Afforded perfect support by his mates in the 8:30 p. m. game, Barry Berg allowed only six men to reach first base, but four of them scored, three on an over-centerfield-fence clout by Quannah catcher Jimmy Prader, as Quannah nosed out the local All Star eleven-twelve year olds by a 4-2 score. Crowell outhit Quannah 7 hits to 4, but six Crowell stars died on base. Mike Leija, with a double and a triple, led the Crowell hitters, and Larry Henry smashed out a pair of doubles and played his usual excellent game afield. Defensive work of Leija and Lynn Myers was sensational and was excellent all the way by the entire club.

In the Tuesday night game, Lynn Myers turned in a magnificent pitching performance to shut out the Ace Whitley All Stars from Quannah 4-0. This contest rocked along for four and a half innings without a run being scored. Base hits in the bottom of the fifth by Ronnie Clifton, Dan Mike Bird, Mike Leija and Barry Berg scored four runs for the locals. This means that more than half the families in America can afford to purchase it—for government figures show that the average American workman today purchases a $14,207 home and pays for it at the rate of $96 a month.

"The revised schedule of rates is designed," J. C. Randel, WTU district manager of Quanah, said "to provide:

"1. A new low rate for electric heating during winter months.
"2. Liberalization of the water heater rate.
"3. Reduction in the base of the present fuel clause and incorporation of the new lower fuel clause in all schedules with the exception of municipal water pumping, street lights and signal light rates.

"The last-named purpose is an effort by WTU to hedge against anticipated future increases in the cost of fuel which the company may incur in generating electricity and to avoid a possible rate increase," Mr. Randel said.

$7 Billion for Featherbedding

From National Review: "J. Handy Wright, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, told an industry group that union featherbedding has, in effect, stolen seven billion dollars from the rail carriers since World War II. Now, seven billion dollars is just about equal to the total outstanding common stock of the railroads, and about half their net capitalization. Since all the railroads taken together have averaged less than four hundred million dollars in dividends per year since the war, the unions have received more in featherbedding extras than the stockholders have managed to earn for taking truly hazardous risks. Talk about profit sharing, you name it and the railroad fireman, who is paid for not striking the no-fires on the Diesels, has got it. And how!"

News From the Congress

by Frank Ikard, 13th Dis.

The representation of Texas in the House of Representatives will be increased by two or possibly three members after the 1960 census. Proportionment of representation in the House among the fifty states will be determined on the basis of the census. The Constitution provides that seats in the House shall be apportioned among the states according to their respective numbers and that each state "shall have at least one representative." The thirteen original states were allotted sixty-five representatives in the Constitution. After the first census in 1790 the size of the House increased to 105 seats, and from time to time seats have been added as new states were admitted to the union. Through 1910 the size of the House was increased after every census except the one in 1840 when the membership was temporarily reduced; however, since 1910, the membership has remained fixed at 435. With the admission of Alaska last year, membership was increased temporarily to 456 in compliance with the Constitutional provision that each state must have at least one representative.

The number will rise to 437 with the admission of Hawaii this year. Under the present law, however, the size will revert to 435 seats after the 1960 census. The census is taken as of April 1, 1960. By December 1 of that year the Secretary of Commerce must transmit to the President the official population total of each state and showing the number of representatives for each state. The President then advises the Congress of the census figures and of apportionment resulting therefrom. This will be done in the first week of the next session of Congress. Then, unless Congress takes action to the contrary, within fifteen days the apportionment becomes effective, and the governor of each state is advised how many members each state will have in the House, and representatives will be elected to the new seats in the election. In addition to the states that Texas will make, several states will gain substantially. This is of population from the East North to the Southwest and West will gain substantially. The East North to the Southwest and West will gain substantially. The East North to the Southwest and West will gain substantially.

Agriculture Still Important

Viewed as a market for products and services, the importance of agriculture in the U. S. economy is relatively as great today as it was 20 years ago, despite a considerable decline in the number of farmers and the farm population, according to the National Industrial Conference Board. Farmers' purchases of goods and services have quadrupled from 1937-41 level, a gain approximately equal to the growth in national production.

Board County Little League News

weren't you proud of our kids their All Star games last Monday and Tuesday nights? Winning out of the three contests, our out-hit and out-fielded Quans in all three games, and the fact they lost could have been just about as easily as lost!

Monday night, Aug. 10. Post Eliminate Jimmy Prader.

der's home run and Crowell would have won by a 2-1 score. Usually a three-run homer "shakes up" a pitcher, but not Barry Berg. He struck out the next three batters in succession, didn't allow another man to reach first base! IF Jackie Brown's long drive to center field had been a few feet to either side, it would have been a base hit, and Dueaine Simmons would have scored, tying the ball game at 1-1 at the end of two innings.

As is customary, Quannah lost no time in trying out catcher Larry Henry's arm... that was a mistake... Larry promptly picked a runner off first base... a few facts that took out quite a bit of the sting of this defeat: we out-hit them 7-4... our kids walloped seven really solid hits... and played errorless ball in the field... and our "younguns" won the 9-10 year old game!

Tuesday night: Man, how that Lynn Myers pitched ball! He truly hit his peak in this one. What a shame he couldn't have been pitching in some of the Little League play-off games.

Quick Decisions Dept.: Sometimes a manager is a little slow in making decisions involving 11-12 year old youngsters, but this one wasn't at all difficult for Ace Whitley: Barry Berg hit a long foul over Homer Johnson's house (about 250 feet!), and—by the time the ball hit the ground—Ace was out at the mound advising his pitcher to keep that low and behind him!

Do you suppose we would have done better in the playoffs this year than we'll be able to do next year? Can we develop another strong-armed pitcher of the Larry Henry caliber by next July? Can we develop two fast pitchers like Lynn Myers and Barry Berg? Just now it looks doubtful... but you know the old saw: "I'll just wager our kids will do it!"

the city park in Quannah on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 23, from 2:30 to 4:30 o'clock. All Cub, Scout and Explorer leaders of the area are urged to attend this special meeting. J. W. nix. They have been planted on farms and ranches where there are suitable conditions both as to cover and feed.

"Even though there has been a steady increase in quail populations throughout the state in the last year or so," Mr. Cutbirth said, "many areas remain underpopulated. Landowners usually know if their particular area is short of quail."

The commission's game farm at Tyler is maintaining a large supply of quail for stocking such areas. Landowners can mail their applications directly to the Austin office or contact their local game wardens.

To insure landowners that quail will survive on a particular piece of land, a game warden checks the area to be stocked soon after applications are received. If the land is satisfactory quail habitat, the hatchery will ship the number of birds requested at 50 cents each.

Cub and Scout Leaders to Have Meeting in Quannah August 23

This fall, the Northwest Texas Council of the Boy Scouts of America is getting ready for the biggest year in its history. 1960 marks the golden anniversary of the movement.

By the end of 1960 more than 33,500,000 persons will have been affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America since 1910. There is hardly an American family that has not felt its influence. Scouting is a time-tested program that has kept itself modern and up to date.

Cub Scouting is a program tailored to meet the interests and urges of the eight to ten year olds—the Cub Scouts whose program is home-centered and involves Dad and Mother as they encourage their son as he meets the various requirements in his achievement program.

In Boy Scouting, boys of 11 and older enjoy working together with fellow patrol members as brother Scouts as they hike, swim, camp, and take part in community projects that give them a sense of pride in accomplishment and learn a wide range of useful skills.

Exploring is the new program launched this year for young men of high school ages which answers their needs for vocational exploration, social activities, and special interests. It also offers them new contacts with men of character who help them in their program.

To make it possible for more boys to join its ranks, the Northwest Texas Council is staging a "Roundup" this fall. Every member in Cub Scouting, Boy Scouting and Exploring will be asked to invite another boy to his meeting so that he too can get in on the fun.

In the Central and Western Districts, of which Crowell and surrounding areas are a part, the roundup kick-off will be held in

295 Pay Fines for Fishing Without Licenses

Fishing without licenses topped the list of game and fish violations in July, according to E. M. Sprott, director of law enforcement, Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Game wardens charged 295 persons with fishing without licenses during the month. Four persons were arrested for hunting without licenses and an equal number of bait dealers were arrested for failing to purchase the required licenses.

A total of $7,020.15 in fines and court costs was paid by 393 violators. Thirty cases were dismissed in court, six persons served time in jail, 12 appealed to higher courts, and two were found not guilty.

"These violations are usually committed by persons who fail to realize the importance of game laws," said Mr. Sprott. "They fail to understand that without the laws, Texas' fish and wildlife soon would be destroyed completely."

Trespassing remained highest on the list of game violations with 18 arrests, while closed-season hunting arrests ranked second with eight.

Seven persons were caught using seines and nets illegally and eight were arrested for having too many hooks on their lines.

Seven cases of water pollution were reported by wardens across the state.

Landowners Still Can Stock Quail

Some 34,000 quail have been released on Texas lands since January through the Game and Fish Commission's restocking program, according to W. J. Cutbirth, assistant executive secretary.

Of this number, there were 18,000 bobwhites and 14,000 coturnix.

Youth Activities Week Observed at Methodist Church

The Crowell Methodist youth were hosts to all the young people who attended the annual Youth Activities Week held Aug. 9-14 from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m.

The theme for the week was "Is There a Place for God and Teen-Agers in This Missile Age?" To help answer this question, the book, "Twixt Twelve and Twenty," by Pat Boone was reviewed.

Sunday night the youth were organized with Miss Jo Frances Long having the program. Punch and cookies were served for refreshments.

Sputniks, flying saucers and stars decorated the room for the banquet served by the W.S.C.S. Wayne Edmondson, youth director at "Childress" Methodist Church, was the guest speaker. Miss Cindy Erwin entertained the group by singing "Sinner Man."

Friday night, home-made ice cream was served. A special worship service followed. Mrs. Elliott reviewed the last two chapters of the book. Mrs. James Browning sang "Must Jesus Bear the Cross Alone?" Miss Long was in charge of the worship service.

Carl Hudson directed the entire project. Miss Alta Bartley was responsible for the publicity; Misses Wanda James and Jo Cooper were in charge of the food committee.

Time to Claim Refund on Farm-Used Gasoline

Farm operators have until September 30 to claim a refund of the federal gasoline tax on all gasoline used on the farm, according to Joe Burdett, County Agent.

The refund applies to the three cents per gallon federal tax on gasoline which was purchased from July 1, 1958, through June 30, 1959. Those who filed a claim for refund in 1958 will receive form 2240 through the mail. Others who wish to make a claim should ask the Internal Revenue Service to send them one.

The claim should be sent to the office of the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Dallas, Texas. Claims made after September 30 will not be paid and no more than one claim can be filed.

for the twelve months period, says the agent.

Farmers who file claims for refund should keep sufficient records to certify the accuracy of the refund claimed. The records should show the purchase dates, the gallons bought and the gallons used on the farm during the twelve months period. Also the gasoline used by custom operators doing custom work for a farmer should be recorded and can be included in the claim for refund.

Excise taxes paid on diesel fuel or special motor fuels for farm purposes can also be recovered. The farmer should ask the dealer to repay the taxes on the fuel bought. The dealer should be furnished a signed statement, showing the name and address of the purchaser, the date of purchase and gallons purchased.

Measles, 'Pox, Cupcakes

San Diego, Calif.—After having 54 cupcakes to serve at her 5-year-old son's birthday anniversary party the next day, Mrs. Ed Lichtenman was disappointed when the lad came down with a case of measles.

PLANNED HUMBLE BUILDING IN HOUSTON — The model shows Humble Oil & Refining Company's proposed 44-story office building to be located in downtown Houston. Morgan J. Davis, president of Humble, said the building will enable the company to bring its 3300 home office employees together in one central location. Present plans call for a building with approximately a million square feet of usable space. Initially, Humble expects to use more than half of the building for its offices and to sub-let the remaining space to other tenants.

"Previously Owned by a Little Old Lady..."

Surprisingly, that gentle little old lady who never drove over 30 miles an hour was really tough on her car's motor. The fact is that start-and-stop driving at low speeds means the motor doesn't warm up enough for its own good. Sludge forms in the motor oil. Damage to the engine will result.

Most of us do a lot of start-and-stop driving these days, and that's why it's wise to protect with Phillips 66 Trop-Artic* Motor Oil. It flows quickly in a cold engine . . . resists sludge formation . . . then keeps on protecting your motor on long, hot drives.

Trop-Artic is an all-season oil. Get it from your Phillips 66 Dealer.

When you are puzzled and we can be of service, that's a simple one. Just call us by phone, mail, wire, carrier pigeon, smoke signal or pony express.

Or any way that suits you best!

Harris Ford Sales

REVIS HARRIS, OWNER

I have bought the Ford dealership from Self Motor Co., owned and operated for many years by George D. Self, and assumed ownership and management of the firm last Friday.

The business will be operated in a manner we hope will be pleasing to the citizens of this community and surrounding territory and we extend a hearty invitation to everybody to call on us and help us get acquainted. We will strive to become a good citizen of Crowell and a progressive automobile dealer, and we will greatly appreciate your cooperation.

The same force that has been with Mr. Self has been re-employed and they are Miss Maye Andrews, bookkeeper; M. N. Kenner in charge of the parts department; Joe Ward is superintendent of the service department with Jack Powers and Bill Thompson as mechanics. A new employee is Leon Speer in the sales department.

We are very proud to be a business man and an automobile dealer in Crowell and will do our best to be worthy of your patronage.

Sincerely yours,
REVIS HARRIS

Germans and Americans

Ralph T. Moore writes in the Oregon Voter: "This writer has difficulty in trying to understand why the Germans instead of the Americans are now the leading exponents of the American way of life. Perhaps it is because the Germans are intensely practical while the Americans continue to be patsies for every socialistic nostrum that the fevered brain of the neurotic bigot can contrive. The German rejects the something for nothing philosophy as a complete phony while we continue to play it, hoping to somehow make it work." Then, speaking of the success of the Volkswagen, he observes: "The end of American competition for the popular car market will approach at race-car speed unless American workers change their attitudes, an unlikely prospect."

Washington—Every American is a little heavier and a little taller, and every Englishman is a little lighter and a little shorter.

This all comes about because, effective the first of the month, six English-speaking nations adopted new standard definitions for the pound and the inch.

Canadians also are taller and heavier because, until the change-over, they used a longer inch and a heavier pound than the new standard measures.

Mrs. G. M. Canup has returned from a two weeks visit in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John White, and family in Odessa. She was met in Odessa by her granddaughter, Mrs. Howard Bell, and children, Sarah and Keith, and Mrs. James Browning and daughter, Barbara.

smoothest ride!
 One of the 7 big bests Chevrolet gives you over any other car in its field

Bel Air 4-Door Sedan with sleek Body by Fisher

Anyone who's ever taken a Chevy over a choppy country road can tell you how lightly Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension handles rough going—and coil springs never squeak, never need grease! Try this velvet way of going for yourself. Once you do, you'll find your own way of saying what MOTOR TREND magazine puts this way: "...the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." But the happiest part of it all is that this Full Coil ride is just one of seven big bests—all documented by published opinions of experts and on-the-record facts and figures.

BEST ENGINE—Chevrolet engines have long won expert praise from virtually every automobile magazine, and just recently, Chevrolet received the NASCAR Outstanding Achievement award for "the creation and continuing development of America's most efficient V-type engines."

BEST ECONOMY—A pair of Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide won their class in this year's Mobilgas Economy Run, topping every other full-sized car. And the winning mileage was a whopping 22.38 m.p.g.

BEST BRAKES—Chevy's bonded-lining brakes are the biggest in their field, built for up to 66% longer life. In a direct competition conducted by NASCAR, Chevy out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars in a test of repeated stops from highway speeds.

BEST STYLE—It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST TRADE-IN—Any N.A.D.A. Guide Book can give you the figures on Chevy's extra value. You'll find that Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." Your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to tell you about a whole host of other advantages besides these seven. Why not drop by his showroom?

 *National Association for Stock Car Advancement and Research.

With
Clinton Davidson

Did you ever stop to think that we don't stop to think nearly enough? President Eisenhower brought that thought up at a recent press conference, and he thought some more about it later on in a speech. It is something worth thinking about.

We asked an officer of a big business company how he felt about the President's advice. "I'm much too busy," he said. "I just don't have the time to sit down and do nothing but think."

A government official we talked with said: "I'm too rushed. There are too many conferences to attend, visitors to see, office memos and papers to read, and decisions to be made."

Both admitted that many of the decisions they must make are made without having given as much thought to them as they would like. They simply do not, or think they do not, have the time to think.

Too Many Details

Congressmen and officials of government agencies are buried daily under a mass of details. Their desks are stacked high with paper work. Many of them must work six days a week, and often they take office work home with them at night.

Yet, because they are public servants, they must meet a tremendous demand on them for their time by people who want to see them. Often it is something that an assistant could take care of just as well.

Before leaving office, the President remarked, he intends to give senior government officials more time to think about their jobs; more time for undistracted contemplation.

Mr. Eisenhower practices what he preaches. He has told close associates that he feels it necessary, not only because of restrictions placed on him by his doctor but to get time for quiet thought, to spend a great deal of time at his Gettysburg farm.

Aside from the necessity to relax since his heart attack, the President may be serving his country best when he is taking time out at the farm and on the golf course to think through the many difficult decisions he must make.

Good Advice

The President's suggestion that we need more time to think applies to all of us, not just to top executives. Probably more than any other nationality, we Americans almost always are in a hurry.

All of us must make decisions every day. Too many of them are off-the-cuff decisions, made without giving them enough thought. Too often we make remarks, or decisions, that hurt us, or others, without thinking.

"I just didn't think," is an excuse you hear all too often. Millions of people are killed or hurt every year just because they didn't stop to think. Many of our worries turn out not to be as serious as they seem when we sit down and think them out.

There is a great need in government, in business and in our private lives for more calm and reasoned contemplation. Perhaps Mr. Eisenhower's off-the-cuff remark will touch off an overdue movement in that direction.

Wildlife Conservation Hints Are Offered by Wildlife Specialist

Research in fish-farming, the process whereby agricultural crops and fish are grown in rotation, is being started by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, says Ed Cooper, extension wildlife specialist. The purpose of this study is to provide practical ways by which fish-farming can be conducted profitably in conjunction with agricultural crop growing.

Numerous problems on stocking, disease control, predation, competition, and reservoir management must be solved before fish-farming can be economically feasible. This research program will be followed closely and results will be reported when available, Cooper added.

Cooper also said that the pelletted form of 2,4-D shows some promise in controlling aquatic vegetation, particularly the emergent vegetation in shallow water around the edges of ponds and lakes. More research is needed, he said, before definite recommendations can be made. At the present time the sale and use of pelletted 2,4-D is governed by regulations pertaining to hormone-type herbicides. The material may not be sold or used in those counties specified in the Herbicide Regulation.

And last, he cautions against trying to control pond weeds or fertilizing your pond now. These practices are effective in spring or early summer. It is too late in the summer now for effective work of this type. Either practice during late summer will likely result in oxygen depletion and loss of fish.

If oxygen depletion hits your pond, Cooper suggests using an outboard motor, either on a boat or fixed to a stationary object, to aerate the water. Circulating water by pumping will get oxygen into it and the more splash the better, he says.
