Severe Dust Storm Blankets County Sunday Afternoon

A "red norther" blew through Foard County Sunday afternoon carrying large amounts of dust, and high winds which toppled several television antennas in Crowell.

The cold front put a damper on spring-like weather experienced the few days preceding. The fast-moving front brought great clouds of blinding dust which cut visibility to a few hundred yards for a time.

The norther dropped temperatures from the 90-plus reading shortly after noon Sunday to the upper 40's early Monday.

County Needs Rain

The high winds of the past few weeks, coupled with the fast-growing wheat crop, have depleted the surface moisture over the county, and most reports from farmers are that the wheat is beginning to suffer from lack of moisture.

The last rainfall for Foard County was recorded on Wednesday, March 18, when .85 inch fell.

Sherman McBeath Leads in Capture of 27-Barrel Still

A 27-barrel still setup, one of the largest reported in some years, was raided Tuesday of last week by Red River County officers and Liquor Control Board men from Paris, 12 miles south of Clarksville.

Destroyed also were 800 gallons of mash, four separate coolers and four cookers, nine gallons of unstampd whisky being confiscated.

Sherman McBeath, head of the Paris Liquor Control Board office, who led the raid, wrote the News a letter concerning his work on the board. A portion of the letter follows:

"We also captured a 15 barrel rig about three days before we caught this one, in Red River County also. You could not have made me believe that there was this much whiskey being made until I came to East Texas. I'm getting to be a pretty good 'revenue man.' This is one of the biggest stills that has been captured in this part of the state in many a year. We captured 4 illicit liquor stills last month out of my 14 county district and so far this month we have captured 3, 2 of them in Red River County and 1 in Cass County. Most of the time we have to walk anywhere from three, four, or five miles to get to the still and it usually takes anywhere from two to three days lying on the still before we are able to catch the operators."

Two surrendered for special church vocation. Revival was evidenced throughout the church with more than a hundred re-dedications.

"A youth movement for Christ was begun during the revival that is still growing and bearing much fruit. A number of boys from this group participated in a meeting at Wichita Falls Saturday, and will be going to Fort Worth this week. May we continue to encourage our young people and to pray one for the other."

The Crowell High

WILDCAT

EDITORIAL Open Your Eyes!

How many steps do you climb each day to reach the study hall? What color is the ceiling of your English room? How many trees are on the school campus? If you can't answer these questions, the chances are that you are among the countless people who see but aren't really aware of their surroundings.

If you had the misfortune of losing your sight for a day, perhaps you would learn to appreciate the things that you take so much for granted. You would take the time to notice the delicate blossoms of the fruit trees, the luscious greens of the leaves and shrubs, and the brilliant plumage of the birds. You would pay more attention to your home, your school, and your town. You might even appreciate your friends and family more.

Your eyes were given to you to see the things about you. Why don't you try opening them and really using them!

Book Titled Can Do Horseback

which was released by University of Texas Press only month has been received in county with much interest. The book, "If I Can Horseback," was compiled series of articles which Hendrix, deceased, wrote early 1930's for various periodicals, principally "The Cattleman." Many people in this county knew Mr. Hendrix personally, and some of his information came from Crowell residents. Mr. Hendrix lived in this area as a boy when Foard County was held together by rawhide, at a time when many changes were taking place in the cattle industry, when the fence were winning and the open range was in a transitional period.

His father filed on and bought the Carroll Brothers, Maude E. Rasberry, Ernest Boren, Warren Haynie, Hartley Easley, Duane Johnson and J. A. Marr sections in the Vivian community.

No authority on the cattle industry writes on his subject without mentioning the drought of 1886 and the blizzard which followed in 1887. John Campbell, uncle of Mrs. C. P. Sandifer, made a trip from Plano to this section with two companions in a wagon. This was his description: "The grass was seared as if it had been burned. This was a cattle country, but they were mostly dead cattle. They died of thirst and starvation and their owners were helpless to prevent the situation."

They visited R. R. Bell, who had filed on 320 acres of land and lacked two more years of occupation before the land was his. He was almost ready to give up his claim, but his pioneer spirit helped him through. Five years later, the same group returned from Plano and found a fine crop of wheat growing on land that had previously been a sandy waste. Mr. Bell became one of the largest land owners in the county and also bought and used the first threshing machine in this area. The first grain binder was bought and used by the father of the late John S. Ray. The first cotton gin was built in 1894 by G. T. Crowell and W. T. Rasor.

In 1887, the severe blizzard swept across the Panhandle and according to reliable authorities, this area was not spared. Ranchers in the Panhandle watched their cattle stack up in piles. The spring roundup was a ghostly thing. Many times when a cowboy roped a cow or when she hit her head on a tree, her horns slipped off. The reasonable conclusion was that the horns had frozen through and through during the terrifying winter. Many calves bore evidence of attacks by lobos.

It was about this time that the lure of cheap and fertile land was drawing a stream of settlers to this area; however, settlement of what is now Foard County actually began in 1880. With the coming of the farmer, the number of inhabitants increased rapidly. Despised and hated by the rancher, the nester fought with a relentless determination that knew no defeat. No privation was too great if the land was the reward.

In 1926, a group of old timers gathered on the court house steps and had their pictures made. In looking over this picture, it was found that Sim Gamble is the last surviving member of the group. Last year, Mr. Gamble was interviewed by a member of the County Historical Committee and he told in detail of the trip from Hamilton County when his father, J. R. Gamble, deceased, moved his family to this area in that memorable year of 1887.

His mother drove the ox team and his father and the two oldest boys, Sim and Will, drove about 250 head of cattle. They had only one saddle horse and had the misfortune of losing it on their journey.

The family was comfortably housed in a half-dugout four miles southeast of Old Margaret, but Mr. Gamble recalled that the winter was hard and long and each morning they looked out to see how many more cattle had died during the night. Spring came, but not until their losses had been such that Mr. Gamble's father traded all the cattle wearing his brand for a loaded horse.

The events of the past seventy-five years prove that civilization is not retroactive, but progressive. No one dares to predict what progress lies in the future, but it goes without saying that the pioneers living in our midst have evidenced more changes than any previous generation. Mrs. Laura Johnson, mother of Mrs. J. M. Barker and Virgil Johnson, can furnish proof of this statement. Mrs. Johnson was born in Tennessee and lived there until after she had started to school. She moved with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Vernon, to Parker County and after a rather short residence there, they moved to Arkansas. After a period of two years they returned to Texas, this time to Mineral Wells, and their mode of transportation was the ox team. After her ninetieth birthday, she returned to Arkansas for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. L. C. Wisdom, and this time she went by plane. When asked how she liked her plane trip, she answered, "Just fine, but it did not last long."

Mrs. Johnson is a true representative of the pioneer woman. With her needle, she can make as beautiful a quilt as can be found anywhere; likewise, she can still construct a chicken pen and call on no one to help her kill a skunk in that chicken pen.

The story of any county is incomplete without mentioning the sheer courage of its pioneer doctor, Dr. W. H. Adams, father of Ed Adams and Mrs. W. O. Fish, owned a home in Margaret and when Crowell became the county seat he moved his house and became one of the first residents in Crowell. The medical techniques of that day would in no wise measure up to those of the present day, but he traveled where distances were vast and sometimes discouraging to give healing and relief to suffering people. Many times he went without pay; sometimes he was paid for his services with a load of stove wood.

Speaking for the County Historical Survey Committee, Mrs. Virgil Johnson issued the following statement:

"In writing these articles, I would like to express appreciation to the many people of Foard County whose valuable assistance has enabled us to piece together even a fragment of the history that abounds in our county. We realize each time we write an article that we are working at a disadvantage; 'facts' are not always to be ascertained definitely. Often we appraise many versions of an event or incident, so for this reason, we are asking the public to correct us in any error that you may find in our articles.

"While we have found this to be an interesting hobby, we have but one purpose in doing it and that is to preserve our history for future generations. We see more and more that we are at least twenty-five years later with this than we should be, so for that reason, we need the cooperation of every one. We shall be most happy to correct any mistake that you will call to our attention. Likewise, we invite you to tell us frontier stories that we probably have never heard. The unusual statesman, William Jennings Bryan, said of pioneers in general, 'They were men and women who gave the world more than they took from it.' It is our duty to the future to preserve the record of these torch bearers in our own county who were 'born to blaze.'

JIM LANGDON—A WINNER!

Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon is a 49-year-old native Texan with a winning record in public office. When John Connally appointed him to the Railroad Commission, the Governor said:

"I have for several weeks been attempting to find a man I consider to have outstanding ability, integrity and honor... I am happy we have found that man — Judge Jim C. Langdon."

Jim Langdon has fully lived up to Governor Connally's expectations. He has conducted his office in the spirit of Governor Jim Hogg, who had the Commission set up in 1891 to look after the public interest in railroad and freight rates. It now regulates also truck and bus rates and the production of oil and gas. Judge Langdon will continue to keep transportation rates in line and see to it that our oil reserves are protected against waste and greed. This will help keep down Texas gasoline prices, already among the lowest in the nation.

Jim Langdon was elected District Judge twice and re-elected Chief Justice of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals.

ON THE OTHER HAND—
 Jim Langdon's Opponent Is a 10-Time Loser!

Electric coops were not established for farmers alone

NO electric coops were not authorized by the government just for the benefit of farmers. And the low interest, long term pay-out loans were never to be a subsidy to rural people.

Far more important, rural electrification was and is encouraged to help develop the nation's rural resources for all the people — city and country people alike.

Without rural electrification farming and other rural development would attract few families. Rural electricity has encouraged greater farm production, made possible lower food prices to all Americans.

The government helped because the profit on such rural electric systems could never repay the expense to any individual or corporation. Yet rural electrification is doing much more than repaying this investment to a great society. That's what the public has a right to expect.

Need More Time?

The housewife of the Young Married Set is involved with so many activities, she needs all the time she can lay her hands on. A Gold Medallion Home is the answer! It provides so many time-saving con veniences, it's just like adding more days to the ordinary 7-day week. For instance, the electric clothes dryer alone saves 3 hours weekly and even the electric dishwasher saves 7 hours a week...why, that's 10 hours already! Not to mention that the electric range is so automatic, it's like having a hired cook to do all the watching. And the electric water heater provides hot water instantly upon demand.
 Heating and cooling systems are automatic too... the thermostat is set at the start of the season and forgotten until the season changes.

This is just a smattering of the many ways the total electric Gold Medallion Home saves time for the Young Married Set. Oh yes, with a flameless total electric Gold Medallion Home, there's one less bill to pay each month.

Martha Low Auxiliary Has Mother-Daughter Installation Tea

Mrs. Glenn Willson installed the new officers of the Martha Low Auxiliary Monday, April 6, at a tea at the home of Mrs. Walter Stapp, counselor. The theme of the installation was "A Spring Banquet" with the officers being depicted as a nosegay of blossoms.

The new president, Joy Traweck, was represented by the lily, exemplifying purity and steadfastness; vice president is Connie Whitley, tulip, who with "two lips" is to serve as enlister of feet; Joylyn Haynie is prayer chairman, represented by the daffodil lifting its head heavenward; program co-chairmen are Jon Ann Carter and Lanette Lemons, roses, queen of the flowers, who are to develop queenly qualities in the members through stimulating programs; stewardship chairman is Frances Cates, carnation, the fragrance of whose office is to permeate everything the auxiliary does; community missions, Virginia Stapp and Renee Daniel, who are symbolized by the cosmos, tall and stately, lifting its head above its surroundings to see the needs of others; Deborah Jones, forward steps chairman, was represented by the aster, showing the self-discipline necessary to achieve projects that result in growth; secretary, Lela Cates, the pansy, faithfully serving in hiding the unsightly roots and lower stems of the other flowers, always on the job; social co-chairman, Janis James and Billye Sue McClain, violets of royal purple hue, helping members maintain a queenly level of behavior in all social contacts, the counselor was the green background, coordinating plans and activities of the group, and the G. A. director was the sweet pea, to complete the bouquet. Mrs. Willson was assisted in the installation by Mrs. A. L. Daniel, mission study chairman of the W. M. S.

Displayed on the tea table was the latest volume from the pen of Sybil Leonard Armes, "Devotions from a Grateful Heart," inscribed and presented to Lanette Lemons by Miss Joy Phillips, State G. A. Director, in recognition of Lanette's participation on the Queen's Court program at Brownwood on March 26-28. The social chairman invited the members and following special guests to the tea table:

For the 3rd time in three years, Fred Lorenzen takes the grueling Atlanta "500" at the wheel of his Ford.

FORD TOTAL PERFORMANCE WINS ATLANTA "500" FOR 3RD YEAR IN A ROW!

Latest win gives Ford 11 out of last 12 NASCAR 500 milers!

ATLANTA, April 5: In a blazing exhibition of total performance, ace driver Fred Lorenzen piloted his specially modified '64 Ford to a stunning victory in the Atlanta "500" before a cheering crowd of 75,000 spectators.

This victory marks the 11th time that Ford has captured a NASCAR stock car event of 500 miles or more starting in May, 1962.

In the past two years, tough, dependable Ford-built cars have carved out an incredible history of victories in virtually every kind of automotive event possible—from stock car races to economy runs, from rallies to endurance tests.

This is the dramatic way to show that Fords have changed... and the sure way to be certain they keep on changing.

Ford enters special cars in open competition, in addition to its extensive laboratory and test track programs, because competition provides an intensity of testing that no proving ground alone can provide.

The lessons Ford has learned in racing have already led directly to such refinements as a stronger rear axle, streamlined "fastback" styling, better brakes and an improved ignition system.

Because Ford enters open competition, the cars at your Ford Dealer's are stronger, better handling, safer and thrifter in the long run. They're built for total performance.

TRY TOTAL PERFORMANCE FOR A CHANGE!

Card of Thanks

Our hearts are filled with overflowing with gratitude for the many acts of kindness extended us since the tragic loss of our loved one in last week's devastating tornado in Wichita Falls. Your comforting words and other expressions of sympathy have been a tower of strength and remain to sustain us in the trying weeks ahead. Mere words are inadequate to express our true feelings, so to those who have ministered to us and to Joe in the hospital, we humbly say "thank you" again and again and again.

Announcing MC LAIN FARM EQUIP. CROWELL, TEXAS

now Authorized Dealer for KRAUSE Tillage Tools Accessories and Repair Parts

We bought the entire Krause Plow Parts stock of Barker Implement Co. and will add to it as we see what extra parts are needed. We will also continue to stock parts and service the Shafer Plows.

Our investigation shows that Krause is a large and financially strong plow company that makes nothing but plows.

Barkers have represented the Krause line for more than 20 years, so the plows are well known and well populated in this area.

We would like to wish our good friends, the Barker boys, well in other fields, as they leave the implement business.
