During the busy holidays, shortcuts to beauty are of great value to every person - boy or girl. Teenagers find so often that just when they want to look their best, out pops a blemish. One way to prevent this is to watch the diet.

More well balanced meals and fewer sundaes would help. In addition, it is important to guard the skin by treating it to a daily routine of care.

One should wash the face at least twice daily, and as an added protection, one should cleanse it daily with a medicated lotion to prevent blemishes and blackheads, while healing those that have already appeared.

Social Security Change Explained

Erton F. Tate, manager of the Wichita Falls Social Security district office, announced this week that the Social Security Administration now considers both the activities of an agent for a farm landlord and the activities of the landowner in deciding whether the owner's farm rental income is covered by the social security

In making the announcement, Mr. Tate stated that previously only the activities of the farm landlord counted in deciding whether the wage earner materially participated on his farm. Tate went on to emphasize that under this more liberal rule, many more farm owners may now be eligible for social security protection.

"As a practical matter," he said, "this means that some farm owners who were previously found ineligible for social security may now qualify." He gave for example, a farm owner who lives in town and under an arrangement with the tenant has an agent supervising the work of the tenant. The agent makes all the impor-tant decisions affecting the pro-duction of the crop. Previously, the farm owner could not receive social security credits for his share of the earnings from the farm. Now through the agent, he materially participates in the farm activities and can receive social security credits.

Mr. Tate stressed that farm landlords whose claim for benefits has been denied because the agent, rather than the owner was supervising the tenant, should get in touch with the social security office. He further added that anyone who has questions concerning his coverage under this new pro-vision should also contact the of-

Views on War Told By Retired Army Man

Wayne Canup of Lubbock, retired Army man and son of Mrs. G. M. Canup of Crowell, expressed his views on the world situation in an interview preceding Veterans Day Saturday, Nov. 11. Mr. Canup believes the world picture is going to be dangerous until people in the West turn more to God. "We must rely more on God, one big step forward if we would just practice the Golden Rule more among ourselves. I don't foresee an atomic war, but I do think there will be more small conflicts throughout the world. An atom war can be prevented if we be strong and remain strong. Then, we can compromise realistically through the United Nations. Things will become stabilized when each big country can inspect the war potential of the others.'

Some Ads Create Yawns

Others Don't Monkey Around

They Effectively Communicate to Make Sales

Advertising is selling through effective use of communication. It's as simple as that, whether services or products are sold. Effective advertising may employ photography, television, radio sound effects, musical jingles, commercial art, or the printed word. It may sell insurance, soap, cereals, banking or trips to Tahiti.

Effectively used, advertising creates new markets faster and at less expense than any other method of selling to the consumer. Properly used it lowers costs ... costs of manufacturing, distribution, buying or financing. The necessity of repeat sales results in consistent product improvement as advertising increases competition through vigorous selling. Effective advertising doesn't monkey around . . . it communicates to sell!

BROKEN BOTTLES: "TRIPLE THREAT" ON OUR HIGHWAYS A triple threat on the football field is fine, but a triple threat on the highway spells trouble. Broken bottles are the "triple threat" of our highways. They are accident hazards to traffic; they injure people who step on them; they start costly and dangerous roadside grass fires. The dangers of the triple threat increase during the football season. The Texas Highway Department asks Texas travelers to dispose of bottles in proper containers. Help keep the "triple threat" on the gridiron—not on the highway.
