NO CROP GROWS UNDER OPEN SKY WITHOUT RISK OF LOSS

A Federal Wheat Crop Insurance policy protects the crop investment against loss from unavoidable production hazards that man cannot control . . . drought . . . excessive rain . . . flood . . . hail . . . wind . . . frost . . . lightning . . . insect infestation . . . fire . . . wildlife . . . plant diseases . . . and others, too.

Federal Crop Insurance protects you against the unknown—the many production risks that can destroy any crop on any farm any year. It adds stability to a farming operation by assuring the farmer when he seeds that he will at least get his investment back if it is a poor crop year and the profitable bumper harvest that he expected fails to materialize.

It is a basic principle of good business to protect what you invest. Wheat farming is a good business . . . Federal Crop Insurance will make it a better business.

People Want to Learn

The New York Stock Exchange recently produced a film called "What Makes Us Tick." It is done in cartoon form, is in Technicolor, and runs for 12 minutes. It is designed to show in an entertaining and informative fashion why and how a stock exchange operates, and how people go about the business of buying and selling shares in the enterprises which employ our people, pay much of our taxes, and provide us with goods and services of every conceivable kind.

The film wasn't intended for showing in commercial movie houses. However, as a test, one of the large motion picture companies agreed to show it along with regular bills in a number of cities. According to a New York Times account of the showing in that metropolis, "Agreement was the reader because the short contains no selling message. It is almost purely educational."

At this showing, audience reaction cards were passed out, so people could report their opinions of "What Makes Us Tick." Out of 146 cards returned, only six represented negative votes. All the rest approved of the cartoon. One typical reaction was, "I've always wondered as to the 'goings on' of the Stock Exchange. This amusing short has done a great deal for me in a better understanding of the working of money."

The Exchange has shown enterprise in producing this brief film, and in leaning over backwards to keep it out of the "sales talk" category. And it's certainly an excellent sign that the viewing public is overwhelmingly favorable to a production of this character—which happily combines good entertainment with a clear and simple delineation of how an institution which is vital to the very existence of the free enterprise system works.

On Memorial Day the flag should be displayed at half mast from sunrise to noon and at full mast from noon to sunset.

It would take 53 years for an airplane, traveling 200 miles per hour, to go from the earth to the sun.

Minerals and Vitamins Needed by Swine

Swine producers who feed their animals on rations deficient in minerals and vitamins can expect trouble, according to Joe Burkett, County Agent. The trouble, he adds, will show up in the form of stunted pigs and in severe cases death losses will occur.

One of the most common of these deficiency diseases in hogs is leg weakness, down in the back, paralysis of the rear parts or rickets. There is a common misunderstanding among many hog raisers that these troubles are caused by kidney worms. This, according to Burkett, is not the case and the trouble can be prevented by proper feeding.

It is a sound management practice to keep a good mineral mixture before hogs of all ages, he says. The cost of minerals is small because hogs eat only a limited amount. The agent suggests the following as a good mineral mixture. Two pounds of limestone or oyster shell flour; two pounds of bone meal, one pound of iodized salt and one-tenth pound of iron sulphate. If limestone or oyster shell flour cannot be obtained, then use four pounds of bone meal.

He says about two pounds of this mixture should be fed with every 100 pounds of feed. This mineral supplement can be mixed

The Home and Healthy Personality Go Hand in Hand

All parents want their children to develop into healthy personalities. Eloise Johnson, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, explains that personality is the term used to describe the whole person, the way he reacts to outside influences and the way he thinks, feels and behaves.

The specialist points out that this personality or whole person is made up of an inherited basic structure plus the effects of training, knowledge, experiences and information plus family and community relationships and experiences.

The first factor in a healthy personality is the inherited basic structure. Physical, emotional and nervous systems and patterns can be changed very little. The big job is to realize this and help children to accept this fact. Lead them to live with themselves so they can grow into healthy personalities.

Much can be done about the second factor in building personalities. Mrs. Johnson suggests that before the heavy marketing season children be given wide opportunities in the home, school, church and community to get sound practical training, experience, knowledge and understanding for the real tasks of living. This leads into the third factor, relationship with others. This two-way relationship is first experienced in the home. Family members continue to be the most important group which influences personality.

BUSINESS BRIEFS
 The British budget for the current fiscal year is not only balanced, but incomes taxes have been reduced by amounts ranging from 50 per cent in the lower brackets to 10 per cent in the middle brackets. Meantime, unless spending is reduced, the United States is faced with a deficit of from $10 to $14 billion this year—even at present high tax levels.

The Executive Secretary of the Texas Game & Fish Commission returned from conferences in Washington with word that a more liberal waterfowl season is in prospect for Texas.

He said that the details will not be available until the United States Fish and Wildlife Service assembles data and makes the formal announcement.

The Executive Secretary expressed pessimism over the likelihood of having Texas zoned for waterfowl, but he foresaw compensating allowances.

The Game & Fish Commission, making its annual recommendations, asked that Texas be zoned for waterfowl and that if zoning were not allowed, that a state-wide season open on October 31. The theory then was that a season longer than the 50-day 1951 shoot was in prospect.

The Executive Secretary said he obtained the impression in Washington that any liberalizing in the waterfowl regulations would be in a longer season. He said this could be the outgrowth of increasing influence which the Council of Flyways has been conceding by the Fish and Wildlife Service.

The Executive Secretary, who represented the Central Flyway at the Council meeting, said the Council petitioned the Washington authorities to assign a Federal coordinator to each flyway to work with the states' game administrators and technicians.

"We are heartened by the reception our plan received," he said, "we are confident that a large state's part in the waterfowl decisions will provide for better conservation and for a more equitable harvesting of the annual crop of waterfowl."

The Executive Secretary predicted that Texas hunters generally will be satisfied with the 1952 regulations, contents of which he is not yet privileged to reveal. He said he was assured by Federal authorities and by representatives of the northern waterfowl breeding states that the waterfowl will be available in substantial numbers this fall.

Grass Roots Opinion

Marysville, Wash., Globe: "If we are to remain a sovereign state, with sufficient taxable area to support and develop our state as an entity, we must oppose the encroachment of Federal reservations, directly and indirectly. Our great resources can all be developed wisely and well without setting aside areas in the state as Federal reservation, which is the ultimate aim of the proposed CVA, and now CBA."

Gresham, Ore., Outlook: "It is common knowledge that the amount taken by the Federal government from corporations in taxes today is far greater than the amount the corporations are permitted to retain for distribution as dividends and for the maintenance and expansion of plants. How long can industry go on furnishing jobs, absorbing wage increases, and still meet such rapidly rising tax obligations?"

Scottsville, Ky., News: "Somewhere there must be a limit fixed to both taxes and to foreign aid expenditures. We cannot indefinitely continue raising Federal taxes and giving away money at a constantly increasing rate. For the sake of everyone in this nation, Congress must take will prevent reckless administrations from exceeding those limitations." Anaheim, Calif., Bulletin: "Long ago, America rejected the cartel system of Europe, and set about vigilantly to stop the growth of business monopoly wherever it threatened. It is apparent that the monopoly power of labor unions is no less a danger to our national security."

New Cars for 1953

Reports from Detroit indicate that the automobile industry is getting customer-conscious and will make a strong bid to attract buyers in 1953. It is beginning to look as if the big automobile producers will make more changes in next year's models than in any years since the end of World War II.

Chrysler is expected to put its new cars on the market in October and it is understood that there are major changes in the body designs of all four: Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler. Dodge is expected to come out with a new V-8 type engine, 140 horsepower. General Motors is offering air conditioning units in the new Cadillacs and Oldsmobiles. Both Buicks and Chevrolets are expected to change to the V-8 type engine. Ford expects to introduce new cars in November. While extensive body changes are not expected for the new Lincoln, Mercury and Ford, the Mercurys and Fords may have new and more powerful engines.

Hudson expects to offer a new body and also a new car in the light six-cylinder field. Studebaker bodies are to be re-designed completely. Packard is offering power-steering and power-brakes. In other words, it looks as though there will be plenty of competition as the 1953 season approaches. The accent, which has been on power in recent years, is turning toward comfort and the prospects are that there will be plenty of cars to go around.

Nearly 11,000 cattle and calves arrived at Fort Worth Monday, the largest number since June, 1947. Everyone held his breath to see whether the run would ruin the good gains made last week—but a surprising strong undertone prevailed and prices ranged from steady to 50 cents off most of the way. A few spots $1 lower were noted on excessively full and on plain and medium kinds on the late rounds.

Hogs gained 25 cents, topping at $22.50. Sows were steady.

Most sheep and lambs moved along steady on the slaughter kinds, but steady to 50 cents lower on stockers. Lightweight stocker lambs were the kinds encountering trouble. The sheep run was 10,000 head, unusual because it came so late in the season.

Comparative prices: Good and choice slaughter steers and yearlings cashed at $26 to $32, and plain and medium butcher sorts sold at $16 to $25, with culls from $13 to $16. Stocker and feeder steers and yearlings of medium to good grades sold at $18 to $26, and choice lightweight steer yearlings sold to $26 and $27. Commoner stockers $15 to $18.

Fat cows cashed at $16 to $19 while canners and cutters sold from $10 to $16.50. Bulls sold from $15 to $23.

Stocker cows cleared at $14 to $22, and stocker heifers sold at $25 downward. Good and choice stocker calves $25 to $29, while common and medium quality sold at $16 to $25.

Good and choice fat calves sold at $25 to $28.50, while common and medium at $16.50 to $25. Culls sold from $13 to $16.

Good and choice fat spring lambs sold for $24 to $29, and medium to good kinds drew $20 to $24. Stocker and feeder lambs sold from $10 to $18. Stocker and feeder yearlings cashed at $10 to $15, and fat yearlings sold at $17 downward. Aged wethers sold from $8 to $10. Two-year-old wethers cashed at $14 downward. Slaughter ewes sold at $6 to $8.50. Old bucks sold around $6 to $6.50.

The Prolonged Peace Negotiations

Latest efforts of the peace negotiators in the little village of Panmunjom have been unsuccessful. There had been optimism about a month ago when the Communists asked for secret meetings because in the past when the Communists were ready to make concessions they have asked for secret meetings. Open discussions are used by the Reds mainly for propaganda purposes.

The official summary of the secret meetings released by the United Nations makes it quite clear the conferees were still deadlocked over the issue involving the exchange of prisoners of war.

The United Nations with about 170,000 prisoners takes the position that only those prisoners who desire to be returned should be returned to Communist territory. The Reds with about 12,000 prisoners demand that all prisoners be returned regardless of their wishes.

About the only new development was the indication by the Chinese delegation that if the 20,000 Chinese prisoners were returned that the Communists were willing to forget about some of the North Korean prisoners. Major General William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied delegate, said no to this proposal.

General Harrison has about lost faith in the possibility of any settlement. In coming out of a recent meeting he exclaimed to newspaper correspondents that he

BE THANKFULL

Thankfulness is a good sign of mental health. The thankful person is happy. He lives in a joyful frame of mind because thankful attitudes pay personal dividends.

Unthankfulness begets critical attitudes, bitterness, sour dispositions. The unthankful person finds even his own company distasteful. For it is not within his power to be bitter toward life and at the same time sweet within.

Today is a time of plenty, and yet so many are unthankful. We want more money, better homes, finer clothing and more conveniences. Although we have more time for leisure than our forebears we are not happier. We seem even less happy. For the acquisition of "just things" cannot measure up to the satisfaction that springs from a hearty thankfulness to God for blessings received.

Many a disgruntled person with his hoard of material possessions would be much happier if he would only lift his heart to heaven and say, "Thank you, Lord, for the abundance of all things."

Thankfulness loosens the tight grip of slavish desire. It lifts the soul from grumpiness, removes the wrinkles of greed, and permits the light of God's sunshine to brighten up the countenance.

Thankfulness pays big returns in personal peace, inward peace and general bigness. Like refreshing waters, it splashes over into the lives of others. But unthank-fulness shrivels the soul. It melts a man down to fraction of what God intended him to be. No unthankful person can be pleasing to the Lord. The Word of God says, "In everything give thanks."

BUSINESS BRIEFS

The Federal Government, which publishes a wide variety of books and brochures on just about every conceivable subject, has now come out with a set of books on "Mathematics." The idea, according to the Government book salesmen, is to teach folks the basic rules of mathematics. As any schoolboy knows, there are in existence a multitude of privately printed books on the same subject. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States wants to know whether or not the Government has now decided to inject the bureaucratic viewpoint into the teaching of two-plus-two-equals-four.

Health Letter

Texas State Department of Health, Austin, Texas, Gen. W. Cox, M. D., State Health Officer.

The control of any disease must be based upon facts and not theories, asserts Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. The reason for this statement is based on the numerous theories sent the State Department of Health for the cure or prevention of polio, diarrhea and dysentery.

The spread of polio, for instance has been blamed on woods, air, bananas, milk, atomic radiation and many other items. All of these are theories and have no basis of fact. Facts in disease are arrived at in the laboratory, the sick room and the environment of the patient. Facts are necessary and must be the guidepost for the control of disease.

Dr. Cox is authorized by law to accept gifts and contributions for public health. The first gift to aid in research on the part played by flies and cockroaches in the spread of polio is two monkeys from Bellaire. Others will be needed to complete the study. Any contribution will be appreciated.

Education work in dysentery and diarrhea—which kills far more children than polio—is being hampered by lack of personnel to do the work. Cox said Texas has six times more dysentery and diarrhea than the national average. There were 1099 infants under one year of age who died of this cause in 1951.

"When we get rid of these two filth borne diseases, we will have done the best thing in the world to get rid of polio," he asserted. "But it takes resources to do it."

Fund and equipment shortages have been a stumbling block to the whole research program in Texas, Dr. Cox said. Despite the fact that the State Bureau of Laboratories has consistently won top honors in national competition for accuracy in disease identification.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

The Civil Aeronautics Administration ought to be thoroughly administered. It has just announced the appointment of a new deputy administrator for administration.

Tenant Farming Important Part of Texas Agriculture

Tenant operations are still an important part of Texas agriculture. Some 30 per cent of all Texas farms are operated by tenants. Like most other farming practices, says C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, many leasing arrangements are out-of-date.

He points out that lease arrangements set up for cash-crop systems of farming do not fit the situations brought about by the shifts to livestock production. Therefore, new rental agreements are needed between the tenants and landlords that clearly define the part each is to play in this livestock-crop system of farming. During the past several years farm management specialists from the southern states, cooperating with those from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, have been studying the existing rental arrangements and seeking possible solutions to tenure problems. The economists have found that both tenants and landlords improve their lot when leases are used that really cover present day farming and livestock production. The use of up-to-date leasing arrangements meant more income to both tenants and landowners as well as better soil maintenance and improvement programs.

The latest findings of the co-operating economists are reported in the publication "Rental Arrangements for Progressive Farming" which is available at the local county agent's office. Other material on the subject of rental agreements, prepared by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Extension Service, are also available.

Bates says the specialists, through studies and actual experience, have come to the conclusion that a good rental agreement should always be written. It should cover more than a single year or contain an automatic renewal clause. It should specify how the expenses, upkeep and labor, as well as income are to be shared. It should encourage the tenant to produce livestock as well as crops wherever possible and profitable. Finally the lease should provide for permanent improvements on the land and in the home.

Bates believes the use of rental agreement containing the above items will improve landlord-tenant relations and add stability to the agricultural economy in the areas where farms are operated by tenants.

Widespread Use of Soil Conditioners Not Advised by Agent

Farmers, gardeners and others interested in trying out the new chemical "soil conditioners" are advised by Joe Burkett, County Agent, to use them only experimentally.

He points out that research work dealing with the conditioners is being conducted at many different locations over the country, but since the materials are only now becoming available in quantity, additional information can be made. The work being done by the Texas Experiment Station is a part of a south-wide project.

Burkett says the "soil conditioners" are chemicals prepared for the purpose of binding and stabilizing small soil particles into larger particles which resist breakdown by water. He is quick to add that the natural organic materials have the same effect on soils and at the same time, leave other beneficial results in addition to the formation of the desired soil aggregates.

Burkett points out that research, have come to the conclusion that a good rental agreement should always be written. It should cover more than a single year or contain an automatic renewal clause. It should specify how the expenses, upkeep and labor, as well as income are to be shared. It should encourage the tenant to produce livestock as well as crops wherever possible and profitable. Finally the lease should provide for permanent improvements on the land and in the home.

Bates believes the use of rental agreement containing the above items will improve landlord-tenant relations and add stability to the agricultural economy in the areas where farms are operated by tenants.

up to date has shown that expenditures of from $300 to $500 per acre must be made to get the required amounts of the conditioners in the soil.

He says work to date indicates that the conditioners are most effective on soils with high clay and silt content. They are not effective on soils high in sand content and soils already good structurally are helped little by the addition of the chemicals.

Burkett cautions purchasers against buying quantities of the materials until more is known about them. He adds, since the products offered for sale are new, many have not been adequately tested. Therefore, he suggests that buyers try only those products
