RAILROAD ROUTE IS UNCERTAIN

Nothing Has Been Decided As to the Route. Meeting Will Be Held Later

Judge J. G. Witherspoon returned last week from Fort Worth where he visited during the holidays. While in the city he saw and talked with Mr. Massie, President of the Chamber of Commerce, relative to the route of the proposed railroad which is to run from Fort Worth to the Plains country.

Mr. Witherspoon has nothing to report, except that no route has yet been decided upon. The talk about where the road will run is town talk all together. Every town on the Plains is claiming to be on the logical route. Mr. Witherspoon says a meeting is to be held in Fort Worth some time in this month, the exact date yet to be decided upon, for the purpose of hearing what each town has to offer as to why the road should go its way. All the towns of the Plains and the country through which the road might be induced to build will be expected to send one or more representatives to that meeting.

A meeting of that kind will be the means of Fort Worth's getting reliable facts relative to the production of this country, with the probable tonnage, etc. Whether or not Crowell has a chance to get this road, it would be well for us to send a representative or two to the Fort Worth meeting and show that we are interested. There is a possibility we think, of our getting the road, but loud roaring will not bring it. Then, too, there will be some financial considerations that will go with the proposition.

All Over Texas News

The work of marking the F. F. F. Highway commenced in Fort Worth Friday morning, according to a statement in the dailies by Rosco Ady, industrial commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce of Fort Worth. The markers will be of wood and will have a wide black border, and on the white field will be the letters F. F. F. These will be placed at each mile of the highway and at branches leading from the highway.

S. T. Reeder, 53 years old and a prominent farmer living near Oklahoma, in Wilbarger County, was accidentally killed while hunting in a pasture two miles from his home. The fatal accident occurred through the discharge of a gun which fell from a vehicle from which he had just alighted to shoot at a covey of birds.

A man recently sustained a badly lacerated hand at Claude, Texas, when he crushed a thin piece of soap in his hand. The soap had imbedded in a safety razor blade. It was necessary for several stitches to be taken by a surgeon when his hand was dressed.

John Hubert, Jr., a former resident of Glenn, but recently of El Centro, Cal., was shot and killed a short time ago in that city. Business difficulties are given as the cause of the trouble that led to his death.

Kills Some Good Hogs

The smallest of three hogs which John Bell recently killed dressed 490 pounds. The three he says netted about 1500.

He does not claim that these are onsters, but they are good sized hogs. From the smallest he got about 20 gallons of lard and 80 pounds of sausage. Speaking of fattening hogs to kill John says at the present prices of corn one can make some money feeding hogs, provided they are ready to fatten. Of course it would not pay to feed them corn just to keep them growing, but it means some profit, even at the present price of meat, to feed them corn for the slaughter pen.

Married

Marriage license were issued last week to Mr. Willie L. Johnson and Miss Connie Woods, both of Thalia. These young people are well and favorably known in their community and the bride is well known in Crowell. She is the daughter of Mrs. Bessie Wood and resided for some time in Crowell. All the friends of the young married couple wish them great happiness and prosperity in their new relations.

For Tax Assessor

In announcing myself as a candidate for Tax Assessor of Foard County for the ensuing term, I will simply state that not having anything else to do, and having no other interests I can therefore devote all my time and give my entire attention to the work of the office.

I invite the close inquiry with regard to my competency and character. I hope for a fair consideration of my claims and earnestly solicit your support.

C. A. MITCHELL.

L. D. Campbell for Sheriff

L. D. Campbell offers himself for reelection to the office of sheriff of this county.

Mr. Campbell is so well known to need any introduction through the columns of the News. He knows almost every man in the county and every pig trail through breaks and over prairies. And everybody knows Mr. Campbell. They know he has served them as sheriff in such way as to give him the strongest claims to their support for reelection. The truth is well said when Campbell is spoken of as having made Foard County a real sheriff. He has not flinched at the discharge of his duty at all times, and he has ever been ready to accept the assistance of the public in running down criminals and bringing men to justice. Mr. Campbell asks your support upon his record.

Judge Cole Announces for District Judge

The News is authorized to announce Judge Robert Cole as a candidate for the office of District Judge of this district to succeed Judge Nabers, the present incumbent.

Judge Cole has been a resident of Foard County for 30 years or more, and during all that period has been engaged in the practice of law. He is one of the leading attorneys of Northwest Texas, and is so recognized by all the members of his profession in this country. He will make as his platform in this campaign, "Dispatch of business and a square deal for all parties."

Judge Cole is entitled to the earnest consideration of every voter at the polls, and should be elected he will make us a faithful servant in the capacity of District Judge.

Announcement

After the solicitations of friends and much deliberation I have decided to place my name before the people of Foard County as a candidate for the office of County and District Clerk.

I am not without business experience, having taught for several years in the public schools of this county, assisted in the Collector's and Assessor's offices, also had other work of similar nature. For these reasons I feel that I am fully capable of performing the duties of this office, and this I most assuredly promise to do. If elected I hope to render the people the very best service possible and I shall expect to be always found at my post of duty.

I have lived in this county the greater part of my life, being a resident at the time of its organization, hence I am quite familiar with the needs and difficulties of its people.

I shall endeavor to see each and everyone personally, but should I fail to do so, please remember that I made an effort and do not hold this against me.

I am conscientious and efficient and I need the office, and you will not make a mistake by casting your vote in my favor.

If you do not know me personally, ask some of my friends, investigate my record and then make your decision.

Thanking you in advance for any courtesies you may wish to extend, I am,

Yours very sincerely,

Mrs. (J. T.) Pearl Thompson-Carter.

Miss Cora Carter Announces for County and District Clerk

We are authorized to say that Miss Cora Carter is in the race for County and District Clerk of Foard County.

Miss Carter possesses high qualifications for a service of this kind. She attained a high school education and then taught in the public schools of Crowell for several terms. She asks the consideration of the voters at the polls in the next Democratic primary.

FARMERS WARNED ABOUT COTTON SEED

Attention Called to the Dangers from the Boll Worm Menace

Time and again attention has been called to the danger there is in importing cotton seed for planting on account of the fact that the boll worm has made its appearance in so many localities, and we are here printing a letter from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce relative to the matter, which follows:

To all Officers, Secretaries, Unit Directors, et al:

Gentlemen: We desire to call your attention to the danger of cotton seed being imported into your community having seed perhaps from regions in Texas infested with the pink boll worm. We are advised that some seed from these infested districts have already gone into parts of West Texas. Already numerous findings of the pink boll worm eggs have been discovered in seed from infested districts.

If any traces of the pink boll worm could be found in seed shipped to your county it would mean that you would be placed under a very rigid quarantine against shipping your cotton or cotton seed. It would also mean a material decline in land and real estate values, in fact it would be a real calamity. Let us consider this seriously and if you or your neighbors have received seed from other parts of the state, see that they are treated with Carbon Bysulphide (high life) by placing the seed in a tight container such as a box or barrel and place a bottle of this liquid, partially opened at or near the top of the seed, cover container as nearly air-tight as possible and allow to remain at least a week. This is a very simple effective, and inexpensive precaution.

We would appreciate it if you would take this matter up with local newspaper and local parties.

Respectfully,
PORTER A. WHALEY,
Manager.

Collected 281 Polls in December

A good start was made in the collection of state and county taxes in December, according to figures given the News by the tax collector. 281 polls were paid before Jan. 1st. This is one of the best records ever made says the collector, for the month of December.

The office force is now very busy collecting the taxes and at the present rate of payment the last few days should not be so busy with the collectors as usual.

To the Voters of Foard County

After having been solicited by friends, I have decided to make the race for County and District Clerk of Foard County. I have lived in this county since childhood and am very well acquainted with the citizens.

I have had eighteen months experience as deputy clerk and know that I am competent to attend all the duties pertaining to the office. All support given me will be appreciated.

MRS. GRACE NORRIS.

To the Citizens of Foard County

I herein announce as candidate for re-election for the office of County Treasurer of Foard County, subject to the Democratic primary.

I thank each one for the support given me in the past, and solicit a continuance of the same.

EMILY T. PURCELL.

For County Judge

Hon. J. G. Witherspoon authorizes the announcement of his candidacy in this issue for County Judge. Mr. Witherspoon has had strong solicitations to make the race and consents to do so after having considered the matter seriously.

That he is eminently qualified for the office is beyond question. He has served as representative in the Texas Legislature and has held other positions of responsibility, in which he has served the public in a most creditable manner.

Mr. Witherspoon was one of the earliest settlers in this country and knows its past history and its present needs as well, perhaps, as any other man. He wants your consideration of his claims at the Democratic primary.

TRIED TO BOOTLEG; FOILED BY SHERIFF

Tried to Sell Home-Made Product But It Had No "Kick"

Discovering what he believed to be signs of bootlegging in Crowell during Christmas week, Sheriff Campbell stationed himself in the black gin where he could get a good view of the immediate country around, and it was not long until he saw a bottle drawn from the pocket of one man and while he was showing it to another Campbell made a rush for the men, thinking perhaps that a sale had been made. He learned, however, that there had been no sale for the reason, it seemed, that the stuff had no "kick" to it. At least the would-be purchaser so stated. The name of the man who was wanting to sell the stuff was given as R. T. Panter. He was a transient and was camped near the depot. Campbell went with him to his dugout where he admitted that he had a little in a barrel. The sheriff found that he had a barrel full of the liquid he was trying to sell, and when he was convinced that it was not intoxicating he could do nothing but allow the bootlegger to go. He left town.

Mr. Campbell thinks the contents of the barrel might have become intoxicating if the weather had been warm enough and if the bootlegger had not been interrupted in his plans until it had had time in which to ferment.

Joint Institute a Success

Two hundred and twenty-five teachers attended the joint institute of Hardeman, Cottle, Motley, King and Foard, held at Quanah. Thirty-four of the forty-seven teachers in Foard County were there.

Teachers are just like boys and girls, they must have entertainment. On Tuesday evening there was a "County Stunt Contest." Each county staged a great "psychological stunt," and the one that Foard put over could hardly be beat. As some one has said, we had the thunder that won. It was a "rural lyceum" organized by Miss Lottie Woods and conducted by Mr. Tate. Supervised and trained by these efficient two, how could we do otherwise than win? Perhaps many don't know the meaning of that "magnificent cup" on exhibition at the Owl Drug Store. The judges gave it to the "rural lyceum" as first prize, a token of appreciation for the wonderful stunt. After the contest we were ushered into the Department of Home Economics where the girls of the class in cooking presented us a most delicious treat.

JESSE OWENS.

Missionary Society

The Woman's Missionary Society has just closed a very successful year and plans for the coming year are being made with much interest and enthusiasm. At the business meeting Monday, Jan. 2, the following officers were elected for 1922: President, Mrs. S. S. Bell; Vice President, Mrs. Murrell; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. A. Y. Beverly; Local Treasurer, Mrs. Sandifer; Connectional Treasurer, Mrs. Everett Bell; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Rude Magee; Superintendent of Children's Work, Miss Emily Purcell, Superintendent of Young People's Work, Mrs. Charlie Ferguson; Superintendent of Social Service, Mrs. Belle Allee; Superintendent of Supplies, Mrs. B. F. Ringgold; Superintendent of Study, Mrs. Charlie Thompson; Superintendent of Publicity, Mrs. Russell Beverly; Agent Missionary Voice, Miss Wynne Beidleman.

Over 500 Autos Registered

When the books closed Monday night at the sheriff's office license had been paid on 502 automobiles in the county. This number represents a little more than half the number in the county.

According to custom twelve more days, or rather until the 12th of January, will be given in which to pay these without penalty.

G. C. Rector and wife came up from San Angelo during the holidays and visited Mrs. Rector's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wallon. The father and mother returned with Mr. and Mrs. Rector for a short visit at their home in San Angelo.

CITY WATER BONDS HAVE BEEN SOLD

The city water bonds of $100,000.00 were sold last week to H. E. Burt & Co., of Houston for 97 cents on the dollar with the accrued interest.

City Secretary Claude Adams left Tuesday with the bonds for Austin where official business in connection with the bonds was to be transacted. He is to go from there on to Houston where he will deliver the bonds to the purchaser.

The sale of the bonds at the splendid price of 97 cents is regarded as a very good deal, indeed. Only a few months ago there was no market for bonds and it was predicted that they could not be sold, at least for a year or more. But they have been sold and the water works are being rushed towards completion as rapidly as can be done.

This is one of the best steps the city of Crowell ever took in her history. The high taxes are causing us all to complain a little, but we are making an investment that means everything for our town. Later we can get reductions in insurance rates, ice, laundry, etc., that will pay the extra taxes.

Grocery Store Changes

Sam Russell has bought the Eggleston Cash and Carry Grocery store and his son, Willie, will have charge of the business as active manager.

Mr. Eggleston is disposing of his stores in Vernon and Paducah also and will establish a string of grocery establishments in East Texas, with Waxahachie as the head office. Roy Wright who has been managing the business here will have the management of the Waxahachie store.

After this week Mr. Russell expects to carry regular space in the News for his weekly announcement to the trade.

A Light Shower

The wheat crop will be benefitted to some extent by the light shower that fell Tuesday night. In some places wheat had not come up. In others it was in fair condition, and this will likely bring much of that up which was lying in the ground, while it will carry that which was already up for a few weeks longer.

A big bunch men are here bidding on the materials to be used in the construction of the city water system.

COW'S HEAD SHOWED TRACES OF RABIES

Four Men Now at Pasteur Institute for Treatment As Measure of Precaution

It was about the middle of December when a cow on the T. J. Bell farm, 8 miles south of town, got sick and died. Bob Bell, Buster Boardman and Tom Gafford had dissected the cow while she was sick and skinned her after she had died. Zeke Bell was not satisfied as to what was the cause of the cow's death and suggested that her head be severed and sent to Austin for examination at the Pasteur Institute. This was done. In the meantime Bob Bell thought it best not to take chances and he and Boardman did not wait for a report from Austin, but went on down there and was in Austin when the examination revealed the fact that the animal had rabies. Gafford was hurried to Quanah, the nine days then being up, and went directly to Austin. W. H. Sellers had secretly the cow's hide down before it was learned that the animal had died with rabies, and a wire was sent to Austin asking the advisability of Seller's taking the treatment. The answer stated that he would run a risk if he did not do so, and he left Monday for Austin. The four are now taking treatment at the Pasteur Institute.

Two other cows on the Bell farm died and another one was killed, all being effected with the disease. It is thought.

Speaking of the matter Zeke Bell says he thinks this has all come from the mad wolf that bit Walter Cates and wife early in the summer. Likely several other wolves were bitten by the same one, and possibly a number of dogs. It was scattered in that locality, and like any other, it may have to be fought for some time before it is stamped out.

Mr. Sellers returned yesterday without having to had to take the Pasteur treatment. The other boys are all taking it.

BASKET BALL SCHEDULE

At a county meeting the teachers of this county elected a committee of five termed "Committee on Rural Education in Foard County." The duty of the committee is to make a complete survey of the rural schools and inform the public how much standard school work is being done in the county.

At the same meeting the county officers for the Interscholastic League were elected. Mr. Cook was re-elected director general.

On account of the early district basket ball contest, it is necessary that we finish our county contest before and for ball before February 1st, the assistance of teachers during contest teams the following schedule has been made:

Thalia and Rayland, at Rayland, Dec. 30th.
Rayland and Crowell, at Crowell, January 6th.
Crowell and Thalia, at Thalia, January 11th.
Thalia and Rayland, at Thalia, January 13th.
Crowell and Rayland, at Rayland, January 18th.
Thalia and Crowell, at Crowell, January 28th.

JESSE OWENS,
County Director of Athletics.

Rev. and Mrs. W. M. Murrell visited their daughter, Mrs. J. G. Graham, in Seymour from Wednesday till Friday of last week. Their daughter, Mrs. G. C. Boswell, of Byers, who was visiting them here accompanied them to Seymour, going from there to her home.

Misses Jode Brian and Litha Crews returned Sunday to the State University. Misses Gladys and Glegg Brian who were at the State before Xmas have gone to Denton. Miss Mabel Pittillo has returned to Ward-Belmont at Nashville. Miss Hattie Eldridge, Jessie Lee Cates, Otis Benham, Ruth Elliott and Claudia Carter have returned to Denton. Eddie Russell and Ben Burk have returned to Clarendon. Charlie Campbell, Alton and Valmer Bell to Powell Training School at Dallas and Gordon Bell to Baylor.

Decker Magee is in Austin this week with Major C. A. Adams getting the City water bonds approved and delivered to the purchasers.

Christmas Party

Mesdames C. P. Sandifer and S. S. Bell entertained their Sunday School classes at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Sandifer on December 30, 1921.

It was a real Christmas party and the spirit of Yuletide prevailed throughout the entire afternoon.

The Christmas decorations enhanced by the fire light in the interior of the home brought that Christmas spirit that always comes with the Holiday season.

Amusing games and contests brought forth peals of laughter from all present. There came a loud knock at the door in the midst of all the merriment and Santa Claus appeared on the scene and led us to the dining room where there stood a beautiful Christmas tree and each little girl was remembered after they had been urged by Santa that they must attend regular at Sunday School the coming year or he might not appear at all next Christmas.

A tempting plate was passed, and music added to the pleasure of the occasion throughout the entire evening. Those present will always remember the occasion as one of the most pleasant social affairs of the Christmas of 1921, and their best wishes will follow their teachers throughout the entire year.—A Guest.

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which griped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

BLACK-DRAUGHT

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND LOOSENS TEETH

The Very Next Dose of This Treacherous Drug May Start Trouble

You know what calomel is. It's mercury; quicksilver. Calomel is dangerous. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It makes you sick the next day; it loses you a day's work. Dodson's Liver Tone straightens you right up and you feel great. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

The New Year

We shall know more of 1922 next December. This statement does not mean to intimate that the new year's achievements are likely to fall below the average. If we are to give much credit to recent statements of the big financiers of the country—men who study general conditions as related to cause and effect, we may well expect the new year to be a great one. Money matters may be a little closer than at one time, but this has the effect of bringing people to a basis of greater conservatism in buying.

Speaking of matters locally, it may be said that a scarcity of money has hardly been realized here, and if we should get rain within a month's time there is reason to expect a fair crop of wheat. But even if no wheat is made in the country, looking at the situation as does one of our business men, who said: "We can fail on wheat and make a bumper row crop," the sound of a pessimistic note would necessarily class its utterer as a crosser of the bridge before arriving at it.

Then, we have the history of 30 years or more through which men of confidence in the country have come successfully. They have just stayed with it when on the crest of the waves or in valley between them. What is true with this country is also true generally. This is no exception in the main. Life is the same nearly everywhere and general conditions are not much unlike.

West Texas is not by itself in experiencing a longer dry spell than is liked—it's a condition prevailing over much of Texas, and only in a few spots of the United States have big rains been reported recently. But the rains are coming. They are nearer today than they were yesterday. They always have come. They will come again, and our steady forward pull together for better things will have as much to do with bringing them as will favorable external conditions which are always beyond our control. Then 1922 will be largely what we make it.

We Thank You

Ingratitude is a trait repulsive to most of us. The News asks, therefore, that you who have contributed in any way to its successful operation through another year, accept its hearty and sincere thanks for the same. The advertising patronage has been appreciated. The subscription renewals, as well as the good number of new readers, is most encouraging. We appreciate the faithful services of the rural correspondents. They have helped to make the News a real county paper.

With the continued co-operation of all together we shall not be satisfied unless we can feel that we are putting back into the News a large portion of your contributions, of whatever nature, to make it a still better local paper. It is the aim and desire of the management to render the very best service possible, and your patronage is asked on no other grounds.

We heartily join heart and hand with every citizen to make our county the best in the state and our towns the most desirable of any in which to dwell. These are achievements entirely possible, if not this year or next, in the immediate years to come. Let us have faith in our country and confidence in our people.

John W. Saye, sheriff of Young County, has issued a statement that so long as he holds that position of trust, there will be no necessity for mob rule in his county. That of course, means that he must have the co-operation of the citizens. It would be as impossible for him to enforce the law without their aid as for any other sheriff in the state. But what he says has the proper ring and if his is not a Klan locality we'll bet there will not be any parades there. This is what he says:

My oath of office, which I subscribed to, requires me to enforce the law of this State and the Constitution, which I have always tried to do. If there are any persons or individuals to whom notice has come of any violation of the laws of this State, of crimes committed in this county, I heartily ask that they come in and give me that information and I will do the rest, according to law. Young County will not during my term be ruled by mob law.

I do not consider any organization or association that wears masks, operates in the night, and carries guns to perpetuate their purpose and to prevent their identification law-abiding citizens. So far as I know no deputy on my force is a member of the Ku Klux Klan, and should I find that there is such a member, he will find himself outside of the force.

I therefore call upon the citizens of Young County, Texas, to assist me in the enforcement of the law, and according to law. Further, every individual, whether a criminal or not, is entitled to a trial by a jury of his fellow-citizens, according to law, and of this he shall have in Young County.

REDEMPTION

By MARGARET A. NORTON.

(© 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

It was a crucial moment. Rachel recognized it. Without a second's hesitation she grasped the steaming coffee pot and, with an alarming agility, sent it, contents and all, right through the big pane of glass in the dining room window.

Then, with a slightly heightened color, but apparently otherwise calm and placid, she began filling some glasses with water to substitute in place of the usual beverage.

Ralph, astonished, aghast, his mouth open, stood as if turned to stone and watched his wife's movements. To his astonished gaze she appeared as cool and chilly as a winter morning.

"They" had told her—why, even Ralph's own mother had warned her—that Ralph's ugly temper had spoiled his first wife's life; that he was given to fits of "meanness," which while they lasted made life near him, or with him, a misery and a terror.

"They" had said that she would rue the day she married him, for he was "overbearing and tyrannical" and "had no thought for anyone but himself."

To all well-meaning critics, except Ralph's mother, Rachel had turned a smiling but unmoved face. With Mrs. Rodman she had talked earnestly.

For some months her tactfulness and the love Ralph undoubtedly bore his handsome and cheerful wife held his tyrannical temper within bounds. But this lovely April morning he had risen with all his disagreeable propensities on the surface.

Rachel had not uttered a word of remonstrance, not even when her husband kicked the offending cat, threw a chair in his path to the other side of the room and nearly broke the covers of her new range when he replenished the fire. She pretended not to notice that her merry remarks were unanswered or glared at. It was not until, through his own carelessness, he had spilled a few drops of hot coffee on his wrist and had, with a muttered oath, thrown the offending cup across the room, landing it in seams on a pretty and prized rug, that Rachel noted.

It was then that she followed his example, but to his horror and the sudden cooling of his pettish resentment, not only followed his example, but went his several better, for the window pane was a valuable one and the coffee pot one of their best wedding gifts.

Neither spoke during the hasty meal that followed.

At dinner she noted just as usual, Ralph was very silent. He noted that the debris of the morning explosion lay where it had fallen. His mother and uncle were coming to tea.

After dinner he gathered up the broken glass and cleared away the coffee grounds.

That night she prepared a letter. It was not long. In it Rachel told her husband that she had been warned about his inflammable temper; that she loved him despite that very bad blemish, and she believed he was manly enough to conquer his ruling passion. She told him that she meant for a while, "only for a while, and just as an object lesson, to show you how terrible such behavior is. When I see that my acts are not bearing fruit and that you are not bearing fruit and that you are not worth my descending to such tactics then I shall say 'good-by,' and forever 'good-by.' I cannot live with a husband unworthy my respect. I should still love you, Ralph, but I should leave you just the same as if my love had departed, for I am an individual with a right to happiness, and it would be unobtainable with you. Think it over, husband!"

Ralph never mentioned the letter, but it was many months before he allowed his besetting vice to get the better of him again, and when he did it proved to be the last time. This time he stoned and killed a hen that had done some damage in the garden. When Rachel, who loved all helpless creatures, saw the mutilated body she noted. That night when Ralph went out to feed his poultry, which he fancied, despite his occasional cruelties, his poultry house was empty. Rachel had given every bird away.

"When you can use creatures humanely," she said, "I'll agree to have more here. But that hen's broken ribs and body made me understand that you had to learn humane principles before we could trust animals of any kind in your hands."

It was the last lesson necessary. Ralph saw the point. He began to respect, as he had never done before with any woman who had come into his life, the will which refused to submit tamely to injustice and tyranny.

"I must not lose her," he thought, "for if she goes it will be forever."

A year later as the pair were looking at some fowl that Rachel herself had installed in the poultry houses, Ralph remarked, reminiscently:

"I'm mighty glad, Rachel, that you had the gumption to hit hard from the shoulder when I merited it."

And Rachel, her prophecies fulfilled, answered: "I never hit you, honey, but I did hit the black moods that were killing you."

A. L. Johnson, Crowell, says: "My back and kidneys caused me trouble. My back ached and pained most of the time through the small of it, and when I bent a sharp, stinging pain caught me. I could hardly sleep at night and mornings I was so lame and stiff I could hardly get around. My kidneys were weak and troubled me by their irregular action. I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and they helped me from the start. Altogether I used eight boxes of Doan's and they cured me."

Miss Annie Webb Blanton, State School Commissioner, calls attention to the fact that the amount of money to be spent per capita in Texas this year will be considerably decreased and that this will mean a decrease in the supply of efficient teachers. History will, in all probability, prove Miss Blanton an inaccurate prophet. A drop of something like $1.00 per capita is hardly in keeping with the decrease in nearly all other lines, and present salaries of teachers, which are about the same as last year, go much further in power to purchase.

American Legion News

Both eyes destroyed by American strappnel during the world war, Franz Roheol, who served the Kaiser, now is kept from suffering by an American doughboy's discarded suit of "civvies." Someone bought the clothing at a rummage sale held by the American Legion post of Maspeeth, Long Island, and sent it to a woman acquaintance in Germany. She gave it to the needy German soldier. "Now I can use the little pension the Government gives me for food and need not go hungry," the former enemy soldier says in a letter of thanks to the Legion post. Ex-Soldaten Roheol lives in Ekren, Germany.

American soldiers and marines who won the coveted Congressional Medal of Honor during the war will receive the Italian war cross, officials of the American Legion have been informed by the Italian embassy. Gen. Vaccari, chief of staff of the embassy, already has begun distribution of the medal. Steps have been taken by the Legion to also obtain the cross for naval men who received the Congressional medal.

Members of the American Legion all over the country hereafter will be kept informed of what Congress and the government are doing for ex-service men through a weekly bulletin issued by the Legion's legislative committee. The bulletins will be sent to all Legion newspapers and publications and state officials.

More than 16,000 former service men are suffering from tuberculosis in Denver, according to C. J. Harris, director of the American Legion's service division, who is making an investigation of the care of these men. The situation is getting beyond the control of civic authorities and adequate hospital facilities are a pressing need, Mr. Harris reports.

Marriage after the entrance of America into the world war did not constitute an attempted evasion of the draft so as to deprive the service man of a bonus claim under the Minnesota statute, the Minnesota supreme court has ruled.

Parents or wives of Americans who died overseas during the world war and whose bodies have not been returned would have an opportunity to visit the graves of their deceased at government expense in a resolution introduced into Congress by Rep. Hamilton Fish, New York, a member of the American Legion. The resolution directs the Secretary of War to provide transportation to American cemeteries overseas.

A request that the United States government be asked to negotiate an agreement with Great Britain for reciprocal treatment of disabled war veterans, traveling or residing in either country, will be considered at the next meeting of the legislative committee of the American Legion. Such an agreement is in effect between this country and Canada.

All parties knowing themselves indebted to me for the service of my bull will please settle at once.—J. E. Collins. tf

Hitting Too Hard

The News has been called down on the streets of our city several times because it has fought the Ku Klux Klan. Not long ago one citizen said we had struck the Klan a little too hard. Our reply was that we only regret that we can not strike harder blows than we have given.

The News wants the world to know that it stands for everything that is right. But it does not stand for nor does it endorse in any degree whatever any order, society or klan that is too cowardly to reveal its identity and step out into the open.

A real man is not supposed to go under cover. He will not do so. It's the coward who does not want the world to see him. If the masks and robes were to automatically drop from the members of the klan, or mob, as it may rightly be designated, as it parades the streets of our towns, seventy-five to ninety per cent of them would seek hiding places, if by so doing they thought they could still conceal their identity.

Our country does not need the services of a masked klan. It needs men who are not afraid to assume responsibility as citizens—men who are not afraid they will lose favor with somebody by taking a stand for the right—men who are not afraid they will lose business by doing their duty as citizens in upholding the laws of the land and in helping to bring criminals to justice.

The real need of today is that of men—men who amount to more than a cipher.

Yes, the News is against the Ku Klux Klan, just like it is against any other mob that would interfere with the constitutional rights of any man, regardless of his race, color, religion, or politics. It is for the constitution of the state and nation, because it believes in democratic government. It believes in the enforcement of written law and is most bitterly opposed to mob law. One of the most astounding truths we face today is that some well-meaning people regard lightly some of the things we are here pointing out as essential to the best interests of the country.

"Business Goes Where It Is Well Treated"

Advertising makes a town, therefore, the men who do the advertising of any town are the makers of it and should have the credit for doing so. In Childress, as in all towns, there are some non-advertisers—men who do business, or try to, with never a cent spent for advertising. These fellows get part of the benefit from their progressive neighbors' advertising; therefore in a sense, they are mooching on their neighbors' investment. When you come to town to spend your money you should always try to trade with the firm that spends its money freely for advertising, for that is the kind of people that makes your town and keeps it going. The Post believes this is done very largely. The people are rapidly learning that it pays to trade where they are invited and many will shun the store that does not think enough of their business to solicit same. "Business goes where it is well treated."—Childress Post.

If you did not make your resolutions on the first day of January, maybe it would be better to wait until 1923, rather than get in only part of a year.

Adelphian Christmas Joys

We all felt that the real Christmas spirit entered into our hearts on the afternoon of December, the fourteenth, when Mrs. Matthews was hostess to twenty-six members of the club.

A miscellaneous Christmas program was the order of the afternoon and was heartily enjoyed by all present. As a fitting climax to the afternoon's program, Mrs. Henry Ferguson gave a beautiful Christmas reading. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, and on each plate was a favor of real holly.

At the home of Mrs. Joe Johnson, Mrs. and Miss Woods were the hostesses on the twenty-eight of December. Words are really inadequate to describe the delightfulness of this party. The fun began as soon as the guests were assembled, and abated not one whit until we said adieu. Many jolly games and contests were indulged in, which took us back to our little-girl days, as also did the big red-striped sticks of candy which were given as prizes. No one was allowed to sit anywhere, but on the floor. As we filled into the dining room, a miniature tree greeted our eyes, from which were suspended tiny sox of candy, one for each guest.

After we had partaken of so much fun, it seemed we could surely have no more, a plate of good things was passed to each member, and Mesdames John Ray, Schindler, Greer, and Miss Stuhmer.

As the sun was setting, we reluctantly took our departure each one voting Mrs. Woods and Miss Lottie most delightful entertainers.—Press Reporter.

A Christian Sheriff

The following is taken from the Baptist Standard of October 6, 1921, and is of interest to readers generally and to those of Foard County in particular, because of the fact that it speaks of a man who was once one of our citizens. The item is a little bit lengthy, but we believe it is worth the space it will occupy. The writer is Albert F. Beddoe. The article follows:

A deputy sheriff in Southwest Texas once informed me that he could not live a Christian life and hold his job. I wish I could have the privilege of introducing the gentleman to Sheriff Dan T. Roberts of Clayton, Union County, New Mexico, who not only leads a consistent Christian life, but leads to Christ the poor human derelicts with whom he comes in contact. It is said of Brother Roberts that he never arrests a man without telling him of the saving power of Jesus, the friend of the down-and-outs.

Sheriff Roberts was elected to the position he now holds less than a year ago, and yet in that time he has revolutionized the whole law enforcement system of this wonderful cattle country. I met Brother Roberts only recently, during the progress of a revival campaign in which I was helping Pastor J. W. Sale of Clayton, but in the short time I have known the sheriff he has made a deep and abiding impression on me. He is of medium height, rather heavy-set and has the typical slightly bowed legs of the man who spends most of his life in the saddle. His face is one of the kindest I have ever seen, with a large, benevolent mouth, the gentlest sort of smile and mild, blue eyes that fill with tears when he speaks of the Master whom he loves so devotedly. I am told, however, that those eyes can become burning blue flames when the occasion demands it.

It is said that shortly after he took the oath of office Brother Roberts was approached by some of the prominent bootleggers of the county and offered a large bribe to "behave himself." Of course he promptly refused, and one of the first acts of his official life was the rounding up of a great crowd of open violators of the Eighteenth Amendment. Three well-known Union County citizens are in the penitentiary as a result of his efforts along this line.

An example of what this fearless Christian has accomplished up here can be seen in the fact that during the recent three-day round-up in Clayton not a drunk man was seen on the streets and no trouble of any sort was experienced, while in Tucumcari, during the round-up there, three men were killed and many others injured.

During the song service one night, early in the meeting, a group of poorly-dressed nondescript men filed into the back of the church. Brother Sale, the pastor, leaned over to me and whispered: "That is sheriff Roberts and the prisoners from the county jail." To say that I was surprised would be putting it mildly. He brought those prisoners to church every night after the meeting began.

One night three of them were gloriously saved, one of them a boy from Texas who has been charged with "raising" a check. In the same service a gray-haired rancher, something over sixty years of age, was converted and joined the church. It turned out that he was the complaining witness against the Texas boy! There they stood—accuser and accused—rejoicing together in their new-found Savior! Truly, Jesus is the great leveler!

I glanced back at the sheriff. He was sobbing and tears of joy were coursing down his cheeks. Here was a happy answer to his faithful efforts and his earnest prayers.

One Sunday morning we had a touching service. The people had been told to bring flowers, and there was a great profusion of them on the communion table. After I had tried to preach on "influence" the folks were given an opportunity to pin a flower on the man or woman present, who had exerted the greatest influence for good in their lives. It was one of the most beautiful sights I have ever witnessed. Wives were pinning flowers on husbands; mothers were being covered with flowers by adoring children; Sunday school teachers were the recipients of tender attentions at the hands of their pupils; Pastor Sale was rapidly being buried beneath a veritable avalanche of flowers and all of us were weeping and rejoicing together.

Sheriff Roberts looked like a rose garden, so many flowers were pinned on his coat! One of the prisoners gripped him by the hand and said, with deep emotion: "Sheriff, I just can't summon up courage to go down there and get a flower, but I want to say that you have been a wonderful blessing to me. You are a real man and you've helped me, more than I can say, in the darkest hour of my life. If I ever get my freedom back again, I'm going straight, and your example and your influence will be the cause of it!"

Some time ago a certain man said to the sheriff: "Roberts, I hate to see you holding down this job. I am afraid you'll not be the same man when you come out of office."

How far from the truth this prophet was! Sheriff Roberts when he comes out of office—if the people of Union County ever permit him to do so—will be the same loyal, devoted Christian he has always been. And, what is more, he will have demonstrated to the people of New Mexico that the best sort of man for the office of sheriff is a Christian, and (if I may be permitted to be guilty of tautology) a Baptist.

Would to God that every county in our great state of Texas were blessed with a sheriff cut out of the same cloth as Dan T. Roberts!

PAY TRIBUTE TO THE LOST

Primitive Japanese Have Ritual for the Souls of Wild Geese That Never Will Return.

A most charming bath custom observed every spring, even to this day, in the fishing villages on the shores of the Pacific ocean, the Soto Ga Hama, the "outside shores" as the Japanese call them, is the ganburo.

These village people tell how the geese which come flying across the seas to winter in the land of the rising sun always carry in their bills a small piece of wood. When they are worn out from flying, the long lines of the migrating birds are halted by their leaders and then they settle in the sea for a rest before continuing their flight. This piece of wood is carried to serve them as a rest to float on while they refresh their wearied wings.

When the geese reach the outer shores of Japan they no longer need these wood floats and they drop them just where they land. Now the good village folk know that these visiting geese need these floats again, and they never burn or use them in any way all the cold winter long. In the spring when it is time for the geese to make their way home to the north again they all flock to the shores where they landed and each goose picking up the float he brought with him takes to the air and flies home over the seas.

But there are many geese which never live to take the homeward path again and when all the living geese are gone away there still remains a sad, pathetic pile of floats which no geese will ever come to claim again.

The fishing folk are a simple folk and their hearts are clean and kind. Here on the "outside shores" they gather all the floats no geese have come to take, and carrying them to the nearby temples prepare a mighty fire beneath a huge kettle filled with water from the temple well. Then while the fire burns the priests pray for the souls of the geese who will never return. All the villagers then enter the great kettle and bathe in the water heated by the burning floats.

For it is proper and good when masses are said for the souls of the dead that a present should be given to all who attend the sacred ceremony. And this bath, heated with the little legacy the geese have left behind, is the present the villagers who so simply and kindly offer prayers, receive for their thoughtful regard for the dead geese's souls.—Exchange.
