Community Center Nearing Reality

Anyone who didn't see inside the Premier Hotel in the last few years and before it was purchased for the Community Center cannot imagine the changes that extensive planning, hard work and liberal donations of money, work and furniture have done for one of Crowell's landmarks.

A community center which can be used by every age group in Foard County has long been a dream of a few dedicated citizens. Mayor Henry Black, who has a wealth of experience working with young people during his career as a public school teacher, got the ball rolling back during the summer with his vision that the hotel—which had been vacant for years-could be made into an ideal center for community activities. His enthusiasm was soon picked up by other interested people and soon led to a drive for funds to buy the building and re-do it. The cash donations became coming in, as well as donations of furniture and appliances. Then, after purchase of the building, work began on re-modeling.

It isn't finished yet, but when it is completed in the near future, it will be a Community Center of which we all can be proud. It has been a community-wide effort and one that will pay big dividends in the years to come.

Sports in Short

Sports fans, since some of our football players are having a hard time with algebra (but who isn't) I would like to propose a new kind of book which would ask questions pertaining to football. Perhaps this "Algebra for Football Players" will cause our boys to take a new interest in the terror of high school-algebra. Here are some sample questions and

Santa Fe hauls 2.3 million bales of western cotton to markets

King Cotton has moved west.

In 1945, only 36% of the nation's cotton was grown in the West. Today over 62% of it comes from states served by Santa Fe.

This year Santa Fe will haul over 2,300,000 bales of cotton to markets in 34,000 box cars—enough box cars to make up a train 284 miles long.

Hauling cotton and other important crops, materials and products from where they are grown or made to where they are needed is another example of how Santa Fe is meeting the transportation needs of a growing America.

Review: "There is more waste of non Sunday. funds in public schooling than in any other large-scale enterprise in thesse United States. No nation's resources are limitless. And educational expenditures, like all have been visiting Leroy Henry others, must be budgeted and put into some reasonable relationship to other public and private necessities. It is fiscal lunacy to cry, plaintively, 'But can we afford not to'—build a new school swimming pool or band room. Many things in life cannot be afforded. America can afford a decent educational system, but it cannot afford an educational carnival."

Highway Will Never Be 'Adequate'

From the Wall Street Journal: "The more subsidized readbeds we build for the trucking industry the more serious we make the plight of the railroads. And the more highways we build the more more highways we build the more we appear to need because the we appear to need because the light of this appear to the serious turns to this appear and family of Thalia more industry turns to this apparently 'cheap' form of transparently 'cheap' form of trans-portation. That situation continued, it's a safe prediction there Sunday. never will be a time when our existing highways will seem 'adequate.' They'll fill up as fast as we build them."

NEW FACE, SAME SPORTING HEART

We might as well tell you straight off: Corvair's the car for the driving enthusiast. Think that lets you out? Maybe. Maybe not.

Until you've driven one, you really can't say for sure, because Corvair's kind of driving is like no other in the land. The air-cooled rear engine sees to that. You swing around curves flat as you please. You whip through the sticky spots other cars should keep out of in the first place. (Especially this year, now that you can get Positraction as an extra-cost option.) You stop smoothly, levelly with Corvair's beautifully balanced, bigger brakes.

Corvair's found other new ways to please you this year. A forced-air heater and defroster are standard equipment on all coupes, sedans and both Monza and 700 Station Wagons. So are dual sunshades and front-door armrests and some other goodies. You'll note some new styling, inside and out. Nice. And safety-belt installation is easier, too, and cheaper. So you can see we haven't really done much to Corvair this year. Why on earth should we? If this car, just as she is, can't make a driving enthusiast out of you, better take a cab.

CHEVROLET

A New World of Worth

And here's America's only thoroughbred sports car, the '62 CORVETTE. We warn you: If you drive a Corvette after your first sampling of a Corvair, you may well end up a two-car man. And who could blame you?
