Crowell Wildcats to Open 1958 Football Season at Seymour Friday Night

The Crowell High School football team will open its season at Seymour Friday night. Both of these teams won their respective district championships last year. Crowell was defeated by Henrietta in bi-district play and the Panthers went on to the semi-finals of the State race before Terrell defeated them. Both squads lost heavily by graduation, but Seymour was hit the harder of the two. The Panthers have only one regular and eight lettermen returning. Crowell has nine lettermen, four of which are offensive regulars from last year. Seymour was able to defeat the Wildcats by only two touchdowns, 25 to 13, last year. Due to their weight advantage and home field, they will be picked to nose the Crowell boys out again this season. The Wildcats looked just fairly good in their two practice scrimmages with Knox City and Floydada. They scored two times against the Knox County boys and held the opposition scoreless. The scrimmage here with the Whirlwinds last Saturday night was pretty close with Floydada winning 10 to 8. However, Crowell was playing without the services of five regulars: Bradford, David Carpenter, McCoy, Graves and Henry. All but McCoy should be in shape to play against the Panthers at Seymour Friday night.

Don Brown of Truscott Returns from Two Months Trip Abroad

Donald J. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Brown of Truscott, is among the 900 young Americans returning this week from overseas after two months spent in 22 countries under the auspices of The Experiment in International Living. The host countries included all of the major nations of Western Europe as well as Chile, India, Nigeria, Japan and, for the first time, Poland and the U. S. S. R.

Donald B. Watt founded The Experiment and originated the idea of homestays for student exchange programs. Now in its 26th year, The Experiment—an independent, non-profit organization with a year-round program—maintains offices in 20 countries. Experimenters spend a month living with a family, followed by a month of exploring the country and its cultural aspects with the young people of the host family. In addition to the 900 young American participants, over 500 persons from 11 countries came to the United States this year to have homestays under Experiment sponsorship.

Crowell Schools Begin 1958-1959 Term Last Monday Morning with 518 Enrolled

There were 518 children enrolled for the 1958-59 school term last Monday morning in the Crowell Public Schools. This is five less than was enrolled on the first day last year. The primary department had 168, eight less than last year; the intermediate department had 173, two less than last year; and the high school had an increase of five—177.

The periods were shortened on Monday but the regular schedule was followed on Tuesday. The doors open at 8:30 a. m., but classes do not start until 9:00. The time for the noon period is staggered from 11:20 until 12:30 with no group having over 30 minutes. This makes it possible for classes to be dismissed at 3:50. However, the lower grades get out earlier than this.

There have been more children eating in the school cafeteria this year since the new bake-oven has been installed. Prices for these lunches are 32c for the children in the first four grades and 37c in the eight upper grades where they eat regularly. They are 35c and 40c if bought on a daily basis.

New State Requirements

The new State requirements for graduation went into effect this term for the freshmen. According to Supt. Grady Graves, all of these requirements are being met in the local school. Government, world history and two years of natural science, instead of one, are required. All of this year's freshmen are taking government and they will get world history next year. Other requirements are the same as have been in the past: four years of English, one year of American history, and two of mathematics. Five and one-half credits in elective subjects finish out the required 16 credits. Home-making or vocational agriculture can be substituted for one year of science.

All of the freshmen are taking driver education, one of the two semesters this year. This is the first time since 1955 that this course has been offered in the Crowell.

Most Popular Subject

Natural science is a more popular subject for the high school students this year. There are two sections each, in both biology and chemistry. James Welch, who was granted a leave last year to make special preparation in this field at the University of Texas, is teaching these subjects.

Lower Pease River Soil Conservation District News Report

Winter Legumes

Now is the time to start making preparations for planting winter legumes. The two main winter legumes planted in this district are Austrian winter peas and vetch.

Austrian winter peas should be planted from Sept. 1 to Nov. 1, at the rate of 20 to 30 pounds per acre using an ordinary grain drill. Seedbed preparation is the same as for wheat or other small grains. For best results, Austrian winter peas should be properly inoculated before planting. The proper depth of planting varies from 1½ to 2½ inches depending upon the soil.

Vetch should be planted from Sept. 1 to Dec. 1 at the rate of 15 to 25 pounds per acre when drilled alone or 10 to 15 pounds per acre when drilled with small grain. Vetch is often drilled with a small grain such as rye. The small grain serves as a nurse crop for the vetch, protecting it from being washed or blown out while it is small. Vetch should also be properly inoculated before it is planted. The proper depth for planting vetch varies from 1½ to 2½ inches.

Winter legumes are beneficial to the land in several ways. They provide cover for the land during critical seasons of the year as well as adding nitrogen and organic matter to the soil. If good management is practiced, winter legumes can be grazed by livestock and still furnish the land with cover and added fertility. Federal cost share is available for seeding winter legumes. Applications for cost share should be made at the local ASC office.

Home Demonstration Notes

MRS. MARY D. BROWN

We have just returned from a week-long trip to the State 4-H Leadership Lab held in Bastrop State Park. We feel that the boys and girls who attended this lab will all be able to help strengthen 4-H club work in Foard County. It was one of the finest experiences I've ever had and I only wish that every 4-H boy and girl could participate in this type of activity.

Our recipe this week is:

Hot Dog N Rice Bake
3/4 cup ripe olives, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 and 1/2 cups milk, 1 cup grated American cheese, 4 sliced frankfurters, 2 tablespoons diced pimiento, 2 cups cooked rice, 1/2 cup fine dry bread crumbs.

Cut olives into large pieces. Melt 2 tablespoons butter and blend in flour, salt and mustard. Gradually blend in milk, and cook and stir until mixture boils and is thickened. Stir in cheese, frankfurters, pimiento, rice and olives, mixing lightly. Turn into shallow baking dish. Blend crumbs and remaining melted butter, and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes, until thoroughly heated. Makes 4 servings.

Texas Now Facing Unusual Situation Tax-Wise

"At the moment the great state of Texas finds itself facing a situation which in some cases now is and will be duplicated in other states and the nation as a whole in the very near future. . . . The Texas State Tax Study Commission estimates that by 1965 the under-18 age group will have increased by 24 per cent over 1956 and the over-65 group by 25 per cent. But the taxpaying 18-65 group is expected to rise only 15 per cent.

"To provide necessary government services without adding to the tax burden will require wise and economical handling of tax revenues. . . ."—West Springfield, Mass., Record.

John Adams, second president of the U. S., once volunteered to fight with the Marines during a sea engagement in 1778.

Savings Increased

The Government has confirmed what many business men have believed all along — people save more of their cash in the fourth quarter of this year.

The Federal Home Loan Board reported that savings in the cash type savings accounts Government savings bonds and insurance, were at a record in the first quarter, higher than even the war-time peak reached in 1944.

Sir Francis Drake claimed he is now the state of California. Queen Elizabeth in 1578.

FREE CLINIC!

Mr. Walter S. Cochran will be the Texan Courts on Wednesday, Sept. 10th, from 10:00 a. m. to 12:00 Noon.

Old before its time?

Just like people, a tire can get old before its time. For example, the life of a tire may be shortened as much as 25% merely as a result of chronic under-inflation. Over-inflation is bad, too.

Best way to avoid premature aging of your tires is to let your Phillips 66 Dealer take care of them for you. He'll check them frequently, make sure they're properly inflated, and repair them if necessary. And, if a tire becomes unsafe, he can provide a new and dependable Phillips 66 Action-Tread Tubeless Tire.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Tex.—Texas' 56th Legislature, though not yet sworn in, already casts a long shadow over Statehouse activities.

Its membership was settled—or virtually settled—with the counting of the Democratic second primary votes. A few will have Republican opponents in November.

Of more interest now is how the 56th will lean on key issues. Political prophets already are taking pulse readings and pronounce it likely to be more liberal than its predecessor. But not predominantly liberal. A big influx of newly-elected liberals from Houston is expected to be offset by Dallas conservatives, plus others from small towns.

On next session's crucial issue—finance—everyone's crystal ball seems a bit cloudy. Next Legislature will have to grapple with a financial deficit which the Legislative Budget Board has predicted may call for as much as $140,000,000 in additional tax revenue.

Winning candidates, in both their speeches and newspaper announcements, were understandably skittish and unspecific in making specific proposals for dealing with this gigantic problem. Many came out flatly against a general sales tax or state income tax. Numerous suggestions were made to balance the budget through "economy in government, elimination of waste, duplication," etc.

Such statements are like the breeze off an iceberg to state departments, many of whom have said they'll be asking for more, not less money, next session. When the showdown comes, decisions will be made largely by the same group who pushed the voting buttons in '57. All told, there'll be 49 new faces among the 181 lawmakers.

Replacing the three retiring senators, Ottis Lock of Lufkin, Searcy Bracewell of Houston and Carlos Ashley of Llano will be Martin Dies Jr. of Lufkin, Robert W. Baker of Houston and Louis Crump of San Saba.

House will have 46 freshmen, slightly less than the normal one-third turn-over of its 150 members. Changes result from the retirement of 33 representatives, defeat of 13 others.

MANGLING MATH—When the next speaker of the House of Representatives takes office in January, some confused arithmetic will be cleared up.

A speaker is elected at the start of each regular session by the 150 House members. Support, in the form of signed pledges, is lined up well in advance of the session's start.

This year, when the dust settled from the run-off primary, both contenders claimed victory. Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock, present speaker, said he had 80 pledges. Rep. Joe Burkett of Kerrville claimed 77 pledges. In addition, Burkett said he knew of 15 House members who had made no pledges.

All the claims added to 172 representatives—22 more than the people elected.

BIG DAY DUE—San Antonio, site of the Alamo, may see another lusty scrap Tuesday (Sept. 9), when Texas Democrats of widely varying sentiments gather for state convention.

No one is making any ironclad predictions on what will happen, but pre-convention rumblings promise at least some of the usual fireworks.

A group of conservatives are working on ways to bounce the militantly liberal Mrs. Frankie Real Justification of Social Security Law Explained by C. of C.

The best way to understand the real justification of our compulsory Social Security program, says the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, is to compare it with the purposes of compulsory education.

Both serve the public interest. Thus, in the manner that compulsory education protects the body politic from the bad judgments of illiteracy, the basic purpose of compulsory Social Security is to protect society from the political consequences of leaving millions of elderly persons with no visible means of support, the Chamber points out.

"If we had permitted a large part of today's electorate to remain unable to read and write, incapable even of understanding the basic principles of sanitation, nutrition and public health, then our form of government in this Atomic Age would be doomed if not already dead," according to the Chamber.

"Similarly, if our worthy, growing, experienced and resourceful population were left completely adrift in today's economic tides, we could expect them to take a kind of concerted action that could easily lead to political, social and economic instability."

This line of thinking, the Chamber says, also helps to give perspective to the constant pressure to increase Social Security benefits—and social taxes. For the basic purpose of Social Security is to provide a floor of protection against destitution in old age. It was never intended to meet ALL the economic needs of elderly persons.

Attempts to stretch the Social Security program into a mechanism of total security will rob the individual of the necessity—the incentive—to build additional old-age income protection through his own efforts, the Chamber asserts. "Such attempts also reduce the opportunity for individuals to fashion their own security program to meet their own needs and tastes," according to the Chamber.

While a review should be made of the adequacy of the floor of protection, the Chamber says, it should be kept in mind that although the cost of living has increased, wage levels have been rising too. Actually, wages have been going up almost twice as fast as living costs, and thus the ability of employees to build their own additional old-age income has been improving, and their Social Security benefits increasing.

Executives Expect Their Companies' Sales to Improve

Nation's Business reports that a majority of 157 top executives taking part in a recent poll expect their companies' sales to improve in the next 12 months as compared with the past 12, or at least to hold to the same levels.

FEAR AND FALSE LEADERSHIP

We, in our daily livelihood, have seen the breakdown of the moral and religious values that have made this country great. We have seen our young people come to us mistaking liberty for license, discipline for drudgery, and kindness for weakness. It is apparent that many of them have grown to manhood without any kind of moral or religious guidance, because, they believe they can have a full life on their own terms—on their own ideas of what is right and what is wrong—and what is truth. They are the product of false teaching of leaders who would know better; but through fear of persecution of Christian advocating true religious morality. As we move along through life, we forget that a standard of life is more important than a standard of living; an environment that is forgetting our form of self-government requires self-participation by its citizenry. And—as we become apathetic and indifferent to our political responsibilities, our carelessness and selfishness is shutting out the spiritual values that have been our heritage. We are losing the faith of our fathers. The greatest danger confronting this Nation today comes from within. Our religious illiteracy and our flexible standards of morality are doing more to undermine our Christian way of life than any other actions used against us. The statistics of the FBI, which show a continuous increase in the number of major crimes, broken homes and juvenile delinquency, are the answer to our lack of reverence and respect for the family—our social unit and the basis of our society. It is a fallacy because only times change. The nature of man never changes. Neither does his final destiny. Nor does God's wisdom.

Civil Aviation Makes Amazing Gains in Past Twenty Years

Civil aviation in the United States obtained its "legal wings" when Congress passed the Civil Aeronautics Act 20 years ago this month.

The Act created the Civil Aeronautics Authority, from which has evolved the present Civil Aeronautics Board and the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The five-man CAB is a quasi-judicial body responsible generally for the economic regulation of air carriers. The Civil Aeronautics Administration is the agency responsible for the interpretation and enforcement of rules. The CAA also operates the Federal Airways System.

At the end of 1957 the combined fleets of the nation's scheduled airlines totaled 1,829 aircraft, a 430 per cent increase over the 1938 fleet of 345 planes. Passenger volume swelled 3,678 per cent during the 20-year period — from 1,300,000 in 1938 to more than 49,000,000 in 1957 — putting the air transport industry in first place among common carriers engaged in intercity passenger traffic. And in assuming this leadership the airlines achieved an almost unparalleled safety record to two-tenths of a passenger fatality per 1000 million passenger miles. In addition, airline cargo operations increased from 2,550,000 ton miles in 1938 to 714,437,000 ton miles last year, including 160,689 ton miles of U. S. mail.

A coast-to-coast scheduled flight in 1938 required about 16 hours, carrying 21 passengers. Today the flight is made non-stop in approximately eight hours with a load of 85 passengers.

About Your HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health. HENRY A. NOLLE, D. D. Commissioner of Health.

A special eight-member committee within the State Health Department is now at work trying to unravel one of the knottiest and most perplexing problems of the day: What causes accidents and how can they be prevented?

Accidents are the fourth leading cause of death in Texas and the nation generally. Of all patients in America's 6,000 hospitals, almost seven per cent are victims of accidents. Thirty-two of every 100 patients seen in hospital emergency rooms are accident cases. The care of accident victims in hospitals cost upwards of $350 million every year.

If it were not for preventable accidents, our shortage of hospital beds would not be nearly as acute as it is. At least 50,500 beds are presently devoted to accident patients—beds desperately needed for sufferers of non-preventable chronic diseases.

There is one bright spot in the accident picture, however. State Health Department records show a noticeable decrease in death rates from motor vehicle mishaps for the past few months. Perhaps this is due to state and national educational campaigns.

As for accidents of other types, little improvement can be seen, despite the time and money spent on massive educational drives to alert the public to hazards of their environment. Accidents still happen with appalling frequency even where no hazards exist.

We know the ages most susceptible to accidents, the most prevalent types, and that males are more liable than females. We know the results—how accidents are caused and how they can be prevented. This is the mammoth task assigned to the new health department committee. With each member an authority in his own field, the committee is composed of specialists in nursing, health education, occupational health, statistics, engineering, medicine, health, maternal and child health and foods and drugs.

Studies by competent researchers show that only 15 of every 100 accidents happen purely by chance. The rest are products of human failings—haste, inattention, preoccupation, distraction—all which may result from the emotional strain of anxiety, fear, frustration, hate, aggression or guilt.

As a start on their enormous complex task, the new health department committee will attempt to correlate accidents with logic conditions such as fatigue, temporary stress-produced inattention, impaired vision or hearing, or underlying disease.

Their findings may open up a whole new approach to the control of accidents.

The term, ballot, meaning "the ball," stems from classical Greek jury practice. White means acquittal, black balls, conviction.

"IT IS SO, TOO . . . 'CAUSE I READ IT IN THE PAPER"

Remember when you were a kid, and "I read it in the paper" was the best argument-stopper in the whole world? That simple declaration served as proof enough for anything . . . unless the other guy was a lot bigger and just naturally mean 'boot! There's a good point here . . . and that is that most of us grow up with respect for and genuine trust in what we "see in the paper".

The same is true of advertising. To be certain that your advertising message is seen and remembered . . . put it in YOUR HOMETOWN NEWSPAPER!

Vacation Motor Travel Is Big Business in Texas During Summer

Vacation motor travel is big business in Texas, with nearly ten and a half million tourists spending $531 million as they piled up four billion miles of driving during 1957.

These figures were mentioned this week by J. O. Musick, general manager of the Texas Safety Association, as he warned Texans of the many traffic accidents that occur during summer's peak vacation months.

"Every year, more and more persons take to the open road during the summer months," Musick said. "And each year, more and more of them manage to get themselves injured or killed in traffic accidents while on vacation."

He attributed such accidents to many causes, but listed the principal ones as being:

(1) Excessive speed. Because many vacationers try to cover too much territory in too short a time, speed is an important factor. More than fifty per cent of the drivers in rural fatal traffic accidents are traveling at excessive speeds at the time of the accident.

(2) Alcohol. People on vacation are likely to be in a holiday mood and frequently their pursuit of a good time includes drinking. Drinking and driving motorists are involved in more than a third of all rural fatal traffic accidents.

(3) Laws. Failure to observe traffic signs and laws exacts a high annual toll. About one-fifth of the cars smashed up in rural fatal accidents are found to have disregarded warning or stop signs.

(4) Fatigue. Driving while fatigued is a foolish practice indulged in by vacationers who won't take time out to get sufficient rest. On a national basis, about one out of thirteen drivers involved in fatal traffic accidents are found to be in a physical condition that could be a contributing factor in the accident. In about two-thirds of such cases the drivers are fatigued or asleep.

"Don't turn your vacation dream into a nightmare," Musick said. "Use a few common sense safety rules and courtesy. Be especially conscious of your driving speed—slow down and live!"

Divine Direction

A complicated system has been devised to keep man out of trouble if he loses his sense of direction in space.

The system will be used to keep the new X-15 rocket plane from burning up when it streaks back into the earth's atmosphere during tests next year.

The X-15 will carry a man higher and faster than anyone has ever gone before. The craft is designed to hit at least two thousand miles an hour and climb over 100 miles into the sky.

One of the main problems has been finding a way to let the pilot keep control of the rocket plane during the return flight. The new system, developed by the Sperry Gyroscope Company, uses three gyroscopes and a light-weight computer.

The computer will feed the pilot information he needs to keep the ship on a safe return course. Regardless of his own sensations during space flight, the pilot will know what is happening to his ship.

The problem of guidance in the sky may be new, but the need for guidance along our path on earth is an ancient one. In the sixth century, B. C., the prophet Jeremiah said, "O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself; it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jeremiah 10: 23).

He was saying that human knowledge and wisdom are not sufficient to give man the great moral and eternal principles he must have in order to walk well pleasing to God.

Solomon, the wisest man who ever lived, gave this rule for living: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him (God), and he shall direct thy paths" (Proverbs 3: 5, 6.)

Gerald Smith of Price, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Smith and three sons, Johnnie, Mike and H. L., of Houston spent the Labor Day holidays here visiting their mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Callaway.

The system will be used to keep the new X-15 rocket plane from burning up when it streaks back into the earth's atmosphere during tests next year.

The X-15 will carry a man higher and faster than anyone has ever gone before. The craft is designed to hit at least two thousand miles an hour and climb over 100 miles into the sky.

One of the main problems has been finding a way to let the pilot keep control of the rocket plane during the return flight. The new system, developed by the Sperry Gyroscope Company, uses three gyroscopes and a light-weight computer.

The computer will feed the pilot information he needs to keep the ship on a safe return course. Regardless of his own sensations during space flight, the pilot will know what is happening to his ship.

The problem of guidance in the sky may be new, but the need for guidance along our path on earth is an ancient one. In the sixth century, B. C., the prophet Jeremiah said, "O Lord, I know that the way of man is not in himself; it is not in man that walketh to direct his steps" (Jeremiah 10: 23).

He was saying that human knowledge and wisdom are not sufficient to give man the great moral and eternal principles he must have in order to walk well pleasing to God.

Solomon, the wisest man who ever lived, gave this rule for living: "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart, and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him (God), and he shall direct thy paths" (Proverbs 3: 5, 6.)

Gerald Smith of Price, Utah, and Mr. and Mrs. Barney Smith and three sons, Johnnie, Mike and H. L., of Houston spent the Labor Day holidays here visiting their mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. L. Callaway.

Modern Man's History Dates Back 37,000 Years

Texas now can boast evidence of the longest history of modern man in the world dating over 37,000 years ago. In the July issue of Texas Game and Fish, Bob Slaughter of the Dallas Prehistorical Society shows evidence that for hundreds of years men made annual hunting trips to the Trinity River Valley north of Dallas.

The article, "Probe Into the Past," relates work of archeological teams from Dallas and Fort Worth in finding the earliest carbon-dated evidence of man in America. Carbon-dating devices can indicate the age of objects up to 37,000 years, and the Texas findings go past this limit.

Remains of 20 hearth fires and many animals furnished enough information to determine the size of hunting parties, the luck they had, and what they ate. Flint weapons found indicate the presence of the Clovis culture that dates back 15,000 years.

All this points up the fact that some form of modern man existed in America at the time of the Neanderthal man in Europe, he said.

Besides Mr. Slaughter's article, the July Texas Game and Fish will include other interesting features on the fire ant, boating safety, hawks, the state bass tournament, and the shrimp industry.

FARM SUPPLUS CAN BE USED FOR FOREIGN AID

"The farm surplus, which has been a major domestic headache since the end of the second World War, has emerged as a useful instrument of foreign aid. Farm surplus cannot be used successfully in all countries, but it is as good as dollar grants in many lands, where food is scarce. The cost to the American taxpayer was reflected almost entirely in the year the surplus commodities were acquired. Disposal now involves only shipping charges. Thus the surpluses are taken off the domestic market and made to serve friends abroad with little additional cost to the taxpayer." — Norwalk, Conn., Hour.

Do Not Pick Planting Seed by Looks

Do you choose your planting seed by looks? If so, you are way off, because Lee Coffey, the seed man at Texas A&M College, says you can't tell how a seed will produce by looking at the seed. You must see how it performs in the field. Actually, that's the way certified seed is checked. Field inspectors of the State Department of Agriculture check each field on which certified seed is produced to see that rigid standards are met. In this way you can be sure the seed will live up to the performance that was bred into it.

THIS WEEK —In Washington

With
Clinton Davidson

In Washington this week there is time, and quiet, to reflect on some of the events and personalities which were the distinguishing marks of the 85th Congress.

We who write from Washington tend too often to place great emphasis on the events without adequately reporting on the men, and frequently the women, who influence and guide the actions and decisions of the government.

There are two types of officials in Washington. First, the men whose names are mentioned in the headlines, and, second, the men who make those headlines possible. The latter are at least as important as the former.

The men in the headlines were President Eisenhower, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Defense Secretary Neil McElroy, and Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. All of them did important jobs well.

Cool Heads in a Crisis
For each man in the headlines there were dozens whose hard work and devotion to duty in times of crisis made those headlines possible. Some of those were members of the 85th Congress.

The four named above are in the Administrative branch of government. Few of their decisions and actions which made headlines were taken without having consulted with the important leaders of Congress.

Congress is made up of both Democrats and Republicans and the two frequently have their differences. That can be especially true when we have a Republican President and a Democratic majority in Congress, and it is almost inevitable in an election year.

Congressional unity on important national and international problems was a remarkable accomplishment of the 85th Congress. This credit for that unity belongs in a large measure to four leaders, two from each party.

Johnson, Rayburn, Knowland and Martin.

Those are names familiar to most Americans, but they seldom were in the headlines. Few, even in Washington, know the extent to which they put aside their political differences to close party ranks on issues of great national importance.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson, the Majority Leader, worked closely with Minority Leader Sen. William Knowland on legislation vitally affecting the national interest. The same was true of Speaker Sam Rayburn and Minority Leader Joseph Martin in the House.

All four brushed aside both party and personal interests where the national interest was involved. And, they did it without claiming or expecting personal gain or credit. Without that unity the 85th Congress would have been far less successful in maintaining national unity at a critical time.

The American people, and the other people of the Free World, are fortunate in having men of their ability and high sense of duty in four of the most important official posts in Washington.
