It's National Library Week; Library Here Sets Open House

Muleshoe Area Library, always, free and always open to the public, will hang out a special welcome sign Tuesday in observance of National Library week.

People are invited to visit the library between 9 a. m. and 1 p. m. and have coffee and cookies at the library, provided by the Muleshoe Study Club, one of the library's sponsoring groups.

"Have your coffee break Tuesday at the library," is the word of Mrs. Rufus Gilbreath, president of the study club.

Also at the library for the day will be the Bookmobile, and both Muleshoe Area Librarian Anne Camp and Bookmobile Librarian Georgia Pena will be on hand to greet people. In fact, area people are invited to visit the library throughout the week.

Gordon Doss, member of the Muleshoe Toastmasters Club, placed third in the district contest at Plainview this past week with a serious speech. The local club will have a ladies' night at Paul's Restaurant Monday night at 7:30 p. m., according to Delbert Barry, president.

Five members of the Muleshoe Jaycees represented the local club at the Texas State convention of Jaycees in El Paso Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Going from here were the club president, Kenneth Henry and Mrs. Henry D. and Mrs. Jerry Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wingo, Mr. and Mrs. Elton DeVaney and Roger Gorrrell.

State Welfare Checks Total $100,000

Bailey county people who are on state welfare rolls for one reason or another receive $101,449 a year, but this figure is considerably below the amounts paid in some Texas counties.

Bianche Dodgen, case worker for the State Welfare Department whose territory includes Lamb and Bailey counties, gave the $99,000 figure as shown in the annual report, issued several weeks ago.

The organization is strictly a state program, and funds are provided by the State and not by the county, it was pointed out. The county merely provides "interview space" for those who appear before Mrs. Dodgen.

Alfalfa Fields Struck By Aphid, Poison Urged

A tiny little insect of the louse family, the aphid, has struck Bailey county alfalfa fields, and is making serious inroads, says County Agent J. K. Adams.

The county has 3000 to 4000 acres planted to alfalfa, much of which is dehydrated here and sent to eastern areas for marketing.

The aphid is called the most serious threat to alfalfa.

However, Adams says it can be controlled by the use of Dison, applied at the rate of 10 pounds per acre and "watered in" to make the plant poisonous to the insect.

Adams says some alfalfa growers have hesitated to use the poison while stock are feeding on the legume or if it is to be cut right away.

However, he says he has the word of Estes Chemical Co. that the crop may be harvested or grazed immediately after applying the chemical. The company has assured him that the poison is fatal to aphids but has no effect on livestock.

Hit, Run Driver Is Arrested

A woman driver who banged her automobile into the rear of a station wagon on SH 214 north of Morton and then sped away was picked up in Friona by City officer Travis Clements, son of Bailey County Sheriff Dee Clements.

But first she stopped in Muleshoe at a radiator repair shop to have a hole repaired in her car's radiator.

Driver of the station wagon, whose name was not learned here, managed to reach a telephone and called officers here who set up road blocks south of town.

However, the woman had already pulled into Muleshoe and had stopped to get the repair work done on her car before the officers here were contacted.

Officers here said they did not learn the reason the woman gave Friona officers for leaving the scene of the accident.

Planting Time Nears; Moisture Shy But Sub-Moisture Still Adequate

Planting time is at hand, and farmers are getting eager. County Agent J. K. Adams calls it "anxious" to get at the chore.

Two things, however, are holding up the planting operations:

1. Dry weather
1. Cold soil.

Despite the fact that rains this spring have been slow in coming and have been of the frugal variety when they do come, Adams says the soil is as good or better than average, says the county agent.

Irrigation farmers are not too had a shape, but the dry-land farmer (and that means 130,000 acres) is pretty well stymied. "He is doing all he can," says Adams. "About all he can do now is wait. His land has been prepared and he has kept the land from blowing as well as is humanly possible."

Alfalfa farmers are plagued by aphid infestation, and the rancher is bothered by prairie dogs to add to farming woes. (See stories on this page.)

Farmers, says Adams, have started putting corn into the ground and considerable interest is being shown in this crop — perhaps considerably more interest than usual, because much of this year's crop will go to the Frío trade, Adams estimates from 3000 to 4000 acres will be planted to this chip-producing vegetable in Bailey county this year.

Some farmers, eager to get their "biggest" crop into the ground, have planted grain sorghum, but the county agent points out that "they are running the risk of blasting in the heads, due to extremely early planting, which is followed by hot weather." The county grows almost twice as much grain sorghum each year as cotton to make it the biggest crop, acreage-wise, in the county.

Adams explained that "the

Adams says pre-irrigation on the 170,000 irrigated acres in the county is "in full swing on all irrigated farms, and many farmers have already put down herbicides, followed by pre-irrigation, and now the ground is being stirred by rotary hoes to get a thorough mixing of those herbicides."

The extremely warm weather (the thermometer neared the 100 mark this past week) "is making some farmers anxious to plant cotton soon."

Adams pointed out, however, that hundreds of tests and demonstrations have "caused agriculturists to insist that the ground temperature should be about 65 degrees at eight-inch depth for a five-day period prior to planting."

He puts it like this: "Authorities say the rule of thumb for determining planting time is this: A 65-degree reading at eight-inch depth in the bed for five successive days. Then it's cotton-planting time."

Cotton is the county's second biggest crop. Total acreage this year will run to around 107,000 acres. "Turned-back" cotton land from other counties boosted the county's official allowable to 103,786 acres, according to ASCS figures.

Prairie Dogs Hit Ranches

Come May 11, and war is going to be declared on a number of Bailey county "towns."

The "towns" in this case are prairie dog towns, and there are a lot of them. And they're causing havoc in a number of places throughout this area, says J. K. Adams, county agent.

Accordingly, the federal government will declare war on the pesky, pasture-ruining rodents and their relatives, the gophers, in a one-day rodent control demonstration southeast of Muleshoe.

A specialist from the Rodent Control Service of the U. S. Parks and Wildlife Bureau, will be here May 11 to put on the (See RANCHES Page 5)

United Fund Here To Aid Girls' Camp

Muleshoe Area United Fund has granted $4000 to aid in expansion of Camp Rio Blanco for Girls Scouts, it was announced this past week by Robert Hooten, UF budget and admissions committee chairman.

The grant, the first capital investment gift approved by Muleshoe's two-season-old organization here, was made at a meeting of the board recently. Mary Anderson, Camp Rock Girl Scout Council district advisor, and Mrs. Charles Mayhugh, neighborhood chairman, both from Muleshoe, explained the need for the funds.

It was explained that "due to limited facilities at the camp with the present number, there is always a lengthy waiting list, and some have to be turned away each year because of lack of accommodations."

Girls planning to attend camp this year "have been asked to make their reservations now in order to be able to attend. Many girls from the Muleshoe area will be vying with girls from the balance of the council for a place in the six-camp sessions, the leaders explained.

Four main structures are proposed under the Camp Rio Blanco Capital Fund campaign. These include a lodge and dining hall with staff housing, an infirmary and quarters for kitchen personnel. A modern lodge, dining and kitchen build-

This week — at least by the last of the week — should see scores of planters at work in Bailey county fields. Around May 1 is the usual peak period for planting of grain sorghum here.

Adams put it like this: "Most farmers will be planting pre-irrigated ground as April fades and May comes into the picture."

Vegetables also are moving into the picture as April nears an end. Potatoes are popping through the ground.

And some tomatoes have been planted, it is reported. From all appearances, the county's tomato acreage will be as large as last year even though labor availability is in doubt.

As spring advances, the range cattle-feeding problem lessens. Some range cattle are finding a few weeds, and some ranchers "are beginning to skip days on their feeding calendar because cows find enough weeds to satisfy their needs; they simply aren't coming up for their feedings."

One of the interesting vegetable projects this year is an 85-acre crop of okra which Leo Scoggins and Verney Towns have contracted to grow. The okra will be sold to a grower in Georgia.

Although a good two-inch rain would brighten the area's outlook, the situation is not desperate at the present time although continued drought will put the dry-land farmer in a bind.

It's Ancestors Probably Date From Rabbit Kin

Somewhere back in the early days of cat-hood, a rabbit and a cat probably crossed and the result is a bob-tailed cat that has hind legs like a rabbit but otherwise looks more like a cat.

That's a Manx, listed in the dictionary as originating on the Isle of Man. And the dictionary also says it has a "tail containing only about three vertebrae."

Anyway, there's such a cat-rabbit in Muleshoe. It's owned by the Hollie Francis family, at 621 West 6, and they've named her "Spits" because that's just what she does when somebody strange comes around — she spits.

Otherwise she's as nice a little cat as you ever saw. But she likes to hop around the back yard on those strong back legs, looking for all the world like a nice black and white bunny. But meet her head on, and she's a cat.

The Francis family got her in Plainview, and they say she's not "pure" blood, but then, as Francis says, "there's probably no such thing as a part Manx; she's either all or none."

United Fund Here To Aid Girls' Camp

ing of 9000 square feet will furnish dining space for 250. It also will serve as a recreation area for large groups, and will be set off by a large fireplace. In the basement under the dining hall it is a staff lounge is planned and a bedroom for the camp handyman. The 1000-square-foot recreation area here will serve also as a storm shelter and winterized camp unit with a heating system.

The campaign will seek to raise $155,000 by voluntary subscriptions. Contributions are sought on the basis of three-year pledges, payable quarterly, monthly, semi-annually or annually.

RABBIT OR CAT? - Neither but if you see "Spits" from the rear she looks like a rabbit — bunny tail, strong back legs and all. Frontwise, she's all cat. This Tabby is owned by the Hollie Francis family, and she's being held (against her will) by Jimmy Francis. (Journal Photo)

County Has Had 17 Accidents, Nine Injured

Through March, Bailey County has had 17 rural highway accidents this year, injuring nine persons. No one was killed, however.

The figures were released this past week by the Texas Department of Public Safety from the Lubbock office.

Four of the nine persons injured in March accidents were property damage accidents to $5700. Total property damage for the year amounted to $14,915.

The report shows that 1964 was the bloodiest year on record for Texas highways when 3,335 persons were killed and 181,081 persons were injured. Property loss amounted to $485.8 million.

During March, Cochran county had three accidents resulting in one death and five injuries. Hale county had 16 accidents last month with three persons injured, and Hockley county reported seven accidents which left one dead and two injured. ### Crops and Robbers

Step the Alfalfa Weevil

The weevils have gotten so far around here, we had to go from alfalfa to another crop. We're trying timothy-clover and sudan-sorghum-corn and hope some of them will do.

So say farmers on the majority of the alfalfa-growing areas of the United States. The weevil has hit - hard - and dairy and beef farmers are being hurt. Alfalfa may be looked down upon by some farmers, but in value of production, it is fourth most important field crop grown in the United States. Value of the alfalfa grown is exceeded only by corn, cotton and wheat, in that order.

But now a voracious insect, the larvae of the alfalfa weevil, threatens to eat American farmers out of the practice of growing alfalfa.

Unless steps are taken now, more and more growers may be forced to turn to other crops. For example, alfalfa acreage in Georgia (40,000 acres before the weevil appeared) has been cut 60% to under 16,000 acres. Similarly, North Carolina farmers cut their alfalfa acreage from 90,000 to 40,000 acres, and in North Dakota, as many as 100,000 acres have been destroyed in a single year.

In Alabama, Connecticut, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Mississippi, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, South Carolina, and Tennessee, where the weevil has recently become a costly problem, farmers are concerned in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, the weevil has been considered a major problem for a number of years, and has caused a noticeable reduction in hay quality.

Up to 1963 a satisfactory level of control was achieved by chlorinated hydrocarbons, such as dieldrin and heptachlor. Then two things happened: weevils developed resistance to chlorinated hydrocarbons, and new methods of detection revealed Kathie V. Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore, was seen on Amarillo television Thursday night as a sponsor on the Corps of Cadets of West Texas University.

Attending the Annual State First Baptist Girls Auxiliary Queen's Court at Howard Payne College in Brownwood were five GA queens. They were Rene Howell, Beverly Phipps, Jan Everett, Linda Fowler and Johna Shelton. Along with two counselors, Mrs. J. Lewis Morris and Mrs. Arch Fowler.

demonstrations. He will hit where the towns are biggest, on the McMurtry ranch 12 miles southeast of Muleshoe. The expert also will journey to adjacent farms and ranches and set off more of the deadly (for prairie dogs) charges calculated to wipe out whole towns.

All farmers and ranchers who are having prairie dog or gopher problems are asked to be on hand, and any farmer who needs poison or the sulphur cartridges is asked to contact the county agent at the demonstration. The cartridge system,

'Calmness' Urged By Gov. Lubbock, Book Of Civil War Sessions Reveals

AUSTIN - "I trust, gentlemen, that your deliberations will be conducted with calmness and ability," thus spoke Gov. F. R. Lubbock Nov. 4, 1863 before a joint session of the 10th Legislature, according to the recently published House Journal of the 10th Legislature, regular session, Nov. 3, 1863 to Dec. 16, 1863. (Austin) Texas State Library, $5.50.

Dr. Dorman H. Winfrey, director and librarian, Texas State Library, said this was the sixth journal of the Civil War Legislative manuscripts to be published by the Archives Division since 1963. Four volumes were devoted to the Ninth Legislature and last January the proceedings of the Senate of the 10th were printed.

Speaker of the House of Representatives, Ben Barnes, De Leon, who represents District 64 (Runnels, Coleman, Brown and Comanche counties) and author of the introduction, pointed out that the career of Governor Lubbock as governor was ending and his new assignment as a soldier in the Confederacy was just beginning (he served as aide - de - camp to President Jefferson Davis and was captured and imprisoned in Fort Delaware for several months.)

James M. Day, State Archivist, who edited all six volumes, said "efforts were made to locate all speeches, committee reports, and other pertinent material, but this sometimes met with no success." Two called sessions of the 10th will be published at a later date "as funds are available," the archivist remarked.

Speaker Barnes (99th Legislature) noted that the organization of the House of Representatives was accomplished with comparative ease. Candidates for the speakership were M. K. Scouts; director of the Salvation Army Advisory Board. This past year he served on the legislative committee of the TSTA; Civil Defense Chairman, District 14, P-TA. He still serves on the state TSTA legislative committee.

He and his wife Frances have two children, both of whom attend Edgemere School. Steve is a 4th grader, and Patty is a 1st grader.

Manly has held many professional and civic offices, including president of the East Texas School Masters' Club, president of TSTA, District I, president, Polk County Teachers Association; served on Committee of 25; president of TSTA District XII; president, Corrigan Lions Club; deputy district governor, Lion Club, Director of Edna Lions Club, vice - chairman of Edna Boy Scout District.

He is a member of the Rotary Club in Plainview; director, United Fund; on the district executive committee of Boy

Adams says, is now the accepted way for getting rid of the pests.

The county agent serves as a kind of "dispensing agent" for the poison and farmers and ranchers who need such poison are asked to contact Adams.

"The prairie dog problem is becoming serious on some ranches," Adams explained, "and now is the time to get rid of the rodents."

The groups will participate in performances of concert, sightreading, solos and ensembles.

Sponsors accompanying the group will be Mrs. D. B. Lancaster, Mrs. Dottie Humiston, Mrs. Horace Hutton, Mrs. Lonnie Bass, Mr. and Mrs. James Crane, and Mrs. B. A. Dearing.

The group will return Sunday May 2.

there was sadness in the Legislature other than the news from the Civil War for the 10th Legislature was called upon to pass resolutions on the death of that great leader, General and President Sam Houston.

The volume closes with a December 15, 1863 letter from Governor Pendleton Murrah to members of the House. The letter was a veto message concerning a bill entitled an act to regulate publication (in newspapers) in certain cases.

Waco's Texian Press, cited in the 'new' historical press in Texas, published 400 copies of the House Journal of the 10th Legislature, the 34th publication of the Texas Library and Historical Commission. The edition contains 288 pages and eight sketches by Maury Lloyd of Austin.

Persons desiring to purchase a copy of the journal should send a check or money order ($5.61) to: Archives Division, Texas State Library, Austin, Texas 78711.

Science Church Study: Victory Over Death

The Christian's approach to final victory over death will be a central theme at all Christian Science churches this Sunday. The subject is "Probation After Death". One of the Bible selections to be read is from Galatians: "He that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting."

Also included in the Lesson - Sermon will be these lines from the denominational textbook: "Emerge gently from matter into Spirit. Think not to thwart the spiritual ultimate of all things, but come naturally into Spirit through better health and morals and as the result of spiritual growth. Not death, but the understanding of Life, makes man immortal" (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 483).

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Of Law and Love

"Position is Everything" — To a certain young housewife, there is special meaning in the adage that "position is everything in life." Injured while shopping, she lost a claim for damages simply because of her position — her physical position — at the moment of the accident.

It happened this way: Standing near the checkout counter in a market, she decided to hand the cashier an extra package she was carrying. She stepped into the cashier's booth, stumbled over an obstruction, and fell down hard.

As a rule, a shopper has a favored legal status. Classified as an "invitee" (or "business visitor"), she is entitled to have substantial care taken for her safety.

But that status continues only so long as she stays where she belongs, within the area of invitation. Outside that area, she loses her favored status. Her chance of collecting damages, in case of injury, is automatically reduced.

In the above case, the housewife stepped out of bounds when she entered the cashier's booth. Result: she lost her status and lost the lawsuit that followed.

How far does the area of invitation extend? Farther, of course, than the precise point of purchase. For instance, you are still within its protection while entering or leaving the store in the normal manner.

Thus, in a case involving negligence on the part of a bank, damages were awarded to a man injured while entering through the bank's front door. But damages were denied to a woman injured while entering a restaurant through the side shipping door, obviously not meant for public use.

Suppose you want to use the telephone or a washroom? Does the area of invitation reach that far?

Much depends on the nature of the store. Facilities that would be considered public in a department store may be considered private — for use of employees only — in a dress shop or a pharmacy.

Merchants know they have less legal responsibility in out-of-bounds areas. Often, for that reason, they make less effort to keep the floors safe and the lighting adequate.

So if you should stray, be sure to keep a sharp lookout for hazards. Far better than winning damages is not getting hurt at all.

A. Alvin Keswater, Pastor
Church Of The Nazarene
Muleshoe, Texas

Ours is the greatest city, country, state, and nation of the world. I surely wouldn't want to live anywhere else in the world. Also God has been good to the United States. I believe its because of the protection and love of god that we're the greatest nation of the world.

Not all of yesteryears' pioneers were religious, nor could they pray in public as Lincoln, yet because of the good, spiritual people, we, you and I, have become recipients of His goodness as was the case of Solomon, because of his father David's sake.

However we seem to be regressing spiritually. Prayer and Bible reading has been revokled in school class room. Crime is on the rampage. Morality is stepping low. The imaginations of man's heart is more evil than ever before. All the while, more and new churches spring up. Never were there more church members than now. WHY IS ALL THIS?

I believe we need to heed the exhortation of Proverb 14:34 Righteousness exaltheh A Nation, But Sin Is A Reapoch To Any People". You and I, my friend, are responsible for the spiritual tide of this generation. Let personal righteousness be your example. Every day of the week. Not just church membership and attendance, but let us practice Godly living daily in all phases of our lives.
