The Tragic Twins—Disappointment and Failure

Disappointment and failure are two of the saddest words in any language because they loom large and stand in the way of success. To both old and young, success is important. During youth, however, hopes and emotions are high, and it takes only something very small to burst a dream. A very trivial subject may seem to be a tragedy. Life becomes dark and depressing, whether it be in losing a football game, in failing a test, or in losing a boy friend (or girl friend).

In time, though, all the hurts will be healed. With a little sympathy, and perhaps, a "lot of tears," disappointment and failure can be forgotten. If we have faith we can succeed. Our trials can bring triumph, too. All our experiences combine to prepare us for the future. There will be many disappointments in our lives, as we become adults, we must grow and learn. Yes, we must accept what we cannot change, but we can improve what we do have.

Student Council News

The Student Council met Nov. 7. The meeting was opened with prayer; the roll was called, and minutes were read and approved. The business discussed concerned Slave Week which will be held November 21-23. Advice to the girls: save your dollars or carry your own books!

Words of Sympathy

On behalf of the student body and faculty, we want to express our deepest sympathy to Coach Amonett in the loss of his mother. Too, we express sympathy to the family of Harvey Bryant. Mr. Bryant was an enthusiastic supporter of our Wildcat team, and his absence will be deeply felt.

Callaway Receives Honor

On November 2, Wendell Callaway, accompanied by Mr. Hesse, attended the concert by Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians held at the Wilberger Memorial Auditorium in Vernon.

Fashions

Have you noticed the latest fashions? For some, they may be new, but for others they are very familiar. As you have probably guessed, I'm speaking of the fashions of the 1920's and 1930's. The knickers are one of the biggest fashion rages on the college campus today. Mae Murray boosted the knicker to a rage in 1925. During this time the screen stars were setting the styles. Greta Garbo's hats slouched, and so did everyone else's. Garbo makes this hat a mystery even in 1960. Katherine Hepburn, in 1933, blew about in the oddest clothes. Today her boyish look—turtle necks, slacks, boots—is natural. This shows us that the world isn't changing nearly so much as some people may think.

Homemaking Tips

"Orlon Sayelle" is a new fiber in knitwear on the market this fall. Look for it on labels in sweaters.

"Urethelano" foam insulation is now being used in the trucks and trailers that bring frozen foods to us. Ask about the insulations in the next refrigerator you buy; it is being used in the new models and it is twice as efficient as ordinary insulation.

Book Report Time?

If you are looking for a book to report on or for one to read for enjoyment, we have several new books in the library. One of them is on our President; another is on his first lady, Mamie.

Help Wanted

Students, the Wildcat is your paper. As staff members, we want to publish a paper that will interest our readers—both young and old. We want to present the news as it happens; we want it to be interesting and informative.

Hits and Misses

Hi! Back again this week with the "Hits and Misses" and that seems to be just about the thing in dear old CHS this week. Faunceine, why were you so angry Monday morning? Where was George Sunday? The scandal knows! Margie and Carol must have really had a ball at West Texas over the week end. They came home with stars in their eyes. The Crowell girls seemed to have run into a little rough weather Sunday afternoon. They did not let CHS down, though. Kay, why were you so happy Friday night? Seen at the Vernon football game were Gaye-Jim Mac, Wesley, "Boob," Carole, Earlyn, Elly, Kay and Faunceine. They all were having a grand time. Burr!! Carole, are you going into the filling station business? The scandal suggests that you dismiss the idea and take up big game hunting.

Menu

Monday, Nov. 14: hot biscuits, steak, gravy, corn with peppers and pimiento, candied sweet potatoes and banana pudding.

Tuesday, Nov. 15: corn meal muffins, pinto beans, kraut and viennas, cheese and crackers, beet pickles and fresh fruit slices.

Camp Ford Held Yankees In northeast Texas, near Tyler in Smith County, you can see the site of an old Confederate prison, Camp Ford, where 2,000 to 6,000 Federal prisoners were held from 1862 to 1865.

Major General Richard Taylor and his Confederate troops attacked the invading Federal forces of General Banks and imprisoned thousands at Camp Ford. This battle ended all Federal attempts to invade Texas.

Buffalo Tracks at Colorado

"Seven Wells" was the last watering hole for the buffalo and their tracks still are imprinted in the sandstone rock. This old watering hole is known for its scenic beauty and its seven natural unfailing fresh water wells.

 In accidents which cause injury—but not deaths—traffic violations are involved in about 80 per cent.
 In non-injury accidents, 81 per cent involve traffic violations.
 On an overall basis, traffic violations are present in about 85 per cent of all Texas rural traffic accidents, fatal or non-fatal.
 The association study is based on DPS figures for 1958, the last complete statistical year.

90% of All Fatal Accidents Involve Traffic Violation

Over 90 per cent of fatal accidents on Texas highways involve a traffic violation for which a ticket could be issued—if the driver at fault is not a victim.
 A study of Department of Public Safety traffic reports by the Association of Texas Fire and Casualty companies shows that only one time in 12 is there no moving traffic violation in fatal rural accidents.
 The Association's study found: In one-automobile fatal accidents, 84 per cent involve traffic violations.
 In fatal accidents involving two or more automobiles, statistical experience shows there are violations more than 99.5 per cent of the time.

The deadliest traffic crashes in two different types of highway tragedies in Texas occurred within 15 miles of each other, although 20 years apart, near the city of Alamo, in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. In March, 1940, a train-truck collision at Alamo, on U. S. 83, killed 29 persons. That is still the worst single highway crash in Texas history, and ranks as the second worst of its type in the entire United States. In February, 1959, some dozen miles southwest of Alamo on U. S. 281, 10 persons were killed in the smashing crash of two passenger cars, the greatest toll in the collision of two passenger cars in Texas history.

Health Department Terms "Painful" Label Inaccurate

You've heard it or read it dozens of times. . . .

A youngster is bitten by a dog or cat which promptly disappears. A public appeal is made for help in locating the offending animal, lest the child has to unnecessarily take the "painful" rabies shots.

State health officials are the first to agree that such public appeals are highly beneficial. But those same officials do not mince words in denouncing the "painful" label as grossly inaccurate. They are no more painful than any other immunizing injections, and less so than some shots which are accepted with philosophical cheerfulness.

Ask Dr. A. B. Rich, director of the State Health Department's veterinary public health division, or F. W. Huff, a laboratorian who in his career of some 30 years has autopsied well over 97,000 animal heads for rabies. Both men can speak with the authority that comes only with first-hand experience.

Once while in private practice, Dr. Rich examined a dog for tonsillitis. The very next day the animal displayed typical signs of rabies. Since he had a scratch on his hand, prudence demanded that Dr. Rich take the shots. He says he found them to be almost painless beyond the initial brief prick of the needle.

Huff echoes the same sentiment. He ought to know—since he has had to take a 21-shot course of treatment on four separate occasions. Anyone who handles his volume of autopsy work — from African lions to Alaskan wolves — is bound to be exposed on occasions.

Has the "pain" label dissuaded anyone from taking the shots when they should have? There is no way of knowing. But Dr. Rich says he can readily imagine how it could happen.

From this point of view, the inaccurate label is dangerous since rabies is endemic over most of Texas — particularly among wildlife, primarily foxes and skunks. A total of 567 positive cases were reported last year, and for the first six months of this year 357 positive cases have been diagnosed.

Rabies vaccination carries a slight risk of reaction, so should never be given thoughtlessly. It should always be given in cases of exposure to an apprehended animal known to be rabid, or an unapprehended animal in regions where rabies is known to exist.

Tammany Hall, local Democratic headquarters in New York City, is named after the Society of Tammany, founded in 1789, as a "fraternity of patriots." The original Tammany, relates World Book Encyclopedia, was a Delaware Indian chief known for his wisdom.

Here! EASIER GOING FOR THE DRIVER AND THE LOAD. LONGER LIFE FOR THE TRUCK!

'61 TORSION-SPRING CHEVROLETS

If you don't think scrapping the front axle has made a world of difference, you haven't driven a Chevy in a while. A few minutes behind the wheel and you can feel why drivers are happier and breakable loads are better protected. But the biggest advantage of all, you'll realize, is that the truck itself (sheet metal, tires, chassis components, everything) takes less abuse. With independent front suspension soaking up road shock and vibration, the truck lasts longer, goes extra thousands of miles before trade-in time. Add that to what everybody's always known about Chevy dependability and you find yourself looking at the soundest truck investment you could bet your business on.

and look! NEW REAR-ENGINE CORVAIR 95's

A panel and two pickups that put a thrifty air-cooled engine in the rear, the driver up front and as much as 1,900 pounds of load space in between! That's more capacity than a conventional half-tonner. Yet these Corvaire 95's are nearly two feet shorter from bumper to bumper. Highly maneuverable. Built to last and bound to save on a busy schedule!

CORVAN—Side doors open a full 49" wide. Loading height is a low 14" lift!

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. VIRGINIA ILSENG

An apple a day may keep the doctor away, but it takes an orange a day or its equivalent to provide the vitamin C recommended for maintaining good nutrition.

A food consumption survey carried out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed that among more than 6,000 U. S. families whose food purchases were studied over a week's time, one in four was not receiving recommended quantities of vitamin C. Except for calcium (obtained largely from milk), this was the nutrient most often short in diets judged in relation to nutritional goals recommended by the National Research Council.

Citrus fruits are rich enough in vitamin C to yield a day's supply in one average serving such as a whole orange or a half grapefruit. But it also is present in significant quantities in cantaloupe, strawberries, potatoes, peppers, turnips, rutabagas, tomatoes, vegetables of the cabbage family like broccoli, Brussel sprouts and spinach, mustard and turnip greens. Of these latter fruits and vegetables, more than one average serving is needed to provide enough vitamin C daily.

Vitamin C is not stored in the body. It should be supplied on a regular day-to-day basis.

Cranberry Muffins

Mix cranberry halves with powdered sugar and let stand while preparing muffin mixture. Sift dry ingredients, add egg, milk and melted shortening all at once; mix until dry ingredients are dampened; do not beat. Fold in sugared cranberries. Fill greased muffin tins two-third full. Bake in moderate oven 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen.

THIS WEEK -In Washington

With Clinton Davidson

The Farmers' Educational and Cooperative Union of America, more commonly known as the Farmers Union, would place more reliance on government-administered programs than either of the other two general farm organizations.

"The keystone of Federal farm policies," says James Patton, Farmers Union President, "should be the preservation, improvement and protection of adequate family farms."

The Farmers Union, smallest of the three farm groups, has approximately 250,000 members in 20 states, chiefly in the mid-section of the Nation. It is older than the Farm Bureau, but younger than the Grange.

Generally regarded as the most liberal of the farm groups in its thinking and policies, the Farmers Union often is also the most militant. It frequently is an advocate of Democratic party policies; seldom a supporter of Republican programs.

Government Help

"Federal farm policies," Patton has said, "should provide legislative and economic conditions which efficient family farmers can earn and get an income for their labor and management and their capital investment and risk, equal to the returns of similar resources in other segments of the national economy."

Equality of income for farmers, compared with city workers, has long been a goal of the Farmers Union. Latest U. S. Department of Agriculture figures show farmers last year had net incomes of a little less than half the national city average.

"Federal programs," Patton insists, "must be provided to establish prices or returns per unit to reach the parity income goal for the family farm production units."

"The minimum fair price guarantee should be made effective to farmers through Government loans, purchase agreements, purchases, income supplement payments, and bargaining devices such as marketing orders, in effective, workable combinations for each of the different commodities."

A Federal Umpire The Farmers Union program calls for a 5-point Food and Fiber Policy that would include establishment by the Federal Government of an annual quantity of each commodity required to meet needs for:

1. Effective commercial demand in domestic markets.
2. Special humane or social market needs for low income and other special groups of consumers.
3. The commercial export market.
4. Needed additions to the national safety reserve.
5. The humane or food for peace export program. The Federal Government, after establishing domestic and export needs, would, Patton proposes, sign each farmer a production goal which would become the maximum he could market in any year.

The greatest need of farmers, Patton contends, is for increased net income, and in seeking farmers should not shun government assistance.

Centralized Government Thrives on Secrecy

"Centralized government thrives on secrecy, as does dictatorship in a totalitarian country. In the aftermath of the second World War, Congress passed a law, which has enabled bureaucrats in the Federal government to withhold information to which the public is entitled. The law has been used even to withhold information from Congress. A right to know law, under consideration by the Federal Bar Association, would correct this and make available all legitimate news to the public."—Beaver Falls, Pa., News-Tribune.
Only twice has a presidential election been thrown into the House of Representatives because no candidate received a majority of electoral votes. That was in 1800, when Jefferson won, and in 1824, when John Quincy Adams was elected, reports World Book Encyclopedia.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Neither Texas civilians nor the armed forces can afford the losses incurred through traffic accidents involving military personnel in the state.
On this note, the Texas Military-Civilian Traffic Safety Council was formed in Austin with a goal of reducing the accidents.
About 200 persons, civilian and military, attended the Council's first meeting, called at the behest of Gov. Price Daniel.
Servicemen have more auto accidents than any other population group in Texas, said Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Department of Public Safety. Last year servicemen drivers were involved in 103 fatal accidents in which 130 persons were killed.
A great many of the servicemen in Texas are in the 18 to 25-year-old bracket, said Gen. Edward T. Williams, Fourth Army commander. People in this age bracket generally are the most inclined to have auto accidents.
Gen. Williams urged vigorous enforcement of traffic regulations so that the driver knows he will be caught and punished if he breaks the law.
Brad Smith, director of the Governor's Highway Safety Commission, outlined the five-point program recommended by the governor to improve highway safety.
1. Driver education for all high school students.
2. A law to permit chemical tests to determine if a driver is intoxicated.
3. At least 200 additional highway patrolmen.
4. Revision of the drivers license law.
5. A system of traffic courts.
WATER PROGRAM STUDIED—Texas' 7-man Water Development Board is considering whether to ask the next Legislature to expand and liberalize its program of lending financial aid to local water projects.
Decision was made at the Board's Oct. 28 meeting.
Board presently has authority to issue $100,000,000 in bonds and use the money to make loans to local governments for water conservation projects. Loans are limited to one-third the cost of the project and cannot be more than $5,000,000 for any one project.
Under study is whether to ask the Legislature to step up the program by authorizing the Board to lend as much as $15,000,000 per project and to issue another $100,000,000 in bonds to purchase water storage space in federal reservoirs.
When the Board was created, the law provided that another $100,000,000 in bonds could be authorized by a two-thirds vote of the Legislature.
DANIEL HONORED—Governor Daniel is the newly-elected chairman of the 16-state Southern Governors Conference.
He is the second Texan in a decade to head the group. Former Gov. Allan Shivers was chairman in 1951-52.
Conferences are devoted to the study of problems which the member states have in common. This year the protection of home industries against ruinous competition from imports has been a prime issue.
Governor Daniel said he felt much could be accomplished by the conferring governors "if we stand together."
HURRY-UP HOSPITALS—With a long, long waiting list of mentally retarded patients, the State Hospital Board is studying short cuts toward providing housing for them.
A contractor-member of the Board presented drawings of one possible approach—semi-permanent one-story, concrete block cottages. They would provide for 40 persons, cost $38,000 apiece and could be ready for occupancy in 20 months.
More than 1,000 children are now on the state homes' waiting list.
Board has authorized getting an estimate of the cost of putting an automatic sprinkling system in the Confederate Home in Austin, now used for mental patients. Home has been called a fire trap, but if it could be made safe, the cost of replacing it could be postponed.
Also voted by the Board was a policy of preventing tuberculosis patients, by force if necessary, from leaving state hospitals until they are well enough not to infect other people.
A recent attorney general's ruling held that the hospital system does have authority to make TB patients stay in the hospital until they are no longer contagious.
EDUCATION SUPPORT SOUGHT—Texans will be penny wise and pound foolish if they try to avoid the cost of establishing a top-notch system of higher education.
This was the theme at an Austin meeting of the members of governing boards of state colleges and universities. A series of regional meetings are planned during October and November to rally public support for better appropriations for state colleges.
Regrettably, the regents pegged Texas state-supported colleges as less than best. A survey was cited showing that 65 per cent of the top jobs in Texas industry are held by graduates of out-of-state colleges. Texas is training the hired hands; other states are training the bosses, said Reagan Houston III of San Antonio.
Texans will pay, said John Newton of Beaumont, whether they ante up for good education or not. In an age of electronics, automation and exotic fuels, good educational and research facilities are a prime attraction for new industries, said Newton.
"Cost of losing major opportunities for growth will be at least as great as the cost of providing what we really need," he said.

mates of the Texas prison system are in "tanks" or dormitories which crowd impressionable young offenders in with hardened criminals, says the chairman of the Department of Corrections.
More housing to correct this situation is urgently needed, H. H. Coffield told an Austin audience. On the bright side, Coffield said the Texas system had pulled up from one of the worst to one of the best in the nation, in the past 10 years—a period when the prison population skyrocketed. Yet per-prisoner cost is far below the national average.
As an "ounce of prevention," Coffield urged citizen support of such local agencies as churches, Scouts and Salvation Army.
Socialism Puts Man's Material Well Being Over Everything Else
It is socialism that subordinates all other considerations to man's material well-being. It is conservatism that puts material things in their proper place, that has a structured view of the human being and of human society, in which economic plays only a subsidiary role.
"Conservatism, therefore, looks upon the enhancement of man's spiritual philosophy. Liberalism, on the other hand, in the name of concern for human beings, neglects the satisfaction of economic as the dominant mission of the state. They are, moreover, in a way so that their characteristic is to harness society's political and economic forces for a collective effort to compel reform.
"The conservative realizes that man's development is his spiritual and material life is not something that can be rectified by outside forces.
"If the conservative is more anxious than his liberal brother to increase social security, it is because he is more than his liberal brother able to spend their earnings when they see fit." —Wayne Dispatch.
The president who served the shortest time in office was William Henry Harrison, who one month after his inauguration died. But World Book Encyclopedia says David Rice Atchison, late president, is supposed served as acting president that day. That was March 4, 1849, Sunday—and Zachary Taylor was to be inaugurated the following day.
The temperature on Tuesday afternoon of 40 Wednesdays last week followed a high 70, low 40, high 70, low 40, high 75, low 45, high 76, low 45.
