Four Area Towns Approve Purchase of Greenbelt Water

Qualified voters in four cities—Childress, Quanah, Clarendon and Hedley—trooped to the polls Saturday to approve, by a margin of 42 to 1, purchase by their respective cities of water from the proposed Green Belt Reservoir to be constructed near Hedley and Clarendon.

Two other member cities, Crowell and Paducah, will vote later. Paducah voters will vote Saturday on whether to purchase the water or not, the Crowell election has been set for October 15.

Balloting simply on the question of whether or not their city should purchase water from the planned 90,000-acre reservoir, voters in Childress gave the go-ahead by a vote of 1,379 to 13; Quanah approved the measure 680 to 27; Clarendon 570 to 27; and Hedley, 188 for the purchase and no vote against the measure.

Construction of the reservoir, to be built for the Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, will be financed by revenue bonds to be retired over a 35-year period with monies received from the sale of the water.

EDITORIAL

What Is Democracy?

(Editor's note: The question, "What does democracy mean to you?" was asked four CHS students, one from each class. Here are their answers.)

To me, democracy is primarily two things: a government securing its power through the people and a government promising social equality for the people. This means that the people who have the responsibility of choosing the leaders of the nation should also have the opportunity of enjoying equal rights and privileges. We who are fortunate enough to live under a democratic government should be very proud and very thankful. Woody Lemons.

When I think of democracy, I think about all of the freedoms designated to the American people in the Constitution of the United States listed as our "Bill of Rights." I am reminded that our forefathers not only fought for their rights, but also fought for a better form of government. Our government which we have today is the highest known to man. We, the American people, should be more thankful each day that we do not have a dictator who would destroy most or all of our freedoms. Scherry Goodwin.

Democracy is the backbone of our lives. It is the feeling of security that we have in believing that our government will survive under the high pressures of the communists. The democratic way of life is a fair and equal way in which all men are created equal. I am proud that I live under such a situation. Karen Shirley.

To me democracy gives people of today a much better chance in life. Democracy is something Americans take for granted. We don't realize how fortunate we are until we think about the people of Russia and other communist countries. Remember, we will be the future leaders of our country, so it is up to us to keep democracy. Deborah Jones.

Western Day Oct. 16

The Crowell Student Council met Monday, Sept. 30. For the month of October the Council decided to sponsor "Western Day." The date set is October 16. Everyone, including the teachers, is urged to participate.

The 1963-64 Annual Staff has elected the following officers:

C. H. S. Report

Mrs. Doyle Kenner left for Dumas at noon Monday to attend the funeral of her niece.

Last year's seniors who came home from college for the week end were M. L. Speer, Charles ten Brink, Teresa Wright and Carolyn Eubanks.

LaRue Gidney is the proud owner of a new ring. Tommy Polk is a lucky "guy."

Earl Hesse, last year's band director, and his wife visited in Crowell last week end.

The Crowell B team lost to Childress 20-12 Thursday night on the home field. Let's support these boys in their next game.

Raymond Houck was painfully burned Sunday as he was working on his car.

Let's Get the School Spirit

How many of us students of CHS can say that we saw the last touchdown made by the fighting Wildcats last Friday night at Quannah? I am a student, too, and I happened to be sitting in the section of the stands occupied by the student body. I can truthfully say that there was only a handful of students left when the Wildcats made their last touchdown.

I realize that at an away-from-home game, we sometimes want to get to our cars early in order to be able to avoid the after-game traffic, but I think we should stay until the end of the ball game to give the team some last minute encouragement.

During the final minutes of the Quannah game, the players on the sideline and the coaches were giving all the backing they had to the "plucky" Crowell eleven. We should have done so, too.

Yes, Crowell lost the game, but not because the team gave up and walked off the field five minutes before the whistle as did some of the supporters.

Remember: we must support our team and give them all the encouragement we can. Let's go to Paducah, and let's see the game through whether it's a winning or a losing battle for us.

Scavenger Hunt

Tuesday night, Sept. 24, the sophomores met at the home of Jackie Eddy for an evening's entertainment. After a delicious cook-out, a scavenger hunt got underway. The "kids" piled into six cars; each group had a different list of things to secure. The articles which were required ranged from a polo ball, to a live chicken, to a two piece bathing suit. Each person in the winning group was awarded a stuffed animal.

The room mothers, their husbands, and class sponsor, Mr. Lykins, also enjoyed the fun.

Regret

Last week in listing the fathers of the junior students who helped with the junior hayride, the name of Walter Ramsey was overlooked. We are truly sorry, Mr. Ramsey, and we do wish to thank you for your help.

Thanks

The Junior Class and sponsor wish to express their sincere appreciation to all the people who supported them in their fund-raising campaign. Did you know that through your kindness and consideration the juniors broke all previous records for magazine sales? How grateful we are to you!

Otis Smith will receive the high salesman's award. Three people qualified for the $100 club pin, 17 will receive certificates for selling $30 worth, 13 will receive Wildcat mascots for selling $10 worth, 6 will receive sets of "Kissing" dolls for selling two Posts, and all those selling $40 or more worth will draw for an additional prize, a colorful stuffed wolf.

Senior Personality

Ronni Sue Oliphant, the senior personality for this week, is a very energetic member of CHS. This 17-year-old, hazel eyed blonde is president of the Library Club, and she is an active member of the Columbian Club, FHA, Student Council, Wildcat and annual staffs.

Some of her favorites are the color, blue; the teachers, Mrs. King and Mrs. Manard; and the subject, English. She believes that she dislikes most the person who says one thing but means or does another.

Ronni, being a person easily influenced, has been influenced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Oliphant, her friends, and her teachers. After graduating, she intends to attend West Texas State University at Canyon.

Library Hints

Guess who I am? After four weeks of school, I am still covered with dust because of lack of attention. I guess I could be called "Mr. In-Between." Many people look at my title but never even pick me up. Last week I got my hopes up too high: several students picked me up, but they didn't even bother to read my introduction. If they had done just that much, they couldn't have resisted reading on.

Students, don't cause some book to be a "Mr. In-Between." There are many good books in the library that have never been checked out. Why? Maybe you haven't heard that those books are on the best selling list or maybe you just haven't ever heard of them. Well, remember there are no books in the library that are not worth checking out. All have been chosen from a recommended list of books suitable for high school reading.

Crowell Loses Game

Last Friday night, on the home field of Quannah, the Crowell Wildcats were defeated by the Quannah Indians 30-14. This was the first loss of the Wildcats this season, and we hope it will be the last as the Wildcats journey into district play. Quannah, a strong AA team, had trouble getting started the first half which proved to be anybody's ball game with the score being 8-8 when the whistle blew. However, Quannah outlasted and outscored the Wildcats in the last half.

Tomorrow night, the Wildcats journey to Paducah to play the first conference game of the season. Be there to back the team! Good luck, Wildcats!

Band Report

Our CHS band used the theme "Popular Music" for its half-time performance last Friday night at Quannah. The Wildcatettes entered the field in the shape of a V. The band from the opposite end of the field, formed a company front as they played the opening fanfare "Parade of the Charioteers" from Ben Hur.

The band then went into the formation of the Alamo, and played "Green Leaves of Summer." Next, they formed a square, playing "Maria," while the Wildcatettes and majorettes did strutting routines.

The closing fanfare was "Exodus," after which the band marched from the field playing the fight song.

CROWELL HAS AN OPPORTUNITY

There is an old saying that goes something like this, "Opportunity knocks only once." The News sincerely believes that opportunity is now knocking on the door of Crowell, and inviting the town to solve a problem that has been with us since the beginning of Crowell.

That problem is, of course, water. At one time in the history of Crowell, we were completely without water, and although the water we now have is of exceptionally good quality, it is shown every summer that it is of insufficient quantity to supply Crowell's peak times of need. A study made by an engineering firm for the City last year showed that Crowell's problem was not the pipe line from Margaret to Crowell which was too small, but the continually-lowering water table in the Margaret field. Water is being removed from the water field at Margaret faster than nature can re-charge it, and the engineers say that with the present rate of removal, the field will eventually be de-watered to the extent that Crowell can no longer depend on it for a municipal water supply and will have to look elsewhere for its water.

Crowell is fortunate that that opportunity has presented itself before our present water supply is exhausted. This opportunity is to buy water from the Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority which proposes to build a large reservoir near Hedley.

Crowell residents should remember that if we do not join the Authority at the present time, it will never be possible to join, as a large pipeline must be built to Quanah to handle the Crowell water. This pipeline to Quanah must be built larger at the initial installation if Crowell is to be served.

The election on whether Crowell will contract to buy water from the Authority is set for Tuesday, October 15. Let's approve it, while the opportunity is with us.

Camp Fire Girls

The Can-Ti-Tins Ya Camp Fire Girls met Oct. 1 at the little house, with the president, Jo Beth Magee, calling the roll. Nine girls answered with one of the laws of the Camp Fire girls. The girls will go to Vernon next meeting on Oct. 8 to purchase their uniforms. Money was made from bake sales to purchase uniforms. After a short singing session, three girls were honored for having birthdays: La Nell Everson, Cindy Condon and Betty Whitfield. Refreshments were served by the leaders, Mrs. Vernon Garrett and Mrs. Jess Whitfield.

Once Was a Useless By-Product of Process That Made Kerosene

Petroleum Today reminds us that at the beginning of this century gasoline was a useless by-product of the refining process that produced kerosene from crude oil. The former nuisance is now used by America's 80 million motor vehicles at the rate of about 60 billion gallons a year.

1964 Oldsmobiles Now on Display at Borchardt-Goodwin

With the availability of a V-6 engine in the F-85, and with the introduction of the new Jetstar 88, customers will be able to buy an Oldsmobile for less in both the low price and medium price fields, it was announced Monday by Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors, Jack F. Wolfram.

"And, too," Wolfram said, "for the sixth consecutive year, list prices for 1964 Dynamic 88's, Super 88's, Ninety-Eight's and Starfires remain constant."

"We have been able to hold our price levels," he said, "despite the many added product values built into every 1964 Oldsmobile in interior and exterior styling, performance, comfort and reliability.

"An excellent example of added product value," Wolfram continued, "is the totally new 1964 F-85 with slightly lower prices. It is a somewhat bigger car for more utility, more leg-room, head-room and entrance room. With the V-6 or the new high performing Jetfire Rocket V-8 engine, it is more car for the money than ever before."

He said that Oldsmobile's 1964 list prices range from $2126 for the F-85 Club Coupe (equipped with the V-6 engine) to $4340 for the Starfire Convertible.

Wolfram also announced list prices for the new models Oldsmobile is introducing this year. The Cutlass Holiday Coupe, the top sports model in the F-85 line, lists at $2534. The new medium-priced Jetstar I, with bucket seats, console and Starfire engine as standard equipment, carries a list price of $3280.

"Prices," Wolfram said, "begin at $2664 for the Celebrity Sedan in the new Jetstar 88 series, lower-priced companion to the Dynamic and Super 88."

"Jetstar 88 customers," he continued, "will also find the price of some major equipment items, such as the automatic transmission and power steering to be lower than on other full-size Oldsmobiles."

He said Oldsmobile's newly-developed Jetaway transmission with variable vane torque converter is listed at $195 as a factory-installed option on both the Jetstar 88 and F-85 models equipped with the V-8 engine. The Jetaway transmission designed for use in the F-85 with the V-6 engine carries a list price of $185.

Resolution
Calling an election for the purpose of determining whether the City Council shall be authorized to enter into a contract with Green Belt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority for the purpose of supplying water to the City of Crowell.

"I don't care..."

It's an inside job!

Muddy fun for kids doesn't upset this mother. She waltzes through washday with her automatic washer and electric dryer. She never puts a foot outside on rainy, cold, snowy washdays. No tubs to fill and empty, no heavy, wet clothes to lift, no more back breaking trips to the clothesline. It's an inside job.

Just push a button or turn a dial and even the grimest clothes are washed spotlessly clean automatically. And clothes dried electrically fluffy, soft and sweet-smelling.

See your electric cooperative for their special offer during this washer-dryer promotion.
