the amount of five thousand gallons per day by the Ford motor blasts in Detroit. It is probable that other big blasts are putting this out as well as the Ford motor people.

But while it is very highly combustible it is said to be yet in an incomplete state of refinement and the best results are had by mixing this with gasoline half and half. Neither is it cheaper than gasoline and is not expected to displace it, but it may help supply the demand for motor fuel. Reports are that the consumption of gasoline is far above the supply, and if that condition continues long the price of gasoline will make it prohibitive, even if it can be had at all.

COLLIN COUNTY SETS PRICE OF FARM HANDS

According to an exchange Collin county farmers have got together in the Collin county council of agriculture and have agreed on a wage scale to be paid in that county this year for farm work. The scale is $2.25 a day and board or $3.00 a day without board. The question of farm labor, and especially the pay for farm labor, is one of seriousness with demands in some instances of as much as $1 an hour, and such prices, if insisted on, mean nothing less than abandonment of farms simply because there is nothing left for the farmer.—Fort Worth Record.

The fact of the business is that Collin County farmer can not as well afford to pay $2.25 per day for farm labor as the West Texas farmer can to pay $5.00 per day. In the first place he is farming on lands priced at from $150 to $250 per acre, and the crop he raises on that high priced land will gross him no more than West Texas land that sells for $50 and $60 per acre. It is bound to net him much less when even half the expense of harvesting is deducted and the interest on his investment is figured. Lands in Collin County are too high. The best evidence of that fact is that the farmers find farming unprofitable as stated in the above reproduction from the Record.

Of course, the Collin County farmer's land would not be too high if he could sell his wheat at $4.00 per bushel, but can a suffering, consuming public reconcile itself to the prices they would have to pay for flour, if wheat were selling at $4.00, if such price were put on that product just to enable the Collin County farmer to do profitable farming?

Judge William Pierson of Hunt County is a candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court.

It will be remembered that Judge Pierson was second in 1918 for the other of our highest courts, withdrawing in the second primary out of the deference to Senator Lattimore's plurality.

Judge Pierson is a distinguished District Judge having presided over some of the great State cases at Greenville and Sulphur Springs. He is comparatively a young man, 48 years of age, a graduate of Baylor and University of Texas and in 1901 and 1903 was a member of the Texas Legislature.

His wide acquaintance over Texas and his experience and recognition as a jurist make him a prominent candidate for this important position.

ARE PRICES TO FALL?

There has been an occasional perceptible wavering in prices of some of life's necessities for some weeks but not until very recently has it appeared to mean much. And, really it has not gone far enough yet to justify general celebration over it as a sign of permanent relief to the public. Yet, it is the biggest thing we have had since prices started up three or four years ago. The papers are printing news of this kind from all quarters of the country. Clothing has dropped. Shoes have declined and even sugar is now selling in the cities at prices several cents under that for which it sold only a couple of weeks ago.

The cause of this is said to be the tightening of money matters over the country. The banks are said to have restricted loans, cutting out the speculative tendencies. Money is losing its inflation and is getting back to something like normal. That seems to be one view of the matter. Another is that a general determination on the part of buyers to restrict buying, both as to quantity and price, has assumed such proportions all over the country as to cause alarm among big commercial concerns and that they are turning loose in the effort to avoid heavy losses from what they fear may be a general smashing of prices.

People generally outside of the speculators will welcome a heavy decline in prices. They prefer normal conditions. High prices are all right if everything can be adjusted to them, but before that can be done there is always another rise in some necessities that destroys the right proportion, and so that is the way it goes. During the rise things favor the speculator. He is not going to be very active as long as the decline continues. During that period the buyer will feel a little more comfortable.

But of course, while almost everybody wants lower prices, no one should wish anybody who has been doing a legitimate business to lose heavily by reason of a rapid decline. We should like for this to be gradual. Indeed it could be expected that a general crash of prices would result in great harm, but since we have very little control in the matter likely we shall accept whatever must come with the best grace we can. But candidly, we had rather risk our chances of getting by during a general decline in prices than during a rise, and therefore we could not help from feeling a little hypocritical if we should shed a tear over the late news of price cutting.

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Foard County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published for one week prior to the 10th day of June, 1920, in a newspaper of Foard County, for one issue of said paper, a copy of the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS

To all persons interested in the estate of Gladys Sparks, Ruth Sparks, Lucile Sparks and Sallie B. Sparks, Minors, R. E. Sparks, guardian of the estate of said minors has filed in the County Court of Foard County, an application for an order to make, execute and deliver, an oil and gas lease on the following described lands of said estate, situated in Foard County, Texas, to-wit: 312 acres of land, abstract No. 826, Certificate No. 33-3151, H. & T. C. Ry. Co., Section No. 54. An undivided one-third of 165 1/4 acres of Abstract No. 553, Certificate No. 20-11, I. J. Thompson survey, and an undivided one-third of 188 acres of Abstract No. 51, Certificate No. 15-197, McGuire Chessau survey, which will be heard at the next term of the County Court in and for Foard County, Texas, on the 10th day of June A. D., 1920, at the court house in Crowell, at which time and place all persons interested in said estate are required to appear and show cause why such lease should not be made, should they choose to do so.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the first day of the next term thereof this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said court at office in Crowell, this 27th day of May, A. D., 1920.

THE HOUSE OF SERVICE

Your Membership Is Wanted

The Foard County Chamber of Commerce is a county affair. The Executive Committee is the authoritative body, made up of three men. One of these is an exclusive farmer; another is a farmer and business man; the other is a farmer, stockman and business man. Hence in this committee are represented the leading interests of the county. The membership of the Chamber includes representatives from most of legitimate enterprises of the county, but every citizen is wanted as a member.

You are wanted because the organization needs you; you are wanted because you need the organization. Therefore you are not only invited but you are urged to become a member.

The Chamber of Commerce will help to hasten oil developments; it will help bring more farmers to the country; it will help expand business interests of all kinds and each and every man will be benefitted thereby. It is a co-operative proposition and asks you to contribute your share of that co-operation. The organization is your servant.

Let It Have Your Membership.

SEE THE "WHISKEY TORPEDO"

Whiskey is a great commodity. Its friends resort to rare ingenuity to get it into dry territory. The latest thing is the whiskey torpedo, and they are being used between Canada and Michigan.

Three electric torpedoes of 10, 15 and 25 gallon capacity are used. They are made of copper and propelled by propellers actuated by storage batteries. They submerge, and require about five minutes to cross the river, where they are emptied and shot back. A new torpedo, of 50 gallons capacity is being built.

We are not surprised. Maybe the story is true, but then perhaps not.

TOURING ILLINOIS
Mount Carroll, Ill., May 16, 1920.
Editor News and Friends:
We left Mount Vernon, Ky., where we had spent 22 days among a very hospitable people, about 9 a. m., May 3. We stopped there among entire strangers but left with kindly feelings for all of the large number met, and believe that our conduct was such while there that we would be cordially welcomed again should we chance to pass that way. We took part in a free entertainment at the court house in the city one night, and in one of the pleasant homes there on another occasion.

We had a few bad mudholes for the first seven miles, after that, hard surfaced roads of various kinds until we reached Illinois. All of these roads where they had been long used for the heavy truck hauling and fast auto traveling, which seems about as wearing on the roads, were very rough in places. The concrete, the crushed rock and the asphalt alike get very rough unless often repaired. The well paved hard brick seems to stand best, but after driving at least 1500 miles of the various hard surfaced roads, we have come to the conclusion that good hard surfaced roads will always demand eternal vigilance and a good big tax. When they send eight and ten trucks 15 to 20 miles an hour, or the big autos 30 to 40 miles, or faster, some spots will give away. Indiana has more roads that can be traveled at any season of the year than any state we have seen, and the most of these are crushed rock or gravel on a clay bed, or clay and gravel on a sandy bed. Where the work has been properly done these roads can be run over with the common road drag and they are not so badly damaged by the big trucks, farm tractors or the threshing engines, and the ones that will go over 30 miles an hour with auto should pay a double tax. We found some fearfully rough roads in Illinois. The Lincoln Highway has a wide concrete pavement in places and in many places construction parties are at work. It was necessary to make a detour quite often and at DeKalb we left it for good.

Well, we had a fine week for travel, clear and pleasant, no trouble to find a good camp spot for one car. The spring has been cold and backward all over the section traveled. The first two-horse planters seen in the field was May 6th, and up to the present time only a small per cent of corn has been planted and there is still some plowing to be done. Very little garden stuff is up yet. Heavy cold rain the 11th and 12th, a white frost with a little ice the 13th. The fruit trees are all in bloom but at the present time they do not seem hurt. It is cold and cloudy today.

We are in the section of country where wife and I lived until 1888. We visited the old place where we commenced married life, putting in 18 hours out of 24 at busy farm work, milking not less than 20 cows. At first this was all set in pans or crocks. All had to be hand skimmed and churned, the butter selling from 6 to 10 cents per pound. The man who now owns the old place milks on an average of 30 cows with a milking machine run by a gas engine, hauls his milk to a milk canning factory, and besides the milk and butter used by a large family, he sold last year $5,300.00 worth of milk at the factory. The farmers here have a shipping association now and all stock and grain is sold that way. The man with one hog or cow ready for the market has the same chance as the man with a lot.

We find plenty of work here and will stay until the first week in June, then we go on to the Iowa farm. We are both well and will be glad to hear from any of our friends.

The paper reaches us from Iowa. Glad to know that things look so encouraging there.

H. M. FERRIN.

GIRL SAVES LIFE BY JUMPING
Childress, May 24.—Mrs. Mattie Gosnell, an athletic young matron, saved her life Saturday night by jumping from the second story of the General Auto Supply company building here that was threatened with destruction by fire. In her jump she caught the guy wires of the telephone pole and swung to safety. However, she is suffering from a few bruises.

The lower floor of the building was gutted by water and fire. The stock of the General Auto Supply company was practically lost, but is partially covered by insurance. The fire department did excellent work in saving the building. The second floor was used as a rooming house.

CHILDRESS OFFICIALS FIND TWO DEAD MEXICANS
Childress, May 22.—The bodies of two dead Mexicans were found in a car of lumber in the Fort Worth & Denver yards here Friday afternoon. Papers found on them indicated that they were concrete workers by trade. It is supposed that they got into the car at some point down the road and went to sleep in the center of the car, between two stacks of lumber, and that switching the car caused the lumber to slide and cause their death. The car had been in the local yards a week and the bodies were badly decomposed.

Why Suffer?
Mrs. J. A. Cox, of Alderson, W. Va., writes: "My daughter... suffered terribly. She could not turn in bed... the doctors gave her up, and we brought her home to die. She had suffered so much at... time. Having heard of Cardui, we got it for her."

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic
"In a few days, she began to improve." Mrs. Cox continues, "and had no trouble at... Cardui cured her, and we sing its praises everywhere." We receive many thousands of similar letters every year, telling of the good Cardui has done for women who suffer from complaints so common to their sex. It should do you good, too. Try Cardui. E-77

Tremendous Sacrifice Sale Of Beautiful Trimmed Hats Begins Saturday in Our Millinery Shop. Lasts Two Weeks

—An opportunity for tremendous savings brought to you because of our determination to clear away every remaining Spring Hat. Our Millinery season will end in two weeks and we do not want a single hat to remain on hand. Hence this great sacrifice sale.

—Included in this sensational clearance are hats that only a few weeks ago were selling at two to three times their present sale price. Many late arrivals, all fresh and desirable, will be included regardless of cost.

—Three great price groups tell you of the most radical reductions of the season.

NOTES ON THALIA SCHOOL

Friday, May 21, 1920, closed one of the most successful terms ever taught at Thalia. We had good attendance and did fine work during all the term, and our graduating class was one of the largest, if not the largest, graduating class of any prior term.

The teachers, Mr. Jesse S. Owens, principal, Miss Emma Maine, Miss Knoxie Burross and Miss Myrtle Huntley worked hard to make this school one of the best of its class anywhere. And the board of trustees have shown their appreciation by asking them all to stay another year, with an increase in salary. The average salary was $79 per month this year, but under the increased rate will average $104 per month, or an increase of 31 per cent.

We are very glad to announce that Mr. Owens has accepted the principalship for another year, but the other teachers have not yet announced their plans for next year.

A short summary of the work of the school will not be out of place here, we feel. The school took a leading part in all school activities this year, and we know the work done in the Interscholastic League helped the school wonderfully, although we did not win very much at the County Track Meet. After playing a good game of basket ball or running a race we could put more "pep" into our studies and do better work. The Senior Boys Basket ball team won 100 per cent of the games of the season. Every place in the declamation contests at the County Track Meet was won by this school and several other honors were also won by us.

Mr. Owens was largely instrumental in putting over the successful Chautauqua this spring, while a Lyceum Course for the coming winter and a return Chautauqua date have been arranged. This, while outside regular school work, is helpful to the community at large, and should be encouraged.—A Pupil.

Jim Gribble made a trip down to Dallas recently and while he was there he ran out to Roysce City on business. He says that country is literally drowned out, and that the farmers are blue. Like most Foard County people, Jim says that country does not begin to compare favorably with this county.

Those having stock at large and those having stock in pastures adjacent to the J. R. Gamble farm 6 miles northwest of Crowell must be careful as I am going to put out poison for grasshoppers.—Joe Couch. 51

Dr. L. P. McCrary, ear, eye, nose and throat specialist from Hamlin will be in Crowell, Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday morning, June 8th and 9th.

Miss Veda Clifford came home this week from Clarendon where she has been attending school at the Clarendon College for the past term.

Jess Owens and wife have returned to Crowell from Thalia where they have been teaching this winter. His orders his paper changed to Crowell.

Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Bell returned the latter part of last week from Washington, D. C., where they attended the Southern Baptists Convention.

THREE STATES FIGHT TO SAVE ORIENT

Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas Towns Will Be Ruined if These Trains Are Permitted to Stop

San Angelo, Texas, May 25.—All of West Texas, parts of Oklahoma and Kansas, has its back against the wall and is fighting for its very existence. September 1, this year, the Orient railroad, which serves a territory 800 miles from Wichita, Kan., to Alpine, Texas, on the Mexican border, will have to close down, unless the Interstate Commerce Commission comes to its assistance and gives this road aid from the 300 million revolving fund made available by the recent railroad legislation.

The Orient has a just claim against this money, as it was on a paying basis for the first time in its history prior to being taken over by the Railroad Administration. Its improvement under the receivership of W. T. Kemper of Kansas City and the management of Albert De Bernardi, of Wichita, had placed the road in a position that within a few years it would have been on a sound footing.

But the war came with it disasters and under Federal control all the Orient's freight was diverted to other roads, its engines taken to pull other trains, its line used only to haul empty cars to the coast and its shops to rebuild the locomotives of some competitor. When it was thrown back on its own resources, its employees were scattered and its business in someone else's hands.

Losing $100,000 a Month
Today it is losing a hundred thousand dollars a month. When the Federal guarantee period is over, not a train will be able to leave its destination and West Texas and the country that it serves through Kansas and Oklahoma will be left high and dry.

Eighty representatives from twenty-one towns served by the Kansas City, Mexico & Orient Railroad voted to a man at a special meeting called at the St. Angelus Hotel in San Angelo, Texas, that the Orient Railroad was an essential railroad—not only to the protection of millions of dollars worth of property in West Texas, but should this road even temporarily cease to operate it would directly affect the entire nation as a whole by reason of the fact that it would be impossible to continue the great cattle, sheep and goat industry on anything like its present scale.

It was pointed out by representatives from towns from Alpine, Texas, to Altus, Okla., that the Orient was responsible for the growth of scores of towns. Delegates showed that while in some instances they were served by other railroads, that in a great measure the largest part of their business was directly resultant from the Orient.

Have No Other Road
Cities that have no other railroad told how the Orient had built their town from the open prairie. They traced their growth and their wealth with the lengthening of the Orient's rails and told of the faith their people had in the prosperity that was sure to come to them when the road was one day completed and reached the terminals it was designed to enter.

It was pointed out time and time again that communities in this great productive wheat and cattle belt of the Union, have based their very existence upon their faith in the original conception of the Orient, and were patiently putting up with the meager service which it has been able to give them, knowing that some day in the future the pioneer days of this road would be over and it would take its place among the Trunk lines of the West.

Little farmers told how they had hauled their grain for miles to the market until the Orient put a station near their farm. Ranchers related of the drives of miles and miles with cattle to a shipping point, and pointed out the great loss in weight their stock sustained in such a primitive move. Now they load their cattle within a reasonable distance of their range on the Orient, and thereby greatly increase the world's food supply.

Aided Wyoming Ranchers
One man told how in 1919 when a drought dried up the waterholes in Montana and Wyoming that train load after train load of sheep and cattle came to the country south of San Angelo—to Stockton and Merton and other points on the Alpine Division of the Orient—and were saved. Today the Orient is hauling these cattle to Kansas City, ready for the market.

With all these things in mind it was the consensus of opinion of the delegates gathered at this meeting that everything that could be done, must be done to save the Orient. To allow this road to be junked—its rails taken up and sold for old iron and its right of way again turned into a ruined streak across the country—would not only be a blight against the States of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas, but would depopulate one of the great

As Dead as the Dodo

Every druggist in town—your druggist and everybody's druggist has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it, while Dodson's Liver Tone is perfectly safe and gives better results," said a prominent local druggist.

Take "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead!

Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle costs but a few cents, and if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, you have only to ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults.

Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work! Take Dodson's Liver Tone instead and feel fine, full of vigor and ambition.
