while taking exams and by doing nothing by ourselves, more than likely, we will be fired as fast as we were hired.

When the last bell rings at the end of a school day, some plunge through the front door with books piled high under their chins. When they reach home, they quickly stick them into a corner, or somewhere to get them out of their sight, and do their chores which perhaps should have been done long ago. The next morning as they are dashing through the front door, eager to get to school (on time for once, they hope) they remember those books that were "so heavy" that they were afraid that they would sprain their backs. Carrying the books back and forth doesn't help them to learn anything. If students think they're fooling the teachers by taking some books home, they're wrong. Teachers don't have to give tests to find out what students know and what they don't know, and the only ones they're fooling are themselves; yes, fooling themselves out of an education that they may someday wish they had. If you wish to take this personally it may be stated: the thing to do is to study and observe what you study for yourself.

League's Golden Anniversary

The week of December 6-12 has been designated by Governor Price Daniel as University Interscholastic League Week in Texas.

The league was founded in Abilene in December, 1910. It sponsors a school-wide competition for students in the fields of debate, music, number sense, declamation, poetry reading, original oration, extemporaneous speaking, one-act play, ready writing, journalism, spelling, typewriting, short hand, slide rule, story telling, picture memory, baseball, tennis, basketball, golf, volley ball, track and field and football.

This school year marks the golden anniversary of this organization, and the celebration will be culminated at the Fiftieth Annual State Meet in Austin in May.

Gov. Daniel has called upon the teachers and students in the Texas public schools to pay tribute to this valuable and successful organization and the work which they have done.

Senior of the Week

Your old friend, Madge Itchin, is back again. I've been on a tour of gay Patee, and while I was there, I met a very interesting character named Monsieur Duane "Slim" Nichols who graduated in 1960 from Crowell High School, Crowell, Texas. As I was hanging around CHS back then, let me tell you a few interesting facts about him.

Slim was a member of the Wildcat football team which had a very good record during his senior year. He also was a member of the baseball team his freshman year. Slim was a member of FFA and served as sentinel and as treasurer for that organization. During his senior year, he was also elected friendliest boy.

Back in "the good old days," his favorite subject was V. A., and his hardest Algebra II. Among his other favorites were the color, green; the sport, football; songs; steak, gravy, and french fried potatoes; and James Stewart and Kim Novak. Football was also his pet peeve. During his spare moments, he enjoyed hunting, fishing and eating.

Slim, who is 18 years old, and has brown eyes and black hair, told me about his after-graduation plans. They include attending West Texas State College at Canyon.

Seriously, Slim, we all want to wish you the best of everything in the future.

Band News and Views

Last Friday night, the CHS band put on a wonderful show which revealed the typical life of the average band student. The performance featured the major-ettes who did several smart dance and twirling ensembles. This was one of the most enjoyable performances given by the band. Mr. Hesse has planned another special show for the game with Albany. So—see you then.

Need a Book Report?

If you are having trouble selecting your book for your next English report, why not try "Karen" by Marie Killilea? It is the true story of little Marie Killilea, as told by her mother, and it tells of her difficulties in life because she was handicapped. She was above average mentally, but handicapped in other ways. Mrs. Killilea not only brings out facts about their family life, but also about modern medicine, and the rapid growth of a great national organization, the United Cerebral Palsy Association.

Karen brings out a richer understanding of mutual love and inter-dependence of the family unit; also, it brings out the great fight Karen made, how she won in some ways and how she lost in others.

To have a better non-fiction book report, next time, why not try "Karen"? We guarantee it will win your heart.

For What Are You Thankful?

On this Thanksgiving day, 1959, the students of CHS said they were thankful for these things:

Judy Johnson: Everything.
 Jo Carol Cooper: That Mrs. Todd doesn't assign any more geometry.

Don Welch: Crowell - Quannah buddies.
 Larry Ferguson: That I wasn't born sooner.

Barbara Goodwin: That I have parents as understanding and reasonable as they are.

Roy Martin Shultz: That I'll get to go deer hunting (I hope).

Louis Kajs: That we'll get out of school.

George Moss: For girls.
 Helen Vessel: That I'm passing English.

Shirley Davenport: That I'm living in Crowell.

Jeanette Moody: For the country in which we live, for the freedom to worship.

Karen Wilson: My family.
 Kay Taylor: My family.

Pod Johnson: A little bit of everything.

Judy Borchardt: That Monday only comes once a week!

Styles of Homemaking II

Last week I wrote about what the girls of Homemaking III had made. Well, Homemaking II has been sewing up an equally big storm and quite a few pretty outfits are the results.

Gaye Ramsey made a brown and green wool plaid skirt and weskit. It features brown leather buttons.

Carolee Oliphant turned her dark green and rose print material into a shirt-waist. It's trimmed with rose colored buttons.

Vicky Farrar made a two-piece rust and brown dress with a belt to match.

Earlyn Hammonds made a darling dress. It is red wool and has long sleeves and a crushed belt. A brown and yellow wool plaid skirt with a matching weskit was Jo Long's project.

Bonnie Little's jumper was of black corduroy and featured large pear-shaped buttons; Dorothy Denton's jumper was red corduroy with a matching short jacket.

Wilma Denton also made a jumper. Her's is black corduroy, too, and has pleats.

Ina Statser's sheath made an olive green print with yellow corduroy print skirt with a matching top.

Sandra Hollenbaugh made a turquoise linen straight skirt and a top to match.

Marcia Carroll really made her machine fly, and she wound up with a pretty blue checked wool skirt. Her's also has a matching top.

Cynthia Whitley's outfit is of a red striped print, and Kay Ann Taylor's is a blue print dress.

Margaret Faste made an olive green shirt waist dress that has covered buttons to match and a monogram on the pocket.

the bi-district championship. Iowa Park was the scene of the ball game, and the supporters for both sides packed the stadium. That Wildcat line couldn't be stopped or penetrated, or so it seemed. Jim Henry snatched a Keller hand-off in the first quarter and made his way across the line to start Crowell's scoring streak. Keller marched back the second half with determination and they fought their way down the field for a touchdown, but they were too late to top Crowell's winning score.

The mighty Wildcats will meet Albany, who defeated Mason last week, tomorrow night for a regional play-off. Let's back our champs all the way.

The Sub-Junior Adelpian Club met at the Adelpian Club house on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 18.

Joe Burkett and Charles Carroll were guests. They presented a film on safety entitled "The Case of Officer Hallibrand." As leader, Margie Rasberry introduced the guests and the interesting educational film. Cecelia Drabek closed the program with a federation report.

The hostess, Helen Vessel, served an appetizing refreshment plate to the members and guests. Following the refreshments and

He was undersized, meek, diffident, subdued, and he had applied for a job as night watchman.

"Yes," said the boss, dubiously, "but the fact is we want someone who is restless and uneasy, especially at night—someone who is always listening, thinking there are bad characters around. We want a large, aggressive, intrepid and dangerous person, bad tempered and revengeful. In short, the kind of person who, when aroused, is a fiend."

In the 1959 fiscal year, his department received more than 70,000 complaints, mostly from parents, as against 50,000 a year earlier. He says that tighter laws are needed.

Gasoline Demand Expected to Rise in 1960

According to National Petroleum News, gasoline demand is expected to rise again in 1960. But with the forecast that two out of every seven cars will be the smaller ones, oil marketers will have to wait to see how big the gain will be.

Editor Max Ascoli of the Reporter says of Khrushchev: "The man from Moscow is the master, not the representative, of the peoples under his rule. He rules over their flesh, and relishes the prospect that in the near future they may acquire a layer of soothing, healthy fat. More benevolent than his predecessor, he seems to have found out that moral cruelty is just as effective as physical cruelty in keeping people well behaved. He never stops talking about peaceful competition. But what do the Russians know about competition? In the Communist world it is outlawed, and every decision is made by the all-planning, all-powerful apparatus of the party-state."

FORTY FOARD RANCHERS CONSTRUCT PONDS IN '59

More than forty ranchers, co-operators in the Foard County portion of the Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District, have constructed farm ponds this year as a part of their conservation plans, according to James Herring of the Crowell SCS office.

Carroll Brothers of Crowell, co-operators with the district since 1951, completed a pond in September of this year. This pond was a part of their conservation plan to bring about the desired protection of the vegetative cover through proper distribution of grazing, Mr. Herring explained.

"If you have ever built a farm pond, you know that many technical problems come up," said Mr. Herring. The site for the pond must be selected carefully, so that construction will be simple and the underlying soil will hold water, he continued.

Mr. Herring offered the following advice: "You need accurate information about the watershed that drains into a pond. This watershed may or may not have adequate grass cover which will prevent excessive silting. You should know how much runoff to expect from the watershed. This will depend mainly on its size, the slope of the land, the kind of cover, and how fast water will go into the soil. If there isn't enough runoff from a watershed, it may never fill up. A pond may fail because the spillway and dam were not designed for the amount of runoff.

"These are some of the technical problems you may need help on. If you need technical help in installing a conservation practice on your ranch, such as a farm pond, all you need do is contact your district supervisor and tell him what you'd like. He will ask you to sign a 'conservation agreement.' This is simply a statement of your intention to use your land within its capabilities. It is not a contract, as you'll see when you read it. By signing this agreement, you'll become a district co-operator and will be able to obtain technical assistance as soon as possible. Then a Soil Conservation Service technician will give you the necessary assistance right out on your ranch. This service will not cost you anything.

"After you are started, the district will help you until you have worked out a complete plan for your ranch. Most ranchers, as do Carroll Brothers, believe this method of operating their entire ranch under a well-thought-out, systematic conservation plan with the assistance from their district is the best way to solve technical problems that may come up in installing conservation practices such as farm ponds," Mr. Herring concluded.

Texas Will Have Nearly Half of 1960 Cotton Acreage

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has proclaimed a national marketing quota of 13,133,000 bales (standard bales of 500 pounds gross weight) and a national acreage allotment of 16 million acres for the 1960 upland cotton crop.

Texas' share will be 6,761,512 acres with an additional 55,965 acres for the national reserve. The secretary also announced his determination that alternate-choice (B)—farm allotments for the 1960 upland cotton crop will be 40 per cent larger than the "regular" Choice (A) allotments for the same farms.

An acreage allotment of 22,243 acres will be in effect for the extra long staple cotton grown in Texas in 1960. The national marketing quota will be 66,590 bales with a 64,776 acre allotment.

December 15 was set as the date for a growers' referendum on marketing quotas for both upland and extra long staple cotton. At least two-thirds of the farmers voting in the referendum must approve the quotas if they are to remain in effect.

If the quotas are approved, Choice (A) will include "regular" farm allotments with price support at not less than 75 per cent of parity available to growers who comply with their regular allotments. Choice (B) includes 40 per cent large farm allotments and price support to growers who comply with their Choice (B) allotments at 15 per cent of parity less than under Choice (A). Individual farm allotments under both Choice (A) and Choice (B) will be made available to producers prior to the referendum.

Benson added that if marketing quotas are not approved for the upland cotton crop, only the "regular" Choice (A) allotment program will be in effect and price support will be available to co-operators at 50 per cent of parity, as provided by law. If quotas are turned down by extra long staple producers, support to eligible growers will drop to 50 per cent of parity.

Exasperated

Little Betsy, age three, seemed to her parents to be lacking in the powers of observation normal for one her age so a psychologist was called in.

"How many ears has a cat?" she was asked.

"Two."

"Fine, how many feet?"

"Four."

"Well, well, and how many tails?"

Exasperated by this time, Betsy squeaked out: "My doodness, ain't you never seed a tat?"

Columbian Club Observes Golden Anniversary with Tea Last Thursday

Culminating fifty years of federated club work, the Columbian Club of Crowell observed its birthday with a Golden Anniversary Tea on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 19, at the Down Town Bible class room. Fall leaves, green plants, chrysanthemums and winter bouquets decorated the room. Mrs. D. R. Magee presided at the registry table, on which was a lovely plant of gold chrysanthemums sent to the club by Miss Mary Sam Crews and Mrs. Lee Crews in honor of the occasion.

Opening the program, Mrs. M. N. Kenner led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance. Quoting from the late A. A. Molne's book, "Now We Are Six," Mrs. Grady Halbert, current president of the Columbian Club, added a few original lines to the effect that, while feeling pretty nifty to have reached the age of fifty, the club was very much alive and looking forward to being seventy-five. Her greeting to the guests was in the form of a thank-you note saying that their presence at the birthday party was the very nicest present they could have given.

Sam Crews, who spoke movingly of her many happy years and memories in the club. Mrs. Crews presented a corsage to Mrs. N. J. Roberts, a forty-eight year member and unofficial historian for not only the Columbian Club, but for all of Foard County and parts of Wilbarger and Hardeman, as well. Mrs. Roberts told several amusing accounts of the early accomplishments, as well as many of the serious courses of study undertaken by the clubwomen.

Mrs. John S. Ray introduced the speaker, Mrs. A. T. Cocanougher of Lubbock, Seventh District president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Cocanougher's speech emphasized the important role women play in today's world. Among other power potentials, women possess 60 per cent of the voting strength of the nation, said Mrs. Cocanougher. It's therefore their solemn obligation to be well informed before casting their votes.

She challenged the listeners with such questions as "How much of your selfishness of time are you willing to sacrifice in order to meet more capably the responsibilities accompanying your present privileges? How much integrity are you willing to develop?" Mrs. Cocanougher concluded by congratulating the members of the Columbian Club for their past achievements and urged them to new and higher future undertakings. She then presented to Mrs. Halbert, in the name of Miss Chloe Gifford, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Washington, D. C., a framed certificate of honor for fifty years of federated club work, and received in turn a lovely cut glass bowl, a gift of appreciation from the club, from Mrs. John S. Ray.

Mrs. Halbert recognized the members of the Adelpian Club, the Home Demonstration Clubs from Riverside and Foard City, and the Sub-Junior Columbian Club with its sponsor, Mrs. Kenneth Halbert. Cards from ex-Columbians from throughout Texas were acknowledged as well as the guest traveling the greatest distance to attend the celebration. This was Mrs. Van Browning, a past president, who came from Stephenville.

The guests were served from a refreshment table resplendent with a centerpiece of graduated gold chrysanthemums in a silver bowl of gleaming silver services at each end and a beautiful birthday cake flanked by gold ribbon streamers bearing the words, "Golden Anniversary." Mrs. Fred Youree and Mrs. Gerald Knox presided over the tea and coffee services. The Sub-Junior girls assisting in the serving were Misses Linda Johnson, Jo Carol Cooper, Marcia Carroll, Kay Johnson and Dorothy Wehba. Miss Jo Frances Long provided the music for the refreshment hour.

Mrs. Youree entertained Mrs. Cocanougher, the program committee and Mrs. Halbert with a delightful luncheon Thursday at noon. Those attending were the guest of honor, the club president, and Mrs. N. J. Roberts and Mrs. John S. Ray.

"Fact Finding" Does Not Unsettlingly Indicate "Right" Settlement of Wage Dispute

Henry Hazlitt writes in Newsweek "Contrary to a widely held opinion, 'fact-finding' does not unerringly indicate what the 'right' settlement of a wage dispute should be. There is no scientific formula by which we can determine a 'correct' price or a 'just' wage. In a free economy, prices and wages are determined by supply and demand. Competition and comparative incentives determine particular wages, prices, and cost-price relationships. It is failure to recognize this that brings political pressures for compulsory arbitration. This would lead directly into government wage-and-price fixing, throw every wage and price into politics, and finally produce the suffocating controls of a totalitarian economy.

A cowboy who can keep in balance upon and with a horse, and who can ride long distances without retightening the cinches or galling the horse's back, is known as a "light rider."
