"Dry Holes" Are for Geological Information and Not for Production

In the week before last issue of the Foard County News, a list of 13 so-called "dry holes" drilled in the Foard City community was printed.

This list was released by the Wichita Falls office of the Texas Railroad Commission as being dry holes which were drilled to a depth of around 1,000 or 1,200 feet. A representative of the Skelly Oil Co. informs the News that the wells listed were geological test wells and were drilled for the purpose of geological information only, and were not tests for production.

A daily newspaper this past Sunday lists 41 of these geological test wells and calls them dry holes. These are also for geological information and not production tests.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Things are rather quiet around the State Capitol these days.

For one thing, it's the "off season," the hiatus that regularly occurs between state elections and the convening of a new Legislature.

For another, it's a vacation time with a part of almost every agency staff off to forget it for a time.

But mostly, for this past week, the Austin full stemmed from most people's suspenseful interest in the activity of Texans in Los Angeles. Gov. Price Daniel, vice chairman of the Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention, and numerous others have been away for several weeks working in behalf of Sen. Lyndon Johnson's nomination for the presidency.

Despite these distractions, state government goes on. Studies are under way on many subjects, on budgets, tax plans and other future legislation. It's important work, but quiet, during this digging and analyzing stage. It'll break into the news next fall as reports are made and trial balloons are run up on hills to be introduced in January.

Surest indication that state government is still on the job is that even now it's hard to find a parking place near the Capitol or the adjoining state office buildings.

During the summer a dozen or so parking slots by the Capitol's east entrance are set aside for tourists. As a rule, tourists don't keep them filled, and Capitol guards are regularly beset by the persuasiveness of local people who need a place "just for a minute."

NO TURNING BACK—Child adoption procedures, under Texas law, are about as final as a thing can be—more so than marriage or divorce.

Texas Supreme Court underlined this in a recent decision that denied the right to change her mind to a mother who had given written permission for her children to be adopted.

In the case at issue, the mother, a widow, gave written permission for her two children to be adopted. Two months later, having remarried, she sought to regain the children.

Lower courts held in favor of the natural mother, but the Supreme Court ruled that only fraud could be a basis for revoking of adoption consent.

Said the court opinion of the adoption laws: "The Legislature had the safety, education, care and protection of the children uppermost in mind and not primarily the contentment or welfare of either the natural or adopting parents."

NO MISUNDERSTANDING—In another ruling involving adoption, the Supreme Court held that an adopted child could not inherit a trust set up for a direct descendant.

As a result, a four-year-old boy lost the chance to claim $830,

000. In the case originating in Dallas, lower courts had upheld the child's claim to the money from his late grandfather's estate.

In his will, the grandfather had instructed that the $830,000 trust be set up if "any child of my son is born after my death." High court ruled that this made it highly unlikely that the maker of the will intended the money to go to a child born to persons other than his son and daughter-in-law.

ROAD CLOSED—If Texas' truck licensing law had a loophole you could drive a truck through, the State Supreme Court has, in effect, halted the traffic.

High court ruled that a motor freight line cannot register and pay license fees on its trucks in Texas and use Mississippi licenses on its trailers. Texas' fee for a truck trailer is $226, compared to $10 in Mississippi.

High court ruled that if the truck line is resident in Texas, it must pay the Texas fee for the trailers, even if it pays in Mississippi, too. Result: $20,000 more taxes owed by the line in license fees to the State Highway Department.

OIL ON THE HIGHWAYS?—On the heels of a U. S. Supreme Court decision that Texas owns its tidelands 10½ miles out comes a ruling that the state also owns the right-of-way along public roads.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that the state, not the county, owns the road right-of-way and that the counties cannot lease the land for mineral development.

Whether the state should exercise its right and lease right-of-way lands for oil and gas exploration probably will not be decided until the Legislature sets a policy. Involved is some 1,200,000 acres of land on 228,000 miles of public roads, some of it across areas with oil-bearing strata.

READING, WRITING AND DRIVING—State Board of Education took a jaundiced view of a proposal of state-supported driver education in public schools. Plea for driver education, one of the main planks in Governor Daniel's program for increased traffic safety, was presented by Brad Smith, director of the governor's Highway Safety Commission.

"Driver education in the schools is the only way to reduce the flow of uneducated drivers into the stream of traffic," Smith declared. A statewide driver training program has been the goal of the huge Texas Federation of Women's Clubs for some years.

Board members said they felt the matter did not properly belong in a school curriculum. They declined to make a recommendation to the Legislature.

LEGAL TEST PROBABLE—Board of Education decided to consider again in September the dilemma of school districts which stand to lose their state aid money under terms of a 1957 law governing school integration.

Under this law, districts which integrate without approval in a local election automatically lose state aid.

Dallas and Houston schools are under federal court order to integrate this fall. Houston voters turned down integration. Dallas' election is set for Aug. 6.

State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said he had written Houston and Dallas school authorities telling them their state aid would have to be cut off if they integrated without a voter mandate.

Board discussed seeking an attorney general's opinion on the problem, probably in September after the Dallas election.

THANK YOU. MR. FARMER

For being so patient with our service department during the past few weeks of our busy season—while Joe Glover was sick.

Joe is recovering from his operation, and back on the job for limited service for a while. We appreciate your interest in him.

We have always prided in our service department, but it was weakened at a critical time. Pat Pittillo, our shop foreman, has carried on his usual fine work, along with Johnnie Thompson. The other boys are doing fine, but are inexperienced.

When Joe has completely recovered, we will again be able to give the best repair service available for all types of farm machinery.

If you missed that game of Saturday night, July 16, between our All-Stars and our own Colts, you missed a corker! This was a game that revived the likes of Lynn Myers (the man with the blazing fast ball), Mike Leija (last year's Mister Shortstop), Larry Henry ("The Arm" and the guy who ruined the Bird Dry Goods sign with one line drive), Mike Gamble, still active as a cat and now considerably bigger, and Rickey Traweck, the guy who climaxed all activities with the big blow: a home run over the left field wall in the last half inning. Our All-Stars, nervous and jittery just before game time, soon settled down and played the relaxed type of ball expected of them, and five pitchers looked good: Dan Mike Bird, Duaine Simmons, Jackie Brown, Eddie Diaz and Albert Santos. This was truly fine experience for our All-Stars. And, should we play this one again, I'll wager we'll have the top crowd of the season!

Cattlemen to Be Admired

"If everyone engaged in agriculture, including politicians, took the realistic view of the 'farm problem' that the cattlemen do, the problem of the farmers would not seem so insoluble. "Of all segments of our increasingly complex economy the cattlemen have displayed the greatest grasp of the fundamental facts involved in the immutable law of supply and demand. They want no part of governmental controls or regimentation. "Just as compulsion in any form is repugnant to all who love freedom, so do the men who ride the range abhor the dictation of bureaucrats."—Tontasket, Wn., Tribune.

When Duaine Simmons boomed one far over the wall last Friday night, it represented home run number five for him this season and pretty well cinched his being considered the most dangerous hitter in the league for 1960. A good possibility for his successor in 1961: Lee Looney, one of the best clutch hitters of the year; Randy Adkins, one of the best leadoff hitters; Steve Gray, Mr. Hustle; Joe Ray Burkett; and the smoothest all-around performer: Dan Mike Bird. Graduates from the Pee-Wee league this season will include: Terry Bird, Pete Matthews, Larry Ellis, Daniel Santos, Billy Hord, Dickie Statter, Jim Tom Smith, Ike Everson, James Allen Welch, just to name a few. These boys will play regular Little League ball next season. There are probably others, but I'm not too familiar with ages in Pee-Wee league. Most of 'em registered, but quite a few did not. We just wonder how the fans feel about it. Should the All-Stars have special classy uniforms, just with "Crowell All-Stars" across the back? It will take a little money to buy them, but we've already found out that our fans and parents want our kids to National Farm Safety Week is July 24-30 and Mr. Burkett and I are asking all 4-H'ers who want to help put out posters and exhibits in observance of Farm Safety Week to meet in our office at 10 a. m. on Friday, July 22. Accidents to farm residents claim more than 11,300 victims and injure about 950,000 persons annually, according to the National Safety Council. There are more than four times as many accidental deaths in farming than in manufacturing. Today's farms are becoming more like small industrial plants, and they have some of the same safety needs. Machinery, drowning, firearms and falls are the leading causes of death on farmland and around farm buildings. The age group having the greatest number of fatalities from accidents on farm land and around farm buildings is 5-14 years. A mental alertness, safety consciousness, the ability to recognize hazards and a determination to eliminate them, and efficiency in all farm operations are essential for farm safety. The typical family man has a billfold full of pictures and no money. More than half the population of Delaware lives in Wilmington.

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my precious truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right; takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

THIS WEEK -In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

Shortly before Congress adjourned, Sen. Karl E. Mundt of South Dakota introduced a bill that would require a secret ballot of workers prior to the calling of a strike.

Although no hearings were held and no action was taken on the bill, and the idea of secret strike ballots is not new, the objective of restoring control of unions to workers is one that deserves consideration.

Many unions, as a matter of common practice, do hold secret votes to approve or reject use of the threat of a strike as a bargaining weapon. A considerable number of them do not.

It is a common practice among many unions, as Sen. Mundt pointed out, for union leaders to ask for a strike vote before they go to the bargaining table with an employer, for use as a club in obtaining their demands.

Labor Bosses The record of labor disputes in recent years contains many flagrant abuses of the strike authorization. Union leaders in many instances have called and continued strikes without giving members an opportunity to vote on acceptance or rejection of employers' offers.

"In many cases," Sen. Mundt said, "employees vote to strike merely to strengthen their representatives' bargaining position. However, once a strike is authorized, employees find themselves striking without the opportunity to vote on the real issue—acceptance or rejection of the employer's offer of settlement of the dispute."

Once the strike weapon is placed in the hands of union leaders, the members are powerless to do anything except what their leaders tell them to do. Strikes are sometimes continued for months with no opportunity for the members to vote on an employer's offer of settlement.

Sen. Mundt's bill is designed to strengthen democratic processes within labor organizations and to protect union members against unjustifiable pay losses in strikes through providing for impartial secret strike ballots.

Settlement Procedures

The bill provides that before a strike could be called a vote by secret ballot would have to be held on acceptance or rejection of the employer's offer. Voting would be supervised by an election committee consisting of one union representative, one employer representative and a third member agreed upon by the first two.

No strike ballot could be taken until after at least 60 days of honest collective bargaining negotiations in an atmosphere free of a strike threat. The effect would be to prevent union negotiators beginning bargaining talks with a strike authorization in their pockets.

"The bill," Sen. Mundt told the Senate, "is sound and workable and will not interfere with, nor diminish, the legitimate exercise of the right to strike, but will afford protection for the effected workers, employers and the public against arbitrary and unreasonable strike action."

Unless something is done throughout organized labor to make all union leaders responsive to the wishes of their members—as is done now in many of the larger and more democratically operated unions—abuses by unscrupulous labor bosses can do further serious damage to labor unions and the national welfare.

Posters Warn License Need for Fishermen

A new warning to fishermen to buy licenses now is being posted in public places near the water for the benefit of fishermen, according to E. M. Spratt, director of law enforcement of the Game and Fish Commission.

The large placards remind that a fishing license is required to fish in salt or fresh water, unless:

1. You are under 17 or over 65 years of age.

2. You fish on property which you own or upon which you reside.

3. You fish with a trotline, throwline or ordinary pole and line having no reel or other winding device attached if you are fishing in the county in which you reside.

4. You have a commercial fisherman's license. But if you have a commercial license, then you must: a) observe commercial size limits; b) have a license for your boat, trawl, oyster dredge or nets of any kind (if you use them).

If you are in doubt about your need of a fishing license, then see your game warden.

The current fishing license is in effect until August 31, when new licenses must be procured.

262,420 Expected to Enroll in First Grade in Texas in September

This September, 262,420 children are expected to enter the public schools of Texas for the first time, according to estimates of the Texas Education Agency. Estimates are based on births six years ago, immigration estimates and projected birth-to-death ratios.

Nearly all public school districts in Texas require proof-of-age in the form of a birth certificate or a suitable certified copy stating that they are six years old on or before September 1.

During July and August, because of the increased demand for birth certificate copies, the Division of Vital Statistics of the Texas State Department of Health is one of the busiest places in Texas.

At the peak periods more than a thousand requests for certified copies must be processed daily.

After the request is made with the correct information fee properly accounted, a prepared which serves as a of the transaction and an locating the original record.

A special searching crew personnel are needed during peak periods—locates the birth certificate from information furnished on the record.

Unless there is a complete such as incorrect or incomplete information, searching is short while by using an especially designed for searches.

The original certificate is stated, officially signed and mailed to the person requesting the copy.

A record is kept of the action for accounting with appropriate listings.

Parents who have a child in the first grade this year check with the superintendent of school regarding local regulations.

A certified copy of a birth certificate can be obtained from a local register county clerk, or the Texas Vital Statistics of the Texas Department of Health, 415 5th Street, Austin, Texas.

Enclose one dollar with child's name, date and birth, and the parents' name.

Texas traffic crashes have increased more than 2,300 lives a year during the past five years.

It's the rich who don't care to ask the store clerk to give him something cheaper.

Refreshing Change

"Too often the pressure groups measure the suitability of a lawmaker by the number of times he voted 'right' with them. Just as frequently, politicians go before the voters to boast of their 'rightness' with labor, the farmer, the veteran, or whoever.

"It would be refreshing for a change to see a candidate get up and contend that he had tried for the last two or four or six years to vote 'right' with the United States.

"This country will be moving toward real political maturity when men seeking office are judged on this broad plane, rather than by the narrow gauge of service to limited interests.

"But, for the most part, neither the politicians nor the people they represent seem close today to the threshold of that maturity." —Waltham, Mass., News-Tribune.
