CHAUTAUQUA WILL HERE OCTOBER 1, 2ND AND 4TH

Radcliffe Chautauqua for October 1, 2 and 4, is now advertised and the date by this is to be pretty well in mind. Tickets come on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Tickets are now being sold, each of which are $2.00 each to adults and $1.00 for children. The price of $1.00 is made to all school children regardless of age. Those selling tickets are divided into sides, the reds and the blues. The blues are Misses Oberia Hamblen, Gladys Brian and Andersons, and these have as their leader G. C. McGown. The blues are Lillian Belle White, Mildred Loughlin, Bess Thompson, Marion Anna May Ellis and Jewell Klepper, and these have as their major attraction Jewell Klepper. You can buy your seats from some one of these or you can get them at the office of the drug stores. The price of a single admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

It might be well to say here that the 25 Crowell citizens signed the contract with the Radcliffe people amounting them $500. It was agreed at a meeting of the guarantors last Friday night that any surplus of receipts from the chautauqua would be turned over to the Crowell school and used where it is most needed.

Those who signed up for the Chautauqua are responsible for its coming this year, as was true last year, and this was done with the confidence that our people would appreciate the coming of the Chautauqua and that we would all be greatly profited from it. It is not necessary to tell you what a Chautauqua is. Those who attended last year know what it is. The lectures are of a high class and are educational. The concerts are of the same class and are very entertaining. The three days with two good programs each day, making six in all, will be well worth the price of a season ticket. We insist on your buying season tickets, because you will want to take the whole Chautauqua in, a fact which you will realize after having attended the first program, and then you will effect a saving of $1.00 on an adult ticket and 50 cents on a child's ticket.

All arrangements are being made by the committee to make the occasion one of pleasure and profit to all who attend. Every effort will be made to provide the big tent with plenty of good comfortable seats. No better season of the year could be had and so it is expected that good crowds will attend.

The programs will be rendered at 3:30 in the afternoon and 8 at night. In order that you may better understand the program you would do well to turn to page 7 of this issue and read it in the half page ad.

As is stated above, the Chautauqua is educational in its nature, but it also has its entertaining features. It is different from what you usually get from the stage. The lecturers are the best that can be procured and they deal with subjects of nation-wide interest, something we do not have the opportunity of hearing often. The concerts and the music will please the taste of those who can appreciate wholesome entertainment. This is especially true with the Radcliffe people. They are the only Chautauqua people who have ever put on work of this kind in the city of Washington.

The Chautauqua committee is doing its best to make provision for the comfort of every one who may come.

MAKES TOMATOES PAY

C. A. Bowley was in town Wednesday with a few boxes of home-grown tomatoes which he was selling to Adcock-Matthews Grocery Company. Mr. Bowley said his father, M. F. Bowley, had sold nearly $100 worth of tomatoes this year and that these had been raised on a very small spot of land. They were raised without irrigation.

Adcock & Matthews say they are trying to supply the demand for garden stuff of this kind from the home supply and are buying all the home-grown stuff they can handle.

Allan R. Sanders has resigned his position at the Owl Drug Store and has gone to Cecil & Co.'s store where he will keep the books. He will also sell goods during the rush hours. Allan is a good live young business man and this store was fortunate in securing his services.

Orr Will Exhibit Poland China Hogs at Quanah Fair

J. L. Orr was in town from Margaret Monday and said he would send seven of his fine Poland China hogs to Quanah on Tuesday to be exhibited at the Hardeman County Fair on Sept. 22, 23, 24 and 25. One of these is an age male, one a junior sow, one a senior sow pig and four pigs.

Mr. Orr is now feeding some of his hogs for the Dallas Fair and these will be exhibited in October at Dallas. One of these is a junior sow and the other a senior sow pig.

He is confident that he will win premiums at the Hardeman County Fair, still he may have stronger competition there than he had in Wilbarger last year, but that's what Mr. Orr wants. He knows he has fine hogs and believes he can win when they are compared with others, but even if he can not, he wants to know it. If anybody else has better hogs and if that fact is shown he wants some of them. He is going after nothing but the very best.

We are glad Mr. Orr is going to exhibit these hogs. There are others in the county that ought to be sent to both these fairs. It is the finest advertisement the hog men can have, besides, it is fine advertisement for the county.

J. R. Beverly has sold his residence on north Main street to Paul Barry.

COTTON MAY NOT BE SO BAD AFTER ALL

After the News had published a fine report of the cotton crop in the county two weeks ago, and then followed that report the next week with one telling about the work of the boll worms, one of our farmers met us on the sidewalk and said:

"Got you jumping sideways on the cotton business I see."

We had to admit it, but this week we are trying to jump back to where we stood two weeks ago. Can't quite make it, but we are not going to be ousted entirely by a few weazely boll worms.

To be frank some of the cotton in the county has been badly damaged. Perhaps there is more than we might think, yet there is a lot of the fleecy staple in Foard County, or will be. And it is opening right along now.

In order to get some idea as to the damage done during the rainy weather by the boll worms, we made it a point Monday to get expressions of several farmers about their cotton and this is the way they ran:

J. G. Thompson, Thalia—I don't think they have done much damage on my place.

W. B. Griffin—The worms have damaged me just about 50 per cent.

Uncle Ben Meason—The worms have not hurt my cotton to amount to anything. I had to plant three times and my cotton is late, but it looks good and will make lots of cotton.

H. J. Crosnoe—I have no cotton but the boys have some and I don't think the worms have hurt it to amount to anything.

Brown on the Mack Gamble place—The worms have done lots of damage to my cotton. Others in the community have been badly hurt also.

C. T. Wisdom—The worms have not hurt my cotton much. I was in it yesterday and I estimate half a bale to the acre. Some of the neighbors think I will make three quarters, but even half is enough.

These represent only a small part of the farmers of the county, but for the most part this fact is gained from these interviews, that the cotton on the sand has suffered most from the worms, and then it strengthens the hope that the reported damage of a little more than a week ago was less general than we were at first inclined to believe. And now since the weather has settled and the rains ceased, we may expect no more damage from these pests, and really we have reason now to expect far more than a 50 per cent crop.

COLUMBIAN CLUB

With Mrs. A. Brian as hostess the Columbian Club passed a most delightful study hour on Wednesday afternoon, September the fifteenth.

At this meeting the study of Maeterlinck's "Blue Bird," one of the most popular dramas of today, was begun. The lesson consisting of Acts I and II, with Mrs. C. R. Ferguson leader. Intimate bits of character sketches, given by the club, proved Maeterlinck to be a most interesting person as well as one of the greatest dramatists of modern times.

With "The Women of Ancient Israel" her subject, Mrs. Kincaid gave a vivid pen picture of the very remarkable women this nation has produced.

At the conclusion of the program the hostess handed a cooling refreshment plate, with dainty hand-made favors wrought in the club colors.

In entertaining her guests Mrs. Brian was ably assisted by her daughter, Miss Jode Brian.

The names of Mesdames J. R. Beverly and H. K. Edwards were added to the club roster at this meeting.

PRESS REPORTER.

Some of the items which we had merely noted on paper last week got lost and consequently never appeared in the paper. Among them was the visit of Barney Campbell of Tulsa, Okla. Mr. Campbell was visiting the family of U. C. Rader. He and his family are pleased with the Tulsa country. They have been regular readers of the News since going to that country.

Mrs. India Bell and her daughter, Mrs. G. R. Magarell, were here last week from Durango, Colo., visiting relatives. Mrs. Bell left Saturday for North Carolina on a visit while Mrs. Magarell and baby will visit at Shreveport, La.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Bell and son, Arthur, returned last week from Fort where Mr. and Mrs. Bell had both undergone operations at the St. Joseph Infirmary.

YOUNG PEOPLE TAK- ING HIGHER TRAINING

Crowell and Foard County should be and is very proud of the large number of young people who are taking higher courses in school training which will be of inestimable value to them in combating the real problems of life after the school days are over. It is very commendable in young people to take advantage of the opportunity of higher training for too often in these days of high wages youngsters see fit to stop school when the high school course is completed, and even before.

We are giving a list below as nearly correct as it has been possible for us to get of those who are away at school.

Gordon Bell, Valmer Bell and Charlie Campbell are attending the Powell Training School at Dallas; John Rator is taking a commercial course in the State Normal at Denton, leaving last Saturday; Miss Mabel Pittillo will go to S. M. U. at Dallas; Miss Winnie Self leaves Sunday for her second year in Baylor University, Waco; Roe and Miss Earl Bird will attend the State Normal at Denton, the family having moved to that city; Clarence Benham of Vivian is another to attend the State Normal at Denton; Miss Litha Crews is at the State University for her second year's work; Arch and M. M. Hart Jr. are in Clarendon College, this being Arch's second year there; Misses Maude Ferguson, Hattie Eldridge, Frances Clark, Eunice Dodd and Mary Louise Fox are at the C. I. A., Denton, this being Frances and Mary Louise's second year in that school; Jo Ray is taking his second year's work at A. & M.; Misses Jennie Belle and Martha Louise Ray left this week for their second year in Milford College, Milford, Texas.

Seven from the Plainview and Thalia communities go to Denton: Arthur Davis, Carl Matthews, Jewel Davis, Opal Cato, Myrtle Huntley, Leta Haney and Knoxie Burress. Foard Co. to Have Basket Ball Team at State Normal at Denton

Some of the best talent developed during the school term in this county last year in athletics will compose a basket ball team at the State Normal in Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Bond and two little daughters and Mrs. Bond's sister stopped at the News office a few minutes Wednesday while en route from Clarendon to Vernon, their home. Mr. Bond put in a lumber yard at Vernon during the rush but is now disposing of the lumber wherever he can since the oil boom has not proved to be as great as was at first expected.

G. C. Morgan returned last week from a prospecting trip to California. He is well pleased with the country and expects to return. He did not make an investment but expects to do so provided he can find something that suits him.

The disturbed labor conditions in Galveston are assuming normal shape and the Governor announces that all the state troops will be out of that city by October 10th.

Washington authorities have announced a drop in wholesale prices of 4 1/2 per cent during August. Foodstuffs dropped 12 per cent, farm products nearly 6 per cent. Metals and household furnishings showed an increase over July.

The $100,000 cotton compress at Quanah was destroyed by fire Wednesday morning of last week. Nearly $400,000 worth of property was destroyed, 2,500 bales of cotton comprising a big part of the loss. Three box cars belonging to the Denver road were also destroyed. It is announced that the compress will be rebuilt.

A young farmer near Paris, Texas, had sold his first bale of cotton, gone to the bank and cashed the check of $200 and when he returned to his wagon at the gin with the currency in his pocket and climbed upon his wagon, coming into too close contact with the suction pipe, his money was sucked into the gin and all but $30 torn to pieces before the gin could be stopped.

On account of the ravages of the boll weevil to the cotton crop of Dallas County, the Agricultural Agent of that county advises the farmers to abandon cotton and turn their attention to hogs, sheep and cattle.

A loss to know how to proceed further. That is about all that can be said. Really whatever is going to be done is yet to be done. If the Texas Division of the Cotton Association, as a Southern movement, expects to do anything worth while, it would seem that more time will have to be given each county than was given in Foard County to perfect an organization, or to launch any kind of movement for the protection of the farmers' interests. As matters now stand, it seems to be up to them to sell their cotton at whatever price they can get for it, or else perfect a local organization among themselves.

Looking to the promotion of the work in protecting the farmers over the State, a membership enrollment of some dozen or more was the initial step taken at the meeting Saturday. But as stated above, the work has only been started, and really it lacks organization. So the farmers are at

SHOULD NOT SHIP IN VACCINATED HOGS

The News misread J. W. Beverly's letter last week sent from Oklahoma City, and consequently we were mistaken in saying that he would have a car of hogs at Foard City. Mr. Beverly tried to get a shipment of hogs at Oklahoma City but failed. He thought he might be able to get them at Fort Worth and came to that place. He could get the hogs there, just what he wanted, but found one difficulty in the way. He could not ship the hogs without first having them vaccinated according to state regulations. But he learned that if he were to ship freshly vaccinated hogs to this country these hogs with the fever from vaccination would be liable to give the home herd cholera. So Mr. Beverly did not ship. He can ship them here, however, and put them in a separate pasture away from his other hogs for 30 days, after which time there will be no danger, or he can have the home herd vaccinated. So Mr. Beverly is seeing now what he can do in the way of making a separate pasture for hogs which he wants to ship in.

This is something new to most people, perhaps, and if there are those who are intending to ship in hogs they had better make arrangements for taking care of them for at least 30 days or vaccinate the home herd.

SCHOOL OPENED MONDAY
WITH GOOD ATTENDANCE

The Crowell school opened Monday morning with a full attendance. All the teachers were present and more than 400 pupils ready to start the year's work. A large representation of patrons also were present, which fact was very encouraging to the faculty and all others interested in the success of the school.

Notwithstanding there have been several annoying difficulties in the way of the school for several months, yet it opens with a very favorable outlook, and we have cause to expect a splendid school term. The fact of the full attendance on the first day is evidence that the patrons are anxious that their children get the full benefit of the term. They are showing the proper spirit of co-operation, so there need be no fears that the term will be one of the best we have ever had.

SCHOOL BUILDING PERFECTLY SAFE SAYS INSPECTOR

Much has been said first and last about the school building, as most of the people know. There has been some who thought the building was not safe. Even since the recent work was done in the rebuilding of the fire walls and putting on the new roof, some of the folks got scared. The consequence of the matter was that Judge Burk wired Miss Blanton, the State School Superintendent, for an inspector to come and examine the building and we have his report this week and are here publishing it.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 16, 1920.
Hon. G. L. Burk, County Judge, Foard County, and Hon. Board of Independent School District of Crowell, Gentlemen:

I hereby submit a report on the physical condition of your school building in the city of Crowell.

I examined the building carefully from base to roof and in my judgment it is perfectly safe in all its parts. The walls show no signs of giving away. My opinion is that the damage that occurred on building was caused by being struck by lightning.

I will recommend you have the building aired every day so the rooms will dry, as the rain caused the floor to buckle and when dry it can be repaired and made serviceable.

The plaster was not a very good job of work when originally done, but can be repaired at a time most convenient to the board.

I am certain your children will not be in any danger from collapse of your building.

Respectfully submitted,
W. R. HENDRICKSON,
State Inspector of Masonry.

We might say here that Mr. Stuckey, who had the contract to repair the roof, said all the time that the building was all right, and he will no doubt be glad to have his opinion confirmed by that of the state inspector. What he said about it was sufficient to satisfy most of the people, but of course, the two together makes it that much the better.

As we stated last week, the school building is not what we would like it to be, but it can never be better by finding fault with the board or with anybody else, so that matter. So we shall have to do the best we can and make the rooms what they ought to be as we can. We feel that all things taken into consideration, the best possible has been done, eliminating unintentional mistakes, of course, which are common to all people. But making all due allowances and not forgetting the tremendous difficulties that have confronted those interested in keeping the schools going, we feel that the people of the Crowell Independent school district should feel themselves fortunate in that all things are as well as they are. It was not an easy matter to procure the teaching force the school now has. Some schools in the State are without teachers. They are bound to be, since the State is short 30,000 teachers. Our only grievance is that our building is not quite so nice as we would like, but by pulling together we can some time have this remedied and get in shape to meet the other problems to be solved as they present themselves from time to time.

Two Stores Robbed
Last Friday Night;
Burglars at Large

Some time last Friday night a burglar entered the Owl Drug Store and took something like $500 worth of jewelry from the cases. A close check has not been made and the loss may run even higher than that. The building was entered by breaking the glass to the front door and reaching the night lock from the inside, which enabled the burglar to unlock the door.

The Cecil & Company dry goods store was also entered by punching out a hole in the plate glass large enough for a man to enter and an entire fit of clothes procured from head to foot, including a suit, a hat, a shirt, and a pair of shoes, the bill amounting to ninety dollars or more.

So far no clue has been discovered that seems strong enough to work on, but an investigation is being made by the authorities.

DECREASE IN FOOD PRICES REPORTED

Twenty-Seven Articles Decline During Month Ending August 15

Washington, Sept. 19.—Twenty-seven of the standard articles going into the American family market basket decreased in price between July 15 and August 15.

In making this announcement today, the Department of Labor's bureau of labor statistics made public figures showing that during the thirty-day period ending with the middle of August the retail price of potatoes fell 44 per cent and the price of cabbage went down 41 per cent.

The drop in sugar prices was placed at 14 per cent. Most kinds of meat decreased in price.

Eggs went up 11 per cent during the period. With this exception and pork chops, which increased 5 per cent the increase in other food-stuffs were 2 per cent or less.

Indications that the decline in food price levels was general is seen in statistics showing that each of the 51 cities covered by the bureau's survey reported decreases. Minneapolis led with a decrease of 11 per cent with its neighbor, St. Paul, second with a 10 per cent decline. Detroit was third with a 9 per cent decrease. Decreases in other cities follow:

Eight per cent, Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Omaha, Peoria and Springfield, Illinois; seven per cent, Denver and Memphis; six per cent, Butte, Cincinnati, Columbus, Newark, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Salt Lake City and Seattle; five per cent, Baltimore, Birmingham, Bridgeport, Buffalo, Dallas, Fall River, Louisville, Manchester, N. H., Rochester and Washington; four per cent, Atlanta, Boston, Houston, Los Angeles, Mobile, New Haven, Portland, Maine, Portland, Oregon, Providence, San Francisco, Savannah and Scranton; three per cent, Little Rock, New Orleans and Norfolk; two per cent, Jacksonville and Richmond, and one per cent, Charleston, S. C.

Why do some people wear furs on a hot summer day, you ask? Very simple. It's about the only way they can induce other people to notice them, now that hosiery displays are becoming a drug in the market.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury—quicksilver; and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money. UP AND OUT

Insistent demands for an increase in wages continue to be made from time to time, but we fear the people who make them do not stop to count the ultimate cost of their demands.

Wages and salaries in this country are high now—very high.

This fact, coupled with the excessive cost of raw materials, makes the production of a finished article a very expensive proposition.

Regardless of this expense, we have a large foreign trade, because other countries just now must have our goods.

But some day—not far hence—Europe will be recovering from her war paralysis, her internal affairs will become adjusted, and she will be producing these same articles herself. The cost of labor will be much less than here, and raw materials will probably cost no more.

When that time comes Europe will produce these articles at a cost far below ours, and the rest of the world will buy where they can get the goods at the lowest prices.

Before trying to boost labor and other costs still higher it might be well to think of the after effects.

It is quite possible to go up in price and out of a job.

CANNOT LEVY TAX ON NEW VOTERS

Legislature Can Not Make Them Liable For Poll Tax This Year

Austin, Texas, Sept. 18.—The Legislature has the constitutional right to impose a poll tax upon all citizens of Texas, irrespective of sex, but in order to make a receipt for this tax a prerequisite for voting in an election, the receipt must have been issued prior to the first day of February, next preceding the election, the Attorney General's department held in an opinion delivered to the Governor today.

This means in effect that the coming special session of the Legislature can not enact laws which would require women to possess poll tax receipts in order to vote in the general election of Nov. 2, as the Attorney General held in a former opinion that they can vote without a poll tax receipt, under existing laws, and the effect of the opinion issued today is to hold that these poll tax laws can not be remedied, as far as the assessment of a poll tax is concerned, to apply to the November election.

In discussing the matter today, Governor Hobby said that the holding of the Attorney General has not altered his determination to ask the Legislature to provide regulations to prevent irregularities in the coming election, and in his opinion this can be done by requiring voters to register and thus prevent "repeaters."

800 ACRE STOCK FARM

Situated 12 miles south of Abilene in the edge of the mountains, we have to offer, in our opinion the choicest stock farm in this section. Over 200 acres in cultivation and balance splendid grass land with excellent turf. Ranch is well watered and improved. Is located six miles from flowing oil well. Priced for immediate sale at $20,000. If interested do not fail to investigate this. Wire or telephone. COMPERE & COMPERE, Abilene, Texas.

We advise every man and woman to exercise their inalienable right of franchise and vote exactly as they please in the coming national election. But we hope they please to vote as we do.

Any one caught hauling wood or trespassing in any way on the Hall-sell ranch will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.—B. J. Glover, Foreman.

According to a report from the department of commerce at Washington, the consumption of liquor and wines in 1919 in the United States was less than during any year since 1870. The total gallons per capita in 1870 was 7.70. The peak of consumption was reached in 1907 with a record of 22.79 gallons. Last year it was reduced to 9.17 gallons per capita.

and ships forbid from hauling only a limited monthly supply of cotton, if the farmers had rushed it on the market don't you know they would have made the price 10 cents? Hasn't the farmers got it in their power to make the price and make it cover cost and a profit if they work together as they have been doing? If they are indifferent, won't their indifference make it low? Of course they have the pricing in their own hands.

Well let us see further: The price (35 cents), recommended in 1918, was $85 per bale higher than it was selling for when picking began. Again Northeast Texas farmers made the crop and also made the price. In about 30 days cotton was selling for their price, 35 cents. They had ups and downs and fights from every angle, but those who stood their ground received the price. They prevented the crop from selling for 12 to 15 cents. They whipped the bears in their price fixing scheme for 20 cents and forced the price back to their wishes.

Last fall the price named was about $90 per bale above the street price September 1st. This time the nervy West Texas farmers made the crop of the State and made the price. By November 1st they were reaping their reward. Their nerve and good judgment made West Texas rich in spite of opposition, and some of it in their own section. Again all kinds of schemes, tricks and combinations were brought into play. Compresses shut down, embargo against the railroads hauling cotton was put on and a "no demand" camouflage spread to all grades of cotton while an eager demand for good cotton existed all the time. Under such conditions Middling cotton would have sold for 15 cents if the farmers had not demanded their rights and stood their grounds. With the exception of the last three crops, has not the price been higher early in the fall than any other time until late in the spring? Why this change except by the action of the farmers?

What are the conditions effecting this crop? Are they worse or better? Let us look at both sides? The Government estimate September 1st, is about one and a quarter million bales more than we made last year. There is more than a million bales less of cotton, linters, bollies and dog tail than there was last year. A good portion of the spinable carry-over though mostly low grade, is in the farmers hands. The damaged mills of Europe are repaired and ready for cotton; foreigners have adjusted their business so as to buy cotton in larger quantities than last year; the mills have small stocks which will be exhausted before the new crop can reach them; there is nothing certain that more cotton will be made this year than last; we have not made peace with the boll worms and weevils yet and their damage to the crop is minimized to the public; we count on all blooms up to the 10th and 15th of September making cotton; the weevils stopped blooming in the Rio Grande Valley in July; but a good crop was matured. In South Central Texas they prevented blooming August 1st; in Central, North and East Texas, blooming ceased about September 1st. Experience has taught us that when the weevils become plentiful enough to stop blooming they begin work on the small bolls and continue their work on larger ones. We had hoped West Texas would escape the ravages of the worms and weevils but recent reports say that section has been seriously visited by the boll worms. The fact that the crop is about one month late, it looks safe to consider the September 1st report as about representing a normal August 1st report.

The price recommended for the 1929 crop is 48 cents, which is about as much above the street price as that of the past two years. Take all these facts into consideration and then remember the organization has been vigorously extended all this year and practically covers the whole state. The machinery is in the best shape it has been in since the work began.

As business men let me say to you; your work has proven its value. You do not have to take the advice of any one else to know what to do; your own acts stand out boldly before you which is all the evidence you need. Why consult some one who has not informed himself? Take this to your banker, your merchant, and show them what has been accomplished. Convince them you are doing what ought to be done and they will help and encourage you.

Do not allow yourself to become discouraged because some enemy, or thoughtless friend, throws up to you that "John Smith" was offered 40 cents and finally sold for 30 cents, losing $50 per bale. Call his attention to the hundreds of "John Smiths" who sold for 18 to 30 cents at the beginning of the season the last three seasons and lost $50 per bale. The man who fails to sell at the top price is remembered. Those who sold cheap and the price went up is lost sight of. The fact is those who refused to sell made the price for all, and even if some did not get the top, they got

TO FARMERS INSTITUTES OF TEXAS

(From Department of Agriculture, Austin, Texas.)

Some times it is very important to take a view of the past. Farmers as well as others.

No doubt the bear talk you have heard and read lately about the price of this cotton crop; how low the price is, and is likely to be, and the causes for them, have gone the rounds freely. This is not new. Did you ever know of a fall that was otherwise? Bear talk is always plentiful and free.

Do the farmers of Texas know what they have accomplished in the past three years? Many of them do not. This is to refresh the minds of all what they have done and encourage them to do it again, and not only the same ones do their business duty again but take their evidence to others and line them up to help themselves. Talk it to single farmers, groups of them and call meetings and explain it.

Now listen: During the summer of 1917, 2500 delegates of the Farmers Institutes met in Austin and pledged themselves that if Commissioner Fred W. Davis, would throw the aid and influence of his Department, and himself, at work to aid the farmers to price their cotton and receive the price, they would go home and do their best to follow his instructions to accomplish it. He agreed to it and started his machinery in motion.

The price of 30 cents was named as the minimum price cotton should sell for. Cotton was selling for 16 to 18 cents September 10th, and going down daily. 30 cents was at least $60 per bale more than it was selling for when the work started. He urged that every bale be held for at least 30 cents that could be held. The farmers in northeast Texas made the cotton of Texas that year and many of them held. In 60 days they were selling cotton for 30 cents. They were urged to continue to hold as the railroads could not haul it, and to offer too much would break the market. They held and got 35 cents or $85 per bale more than it started at. Who priced this crop? Who made the price advance $85 per bale? It was those determined farmers mainly of Northeast Texas and other states who refused to sell. Can the farmers price their cotton and get the price? Does anyone believe the price would have advanced if the farmers had been willing to sell at 16 or 18 cents? Did anyone ever see the price advance $85 per bale before? With the railroads

The farmers who are behind with their discing on account of being unable to work their teams could make no better investment than a Fordson. Consider it will run all day and all night, that it will cost you nothing to keep it in winter, that the flies won't bother it, that you can get every part you will need in your parts room, that the service is the same as Ford service, that it is the handsomest and most efficient power plant you could put on your farm. more than they would have if they had sold as fast as gathered. Farmers are doing some studying for themselves and they should do more. They know more about how the price of cotton is made and how the farmers can price it than their banker or merchant, and do not forget it. Go to these friends and inform them. Secure their co-operation. Make them close up their shop, if necessary, when one of our field men speak in your town and hear him. Get busy and make your work complete this fall. Remember above all things; you are establishing a business system of selling your cotton and you cannot have it just like you want it until it is completed. Reduce your acreage to that which your own family can easily cultivate and let the cows have the bollies and very low grades, and we will be a country of home owners.

COTTON PICKING IS DONE BY MACHINE

Some two or three weeks ago the principles of a cotton picker was demonstrated in this office by one whose name we have forgotten. We confess that we had come to think of the cotton picking machine as an impracticable proposition, and yet the principles seemed very simple. The man above referred to said it had taken 22 years to perfect the machine, but that it had proven a success beyond any doubt. Also he stated that the demand was too great for the supply and a factory was being built to turn these machines out in greater numbers.

In Sunday's Dallas News we find the following reference to this machine:

This machine consists of a high gasoline tractor on the sides of which the cotton picker mechanism is built in a manner that the mechanism may be easily detached. The picking mechanism consists of two verticle cylinders on each side within which are needles or fingers that revolve, each on its own axis, wrapping the lint about them, the contact being made by saw-like teeth. The cylinders revolve in a direction opposite to the direction the machine is going with the effect of presenting to every part of the cotton plant a revolving needle, but with no other motion. There are more than 600 of these needles in the four cylinders. The cotton is stripped from the needles and carried on an endless belt through a blowing compartment, where dust and leaves are eliminated, into a pair of large sacks at the rear of the machine.

Machine at Work

On an exhibition round yesterday the machine crossed the field and came back picking one row of cotton each way. The round occupied eight minutes and the cotton gathered weighed sixty-seven pounds. The capacity of the machine is claimed to be 500 to 600 pounds of seed cotton an hour in an average field. It seems to get practically all of the open cotton and is claimed to clean up the field better than hand pickers do. Mr. Price is confident that he has now got the machine to the perfected status. Seven or eight machines have built, but the newest and most perfect of them is the only one that has been shown. Experiments with the new machines this season have proven it to the satisfaction of cotton men and manufacture of the machine is to start at once, a contract having been made by Mr. Price with the Wichita Falls Motors Company to build them.

Banker Orders One

Among the visitors to the new cotton picking machine demonstration Friday last was J. A. Kemp, banker of Wichita Falls. After his visit to the field and examination of the machine Mr. Kemp said: "I am convinced beyond question that Mr. Price has solved the problem of cotton picking by machine. I saw a bale of cotton ginned that had been picked by this machine and it made thirty-nine pounds of lint from 100 pounds of seed cotton. The ginner said that was above the average. It is due to the fact that machine picking was unusually clean. The picking demonstration I saw yielded 117 pounds of seed cotton in 18 minutes from a field that is below the average in production and will probably make about one-third of a bale to the acre. I am so fully convinced of the value of the machine that I have informed Mr. Price that I will form a company to purchase a machine at once. We estimate that one machine will pick about 7,000 pounds seed cotton a day and will, of course serve a considerable community."

THALIA SCHOOL NEWS

The school was called together Monday morning and a few rules recalled by the principal.

There seems to be real interest in the school, as the last two weeks has shown wonderful progress in class work.

We are glad to report that Miss Lela Webb of Talmage has entered our tenth grade class.

Tuesday was the first day that all the high school pupils have been present. There are twenty-seven.

In the English class today Mr. Owens said something about desk-mates having papers so much alike.

Ruth Grimm: "Well Mr. Owens, haven't you been teaching co-operation in the civic class?"

Mr. Owens: "Yes."

Ruth: "Well, why not co-operate in English?"

On Tuesday Jesse Rector returned to school after playing "hokey" a week. He was received with fifteen raps.

Orval Awbrey played "hokey" yesterday, but Mr. Owens hasn't found it out yet.

East Nashville, Tenn.— The efficiency of Theford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.
