Predators Comprise Necessary Part of Nature's Scheme

To the trained biologist, predators are necessary parts of the complicated web of life. To him, their complete removal would be disastrous. This is the opinion of Dr. W. B. Davis as written in his article, "Ally Without Acclaim," in a recent issue of Texas Game and Fish magazine.

Dr. Davis takes a definite stand for predators in his article. He describes them from a biologist's point of view but at the same time shows an understanding of the average person's definition, "A predator is a meat eating animal."

In defending his theory that there is a definite need for predators and that their flesh-eating habit is very beneficial in many instances, the Texas A&M professor says, "Predators fill a vital role in the welfare of wildlife populations by within numerical bounds. The law of nature demands death to sustain life."

He suggests hunting predators for sport with proper licenses to control their populations. Throughout the article, Dr. Davis presents reasons for re-evaluating the status of predators.

The predator is only one of the many subjects discussed in the special 48 page May issue. Normally the magazine is a 32 page publication. However, the May issue has been expanded to hold 28 articles by such authorities.

Following several days of dry weather, harvesting of the 1959 wheat crop in Foard County got underway again Monday, and Tuesday afternoon, most of the combines had left town for the wheat fields and the elevators of the county began to become fairly busy.

Wheat fields in the Thalia community were dry enough for harvest to begin Monday afternoon. Light showers last week and very heavy dews in the morning had stopped the harvest for several days after it got off to a fast start last week.

Up to Wednesday morning, the five elevators in the county had received approximately 325,000 bushels of wheat.

It is estimated that the harvest is more than half completed.

A light shower which fell about 4 a. m. Wednesday stopped the harvest again. Wheat harvest this year is the latest experienced in this county in many years.

Wheat Harvest Resumed After Rain Last Week

What is it we've inherited that we'll defend with our lives?

Publisher Tom Anderson of Farm and Ranch magazine writes: "What is this thing we've inherited which we'll defend with our lives? If it's bricks and mortar, factories, cars, houses, gadgets, and places of pleasure—if that's all we're defending, we'll lose them, and all else. What are we defending against the Communists? We are defending the freedom and the dignity of the individual, the right to be masters of ourselves and of our government; and to be servants only of our God. Defend! We must not only defend. We must get on the offensive, and take these ideas, these freedoms, and these blessings to the world. 'Containment' of Communism is only a beginning, not an end."

Foard County Little League News

by Marion Crowell, President

Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey advertised their circus as the "greatest show on earth." Compared to the show we saw here opening night at Little League Field, the big time circus operators were a bunch of pikers. With the most interesting performers in the world—young boys—we had a "sixty million dollar spectacular," and, if you don't believe it, just ask any of the parents (or grandparents)!

Jimmie Stewart, president of the Little League at Iowa Park, said our boys looked unusually large for twelve year olds. Actually, although I didn't realize it at the time, we only had 12 kids in the twelve-year category last Friday night.

Mike Gamble (Sim V. Gamble's son), out of the twelve put-outs credited to his team, struck out eleven to sack up eleven putouts for himself. He also got two hits.

Everyone hoped for an "over-the-fence" home run in our opening games. Ronnie Clifton obliged in a hurry in the twilight game. His first Little League hit was a home run, over the right field wall, with a runner on base, and it tied up the ball game!

Mike Leija won the hearts of the crowd as he climaxed his night's performance with an inside-the-park home run after playing an outstanding, ever-alert, defensive game. Mike is the great grandson of Merican John, the old guy who's been here around a hundred years.

Casey Stengel ought to sue managers Marcus Mills and Bud Myers. They put the "kiss of death" on the New York Yankees.

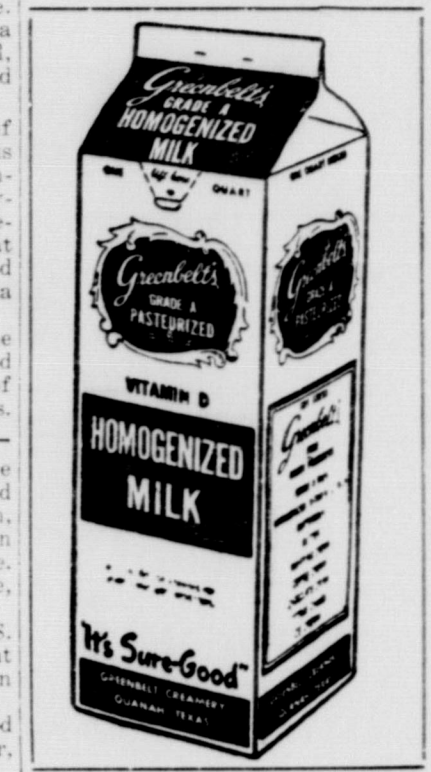

Two weeks from the time they chose the name, "Yankees," for their club, the New Yorkers hit the cellar. Marcus and Bud's Yankees are doing quite all right, however, in our local league.

You'll hafta hand it to the field maintenance committee, W. F. Staster, T. R. Cates and Allen Taylor. Apparently doomed to playing on a muddy field, the game was run off on a respectable field due to the efforts of this alert trio. They hauled loads and loads of sand and gravel and put in hours and hours of labor to insure us a decent opening night.

Measure Introduced to Aid Oil Development

Because Alaska "has the beginnings, but only the bare beginnings" of an oil industry, legislation is needed to increase the amount of public land acreage which may be held under lease or option, according to Senator Ernest Gruening. He, in company with Senator Bartlett, have introduced a bill to raise the limitation from a total of 300,000 acres to 1 million.

Sometimes one wonders if it isn't easier to count his friends than it is to count on them.

day and Thursday nights were his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Stewart of Austin, where he has just completed an electrical engineering course. They were en route to Roanoke, Va.

Ned Davenport from the U. S. Navy at Virginia Beach, Va., spent Monday night with David Jackson here.

Cap Morris of Clarendon visited his daughter, Mrs. Duane Naylor, and family last week.

Miss Patsy McRae Becomes Bride of Louis Rettig May 29

The wedding of Miss Patsy Katherine McRae and Louis Wayne Rettig was solemnized on Friday evening, May 29, at 8 p. m. in the First Baptist Church of Thalia with Rev. W. B. Fitzgerald performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Foy McRae of Thalia, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Alynne Rettig of Crowell and M. L. Rettig of Fort Worth.

The bride wore a waltz-length princess style dress of white satin featuring a V-neckline and a full, flowing skirt. She wore a tiny white hat. Her jewelry was of the groom; and she carried out the tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue, and a six penny in her shoe. She carried a bridal bouquet of white carnations with white satin streamers atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Marion Gentry of Crowell, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. Harvey Smith. Both were attired in blue dresses and wore white accessories. Their corsages were of pink carnations.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Dale Rettig. Harvey Smith served as an attendant.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Attending were the parents of the bride and groom, the wedding attendants, and close relatives.

When the couple left for a short honeymoon trip, the bride wore a blue dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The bride is a 1959 graduate of Crowell High School where she was a member of the F. H. A. and the Wildcat staff.

The groom is a 1958 graduate of Crowell High School where he was a member of the basketball, football and track teams.

The couple are making their home on a farm southeast of Crowell.

In the News . . . 30 YEARS AGO

News items below were taken from the issue of the News of Friday, June 14, 1929:

The first big oil producer for Foard County is the Shell Petroleum Corporation's Tarver No. 1, one mile north of Thalia and 11 miles east of Crowell, which is now producing 500 barrels of oil daily. The oil sand was topped in the test last Thursday afternoon at a depth of 2,010 feet.

Six hundred and forty acres of cotton in one single block and farmed by one man, Henry Johnson, is no doubt the largest cotton tract in Foard County. The large tract is located on the Watkins farm south of town and cultivation is now taking place at the rate of about one hundred acres per day. Five 2-row cultivators with four mules to each cultivator are being operated in the field. When one round is completed five acres have been cultivated.

STATE CAPITAL
Highlights AND Sidelights
by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—First called session of the 5th Legislature will end automatically June 16.

It would be hard to find anyone around the Capitol who would bet on the state's money problems being wrapped up by that date.

Sensors began their work on the tax bills sent them by the House with an air of deliberate calm. They even waited 48 hours before beginning hearings to give everybody time to ready his presentation. (This is the "tag" rule whereby if one senator "tags" a bill, it cannot be heard except with 48 hours notice.)

Main issue was a bill to raise new revenue for 1960-61 spending needs. Gov. Price Daniel appeared personally before the Senate State Affairs Committee in behalf of H. B. 7. This is the House-passed bill to tax natural gas, interstate corporation franchises, utilities, liquor, cigarettes, autos, etc.

Governor Daniel stoutly defended the bill on all counts, but said he would not "feel hurt" if the Senate wanted to make some changes.

Industry spokesmen and chamber of commerce representatives told the committee the bill would drive business away from Texas. "Our customers," said one company man, "will not pay a premium for a 'made in Texas' label."

Others complained that H. B. 7 not only would tax the same groups that have been hit before, but would hit some from several directions at once.

Governor Daniel's reply to those arguments is that business should bear a portion of the tax burden to keep from dumping it all "on the family budget," as in a general sales tax.

HARD GOING — Governor Daniel's abandoned property bill, killed during the regular session, made it back to the House floor, but only after a committee had attacked crippling amendments.

As introduced, the bill would have allowed the state to take over property or bank accounts unclaimed for seven years. Committee changed the waiting period to 15 years. This cut the estimated first-year take from $20,000,000 to $3,000,000.

This is one of the bills recommended by the governor to pay off the $65,000,000 deficit that accumulated during the 1958-59 biennium.

House Taxation Committee killed outright Rep. Jerry Sadler's proposal to levy a one per cent gross receipts tax on manufactured goods.

THUMBS DOWN ON THESE—Governor Daniel vetoed nine of the some 500 bills passed during the regular session.

Among these was the "de novo" bill which would have provided for an entirely new trial when decisions of state agencies were appealed to the courts. Governor Daniel said it would have disrupted oil and gas conservation procedures of the Texas Railroad Commission.

Also turned down was a bill to create a Fort Bend County water district. Governor Daniel said it was in conflict with statewide water planning. Rep. Jimmy Day of Brookshire, sponsor, made a critical speech on the House floor, contending the governor had signed a bill just like that one two years ago.

Another vetoed bill would have provided for repayment to persons who have paid fines or served sentences for crimes of which they were not guilty. Governor said the intent was good, but with no limitations in the bill, the taxpayers had no protection.

ONE SOLUTION — Many observers believe that much of the current legislative trouble — the slow start, delays, bickering between members and last-minute do or die legislation — would not happen if the office of Speaker of the House were an elective post.

Certainly this would eliminate the factions that exist in the Lower House.

Evidence of the desirability of such a plan is found in the office of the Lieutenant Governor, who performs identical functions in the Senate. Both officers have apartments in the Capitol Building, but only the Lieutenant Governor is elected by the people.

Selection of the House Speaker is made by the House members themselves. This delays the start of nearly every session. Furthermore it provokes many bitter battles, divides the House, and creates deep wounds that never heal. Also, much time is wasted during sessions by various groups campaigning for the Speakership for the session that still is two years away.

The real loser in the battle is the public and they have no choice in the matter, as things stand now.

Demands for making the post an elective one would have to come from the people, as there is considerable feeling among public officials against the idea of elective offices.

OF MOTES AND BEAMS — A resolution to add to the lobby expense reporting law brought on House debate as to who's holier than who.

Reps. Zeke Zbraneck of Daisetta and Don Kennard of Fort Worth proposed requiring lobbyists to report cost of transporting legislators. It was a jibe at several senators who recently flew to Tennessee in a gas company plane.

Rep. Jerry Sadler of Percilla reminded the House that House members had in previous sessions gone in droves on various lobby-arranged flights. He made the suggestion, of Biblical origin, that the House "get the beam out of its eye before we try to get the mote out of a brother's eye."

House voted 71-52 with Rep. R. H. Cory's (Victoria) suggestion of "not meddling in the Senate's affairs."

STUDENT FEES DEBATED—House members considered a bill to require students in state-supported colleges to pay an activity fee of up to $30 a semester.

Fee would cover such things as health services, parking privileges, tickets to athletic and cultural events, book rentals, subscription to campus publications, etc.

Students now pay about $12 less on a voluntary basis.

Rep. W. S. Healy Jr. of Pecos, sponsor, said all the presidents favored the bill would make an estimated $2,000,000 available for higher education.

Opponents declared it merely the direction of putting educational opportunity on the basis of ability to pay.

Shower at Thalia June 15 to Honor Mrs. Wright

A bridal shower honoring Mrs. John W. Wright Jr. will be held Friday afternoon, June 19, at 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. R. H. Cooper Jr. in Thalia.

More car than this Impala Sport Coupe is hard to find at any price.

the travel-lovin' Chevrolet

Nothing else but a dyed-in-the-wool sports car like the Corvette can take a turn with such solid assurance!

The only thing that may be hard to understand is how it can offer the ride it does, along with so many other luxury-car virtues, and still compete in the low-price field.

It's easy to see where Chevrolet gets its road sense. With big coil springs at every wheel, a firm, wider stance and all of its pounds distributed with painstaking care, Chevy's born with it.

We use the word compete only in the sense of price. For with a ride as special as Chevy's, real competitors are hard to come by. There's a world of difference between Chevrolet's coil springs at all four wheels and the leaf springs that most other cars still use. Take a Chevy down a snaky back road and you'll feel the difference in the sure way it holds through curves and shoots over rough spots with hardly a ripple.

This one's really made to travel and loves every minute of it.

Stop by your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's and sample Chevy's road sense!

About Your HEALTH

Last year 936 Texans under... 15 years were killed in accidents... Most met death on the highways... or at home. Last year 1142... Texans in all died in home acci... dents. That old saw about being... as "safe as in your own home"... just isn't based on fact.
National statistics show a little... more than half of non-fatal acci... dental injuries to children under... 15 occur in the home. Nearly... 5,500 children die each year as a... result of home accidents.
Just how safe is your home?... Especially—how safe is your home... for your children?
Even if it is fireproofed, moth... proofed, leakproofed, and rust... free—is it child-proofed?
Here are some suggestions for... helping your children avoid acci... dents in and around your home:
Always keep matches in metal... containers, out of reach from... small hands.
Be absolutely certain none of... your gas fixtures leak. Use metal... pipe connections, not flexible tub... ing which may fray and leak with... use.
Check all your electrical con... nections, wires and appliances for... frays, shorts, and bare wires. ... Either buy new or repair any... which look dangerous. Tape over... unused electrical outlets or plug... in the special appliances availab... le for that purpose.
Keep stairs free of all objects... to prevent tripping and falling. ... Train your child from the start... to put his toys away. It isn't... only safer, but much easier on a... busy mother.
While children are young, use... table mats rather than table clo... ths that hang over the table edge... A pot of hot coffee or bowl of soup... can easily be pulled down on him... self by a toddler.
Keep sewing baskets, scissors... and other constantly used hazard... ous articles on a shelf or in a... drawer that can't be reached by... children. This applies to all kitch... en utensils as well.
Turn handles of pans on the... stove away from the front of the... stove, so that your child can't... pull them over. Buy a stove whose... controls are out of reach of todd... lers. (A weekly feature of the... Division of Public Health Educa... tion, Texas State Department of... Health.)

THIS WEEK -In Washington

With Clinton Davidson
I flew between New York and Miami at 15,000 feet and watched a man who had had too much to drink toss a lighted match into a container for discarded drinking cups.
No sober person would have taken such a terrible risk. If the plane had caught fire and been destroyed no one would have known the cause.
The liquor on which the man became intoxicated was served him by the airline stewardess. He made himself so objectionable to the stewardess that she had left her post near the drinking fountain to get away from him.
House Speaker Sam Rayburn, who makes frequent airplane trips, has become so concerned that he has asked for action on bills before the House Interstate Commerce Committee to ban the serving of liquor on airplanes.
Apprehensive of Accident
"I am apprehensive," Mr. Rayburn said, "that the serving of liquor in excessive amounts to airplane passengers could cause a Hudson of Children.
