Biggest Bass Not the Best In Spawn Test

Medium sized bass are more productive than the larger bass, according to a test run by Harmon Henderson at the San Marcos Hatchery of the Game and Fish Commission. This experiment follows the test made last year on a large female bass, given the name of Frenchie.

The medium sized bass not only are much easier to handle in the hatcheries, but they stay healthier and do not consume as much food as the larger bass, according to Joe Marks, hatchery supervisor. In the test run last year, a female bass weighing 1 lb. 12 oz produced an average of 31,021 bass fry in three spawns. Another bass weighing 3 lbs. 4 oz. produc-ed 44,530. A third bass, weighing lbs. 8 oz. produced 42,024 in four spawns, whereas a 5 lb. 4 oz. bass produced 36,430 in spawns. The 1 lb. 12 oz. bass lost only 4 oz. total weight after spawning, whereas the 5 lb. 4 oz. bass lost 20 oz. In the spring of 1960, Frenchie produced 40,200 bass fry, whereas this year her production was 44,530, or a total of 84,730 for the two-year per-

It is expected that these experiments will be carried on for a period of several years, in an effort to get useful information on bass spawns.
